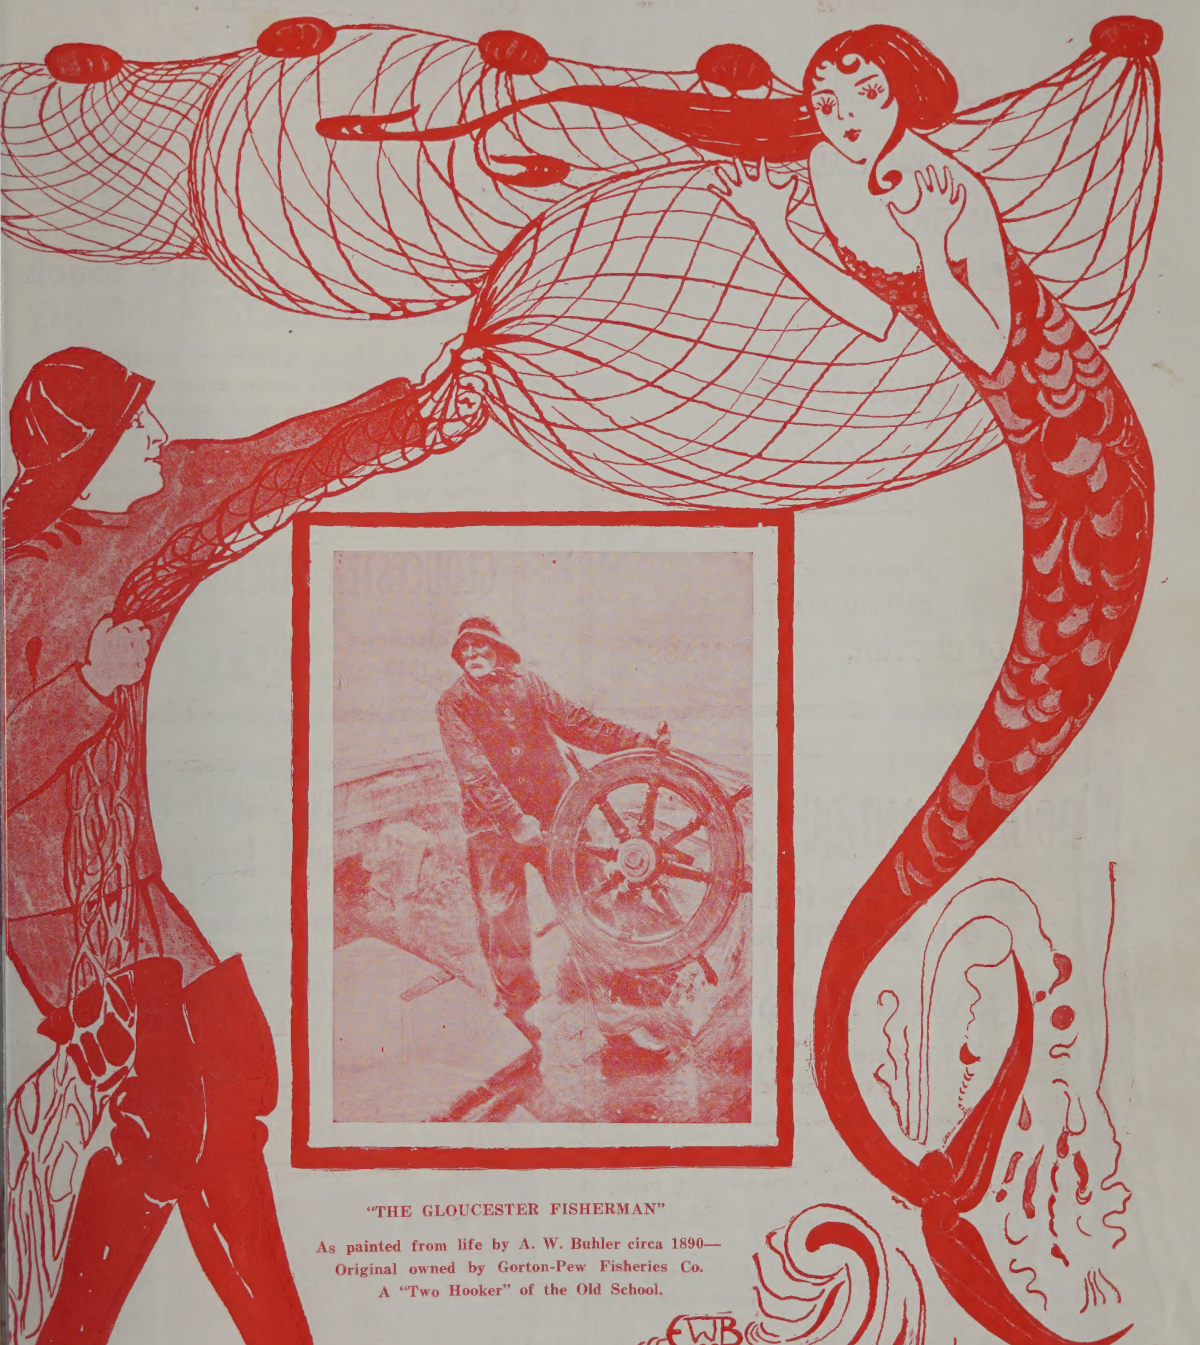
193

CAPE ANN SHORE



"THE GLOUCESTER FISHERMAN"

As painted from life by A. W. Buhler circa 1890—
Original owned by Gorton-Pew Fisheries Co.
A "Two Hooker" of the Old School.

XXVI
11, 1931

PUBLISHED BY
The Cape Ann Publishing Co.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

No. 1
Price 10 Cents

C. S. NAUSS (Established 1837) L. H. NAUSS

L. B. Nauss & Sons

"NAUSS LUMBER"

LUMBER

LIME

CEMENT

BUILDING SUPPLIES

"Everything to Build Anything"

Telephones 195-196-197

RAILROAD AVE.,

GLOUCESTER, MASS.

They add a subtle touch of distinction to hospitality

Resplendent, efficient electric appliances make entertaining so satisfying and convenient

Drop into our store and see these wonderful aids to entertaining — electric percolator, electric coffee urn, electric waffle iron, electric toaster. We're glad to show them—whether you buy or not.

GLOUCESTER ELECTRIC COMPANY

Telephone 1250 TENNEY SERVICE T Telephone 1250

POOLE'S ANTIQUE SHOPPES

BOND'S HILL

OLD WEBBER HOME

and

SAWYER HOMESTEAD

Opposite 359 Western Ave. Freshwater Cove

(Road to Magnolia)

Authentic Reproductions of Fine Period Furniture under the direction of Frederick C. Poole, founder of this house, one of the oldest antique firms in this country.

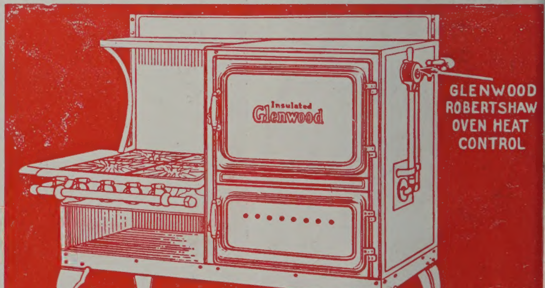
Largest and Most Exclusive Assortments of Chintzes, Toile Jouy, Linens and Modernistic Fabriques.

At the Sawyer homestead we have an exhibition of our custom-made upholstered furniture.

TELEPHONES: Main Office, Bond's Hill—1585-W; Webber House—3517-W; Sawyer House—3517-R.

ENJOY YOUR SUMMER WITH A

New Glenwood Insulated Range



GLENWOOD ROBERTSHAW OVEN HEAT CONTROL

"You can do it better with Gas"

GLOUCESTER GAS LIGHT CO.

96 MAIN STREET Telephone 570

1896—OLDEST ESTABLISHED SUMMER RESORT PUBLICATION ON THE NORTH SHORE—1931

THE CAPE ANN SHORE

THIRTY-SIXTH SEASON

Gloucester, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks,
Long Beach, Briar Neck.

Land's End, Rockport, Pigeon Cove, Annisquam and River Territory, Fernwood, Magnolia, Manchester and Essex County.

Published Weekly, 8 times during July and August by the CAPE ANN PUBLISHING CO., James R. Pringle, Conductor, 95 Main Street, Gloucester. 75 cents the season on Cape Ann; elsewhere, $1.00. Tels. 412-W, 412-R.

"Entered as second-class matter July 16, 1920, at post office, Gloucester, Mass., under Act of March 3, 1879."

Special Contents, July 11, 1931

EDITORIALS:
Alewife Brook Water Basin
The Municipal Council

POEM:
"Clipper Ships"
By Robert N. Rose

ART AND DRAMATIC
Being a Review of Theatrical Topics and the Artist Colony

WATER WITCHES OF DOGTOWN COMMONS

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING
By C. Anne Shore

NEWS OF THE SUMMER COLONY
Manchester, Magnolia, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Briar Neck, Land's End, Rockport Center, Pigeon Cove, The Annisquam Region, The Cape Ann Countyside

THE WEEK'S YACHTING

GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO., -:- 43 Duncan Street

TELEPHONE 3060

Largest Coal and Lumber Dealers on the North Shore

GLO-COAL Beacon Anthracite Caperton New River Soft Coal

BRANCH OFFICES

Rockport, Tel. 964 Magnolia, Tel. 426-R Manchester, Tel. 650

GLOUCESTER COAL AND LUMBER COMPANY

A PARTIAL LIST OF OUR SERVICES

LUMBER
A kind for every purpose.
FLOORING
First-quality oak, fir and pine, stored under controlled temperature.
SHINGLES
Durable, weather-resisting, stained. For roofs and walls.
HARDWARE AND PAINTS
Well-known makes of tools and household hardware. Valspar.
FURNITURE
Rustic, garden and unpainted furniture.
COAL
Imported Beacon Scotch Anthracite, the amazing fuel, and GLO-COAL, the American anthracite. Also automatic coal stokers.
FINANCING
A convenient finance plan to aid those building or modernizing homes.
PLANNING
Counsel, including plans, for those building or modernizing homes.

Dear Mr. Consumer: June 24, 1931

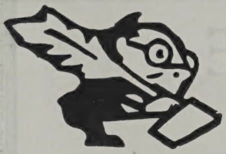
Do you realize that right here on Cape Ann is a firm capable of giving you every conceivable service in home building, modernizing and heating?

The Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company is such a complete service organization. We want you to know us better and for this reason invite you to take advantage of the special offer below.

Here's an idea you'll like! On the enclosed card we have listed the most frequent things that people would like to have done to their homes. If you will simply check the things which interest you most and return it to us, the proper service division of this company will quickly and easily tell you — without obligating you in any way whatsoever — just what the cost of materials and labor on such jobs would be.

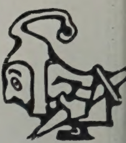
You couldn't find a better time to get this information. Prices are low — the season is right — everything is in your favor. Remember — in asking for this information you do not commit yourself to an order of any kind. This is just another Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company service — it may help you see the way to have done things you've been wanting to do for a long time.

Very truly yours,
GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO.
Chas. F. Heberle, Manager.



"THE EARTH—FOR SALE"

> "In every street, this noisy town of ours
> Has stealthy whispering watchers walking round,
> Recording all our movements, every sound,
> Hissing and shuffling, and they may have found
> Today my name; tomorrow they'll find yours."
>
> HAROLD MUNROE.



THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

Membership of Last Year Returned with One New Member—Its Outstanding Record Compared with Some Other Cities of the State

Returning summer residents will be pleased to learn that four of five of the Municipal Council of last year were returned at the last election, the new member being Dr. George H. Newell. As constituted it comprises Mayor and Col. (Spanish and World War) John E. Parker, extensive real estate owner; Alderman Lincoln H. Simonds, assistant judge of the District Court and a well known counsellor at law; R. Chandler Davis (World War) an attorney of standing; Russell Bohan, an executive of the Booth Fisheries Co. branch of this city, and Dr. Newell, a dentist of years' practice, formerly identified with Magnolia summer properties.

In its initial season last year it saved the city $60,000, increasing efficiency in key departments fully a hundred per cent., $50,000 of which was accounted for in the Highway Department, which in the past ten years had gone over what experts considered to be its requirements by that amount annually. The result was that the tax rate was reduced $2.40, the largest figure in the history of the city, a substantial balance being left at the end of the financial season. Truly a notable showing. One which places this city almost in a class by itself, in an honor list in Massachusetts.

The Shore dwells upon this showing with some satisfaction. Comparisons may be odious, but they are informative. Years ago James Bryce, one of America's most friendly critics and well wishers, wrote that the downfall of democracy in this country would begin in its cities, having reference to the deluge of illiterate immigration increasingly discharging in this country. His prophecy is nearer fulfilment than failure.

Almost overnight it has overthrown all that is best in many Massachusetts and New England cities. Its mass vote cast as a unit has seized mayoralties, municipal councils, city treasurerships, park and public library commissions for which it was totally unfitted by previous education, environment and experience and squandered its revenues with truly prodigal hands. This has been notably the case where the Quebec element has predominated: Witness Fall River in the hands of a ten years' receivership, Woonsocket refused bankers' credit, and the list might be extended. Up to ten years ago Cambridge was one of the most desirable residential and administrated cities in the New England country. Now the sorry spectacle of its mayor struggling to rescue it from the toboggan of incompetency. Where formerly the bonds of many of these cities were acclaimed as gilt edge, bankers now refuse to have any commerce with them. A sorry spectacle and a convincing example of the evils of unrestricted immigration and too liberal bestowal of the ballot upon the unworthy.

The Northern races from the first have shown a genius for administrative community democracy. From the mark meeting of the early Teutons and Angles transferred to America in the town meeting, they have met this problem with high success. Education of the masses was its foundation stone, hence the early solicitude that every child should have an education. The southern and eastern races have always been subject and governed races, with no inherited capacity or initiative as a mass for democracy as we know it. When accorded their chance here in the land of the Puritans they have made a sorry fist of it.

In this widespread incompetency which has spread over the larger New England municipalities it is gratifying to know that this city has usually been fairly well administered from a financial standpoint. The past ten years has been the exception. Fortunately the citizenry came to its senses in time and chose competent and fearless men to rectify this situation. Let us hope that this exhibition of good sense will be continued in succeeding municipal elections. We believe it will.

This appraisal is made with a purpose. The predicament of some of these New England communities has become a matter of nation-wide comment. Naturally a new comer to the seashore scrutinizes conditions before committing himself as a real estate owner. The Shore believes that such intenders may feel more than reasonably assured that

(Continued on page 12)

THE WATER SUPPLY

A Billion Gallons of the Purest Wate in New England now Available—Astonishing Success of the Alewif Brook Development—Historic Dogtown Commons Preserved

When the summer colony departe last year the water supply of the cit was practically exhausted. By dint o the strictest economy, aided by th Town of Manchester, which generousl shared a part of its stored water wit us, the Water Board pulled througl Many went away with much foreboding. They questioned whether a repet tion of the situation might occur in th future. Because of that question we devote the first issue of the Shore largel to this water situation.

In a nut shell, at the beginning o this season, July 1, 1931, the city o Gloucester has more than one billio gallons of the purest water in Massachusetts in reserve in four water basins. If it doesn't rain a drop for fiftee months there will be no occasion t worry. There is water aplenty. And bes of all, Gloucester is one of the few citie in Essex County where the purity of it water is absolutely assured. It doesn draw from rivers polluted by sewage o otherwise. All its water sheds are absolutely protected from pollution of an kind. There is not a dwelling on them.

Last year the Water Board and th Municipal Council, despite demagogi clamor, grappled courageously with thi crisis, and taking counsel of state an civilian engineers, went ahead with th development of the Alewife Brook basin which is on the southerly terrain o that plateau in the center of the Cap known as Dogtown Commons. This plateau, virtually a tableland of a unifor height of 100 feet above the water level, is about five miles square, roughl speaking. It slopes off about a half mil from the coast line on all sides of th Cape. It is on these slopes that Gloucester, Rockport, and its villages are buil

Work on the dam was complete about January 1, this year, and it wa "plugged" for the reception of wate Before February 10, its capacity 200,000,000 gallons had been reache and the overflow for the nearly fi months since, the engineers state, h

(Continued on page 12)

CLIPPER SHIPS

Ships are the nearest things to dreams
That hands have ever made.
For somewhere deep in their oaken hearts
The soul of a song is laid:
A soul that sings with the ship along
Through plunging hills of blue,
And fills her canvas cups of white
With winds that drive her through.
For how could a nail and a piece of wood
Tied with a canvas thread,
Become a nymph on moon-washed paths
If the soul of the ship were fled?
Her bosom throbs as her lover's arms
Clasp her in fond embrace,
And the joyous kiss of briny lips
Is fresh on her maiden face.
No storm can smother the hempen song
That wells in her laughing throat—
Small wonder then that men go mad
For the love of the sea and a boat.
For the singing sheet is a siren
That tugs at the hearts of men,
And down to the sea they go once more,
Though they never come back again.

—Robert N. Rose in the Commonweal.

Art and Dramatic

TTLE THEATRE OPENED JUNE 27

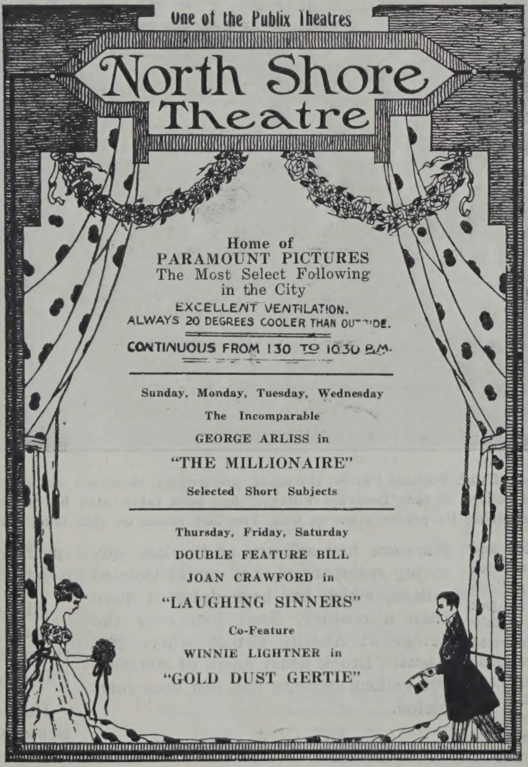
The Gloucester School of the ttle Theatre, at Rocky Neck, ened this summer for its 12th ason on June 27. The theatre ened to the public on the nights July 3 and 4, when "Anna ristie" by Eugene O'Neill, was esented. The first weekly one-t play will be given Friday orning, July 10, at 11.30.

The school also hopes to have a all student orchestra led by iss Irene Cooper, violinist, of ston.

Among those enrolled are: Lor-g Banfield, Dartmouth College; bert Bardwell, Northampton; ne Bancroft, Boston and Cohas-t; Margaret Bouton, Cambridge; anton Forbes, Athens, Georgia; uce Gray, Colorado; Beatrice iffith, California; Deborah Hall, ston; Kathleen Knox, Washing-n, D. C.; Barbara Knapp, New rk City; Jean McDonald, Bos-n; Elizabeth Prime, Pennsyl-nia; Katherine Raht, Tennessee; ancesca Rand, Briarcliffe Man-; Arthur G. Sharp, professor of lorado College.

Some of those returning for sec-d or third years are: Elizabeth ake, Boston; Dorothy Coleman, assar; Peter Hyun, now assistant

(Continued on page 22)



One of the Publix Theatres

North Shore Theatre

Home of
PARAMOUNT PICTURES
The Most Select Following
in the City
EXCELLENT VENTILATION.
ALWAYS 20 DEGREES COOLER THAN OUTSIDE.

CONTINUOUS FROM 1.30 TO 10.30 P.M.

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
The Incomparable
GEORGE ARLISS in
"THE MILLIONAIRE"
Selected Short Subjects

Thursday, Friday, Saturday
DOUBLE FEATURE BILL
JOAN CRAWFORD in
"LAUGHING SINNERS"
Co-Feature
WINNIE LIGHTNER in
"GOLD DUST GERTIE"

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

George Arliss, the veteran English character actor, has won a distinguished success in motion pictures, both silent and dialogued, because his finished art is as much dependent upon pantomime as upon his well trained voice. The talking picture has brought him a double asset in that it permits him to utilize his voice, but his skill at byplay remains an important asset. In his latest picture, "The Millionaire," his most affecting scene is played entirely in pantomime.

He has been deposed from the management of the automobile works which he founded and has been ordered to take a complete rest. He has said his good byes and returns to his private office for his hat and coat. He is alone. He does not utter a word, but he might well be "thinking out loud" for his expressive face and his carefully thought out by-play tells the entire story. He goes to the window and looks out upon the acres of buildings where once a modest shack represented his enterprise. He looks with half-tender amusement upon the back of his desk chair in regretful farewell. Then he takes from his pocket his bunch of keys, which fall on the glass top of the desk with a clink that is the only audible sound since he entered the

(Continued on page 22)

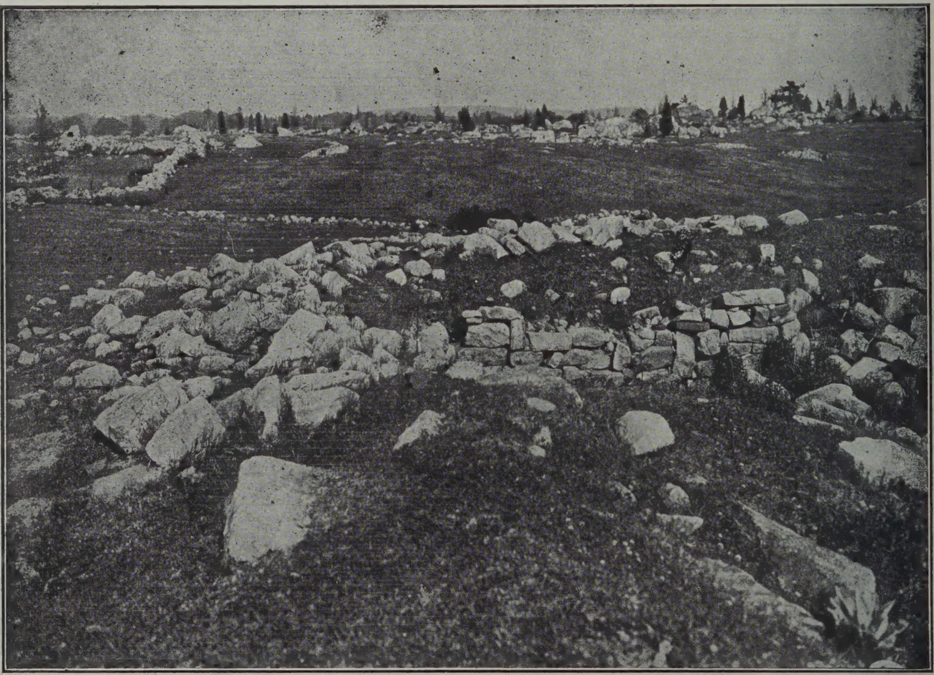
ALEWIFE BROOK WATER BASIN

Proves Itself the Ace of the City's Water Supply—Storage Capacity of 200,000,000 Gallons Filled in a Month and a Billion Gallons Since Run to Waste—Historic Dogtown Commons Reservation Saved to the City

(Our summer residents will recall on leaving for their homes last fall Gloucester was facing a critical water famine. Also that the Municipal Council, against fierce opposition, followed the advice of the State Water Supply officials, took over the terrain in the center of the Cape known as Dogtown Commons which fed the Alewife Brook, built a storage basin and impounded the flow. The success was beyonds expectations. In a month the dam of two hundred million capacity was filled and for the succeeding five months has continued to overflow at the rate of four million gallons per day. The following article on the subject appeared in the Boston Globe and was widely copied, the object being to dispel the fears of that large number who make the place their summer home and to whom a water supply is paramount. The story of the witch of Dogtown Commons always has a popular appeal and made good window dressing for the meat of the article—namely that Gloucester was a very "wet town" in its very best sense and would remain so for years to come.)

A "WITCH'S CURSE"—that none could trespass into Gloucester's famed Dogtown without misfortune—is being daily disproved as 4,000,000 gallons of pure, sparkling water encroach each day on the lands of Dogtown Commons where "Tammy" Younger, queen of the "witches," a century and more ago was the sinister sentinel.

"Tammy," or Thomazine Younger, a fearsome hag and one of the last surviving residents of that quaint isolated village, which has been deserted more than a century, lived just over the bridge at Alewife Brook, where the Alewife Brook water basin of 200,000,000 gallons capacity has just been completed.



Stone Cellar of the House of Col. William Pearce, the most pretentious residence on Dogtown Commons. This entire area, with the old cellars of the "Deserted Village," has been taken over by eminent domain by the city as a Water Shed, thus ensuring its preservation as was. The last house on this tract was taken down in 1840.

Legend Still Remembered

According to popular legend, "Tammy" took advantage of the site of her house, at the entrance of the only road leading to the Dogtown village, to inspect every person who approached the isolated settlement of tragic memory.

If a visitor carried anything she wanted, "Tammy" did not hesitate to levy tribute, and woe betide any one that refused.

"As far as her shrill voice could be heard, so long would vile epithets and curses be hurled after them," the saying went.

Although that was years ago, for "Tammy" died in 1829 at the age of 76 the memory of her curses has lived till this day.

Her curses were remembered particularly when the city of Gloucester faced with a water famine and spurred by the necessity of prompt action to cope with the crisis that developed last summer with the drouth, started to build a water reservoir at Alewife ook, using the famed Dogtown Comons as a watershed.

Mass Meeting Called

There were some who said that no ter would collect there to amount to ything and if it did, that it would be healthy and poisonous. So great were e protests that a public mass meeting is held. Although at no time was the itch's curse" mentioned, old residnts remembered the curious legend at none should trepass on Dogtown mmons without paying tribute, and solved to watch with close attention e success of the project.

The dam was completed December 8, days ahead of scheduled time. On nuary 9, a month after it had been lugged," the water was 25 feet above e bottom of the dam. Engineers stat- that the water had accumued during this period at the rate of 00,000 gallons per day, a total of 000,000 gallons or nearly a third of e reservoir's capacity.

And furthermore, the water, which rtly comes from at least 16 springs med by a subterranean brook and bbles up through various sections of e surface of the bottom, is said by e engineers to be of unusual purity. All of which more than satisfies even e most gullible that the spell of the parted "Tammy" does not extend to ucester's new water project.

Interesting Stone Deposits

This watershed, in the center of pe Ann, is one of the most interest- sections in the state, its geological mation furnishing a weird setting the halo of romance and tragedy it haunts over the deserted village e it contains.

Great frozen, moving rivers æons plowed their way down from the rth Pole, furrowing the deep valleys l throwing up the mountain ranges l hills of New England. The last of se glaciers, some 25,000 years ago, pt down as far as Cape Ann when it ountered warm weather, melted, and down on the surface roughly-shaped ilders of all sizes.

There are 10,000 or more of these, most famed being the whale's jaw the northeast top of the divide.

t is through this terrain that runs "Main Street" of a village that s. And even today it exists, flanked stone walls and half-filled cellars, site of little one-story cottages, l cow pens.

Men Lost at Sea

Here just before the Colonial Wars ne the humble folk of the settlement Gloucester for security. They ved back to this isolated section m the coastline, first for protection against pirates and afterwards for protection against the threatened French invasion, ever imminent at that time.

Here they clustered together in their little settlement, catching fish in the summer, cutting firewood in winter, which they freighted to Boston in their boats, alternating with cargoes of white sand from Coffin's Beach, for sanding floors was the fashion in those days.

When the French power to the north was broken, security came. But this was short-lived, for the Revolutionary War shut them off from fishing.

Nearly the whole adult male population shipped for privateering, a profession that took heavy toll of these villagers. Some went down to sea in ships, some died from scurvy, others ended their lives on prison ships or at Dartmoor.

Women Became Impoverished

At the close of the war, hardly a handful of men of age survived. And they, too, were shortly lost in gales that swept fishing fleets till hardly a grown male survived in the settlement and the women were left to their own resources.

Some of the women moved, but many without homes or friends remained, becoming so trodden by misery and poverty that they were generally considered odd characters, and the strangest among them, witches.

The name and fame of "Tammy" Younger, "queen of the witches;" Mollie Jacobs or Jacups, Judy Rhines or Ryan, Easter or Esther Carter, and others have been preserved in local history.

Visiting Place for Lovers

In the later years of this pathetic community, the returning mariner with his best girl was wont to walk up to Dogtown, taking an offering of coffee, a can of tamarinds, spices, oranges, and other things brought home from "furrin voyages" and have their fortunes told by the "keerds" and sample the "dire drink," a home brew of "yarbs," or have a cabbage dinner.

Completion of the Alewife Brook reservoir with its pumping station and accessories gives this city a practically independent water supply and an important emergency reserve.

A large tank of 200,000 gallons' capacity on the highest part of the basin embankment furnishes the pressure. It looms as a landmark for miles around. Two electric 1,500-gallon pumps feed it. The pumping station is a picturesque building, fireproof, constructed of the surrounding stone.

The gratifying thing about this acquisition is that it kills two big birds at one shot. Besides ensuring an inexhaustible water supply, it also preserves for all time against encroachment the historic Dogtown Commons, site of the most perfect example of the glacial age in New England as well as the site of the historic deserted village and its deserted cellars. The Shore has battled for this for years. The preservation of Stage Fort as a permanent memorial reservation and the Dogtown terrain are the two major propositions in this conservation program.

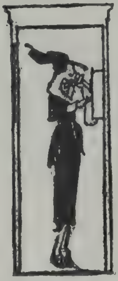
The Water Board with commendable foresight employed Miss Mary Cunningham to make plans for the landscaping of the territory adjacent to the basin which is now in process. The place is easily reached—at the upper end of Maplewood avenue.

Del Monte's
ON THE NORTH SHORE
Magnolia, Mass.

New Casino Opposite Norman's Woe, Commanding the Finest View on the North Atlantic—Ample Parking Space.

DANCING EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
With DEL MONTE'S FAMOUS ORCHESTRA

For Reservations of Tables—Phone Magnolia 590
A la carte J. P. Del Monte, Proprietor and Manager



TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE DISTINCTIVE

MAGNOLIA

MAGNOLIA

AGAIN THE OCEANSIDE has changed hands, the transfer to Philadelphia parties being announced several weeks ago. The management, however, will be continued in Ross Thompson, who officiated in that capacity with the Abbott interests during the past five years.

The Oceanside came into existence about 1876 when the late George A. Upton came over from Gloucester and started a hotel in a modest cottage which soon grew to the proportions of one of the largest caravanseries in the country. That was the era of the big resort hotel. It grew to be one of the most exclusive places, never advertising—except in The Shore—and always with a waiting list, accommodating 600 guests with fourteen large sized cottages as annexes. He retired more than 25 years ago. His net was usually about $200,000, more than half of which he turned back into the house and grounds for repairs and extensions. Since he retired, after its sale at about a half million, it has changed hands some four times. We wish the new proprietorship success.

The shops on the avenue are mostly opened, although it is stated that there are quite a number unleased, something which has not occurred for some years. The first to envision the possibilities of Magnolia in this direction were the Manahan Brothers, who leased display rooms in the Stearns villa nearly 35 years ago and still remain one of the more important concerns of their kind here with a steadily increasing clientage.

Since that time some have come and some have gone. The latter include such widely known firms as Slattery, Lamson & Hubbard, Bonwit, Teller, and others of national reputation and class. There still remain houses of wide repute and dependability, including the Grande Maison de Blanc, Richard Briggs, Ovington, James McCutcheon, Farr, Schmidt, McMillan, and others who maintain its original standard. A new group of the younger element has appeared, all striving to make good. The best of luck to all hands and success to them everyone.

The town landing in Lobster lane, the oldest in the state, got a terriffic lashing during the winter gales, nearly wiping it out of existence.

A civic improvement of note is now being brought into existence. The old engine house has been demolished and a new face bricked structure on the site is due for completion in ninety days from July 1. It is a one storied structure with the latest improvements, and will be a distinct addition to the architecture of the place. Contract cost about $25,000.

Prepared as one is by enthusiastic patrons for the perfection of the dance floor, the excellence of the orchestra, and the superiority of the cuisine at Del Monte's, one will still gasp on one's first visit to this beautiful Moorish creation high up on the rough shore of Cape Ann. The breath-taking beauty of the casino itself is almost surpassed by its location. On the right, the rugged Reef of Norman's Woe of Hesperus fame—on the left, the jagged beauty of Rafe's Chasm — and sweeping around as far as one can see lies the ocean, deep, fascinating and ever-changing. The rough, natural appearance of the shore floral life is preserved. The rustic benches overlooking the finest view on the North Shore are completely in harmony with the ruggedness of the New England shore line, still preserving a quiet grace and simplicity.

One of the main features of the new improvements this year is the new rock garden across the road from the casino. Whoever was responsible for such delicate and restrained controlling and moulding of natural growth should be highly complimented. The true, natural appearance of the rocks and shrubs has been preserved, while a distasteful mass of thicket and thorn has been completely wiped out.

Another great improvement is the enlarged screened-in dining porch which will seat comfortably one hundred people. The distinctly European touch which this new dining porch lends is effective in maintaining the characteristic atmosphere of luxury without gaudiness, refinement without austerity, an atmosphere of informal gayety backed by potential dignity.

On Saturday night, June 27, the formal opening of Del Monte's occurred. Ruby Newman, famous for his performances at so many social functions during the winter, appears in person again this season with his band every afternoon for tea-dancing from four-thirty to five-thirty, and every night from eight to twelve-thirty. Devoted patrons will also be glad to know that Mr. Frank Fishburne, after a winter season in Florida, has again resumed his duties as head waiter.

Among those entertaining on Saturday night were: Mr. Charles Jopp and party of eighteen; Mr. Carl Dreyfus and party of sixteen; Miss Evelyn Moss of Marblehead and party of twelve; Mr. W. E. Poor of Marblehead and party of twenty; Mr. William H. Coolidge of Coolidge Point and party of twelve; Mr. Stanley Bradlee and party of ten; Mr. E. B. Kitfield and party of ten; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woods and party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. John Amory of Marblehead and party of fourteen; Mr. C. A. Peters of Wellesley and party of twelve; Miss Abby Beveridge of Beverly Farms and party of eighteen; Mr. Howland Seabury of Beverly Farms and party of ten; Mr. Richard Hubbard of Hamilton and party of twelve; Miss Charlotte Sherburne of Marblehead and party of twenty-four; and Mr. Joseph Hoyt of Beverly Farms and party of six.

Mrs. Charles S. Penhallow of Beverly has come for another season to her cottage in Magnolia avenue.

Notice to Water Takers

THE EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS imposed on the use of water last season on account of scarcity are removed. The usual rules are now in force.

The Water Board is pleased to announce that the Alewife Brook Water Basin, begun last summer, was completed in January and was filled to capacity within two months. While there is ample supply in storage in the four water basins, the Board wishes to caution against needless waste.

The Board takes this opportunity to express its thanks to the summer residents and citizens for their very general response to their request for economy in the use of water. This co-operation materially helped a very serious situation.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS OF CITY OF GLOUCESTER.

The Otis Weld Richardsons of Brookline are occupying their summer home on Norman avenue. This place is one of the show places of Magnolia with its well kept and beautiful gardens.

The E. Prescott Rowes of Brookline have arrived at their summer house, Norman avenue.

Miss Susan Williams of Boston is occupying the Williams house, Magnolia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Pierce of Boston were among the June arrivals. Their summer home is in Hesperus avenue.

Mrs. Charles Wadsworth of Philadelphia and family are again at their summer home in Oakes Field.

Mrs. J. Harrington Walker and family of Detroit, came in June for another season at her cottage, "Rockledge," on the Shore road.

William G. Reuter and family of Boston are in occupancy of the Lincoln cottage, Summer street.

Mr. and Mrs. Costello C. Converse of Beacon street, Boston, have opened their Shore road residence for the season.

Miss Margaret Corlies of Boston has opened her cottage in Fuller street for the season.

Miss Velma M. Morse of Cambridge has returned to Highfield's in Norman avenue for the season.

Borden Covel and family have the Osgood cottage.

F. K. M. Rehn of New York, has arrived at Fairview Cottage, Oakes Field, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Farr of Boston, who were in the West cottage at Manchester last season, have the Wilkinson cottage in Magnolia this summer.

Percy V. Hill of Augusta, Me., is occupying the Bigelow house, corner Shore road and Hesperus avenue.

The family of Mrs. W. Langley Morrison of Boston have returned to their house in Lexington avenue.

Miss Mary Mooney and family of Boston have the Adams cottage, Lexington avenue, for the summer.

Miss Elizabeth Scamman of Boston has the Jocelyn cottage, corner Fuller street and Hesperus avenue, for another season.

Mrs. Edith March Binney of Marlboro street will spend another season at the Oceanside.

Mrs. John Fremont Hill of Augusta, Me., has arrived at the Houghton cottage, Cobblestone Beach, which she purchased three seasons ago and will remain for the season.

The Charles C. Smiths of New York, residents here of many years' standing, have returned to their summer home, Lexington avenue.

E. E. Williams and sister of Boston are the occupants this season of the Covel cottage in Lexington avenue.

Mrs. L. T. Ponvert of Homoguero, Cuba, who purchased the Scudder house on the Shore road in 1929 has opened her cottage for the season. They were abroad last summer.

The H. W. Farnums of Chicago were June arrivals, taking possession of their fine new residence on the Shore road.

Arthur N. Tilley and family of Brookline have the Sargent bungalow, Magnolia avenue.

Thomas J. A. Johnson of Boston and family have the Faulkner house, Shore road, for the season. Extensive improvements have been made to the place.

The Misses Maggie and Mary Kelly of Boston are the lessees this season of the Kehoe bungalow, Western avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James Green of Washington are the lessees of the Kennard cottage this season.

CARILLON PROGRAMS THIS SEASON

Summer residents will be pleased to learn that the carillon concerts on the bells of the Church of Our Lady of the Good Voyage will be renewed and will be continued every Wednesday evening up to September 16, M. Kamiel Lefevre, the Belgian maestro, having been re-engaged as carilloneur. A feature this year will be the program August 15 coincident with the holding of the annual services in memory of the drowned fishermen of the port.

The program Wednesday evening, July 8—

1	Dost know the Land from "Mignon"	A. Thomas
2	March of the Men of Harlech	Welsh Folksong
3	Hymn: Sicilian Mariners	Old Melody 1794
4	The Bird and the Rose	Horrocks
5	Rubensmarch	Benoit
6	Last Rose of Summer	Folksong
7	Do You Remember	C. Cui
8	Confidence de fleurs	Mendelssohn
9	Turn Ye to Me	Old Highland Melody
10	Spring Song	Rubinstein

The program Wednesday evening, July 15—

1	Menuet and Trio	Mozart
2	Silver Threads Among the Gold	H. P. Danks
3	Hymn to the Holy Name	Cardinal O'Connell
4	The Wayside Rose	Schubert
5	Klokke Roeland (Bell Roeland)	De Stoop
6	Allegretto poco agitato	St. Heller
7	I Hear You Calling Me	Ch. Marshall
8	Then You'll Remember Me	Balfe
9	Song Without Words	Mendelssohn
10	The Rosary	Nevin

EAST GLOUCESTER

THE SEASON IS OFF to a good start. The usual popularity of East Gloucester is made evident by the hotel registers. Depressions may come or go; East Gloucester and its hotels maintain their magnetism, and the "demand" for this resort seems to be on the increase rather than the opposite. This season, once again, together with many newcomers, the usual clientele are back at their favorite summer residences.

At Hawthorne Inn: Mrs. C. S. Macullar, and Mr. John W. Belches and his daughter, Mrs. Edith Belches Pratt, Boston; Mrs. Hooper Wakefield, Dedham; Mr. R. K. O'Connor and his brother, Mr. Scott O'Connor; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Newland, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Allen, Mr. Frank Ferguson, Mrs. Charles Wenhold and her daughter, Mrs. L. Bass, Mrs. Grace Filkins Marix, New York City; Miss M. Lillian Allen, Miss Caroline I. Blinn, Mrs. Harry Elger, Brooklyn; Miss J. K. Barber, Warehouse Point, Conn.; Mrs. Austin H. Perry, Rye, N. Y.; Professor and Mrs. Preserved Smith, Ithaca; Mr. Leighton Calkins, Plainville, N. J.; Miss Helen Seymour, Mrs. J. Davis Brodhead and grandchildren, Miss Leonie McCay and Mr. Davis B. McCay, Washington; Mrs. McCook Knox and her daughter, Kathleen, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. S. W. Fountain and her daughter, Adele, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Rittenhouse, Philadelphia; Mr. Stephen G. Vickory, Misses May and Florence Basshar, Mrs. William M. Hayden, Miss Mabel Vickory, Baltimore; Misses O. and E. C. Chanute, Denver.

At the Fairview: Mr. and Mrs. George B. Dexter, Miss E. T. Cleaveland, Boston; Miss Abbie Nichols, Miss Elinor Gregory, Mrs. Casper Rene Gregory, Miss E. D. Chapman, Miss Mary T. Willis, Miss Fanny E. Cushing, Cambridge; Miss Louise D. Wright, Brookline.

At the Rockaway: Miss Elizabeth Muldoon, Allston; Mr. W. A. Sargent, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Inman and daughter, Miss Grace H. Moore, Mr. E. H. Moore, Worcester; Miss Alice Wynne, Germantown; Misses Pauline De T. and Grace L. Savage, Chestnut Hill; Mr. Wade Lytton Jolly, Mrs. Gertrude Jolly, Miss Margaret R. Gest, Mrs. William S. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Carpenter, Philadelphia.

At the Delphine: Mrs. Robert L. Minot, Boston; Mrs. George F. Wood, Mrs. F. L. Fisher and daughter, Harriet L., Mr. George H. Streeter, Lexington; Mrs. W. S. Bacon, Springfield; Mrs. Morley and daughter, Constance, Mrs. Leslie Ellis, Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. Alexander Inglis, Mrs. L. R. James, Miss A. L. Ogilvy and sister, Claire, Mrs. Austen P. Kelly, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Guy D. Hills, Albany; Mrs. F. S. MacDonald, Great Neck; Mrs. Prentice Basset and daughter, Arabella, Annapolis; Miss Mary D. Kelly, Miami Beach.

Mrs. Robert L. Minot entertained a group of her friends at a dinner at the Delphine on Friday, June 26.

A delightful afternoon tea and bridge was given recently by Miss Sarah H.

(Continued on page 19)

BASS ROCKS

INDEPENDENCE DAY was celebrated in the usual way by the ladies of committee of the Bass Rocks Club. In the morning the national emblem was hoisted to the truck in due form. In the evening a community supper was served followed by fireworks and dancing and other entertainment.

The committee comprised Mrs. Charles H. Wilson, chairman; Mrs. F. A. Singleton, Mrs. John L. Newell, Mrs. F. A. Brewer, Mrs. C. Braxton Dallam, Miss Kate Ellis, Mrs. William D. Elwell, Miss A. F. G. Jarvie, Miss Emily McGucken, Miss Irene Kinney, Mrs. J. O. Procter, Mrs. E. Tucker Sayward, Mrs. Arthur T. Safford, Mrs. James L. Stuart, Mrs. E. B. Sargent, Mrs. M. L. Talbot, Mrs. H. H. Walker, Mrs. E. C. Wilson.

Monday afternoon bridge and clock golf will be featured during July and August under the auspices of the ladies' committee.

Miss Emily McGuckin of New York opened her cottage on Moorland road in June and plans to remain into the fall.

Miss Emma Eastwick of Philadelphia has an apartment with Mr. and Mrs. William Harding, Page road, this being her tenth season here.

F. M. Hodges and family of Detroit will have the Southgate cottage, Atlantic road, this season.

Frank L. Montague and family of New York have the large Stacy cottage formerly occupied by Mrs. Fleitz.

Mrs. Henry N. Kinney of Croton-on-Hudson and family are occupying their summer home in Way road.

James A. Baker and family of Houston, Texas, have come to "Rockhaven," their summer home in Grapevine road.

William M. Ormsby and family of Boston have cottage B, one of the Souther group on Atlantic road.

Gordon Bunker and family of Auburndale will again make Bass Rocks their summer home, having taken the Sheedy cottage in Decatur street for the season.

George Pierce and family of Waban will pass the season in the Waban cottage.

Sears B. Condit and family of Brookline have come for another season to "Onaledge," their Page street summer home.

Max Talbot and family of Brookline, identified with the summer life of Bass Rocks for more than 15 years, have opened their home in Decatur street for a stay well into September.

Arthur L. Taber and family of Boston have come to their Atlantic avenue summer place.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Milton of Worcester, who were in Europe last season, have returned to Bass Rocks and have the J. O. Proctor, Jr., cottage.

Walter H. Hoyt and family of Lowell have the large Way cottage for the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. Octavius Thorndike Howe, among the oldest in residence of the Bass Rocks colony, were among the earliest arrivals at "Wildacre," corner Souther and Briar roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Winslow, Jr., of Boston are among the cottagers here.

Mrs. Louis Pierce of New York has leased the Gilbert house in Windemere road for a stay into early fall.

Mrs. Clarence P. Boyd of Nashville will this season occupy the Beals cottage in Beach road. The friends of Mr. Boyd in the colony will learn with regret of his death during the winter.

The George P. Bagbys of Baltimore are again in occupancy of the Southgate cottage, their summer home for several seasons past.

Mrs. Frederick M. Wyer of Lowell, whose cottage is in Atlantic road, was among the early June arrivals.

Mrs. John McGaw Foster of Bay State road, Boston, has returned to her Bass Rocks cottage for the season.

E. Tucker Sayward and family of Brookline, cottagers of long standing here, it is understood do not plan to open their cottage this season.

(Continued on page 12)

EASTERN POINT

THE WINTER'S GALE played a strange prank at the estate of Arthur G. Leonard near the tip end of Eastern Point. Some years ago a large scow had been cast ashore on the the rocks near the place and was utilized by the children of the household as a playhouse. During the gales which prevailed this huge mass of sodden hardwood was lifted up bodily by the waves and deposited right on the front door-step. A building mover removed the scow.

Some 75 feet or more of the superstructure of the enrockment of Dog Bar breakwater went by the board during the same gales, the first time since the structure was built that so serious an amount of damage was done. The government has appropriated $10,000 for its restoration.

Col. and Mrs. John W. Prentiss, as is their custom, came on early from their New York home and will stay late, planning to remain over the Christmas holidays at "Blighty." With them for a stay are the Rutherford Shepards.

Congressman A. Piatt Andrew has come to his home at Red Roof for the summer. After the adjournment of Congress, Col. Andrew made a trip to Russia, from which he has recently returned, and where he had a chance to observe close up the workings of the Soviet economic scheme. Every now and then the papers, which appear to have a solicitude for his advancement, suggest him for this or that position. None have mentioned the ambassadorship to France, which might be to the liking of the congressman and where he would be decidedly persona grata.

Perhaps the largest swimming pool on the North Shore, measuring 70 by 40 feet, has been constructed on the boulders bordering the ocean by Mrs. James C. Farrell. The pool originally built there was torn to pieces by the onslaught of this winter's gales.

The House of MANAHAN

MAGNOLIA
BRANCH SHOP

SUMMER FASHIONS

FEATURE

Silk Play Frocks

Beach Togs
and Swim Suits

Chiffon Afternoon
and Evening Dresses

Coats

Hats

280 Boylston Street
BOSTON

MAGNOLIA

The beautiful North Shore Inn, situated in the heart of Magnolia, with its airy and spacious verandas and homelike atmosphere, reopened again this season to a large number of guests, with many more bookings for after the Fourth. Mrs. Susan Lawrence begins her second season as manager, alone, and is greeted by very promising conditions. The Inn has been recently redecorated and presents a very beautiful and charming appearance. The public rooms are spacious. The lounge with its seventeen windows, five fireplaces, and bright chintz and wicker furnishings, presents a delightfully fresh and

(Continued on page 19)

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

THE TYPICAL small New England town, quaint, fascinating, charming, that is the Rockport of winter months has thoroughly awakened to its usual bustling business of being a summer resort. Many larger towns and cities might well learn a much needed lesson from the clean airiness and freshness of the Rockport streets. Although crowded and busy at all hours of the day, the town, this year in particular, improves its reputation of clean, bright, neatness. Appreciation of Rockport, its quaintness and gay activity is made evident by the large lists of hotel guests.

At Turk's Head Inn: Henry M. Rogers, Mrs. E. L. Chase, Mrs. E. F. Aldrich, Mrs. A. B. Weston, Miss T. E. Hayes, Mrs. Curtis Curtiss, Miss Beatrice Parry, Boston; Miss Sylvia Tippy, Newton; Miss Elizabeth Warren, Watertown; Arthur Smith, Springfield; Mrs. William Carey Poland and son William, Providence; Joel Nichols, Auburndale; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Bliver, Mt. Vernon; Miss Patricia Calvert, Miss Grace Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jones, Philip Bourneuf, E. H. Sothern, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cooper and son Warren, Mrs. Irma Kory, Miss Frances Atwater, New York City; Miss Anna M. Groff, Miss Florence R. Read, Landsdown; Mrs. Frederick De Caro, Washington; Miss Annie Spencer Cutter, Misses G. L. and F. L. Oviatt, Cleveland.

Theatre enthusiasts will be intrigued by the knowledge that Turk's Head Inn has been doubly fortunate this year in securing as a guest, Mr. Henry M. Rogers, who is enjoying a visit from Mr. E. H. Sothern. This Mr. Sothern is THE Mr. Sothern, the very well known actor of Shakespearean fame. Entertaining such a celebrity is a pleasure as well as a privilege, and after seeing him on the stage, one is far from disillusioned upon seeing him off-stage. Typically an actor and a gentleman of the old school, Mr. Sothern with his wit and fascinating personality unconsciously provides continuous entertainment for his fortunate associates. Mrs. Sothern is spending some time this summer in Switzerland where she is writing an autobiography which promises to be very fascinating and successful.

Mr. Sothern's host, Mr. Henry M. Rogers, is also very worthy of mention. Many will recognize this famous Boston attorney as being the second oldest living Harvard graduate.

The management of the Edward this year has fallen into the capable hands of Miss J. N. Howard, from the Admiral Hotel at Miami Beach. Formally starting with a party of thirty over the Fourth, Miss Howard anticipates a very active season.

ANNISQUAM

RETURNING SUMMER folk were somewhat surprised to find a fog-siren had been installed on Wigwam Point during the winter, making the welkin ring on foggy mornings, destroying sleep, etc. Remonstrants got into action and the siren will be removed and a fogbell substituted and all is quiet along the Annisquam once more.

Delman Leighton and family of Cambridge are this season's occupants of the cottage at 45 Leonard street.

The families of Edward Pousland of Worcester and Alex Thomson have leased the Maria Lane cottage at the head of Lobster Cove for the season.

Mrs. F. H. Norton of Winchester has come to her cottage in Leonard street for the season.

Miss Henrietta R. Goodwin of Boston opened her cottage early in June for the season's stay.

Rev. Dr. Elwood Worcester and family have come to their Chester square summer home.

Mrs. William Piper and Miss Minerva Piper of Brookline have opened their summer home at 48 Leonard street.

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Stephens of Boston have opened their Arlington street home for another summer.

Margaret Fitzhugh Browne, the artist, was among the early comers, opening her River road studio about June 1.

Mrs. S. E. Blunt of Springfield has opened her Cambridge avenue home.

Clifford Roberts and family of Winchester are occupying the Riley cottage.

Winslow L. Webber and family of Wellesley have taken the Jelly bungalow on the Heights and will remain into the fall.

Raymond S. Wilkins and family of Winchester are the occupants for the season of the "Rockledge."

W. C. Bowlen and family of Holyoke have leased "Rockholm" cottage for the heated term.

The Daniel H. Woodbury cottage in Diamond Cove will this season be the summer home of J. C. R. Stone and family of Belmont.

F. B. Endicott and family of Chelsea have arrived at their Diamond Cove cottage for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Sargent of Everett have taken occupancy of their cottage for a stay late into the fall.

A. W. Sargent and family of Boston are enjoying cottage life in the Dia-

(Continued on page 18)

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

The day was warm, very warm, and the little group on Peggy's veranda seemed to reflect the languid atmosphere. Conversation had lagged to a stop, and the only sound was the occasional dull boom of a seventh wave on the rocks below and the faint strain of a victrola from a neighboring cottage.

Chubby was the first to break the silence. "If I thought that ice-cream wouldn't be melted by the time I got back I would summon enough energy to drive to town and attempt to liven this gang up a little."

"Our own Chubby," remarked Anne. "Always thinking of his pals."

"Can I depend upon that, Chubby?" asked Jack, showing interest for the first time that afternoon.

"Ignoring Anne's attempts at witty sarcasm, Jack, you can."

"Then my dear fellow, prepare to depart for Ransellear Towle's, and with watering mouths we shall all be waiting your return. Mr. Towle packs his ice-cream in dry ice and there's not a chance of its melting for hours, much less in the few minutes it'll take you to drive back."

"What's that?" asked Peggy, looking up from her magazine. "Isn't that perfect! I've been longing for some of Towle's ice-cream all afternoon. I'll even go with you Chubby."

Chubby glanced at Anne. "No, Peg, it's awfully hot, you stay here," he said magnanimously.

"I have an errand at the Cape Ann National, anyhow," said Peggy.

"No," Chubby was firm, "I'll do it for you."

Anne laughed. "You're very O.K., Chubby," she said.

After Chubby had gone, not knowing whether to look angry or pleased at Anne's last remark, the conversation switched back to the subject which had exhausted itself so many times during the past week. In close proximity to Peggy's, a new cottage had been built and was now in the process of being furnished. The surprise of the Clan had given way to curiosity and dread of the possibilities of the new inmates. As yet there had been no signs of occupancy, no hints as to the nature of the occupants to be.

"Well, anyhow," said Peggy for the third time that afternoon, "it's a charming cottage, and that's something."

"And well-built," added the practical Jack. "They've used L. B. Nauss materials exclusively I understand, and they must have excellent taste in furniture. I've seen the North Shore Furniture truck over there unloading, and also some of those excellent reproductions of antiques from the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company have gone in."

"What are they doing over there now, Mr. Sees All, Knows All," asked Anne.

"The men from the Gloucester Electric Company have been there today finishing up the lighting fixtures. Maybe that's who's there now," suggested Peggy. "One of the men was telling me about them. They must be awfully attractive. The fixtures they are putting out this year are stunning. The Gloucester Gas Light Company were there yesterday. Whoever our neighbors are, they're certainly well equipped."

"What I can't understand—Why hello, here comes Chubby disguised as a race horse. Well, what's on your mind, you seem slightly excited," said Jack, striding over to the edge of the porch.

Chubby came tearing up the steps. "Guess who I saw in Gloucester!" he fairly gasped.

"Who?" chorused the three on the porch.

"Marcia and Phil Hastings!" and Chubby dropped triumphantly into the hammock, gazing around him in blissful satisfaction at the sensation he had created.

Bursts of protest broke around him. "You're crazy. They're in Europe." "You must be mistaken." "They can't be there, we'd know it."

"Wait a minute," interrupted Chubby, "I was not mistaken. They came into Wetherell's when I was in there buying, er, some cigarettes—"

FOR BRIGHTER BREAKFASTS!

Englishware set for two in "Garden Walk" pattern. 23 pieces, $17.50. Tray $3.

OVINGTON'S is abloom with lovely breakfast sets. In colors gay as country gardens—in china that enhances the fame of the finest potters—these delightful sets brighten the matutinal repast while their prices never, never disturb the serenity of country days. Complete services from $6.50 to $75.

OVINGTON'S

LEXINGTON AVENUE, MAGNOLIA, MASS.
437 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

"A soda," corrected Anne.

"Well, anyhow, they started to come in and saw me and skipped out again, and by the time I caught up to them they had hopped into their car and were off."

"Darned funny," said Jack, "I'd swear they were in Europe. But Chubby must know their car."

Suddenly there was a cry from Peggy. "Here they come now!"

Sure enough, the long familiar roadster drew up to the cottage and Marcia and her husband alighted. Amid much laughter and bubbling gayety, Marcia and Phil tried to answer and satisfy the excited, curious Clan.

"We tried not to let you know, but that Chubby," pointing to the culprit, "had to spoil everything. We left Larry and Judith in Europe and returned without telling you because we wanted to surprise you by appearing as your next door neighbor tomorrow morning." Marcia laughed at their dumfounded expressions.

"Then you're the ones," cried Peggy. "That's your cottage! Oh, I'm so glad, so glad!"

Phil laughed. Everyone was laughing and excited.

"If you could ever have seen us creeping in and out of the First National Stores today. We had to eat tomorrow and we never trade anywhere else, and we knew that you all traded there too. We were so afraid we'd meet you; and if you could have seen Marcia insisting that I buy the chicken at Shepherd's and stationing herself at the door watching for you and shrieking directions at me across the store. What a time!"

"Well, come up anyhow, and we'll enjoy Chubby's ice-cream while we talk," said Peggy.

"Still teasing you, Chub?" asked Marcia as she ran up the steps. "Oh, it's good, good, good, to be back, isn't it, Phil?"

"Gay and Jimmie arrive tomorrow," said Peggy. "They'll be so surprised."

"Perfect. And that reminds me, Phil's sister is coming from Louisiana tonight to spend the summer with Phil and me. You'll all love her."

"How nice! The Clan will soon be back to its original size, we need new blood. Let's plan a big day for her tomorrow and start her off right," suggested Peggy.

"What are the men discussing so earnestly over there? Boys," Anne called, "Come over and help us plan a big day for Phil's sister."

"Pardon us," said Jack coming over to the girls, "Chubby and I were just assuring Phil that he showed excellent judgment in having L. E. Smith install their Silent Glow Oil Burner for protection against cool summer mornings, and also their Frigidaire in his new cottage."

"I've told him so a dozen times but I realize the superior value to a man of men's judgment, and I suppose there's nothing to be done about it."

"I'm so anxious to see your cottage inside," said Peggy.

"Well, let's all have dinner there tomorrow night, sort of an informal housewarming," suggested Marcia.

This idea was enthusiastically accepted by all, and then it was decided that Marcia and Phil should be allowed to depart to open up their home, while the remainder of the group went for a swim. Anne was the one to suggest the swimming. She had been suggesting it at intervals all afternoon, and was strongly suspected of being anxious to display the new very smart bathing outfit which she had recently purchased at Manahan's. She appeared presently looking very smart in a lettuce green one-piece fitted jersey with slightly flared trunks and a tie-back belt of the same material. Peggy, too, in a bolero-jacketed royal blue and white suit from the same establishment, looked very chic and comfortable. Both were shod in the new, smart and practical Lido, Roman striped beach sandals.

(Continued on page 20)

"THE TROUSSEAU HOUSE OF AMERICA"

Grande Maison de Blanc

538-540 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

MAGNOLIA, MASS.

Table Damask
Fancy Table Linen
Lace Dinner Cloths
Bed Linen and Spreads
Blankets and Comforters
Bath Towels and Rugs
Towelings

Handkerchiefs and Neckwear
Lingerie and Negligees
Infants' and Children's Wear
Blouse and Top Dresses
Sport Coats and Sweaters
Purses and Bags
Motor Rugs

It is understood by our patrons that our Magnolia Prices are identical with those in our New York Shop

Patrons will receive the personal attention of

Mr. RAYMOND BROWN
Resident Manager
Telephone 459 Magnolia

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

(Continued from page 2)

present conditions on Cape Ann will be continued and this assurance comes from a knowledge of the population constituent. A wise-cracking senator in discussing this topic some years ago said the people get as good government as it wants, i. e., the character of the men it elects to represent it. Well, look the group of Gloucester officials over.

THE WATER SUPPLY

(Continued from page 2)

been about 4,000,000 gallons a day. That is, enough water has gone over the dam to date to make an aggregate of one billion gallons. Beside the water shed, the engineers uncovered outbursts from a subterranean river, "springs" which feed the basin continually.

The already existing storage basins at West Gloucester which had become exhausted, were Dike's meadow with a storage capacity of 275,000,000 gallons; Haskell's Pond with a capacity of 400,000,000 gallons, and Wallace Pond with a capacity of 63,000,000 gallons. Strange to say the latter provides the most water of the three. The explanation is that it has the largest water shed. For several years past this basin has supplied the city for the first five months and is nearly at capacity today. Haskell's, with the largest storage capacity, has the smallest water shed. Under the most favorable conditions it takes a year to fill it. Because of that, the writer opposed its taking at the time. Dike's meadow was during the fall and the first part of January, thoroughly cleaned of all vegetable matter. It filled within four months.

The Water Board has embarked upon a scheme of landscape gardening about the Alewife Brook basin after designs of Miss Mary Cunningham which already is taking shape and promises to be one of the attractions of this locality. The basin itself, reaching to the line of trees left standing, appears as if it had come from the hands of nature ages ago.

And almost equally important, the historic Dogtown Commons site of the "Deserted Village" has been taken over in its entirety by the city by eminent domain, thus ensuring its perpetuation forever, as left by the original settlers. It was being gradually encroached upon. The editor of The Shore takes special satisfaction in this two-fold accomplishment. For years he has urged that such action be taken. The exigencies of the water situation brought this to pass. Again he was the only newspaper writer who urged the adoption of the Alewife Brook water supply proposition. Today no voice but what acclaims the judgment of the Water Board and Municipal Council in having courage to go ahead with this undertaking. As each member in after life looks back on the beginning and ending of this agitation, he may draw a large measure of satisfaction from his service to the community in this especial matter. And best of all, there is no suspicion of graft in the entire thing. That's not saying that there was any in previous propositions.

One thing more of vital importance: This Alewife basin is a water supply system within itself. Should anything happen, as has been the case with the mains entering into Gloucester from West Gloucester the city instantly has an independent system in reserve. Few localities are as favored or so insured.

BASS ROCKS

(Continued from page 8)

At the Moorland: Mrs. William W. Bird, Worcester; Mrs. A. L. Briggs, Misses Leontin and Dorothy Briggs, West Hartford; Mrs. S. M. Kinney, Croton-on-Hudson; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mason, Syracuse; Mr. John S. Bussing, New York City; Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, Misses Helen G. and Beatrice Boorhus, Mr. Paul E. Reasor, Mrs. Banyer Ludlow, Misses Kate and Sarah K. Williams, New York City; Mrs. Frederick Held, Mrs. E. D. Held, Miss Helen C. Alt, Mr. W. A. Coursen, Winter Park, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kauffman, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. James C. Farrell and family of Albany have opened their fine estate, "Felsenmeer," Atlantic road, near Grapevine Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. William (Elizabeth) Tilton of Cambridge are again in occupancy of the Harding cottage for the season. Mrs. Tilton went on to Washington the latter part of June.

The Laurence A. Browns are in their cottage in Page street for the season.

Among the early comers to Bass Rocks were the Edward C. Wilsons of Springfield, who have taken occupancy of "Fairways," junction of Way road and Page street.

Arthur T. Safford and family of Lowell, Bass Rocks residents of long standing, will pass the summer at their cottage in Beach road.

Mrs. Harvey N. Squire of Brookline, who last year had the Dr. Smith cottage, Atlantic road, is established this season in the Selden cottage in Briar road.

Raymond L. Royce and family of Brookline are again occupying Twin Light cottage, built by the late John Bowler.

Henry D. Schmidt and family of Brookline are again occupying the Conant cottage.

Arthur S. Morse and family of Brookline, who had the Dundas residence last season, will this summer go to Annisquam, where they have a cottage.

Mrs. Edward S. Ellis and daughters of Brookline, prominent in the social life of the colony, have opened Nautilus cottage for the season.

The William H. Robinsons of Pittsburgh will not come this season to their estate at Bass Rocks, one of the finest on the North Shore, at least the first of the season. This estate with its magnificent rose gardens, never looked more beautiful and attractive.

OCEANSIDE THEATRE MAGNOLIA MASSACHUSETTS
W. ROSING
By arrangement with ROSS THOMPSON
PRESENTS A SEASON OF
DRAMA AND INTIMATE OPERA
Opening JULY 20th for One Week with
PAULINE LORD in "EFFIE GALLOWS"
A new play by Claire Spencer

JULY 27-28-29-30-31, AUGUST 1
GEORGE HOUSTON in
"SECOND MAN"
by S. N. Behrman
(Permission of The Theatre Guild)

AUGUST 4-6-7
"FAUST"
Opera by Gounod (sung in English)

AUGUST 10-11-12-13-14-15
CORA WITHERSPOON in
"THE NOTORIOUS LADY"
A new play by John Entenza

AUGUST 18-20-21
ANNA DUNCAN in a
DANCE PROGRAM and "PAGLIACCI"
Opera by Leoncavallo (sung in English)

AUGUST 24-25-26-27-28-29
FIRST PRODUCTION IN AMERICA of
"SIMOON"
Famous French play by H. R. Lenormand
With a Distinguished Cast

Tickets may be secured from MISS EDITH ATWATER, Oceanside Hotel
Single seats .... $ 2.50
All six performances 12.00
Five performances $10.50
Four Performances 8.75
Three performances $7.00
MRS. EVANS R. DICK, JR., Managing Director

MANCHESTER AND THE COUNTYSIDE

Miss Elsie Brewer, recently returned to this country with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Brewer of Boston and Beverly Farms, has sailed for Honolulu, accompanied also by her sisters, Misses Susan and Barbara Brewer, where they will spend the summer.

The Brazilian ambassador, S. Gurgel de Amaral and family will occupy the "Hedges," the John T. J. Clunie estate at West Manchester this summer. Members of his staff who will accompany him are Paulo Coelho de Almeida, first secretary, and Mario de Lima Barbosa, one of the second secretaries, with his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Cummings of Boston are at their Pride's Crossing estate.

Mrs. Washington B. Thomas is at "Netherfield," Pride's Crossing.

Mrs. Frank Seabury has returned to her home, 25 Vine street, Beverly Farms, after a long visit with her sisters in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse arrived June 10 at their summer home, "Crowhurst," Ocean street, Manchester. They spent the winter in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wheeler of Boston are now at "Redacre," West Manchester, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ward of Brookline have moved to their Old Neck road estate, Manchester, before going to their farm in Andover for the summer and early autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hawley, with Mrs. Hawley's mother, Mrs. Adelaide Andros of Cambridge, will spend the summer at "Uplands," West Manchester.

Mrs. Alanson Daniels of Boston has arrived at "Old Farm" in Wenham for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cary Curtis of Boston will spend the summer in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Rantoul of Boston are at West Beach, Beverly Farms, for the season.

The Misses Franks of Salem will spend the summer at the Curtis cottage on Hale street, Beverly Farms, as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hodges of Brookline are at the "Gables," off Hale street, Beverly Farms, for the season, and will be joined there by their son, George Hodges.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Foster are at Coolidge Point, Manchester, for the summer.

Hornblower & Weeks
ESTABLISHED 1888
Members New York, Boston and Chicago Stock Exchanges
Investment Securities
60 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON
42 BROADWAY, NEW YORK
Chicago Detroit Cleveland Providence Portland Pittsburgh

NEW YORK, 8 East 48th St.
WASHINGTON, 1211 Conn. Ave.
NEWPORT, R. I.
BOSTON, 587 Boylston St.
LOS ANGELES, CAL.
PASADENA, CAL.
A. Schmidt & Son, Inc.
Importers of Silver and Sheffield Plate ❧ Fine Porcelains
MAGNOLIA
Telephone Magnolia 408
Fine Wedding Presents a Specialty
Christmas Gifts held for December Delivery

General and Mrs. E. R. Champlin have arrived from Pasadena, Calif., and are now at their summer home, "Thissellbrook," 304 Hale street in Beverly.

A dance will be held at the Essex County Club in September in honor of Miss Anne Richardson, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Weld Richardson of Brookline and Magnolia, by her parents.

The wedding of Miss Katherine Lee Burrage and Forrester A. Clark took place Saturday, June 27, at St. John's Church in Beverly Farms. The reception was held at "Brookwood Farm."

Arrivals for the season are: Russell Codman and family at Smith's Point, Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Lothrop and family at West Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dexter at "Boulderwood," Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dennett at Manchester Cove, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Dodge at the Cove.

Mr. Harvey Bundy, who has been appointed Assistant Secretary of State, will go to Washington the first of July. Mrs. Bundy and the children will come to Manchester for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Chase opened their summer home here last Wednesday.

LONG BEACH

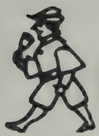
In spite of the havoc created by the storm which swept the New England coast last winter, loyal Long Beachers are steadily returning to their favorite summer resort. At present the Beach is undergoing extensive reconstruction. In a comparatively short time, temporary plank walks have sprung up connecting cottages and replacing the famous old board walk which was so completely demolished by the storm. Preparations are being made for erecting a permanent cement buttress and new walk. Another great improvement will be the installation of gas in the cottages which is already well under way. This innovation was greatly needed and will be strongly appreciated by the cottagers.

It is a far cry from the dreary spectacle which Long Beach presented in the spring to the active and promising appearance of the Beach today. Many cottagers have already arrived, while many more are due after the Fourth.

Mrs. Catherine Martin and her daughter Mary recently arrived from Stoneham at their cottage the "Neptune." With them is their guest, Miss Kathleen Montague, also of Stoneham.

At the "Edgecliff" this year are Mr.

(Continued on page 17)

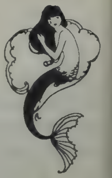


TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE PRACTICAL

RIGHT VALUES AND COMPLETE VARIETY ARE TO BE FOUND IN THE SHOPS OF

GLOUCESTER

ENJOY THE PASSING HOUR AND
THE CAPE ANN BREEZE



YACHTING!

After an Interval of 45 Years, Sandy Bay Yacht Club Renews Activities—Eastern Point and Annisquam Y. C. Plan an Interesting Season.

The conductor of The Shore in this and other news mediums has for several years urged the importance of a revival of the Sandy Bay Yacht Club of Rockport. No course on this coast excels that inside the big breakwater, both from the standpoint of the yachtsman and the "gallery."

This revival has occurred largely through the interest and public spirit of Commodore Marion Cooney and his associates, and they deserve commendation for their fine work. The writer, who perhaps may claim to be one of the oldest yachting writers in this country continuously for more than 45 years, remembers participating in the regattas of the original Sandy Bay Yacht Club with Commodore Leander M. Haskins, first in the Louette and later in the Trudette, both Gifford designed boats, with Howard Paul, who, I think, had one of George Wheeler's productions, Commodore Robert Herne, Charles C. Tresnon and others, all keen yachtsmen and sportsmen in its best sense. All long since anchored in the haven of the Fortunate Isles—we pause to pay tribute to their memory.

That was 45 years ago and much water has ebbed and flowed into Rockport harbor twice in every 24 hours, since that day. Well, almost a half century after these original pioneers along the north cape retired from the sport—May 30, 1931, to be exact—the revived club, youthful in age, spirit and ambition, takes up the tiller where the old guard dropped it.

A fine nucleus of Alden boats in the Sandy Bay class, also an equally adequate representation in the Star class, with a number of Fish boats for the beginners and a Pilot and special classes, provides variety enough for all and ensures interesting contests. We are pleased to notice a substantial interest in the summer colony, Gifford Beal and Max Kuehne of the artist colony and Mr. Evans, and others are to follow. Success to the Sandy Bay Club. Summaries of the races to date follow:

May 30—First race; wind light and spotty from the south.

SANDY BAY CLASS

Bobeno, B. S. Story	2 40 35
Mamie, J. Cianciola	2 41 30
Myrtice A., L. I. Dean	2 42 18

STAR CLASS

Altair, Pierce and Grover	2 39 40
Eclipse, G. Hale	2 42 15
Vega, H. S. Evans	2 43 20
Star of India, R. Hale	2 46 12

PILOT CLASS

Onward, L. Cooney	2 04 30
Shirlidee, S. Dean	2 07 20
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	2 28 25

FISH CLASS

Minnow, H. Gott	2 25 00
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	2 25 30
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	2 25 50
Judy, R. H. Lane	2 27 35
Shiner, G. S. Grace	2 31 05

MIXED CLASS

Celeritas, J. S. Cooney	did not finish
Pewee, Charles Pierce	did not finish

May 31—Race sailed in a fresh southwest and jumpy sea. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Bobeno, Benton C. Story	1 45 00
Mamie, John Cianciola	disabled
Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	withdrew

STAR CLASS

Eclipse, Guy Hale	did not finish
Altair, Pierce and Grover	did not finish
Star of India, Ralph Hale	did not finish

PILOT CLASS

Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	0 39 30
Shirlidee, Shirley Dean	0 44 15
Onward, Laura Cooney	withdrew

FISH CLASS

Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	0 54 25
Minnow, Herbert Gott	capsized
Judy, Roy H. Lane	withdrew
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	withdrew
Shiner, G. S. Grace	withdrew

MIXED CLASS

Celeritas II, John S. Cooney, and Pewee, Charles Pierce, both withdrew.

June 6—Race sailed in a moderate southwest breeze and smooth sea. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	1 49 58
Mamie, John Cianciola	1 50 32
Bobeno, Benton Story	1 57 43
Maidie, Gifford Beals	withdrew

STAR CLASS

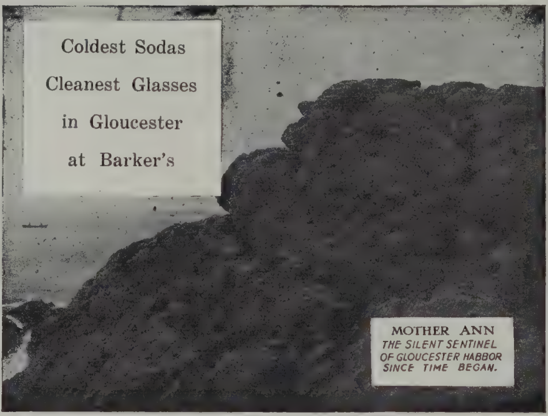
Eclipse, Guy Hale	1 49 24
Star of India, Ralph Hale	1 51 11
Comet, Frank Pierce	1 51 43
Altair, Pierce and Grover	1 52 55
Vega, Herbert S. Evans	1 54 38

PILOT CLASS

Shirlidee, Pearson Hillier	1 23 45
Onward, Alvin S. Brown, Jr.	1 24 09
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 31 30

FISH CLASS

Judy, Roy H. Lane	1 26 16
Darter, Max Kuehne	1 27 55
Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 28 29
Shiner, G. C. Grace	1 29 17
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	1 32 45
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	1 33 33



Coldest Sodas
Cleanest Glasses in Gloucester
at Barker's

MOTHER ANN
THE SILENT SENTINEL
OF GLOUCESTER HARBOR
SINCE TIME BEGAN.

Barker's Soda Fountain has such a wide reputation for the richness and quality of its Ice-Cream Sodas, Frozen Whipped Cream, College Ices and Specialities, that people come for miles around to get sodas at this fountain.

BARKER'S DRUG STORE, 134 Main Street

Summer Residents of Cape Ann

We Carry the Finest and Best Selected of Summer Footwear in This Locality

SPORT, GOLF, TENNIS and BEACH SHOES

Exclusive Agent for Arch Preserver—Queen Quality Shoes—Imported Deauville Sandals for women and children—Florsheim Shoes for Men—Buster Brown Shoes for boys and girls (Prices reasonable and to your liking). Warner's "Society Maid" Silk Hose 99c to $1.69.

DR. SHOLL FOOT APPLIANCES

Armstrong's Busy Corner

106 Main, Corner Center Street

ESTABLISHED 33 YEARS. TEL. CONN.

CHECKING ACCOUNTS
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS

We Act as Trustee, Executor or Administrator.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

Cape Ann National Bank

"THE SERVICE BANK"

154 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER, MASS.

June 13—Race sailed in light easterly air which died away for a half hour after the start, when a light air from the eastward enabled the fleet to finish a shortened course. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	2 47 15
Bobeno, Benton Story	3 00 58
Mamie, John Cianciola	3 08 00

STAR CLASS

Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 37 22
Star of India, Ralph Hale	2 39 59
Comet, Frank Pierce	2 40 18
Vega, Herbert S. Evans	2 46 53
Altair, Pierce and Grover	2 49 45

PILOT CLASS

Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	2 29 00
Onward, Stewart and Laura Cooney	2 29 40
Shirlidee, Pearson Hillier	withdrew

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	2 49 33
Darter, Max Kuehne	2 52 36
Judy, Roy H. Lane	withdrew
Shiner, G. S. Grace	withdrew
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	withdrew
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	withdrew

June 14—A moderate southerly, steady throughout. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Maidie, Gifford Beal	1 59 38
Mamie, John Cianciola	2 01 59
Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	2 08 07
Bobeno, Benton Story	2 12 48

STAR CLASS

Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 00 45
Comet, Frank Pierce	2 07 15
Vega, Herbert S. Evans	2 09 50
Altair, Pierce and Grover	withdrew

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	1 25 10
Wikki, Homer Clark	1 30 09
Shirlidee, Pearson Hillier	1 35 35
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 36 20

FISH CLASS

Darter, Max Kuehne	1 30 27
Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 31 02
Shiner, G. S. Grace	1 35 39
Fairy Belle, D. Phillips	1 43 40
Judy, Roy H. Lane	1 44 31
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	1 44 33
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	1 47 20

MIXED CLASS

Pewee, Charles Pierce	2 09 30
Sarah II, Ben Knudsen	2 11 00

June 20—Light nor'-nor'west breeze, six knots maximum and fading.

SANDY BAY CLASS

Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	2 11 58
Mamie, John Cianciola	2 20 59
Bobeno, Benton Story	2 49 05

Maidie withdrew.

STAR CLASS

No. 137, Max Kuehne	1 58 30
Altair, Pierce and Grover	2 06 45
Star of India, Ralph Hale	2 07 11
Comet, Frank Pierce	2 13 54
Vega, Herbert S. Evans	2 40 53

BIRD CLASS

Ibis, R. Russell Smith	2 22 18
Pewee	withdrew

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	2 09 22
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	2 11 30
Shirlidee, Shirley Dean	withdrew

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	2 09 46
Shiner, G. S. Grace	2 19 50

Flounder, Judy, Skipjack, Fairy Belle, withdrew.

June 21—A 25-knot breeze and lumpy sea, wind northwest. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Bobeno, Benton C. Storey	1 50 50
Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	1 51 46
Mamie, John Cianciola	1 55 38
Maidie, Gifford Beal	withdrew

STAR CLASS

Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 07 57
Star of India, Ralph Hale	2 09 17
Vega, Herbert S. Evans	2 20 50
Comet, Frank Pierce	withdrew

June 27—Light baffling wind, west to north. Bobeno hopelessly beaten, got a favorable slant and pulled out a winner.

SANDY BAY CLASS

Bobeno, Benton C. Story	1 36 5.
Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	1 39 28
Mamie, John Cianciola	1 40 22
Maidie, Gifford Beal	1 52 30

STAR CLASS

Ibex, Max Kuehne	1 28 44
Eclipse, Guy Hale	1 30 28
Vega, Herbert Evans	withdrew
Altair, Pierce Grover	withdrew
Star of India, Ralph Hale	withdrew

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Donald Cook	1 15 02
Shirlidee, Pearson Hillier	1 15 11
Mikie, Homer Clark	1 18 45

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott; Shiner, G. S. Grace; Flounder, Thibeault & Perkins; Skipjack, C. H. Davis, all withdrew.

June 28—Very light air, course once around triangle. Star and one of the Fish boats finished within time limit. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Maidie, Gifford Beal	3 18 40
Mamie John Cianciola	3 19 10
Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	3 20 10
Bobeno, Benton C. Story	did not finish

STAR CLASS

Ibex, Max Kuehne	2 48 40
Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 51 45
Altair, Pierce Grover	withdrew

BIRD CLASS

Ibis, R. Russell Smith	3 12 20
Peewee, Charles Pierce	3 12 52

PILOT CLASS

Mikie, Homer Clark	2 44 05
Shirlidee, Pearson Hillier	3 06 50

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	2 59 30
Shiner, G. S. Grace	withdrew
Flounder, Thibeault & Perkins	withdrew
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	withdrew

Rockport, July 4—Wind light and variable, from east to southwest. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Maidee, Gifford Beal	2 40 25
Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	2 41 06
Mamie, John Cianciola	2 54 32
Bobeno, Benton C. Story	3 00 36

STAR CLASS

Ibex, Max Kuehne	2 19 19
Sansouci, Homer Clark	2 20 18
Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 36 32
Vega, Herbert Evans	2 38 52
Star of India, Ralph Hale	2 39 10
Altair, Pierce Grover	2 42 46

BIRD CLASS

Pewee, Charles Pierce	2 45 31
Bobolink	2 48 42

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	1 56 07
Greenhorn, H. F. Tufts	1 57 40
Shirlidee, Shirley Dean	2 13 34

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	2 16 24
Judy, Roy H. Lane	2 17 37
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	2 17 39
Flounder, Perkins and Thibeault	2 24 07
Fairy Belle, Donald Phillips	2 25 18
Shiner, G. S. Grace	2 27 00

MIXED CLASS

Celeritas II, John Cooney	1 49 16
Saratog, Ben Knudson	1 52 10

Rockport, July 5—Moderate and steady southwest breeze. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	2 15 15
Bobeno, Benton C. Story	2 17 01
Maidee, Clifford Beal	Disqualified
Mamie, John Cianciola	Disqualified

STAR CLASS

Sansouci, Homer Clark	2 06 30
Ibex, Max Kuehne	2 08 36
Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 13 55
Vega, Herbert Evans	2 14 44
Altair, Pierce and Grover	2 15 02
Star of India, Ralph Hale	2 21 22

BIRD CLASS

Ibis, R. Russell Smith	2 14 42
Pewee, Charles Pierce	2 18 21

PILOT CLASS

Shirlidee, Shirley Dean	1 45 00
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 45 40
Onward, Laura Cooney	1 48 40
Mikki, Homer Clark	1 49 51

(Continued on page 22)

SERVE THE BEST
at no additional cost

YOU cannot afford to compromise with the quality of the food you serve in your summer menus. Near your home you will find a First National Store, specializing in quality foods. Come in and give us the opportunity of assisting you in the selection of the best for your table.

COMBINATION MARKETS AT
147 Main St., Gloucester
37 Main St., Rockport

First National Stores, Inc.
Where New England Buys Its Food.

INSURANCE
ALL KINDS
STRONGEST COMPANIES
JOHN A. JOHNSON
Gloucester National Bank Bldg.
Telephones 16 and 17
Just off Custom House Square

A. P. STODDART & CO.
Established 1876
ENGINEERS AND MACHINISTS
Engine Repairing and Installing
FULLY EQUIPPED MACHINE SHOP
236 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER, MASS.

Pringle's History of Gloucester, 1892
The Gloucester Tercentenary Book
ALSO FOUR LOG BOOKS OF DEEP SEA VOYAGES
FOR SALE AT
BLANCHARD'S
125 MAIN STREET -:- GLOUCESTER

THE WINTER'S NECROLOGY

Mrs. Natalie (Harris) Hammond

News of the passing of Mrs. John Hays Hammond at Washington, June 18, was received with sincere regret in this city. The family came here in 1902 and Mrs. Hammond almost immediately identified herself with humanitarian and civic effort and in many ways made manifest her influence by good works. Her ear was ever ready to the call of the worthy and her hand extended for helpfulness both institutional and individual. Her beneficences were many.

She was active in World War work and initiated relief measures for the relief of the Belgian women and children, opening her bungalow to a group of Gloucester women to forward this work. She was also prominent in Liberty Bond work and in other ways stimulated war time charitable enterprises.

She gave her check for $10,000 last year for the Addison Gilbert Hospital fund. For years she was a trustee of the Huntress Home for Aged Women, and at Christmas and other occasions manifested substantially her interest in the occupants of the home.

Mrs. Hammond conceived the idea of erecting a memorial to those men of the Titanic who gave their lives that the women and children might be saved. She pushed the project to completion. Unfortunately illness prevented her witnessing the fruition of her efforts a few weeks ago when the magnificent memorial was dedicated in Washington.

She was married to John Hays Hammond January 1, 1881. Mr. Hammond, a young mining engineer, was then entering upon a career which led to international prominence. In this career, Mrs. Hammond was indeed a helpmeet in the best sense of the word, accompanying him into mining camps, roughing it with the pioneer women, sharing his struggles, encouraging and stimulating on to renewed effort.

The troublous days prior to the Boer War found Mr. Hammond in South Africa associated with Cecil Rhodes and Dr. Jameson in the epochal development of that period. During the difficulties which ensued, Mr. Hammond was condemned to death. It was then that this remarkable woman shone forth in her full strength of character. Standing in the cable office at Johannesburgh, she dispatched cables costing more than $500 to the most influential men in political and commercial life in America, urging that the Americans be saved, and through her instrumentality the doughty old Oom Paul relented from his purpose. Her book, "A Woman's Part in the Boer War," is a standard work on this troubled era, and in conjunction with other episodes in a busy life, marks her as one of the outstanding women of all time.

Of commanding personality, democratic and dignified, she won all by her innate nobility of character and fine personality. It will be many a day before the memory of those who have been helped by her over life's rough road will be dimmed, and this, after all, is the sincerest tribute which one may hope to achieve. Gloucester and the North Shore will miss her.

Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Hammond, four of whom survive. All have achieved prominence in various avenues of endeavor.

THE ZONING ORDINANCES!!

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Gloucester have been printed in their entirety and are now ready for distribution at the office of the City Clerk, Allen F. Grant, City Hall. Copies will be mailed on application.

In a general way, all the summer resort areas have been made residential sections only. Six types of districts have been designated, namely: 1, single residence districts; 2, general residence districts; 3, apartment house districts; 4, business districts; 5, light industrial districts; 6, heavy industrial districts.

The ordinances specify in detail the requirements, restrictions, area, regulations, yards and courts, nonconforming uses, district boundaries, accessory uses, automobile services, methods of procedure to obtain building permits, changes, variations, appeals, etc. They are of especial interest to summer resident realty owners.

ALLEN F. GRANT, City Clerk.

Gloucester, July 1, 1931.

Mrs. Gertrude M. Thebaud

The death occurred in Morristown, N. J., in November, of Mrs. Gertrude M. Thebaud, wife of Louis A. Thebaud, who had made their summer residence for three years at "Ladycliffe," Freshwater Cove. It was she for whom the champion Gloucester fishing schooner which defeated the Nova Scotia Bluenose in October was named. Both she and her husband took the greatest interest in the fishermen and built the schooner for the purpose of bringing back the International Fisherman's racing trophy as a prowess of the Gloucester fleet.

Shortly after her return to Morristown, she developed pneumonia, and this added to a previous illness, proved fatal. Her maiden name was McCurdy and she was a woman of quiet mien and generous instincts. Out of respect for her memory the flags of the fishing fleet were flown at half-mast on the day of her funeral.

Amanda Smith Hawks

In the passing of Mrs. Amanda (Smith) Hawks, who died in Cambridge, January 14, the North Shore and especially Gloucester, loses an ardent admirer and a splendid personality.

Mrs. Hawks came here in her early married life with her husband, the late Edward Clinton Hawks, in 1889, Mr. Hawks being the purchaser of Coffin's Beach, which he renamed Wingaersheek. The task of developing this property and attracting desirable summer residents was a labor of love to which they gave the energy of their best years.

During her last years she found solace and stimulus in applying herself to art, for which she had an aptitude and many productions of her brush, mainly of the West Parish seashore domain, which she never tired of depicting, are creditably done, and attest her ability.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Eugene O'Brien (Hester Hawks) of Cambridge. A son died in young manhood.

She was born in Buffalo, and was a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church of that city. She held other memberships as follows: President Buffalo Genealogical Society; honorary member Buffalo Society of Artists; honorary member of "Scribblers," Buffalo; member of Boston Branch, National Farm and Garden Association; member New York City Chapter of Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America; member Buffalo Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution. (Her chapter number is 22, and National number 164.)

Mortons'

BOOKS, STATIONERY, OFFICE SUPPLIES, GREETING CARDS, GIFTS and LENDING LIBRARY

6 PLEASANT ST.,

GLOUCESTER, MASS.

LONG BEACH

(Continued from page 13)

and Mrs. Gardener from Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moody and their children, Virginia, Mary, Phyllis, and William, from Gloucester are again at the "Sandpiper."

Mr. and Mrs. Martin from Quincy are at the "Hartsville."

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Tutton and their children from Medford, and Mr. and Mrs. Hirons, Medford, are back at the "Clearview."

Mrs. Nelson from Gloucester is at the "Hiawatha."

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Johnson are again at the Hale cottage with their children, Elizabeth, Barbara and Emily. Mrs. Edith Newhall, from Salem, is their guest.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Harrison from Gloucester are at the "Whip-poor-will" for the season.

At the "Homlea" are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Calder from Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Flygare and daughter, Shirley, and Mrs. R. D. Perkins from Gloucester.

John P. Hale, "Mayor of Long Beach," and his wife, Mrs. Hale, are back for another season at their cottage, the "Halecrest." With them are their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Morse and daughters Marjory and Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Davis and sons Arnold B. and Carl C., Jr., from Newtonville are at their cottage for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Allen and their son from Swampscott are spending the summer at the Merrill cottage.

Mrs. Luella W. Ellis of the Chicataubut opened again this season her popular inn to the usual large number of enthusiastic patrons. Despite the very gloomy outlook promised by the beach before the beginning of the season, the attraction of Mrs. Ellis' inn proved itself equal to the situation as is shown by the length of the register list and the bookings for after the Fourth.

Among the recent arrivals are: Miss Irene M. Snow, Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Price, Medford; Mrs. E. C. Colman, Malden; Mrs. Frank Owen, Newton; Mrs. Charles Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Putnam, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. George Marsh, Halden; Miss Florence Blasenok, Miss Hattie F. Ellis, Miss Anna R. Ellis, Miss Frances K. Farrelly, Norwood; Miss Mildred E. Ellis, Ridgewood; Miss Ruth Holbrook, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holbrook, Miss Barbara Holbrook, Miss

(Next to Main Street Waiting Room)

Service With a Smile

"The Tea-room with an atmosphere"

Tempting Salads, Sandwiches and Luncheon Specials

AT OUR FOUNTAIN

REFRESHING DRINKS AND ICES

Home-made Candies and Fresh Salted Nut Meats prepared on the premises every day

Ice-Cream Packed with DRY ICE will keep four to five hours without ice or salt.

A Delightful Place to Eat.

RANSELLEAR TOWLE

118 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER

WE OFFER SPECIAL LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING SERVICE FOR SUMMER VISITORS

Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co.

PHONE 524 NOW

Offices and Plants:

8 PARKER ST., - GLOUCESTER

L. E. ANDREWS & CO.

Plumbing and Heating

Kitchen Furnishings, Garden Tools, Prepared Paints, Hardware of all descriptions. Vessel work, Yachting Hardware, Garden Hose, etc.

'Phones 645 and 646

121 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER

(Opposite Waiting Station)

Silent Automatic Oil Furnaces.

EARL O. PHILLIPS

Smart Shop for Men

Smart Clothes for Summer Comfort

A. G. SPALDING BROS.'
BATHING SUITS
GOLF BALLS
TENNIS HOSE

HICKOK BELTS
DELPERK PAJAMAS
SUMMER NECKWEAR

ARROW SHIRTS

SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES

ROBER REIS
UNDERWEAR
BATHING SUITS
SWEATERS
GOLF HOSE

EARL O. PHILLIPS, Inc. Smart Shop for Men

PERSONAL SERVICE

131 Main Street, Cor. Hancock, Gloucester, Opposite Barker's Drug Store

For Sixty Years

THIS PHARMACY has been dispensing Reliable

Drugs and Medicines

to the people of Cape Ann. Have you ever given us an opportunity to prove to you our capabilities along the lines of EFFICIENCY and REAL SERVICE? We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage this present season.

The Wetherell Pharmacy

P. O. SQUARE

8909
Cigarette Case
$3.75

Memories
of
Gloucester

TRUE SOUVENIRS of the sea—Bill Folds, Cigarette Cases, and all manner of articles fashioned of tough

TANNED CODFISH SKINS

Unlike any other Souvenir, they serve as a constant reminder of this famous fishing town.

$1.00 to $10.00

W. E. BLANCHARD,
Jeweler
125 Main Street, Gloucester, Mass.

Bessie C. Thorne, Millis; Miss Josephine Callam, Waltham; Miss Edith B. Rickles, Allston; Mr. and Mrs. W. Phillips and family, Belmont.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ellis and their children, Robert A. and Barbara Jean, are back at their cottage for the season. The Ellis home is in Watertown, and they are entertaining Miss Jean Norcross of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen McLatchy and family, from Woburn, are at the Beach for the summer.

ANNISQUAM

(Continued from page 9)

mond Cove colony. They are here for the summer.

George C. Andrew and son Sumner of Cambridge and families have returned to their Cambridge avenue summer house for the heated term.

Mrs. Joseph M. Damon and family of Newton are among the arrivals. Her home is in Cambridge avenue.

Mrs. Ramona Borden Parker and daughter have the Andrew cottage in Arlington street.

William E. Lufkin and family of Gloucester are again in occupancy of Ruby cottage on the southern bank of the cove.

Samuel Usher, 2d, and family of Cambridge are again at the Howard Sylvester cottage, Washington street, their summer home for a number of years.

The Woodbine cottage in Arlington street is the home of George P. Morrill of Arlington.

Charles J. Bliss and family of Melrose were June arrivals. Their cottage is in Dennison street.

Mrs. Ardella Hyatt and daughter, Mrs. Harriet Hyatt Mayor and family of Princeton, N. J., came early in June to "Seven Acres" for the season. The many friends of Madame Hyatt on the North Shore will learn with pleasure that she is in good health and spirits. Her 91st birthday evoked congratulations from friends all over the country.

The Edmund D. Cooks of Westover, Penn., arrived last week for the season at the "Millrace," the picturesque Hodgkins tide grist mill converted into a riverside dwelling.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Worcester of Winchester have returned for the season to their Norwood's Heights cottage.

Commodore and Mrs. Harry H. Wiggin of Brookline were among the June arrivals. Their summer home is on Norwood's Heights.

Samuel Usher and family whose cottage "Hillside," is in the Norwood's Heights section, have opened their house for the season.

Mrs. Washington B. Trull of Berkeley street, Boston, has opened her home in Leonard street for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ferguson of New York City have been the recent guests at Seven Acres of Mrs. Alpheus Hyatt.

Miss Helen Grayson, daughter of the director of the American Laboratory Theatre at Lyme, Conn., is a guest at Seven Acres.

R. Russell Smith and family of Gloucester came early in June to their seashore home, "Sidelights," on Wigwam Point.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rice of New Haven are established in their cottage, Cambridge avenue.

Daniel Howard Woodbury and family have opened their cottage in the Diamond Cove colony for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos G. Moore of Wellesley Hills are as usual established for the summer in the Lane homestead, Arlington street.

Ralph T. Hale and family of Winchester are at the Jewett cottage, River road, for the season.

East Gloucester
Miniature Golf Course

116 EAST MAIN STREET
18 of the Largest Fairways in New England
NEWEST, MOST UP-TO-DATE
-:- OPENS -:-
Daily at 9 A.M. Sunday at 1 P.M.
FRANK POWLER, Inc.

THE L. E. SMITH COMPANY
Sole Cape Ann Agents for the
Frigidaire, Modern Sanitary Iceless Refrigerator
SILENT FLOW OIL BURNER FOR RANGES
Maytag Washing Machine
Chambers Fireless Gas Range
Plumbing, Heating, Hardware, Lawn Mowers, Garden Hose, Kitchen Furnishings, Etc.
221-223 Main St., 169 E. Main St.
GLOUCESTER

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Hight of Brookline have returned to their place on Adams Hill. For several seasons past they have occupied their farmstead laid out in the English manner in the Dennison hill section.

Mrs. George W. Harvey has opened her studio on the River road for the season.

Mrs. J. B. Williams of Cambridge has opened her summer home in the Hermit ledge colony. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Swan, Jr., are with her for the season.

Mrs. E. B. Ficke of Davenport, Iowa, has taken the Melbourne Hardwick cottage, River road, for the season.

Prof. Charles F. Bradley and family of Boston came early in June to their summer home, "Bayberry Ledge."

Hollis French and family of Mt. Vernon street, Boston, are at their 'Squam Rock summer place for the season.

Prof. and Mrs. Barry MacNutt and son, Alexander, of Bethlehem, Penn., are at 643 Washington street in the Sharpers' hill colony for the season.

Robert G. Morse and family have arrived at Cambridge avenue and will remain for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George I. Aldrich of Beacon street, Boston, have come to Spruce cottage, River road, for the summer. Mrs. Nathaniel Semple of Philadelphia, their daughter, is with them.

Mrs. Annie R. Smith, who spent the winter in Pasadena, has opened her cottage on Squam Point for the season. With her are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brown and family.

George G. Tarbell and family of Lincoln have returned to the Francis Strater cottage for the season.

Mrs. Whitman Ware of Boston makes her summer home in a cottage in the Linscott pastures and has arrived for the season.

"The Ledge" cottage, Adams Hill, is the summer home this summer of Mrs. Harry K. White of Boston.

MAGNOLIA

(Continued from page 9)

homey aspect. All bedrooms have outside exposure and many have private baths and fireplaces. The location of the Inn enables its guests to enjoy golf, tennis, bathing, a delightful equestrian path, fishing parties, and sight-seeing trips by motorboat along the rugged historic shore.

Among recent arrivals are: Miss Tinkham and companion, Miss Bradley, Boston; Miss Rebe, Brookline; Miss Margaret Waters, Miss Jeanette O'Connoll, New York City; Mrs. Francis Dewis, Chicago.

Recent guests at the Magnolia Beach Club are: Victor M. Harding, Jr., Bok Harding, Miss Betty Harding, Hubbard, Illinois, guests of Miss Winifred B. Williams; James Perry Emerson, Indianapolis, and A. Davidson, Pittsburgh, guests of Warner Farnum; William A. Rugg, Atkinson, N. H., guest of R. C. Duane; Fred Welsh, Troy, guest of Mrs. E. T. Sampson; Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Root, West Newton, guests of J. E. Esson; John Kendall, Belmont, guest of O. W. Richardson; Miss Marguerite Fuller, West Newton, guest of Miss Margaret Esson; Miss Ruth N. Masconomo, and Miss Nancy Bertilson Masconomo, guests of Miss Catherine O'Connell.

At Hesperus Villa which opened May 30, under the management of Mrs. Rogers, recent arrivals are: Mrs. A. A. Carl, Jamaica Plain; Miss Marie Merrill, Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. MacNeil and family, Chestnut Hill; Miss Mary Mark, Marion; Misses Margaret and Jane Ennis, Waterbury.

THE OCEANSIDE THEATRE

Those desirous of entertainment of superior merit will be glad to hear that the much-enjoyed evenings at Stillington Hall which will not occur this season, are to be replaced by a series of plays which will be presented at the Oceanside Hotel in Magnolia. W. Rosing, by arrangement with Ross Thompson, will present a season of drama and intimate opera that will from all reports be sensational in its superiority. The productions will run for six weeks, at the rate of one play a week. The theatre will open with "Effie Gallows," a new play by Claire Spencer, in which the far-famed Miss Pauline Lord will star. This will be followed respectively by: "Second Man," "Faust," "The Notorious Lady," "Pagliacco," and "Simoon." Following each production there will be dancing in the ballroom of the Oceanside Hotel.

Patronesses of the Oceanside Theatre project include: Mrs. Frederick J. Bradlee, Jr., Mrs. Albert Cameron Burrage, Jr., Mrs. Leslie Buswell, Mrs. Katherine S. Choate, Mrs. Russell S. Codman, Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge, Mrs. James Clement Dunn, Mrs. Wallace Goodrich, Mrs. Durward Grinstead, Mrs. John C. Howe, Mrs. John S. Lawrence, Mrs. J. Harleston Parker, Mrs. John C. Phillips, Mrs. Dudley L. Pickman, Jr., Mrs. Henry G. Powning, Mrs. Jonathan S. Raymond, Mrs. Richard Sears, Jr., Mrs. Louis Shaw, Mrs. Peirpont L. Stackpole, Mrs. Samuel D. Warren, Mrs. Hendricks H. Whitman.

With the excellent repertoire planned for the season and the well qualified cast and management, the new project should be extremely successful. Cape Ann anticipates with pleasure the opening night of the Oceanside Theatre.

EAST GLOUCESTER

(Continued from page 7)

Hunter at the Delphine where she has been spending the past few weeks.

On the afternoon of June 26, another charming tea was given by Miss A. G. MacMillan at the Rudder Tea-Room for a party of friends. Miss MacMillan is also at the Delphine.

At Cove Villa: M. Anita Young, Mrs. Amos Binney, Cambridge; Mrs. Margaret Grimstead, Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Brackett; Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. N. Sharfeman, Worcester; Cora Bangs, Orange; Hilda Randall, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Findlay, Miss Katherine L. Parker, Chicago; Miss Mina L. Winslow, Miss Sophie Winslow, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralphe A. Locke, Toledo; Miss Irma Weill, Bakersfield, Cal.; Miss Gladys Meredith, Miss Ellen Graplin, Los Angeles.

HAGSTROM CO., Inc.
GENERAL CONTRACTORS
Loam, Dressing, and other materials
for
Garden and Landscape Work
Gravel and Crushed Stone for
Driveway Surfacing
TEL. • GLOUCESTER 617

BEAUTIFUL
COOLIE COATS
$2.95
AT THE BEACH PLUM
AND
BAYBERRY CANDLE PLACE
Dock Square, Rockport, Mass.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

(Continued from page 11)

When Peggy, Anne, Jack, and Chubby arrived back at the cottage they found that Phil's sister Bud had already arrived. Bud was golden-haired, blue-eyed, slender and distinctly Southern. The Clan was enchanted at once, and Jack became unusually silent.

Later, on Peggy's porch again the same four were assembled.

"She's charming. We'll like her so much," announced Anne.

"Darling!" gushed Peggy, "And such a delightful drawl."

"She's a knockout all right," was Chubby's verdict.

But Jack surprised them all by announcing that he frankly failed to see anything stupendous about the young lady, and sauntered off without another word on the subject.

The next day dawned fair and clear, and early in the morning the Clan was on its way to Magnolia. The plans for the day included shopping at Magnolia, sightseeing at Gloucester, tea-dancing at Del Monte's, and dinner at Marcia's and Phil's. Arriving at Magnolia, Peggy immediately insisted that Bud be shown the new and fascinating display of dresses at the Grande Maison. Bud was delighted. "They ah jeas' like flowers waitin' to be picked," she softly exclaimed, as indeed they were. Organdies in pastel shades of all descriptions, beautiful printed and plain colored pajama-dresses, in silk, jersey, and linen. Bud finally "picked" a very fine silk imported shantung pajama-dress, with a jacket of a beautiful, delicate shade of green. The dress was a print which blended in rich harmony very delicate pastel shades, the same shade of green predominating. A parasol and bag of the same print completed the outfit.

At Schmidt and Son's, Marcia and Bud were captivated by an unusual complete dinner set of imported China. Dull reds and blues and yellows in Chinese flower designs on a creamy white background combined to give the dishes a strikingly beautiful appearance. An excellent reproduction of Old Mason's ironstone china, and the only one of its kind in the world, it convinced Marcia that there was nothing in the world she needed quite so completely. Phil was finally called in, was also convinced (with the assistance of Bud and Marcia) and the purchase was made.

At Ovington's meanwhile Jack and Chubby were inspecting beverage sets and having a very difficult time of it trying to decide what they wanted. The supply was so large and varied, and all the patterns so attractive that they were far from reaching a decision when Bud wandered in. With her assistance, Chubby finally decided on a hyball set, each glass of which had in enamel a picture of one of Dickens' famous characters, and a set of tomato-juice cocktail glasses on each of which there was a cluster of tomatoes in colored enamel. Jack chose from the varied assortment of designs, a cocktail set having a sail boat in full sail, a marine blue pilot's wheel, and marine blue anchor, used in decoration.

On the way back to Gloucester, the Clan drove up through Stage Fort Park, stopping at the reconstructed old fort for Bud's benefit. She stood in silent ecstacy before the beautiful work of Swinson Brothers. "It's a'most like lookin' at a paintin' that you knew couldn' be true to life," she sighed.

"Swinson Brothers certainly made a good reconstruction," admitted Jack.

"Good! it's best possible!" said Bud, giving Jack a long, full glance. "It's romance and history and intrigue and death all worked into one beautiful harmony."

It was decided by the Clan that Bud's trip to the Gorton Sea Foods

STEELE & ABBOTT CO.

"The North Shore Painters"

PAINTING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES

by skilled workmen.

INTERIOR DECORATING A SPECIALTY

WALL PAPERS AND PAINTS

We are the Largest Painting Contractors on the North Shore

OUR MARINE DEPARTMENT

is equipped to haul out, paint and repair the largest pleasure yachts afloat. We maintain a special corps of marine painters, carpenters, caulkers, etc. This department foot of Duncan Street. Telephone (for yachts, etc.) 2720.

MAIN OFFICE: 287 MAIN ST. Tel. 148

GLOUCESTER, MASS.

Also Branch Shops at Manchester and Beverly Farms

Quiouhamenec Farm

(Pronounced Ke-ham-e-nec)

SWINSON BROS.

LANDSCAPE GARDENERS

Road and Lawn Tennis Court Construction

Local Agents for Sheep Manure and Fertilizer

Blue Stone for Walks, Driveways and Lawn Tennis Purposes

Telephone Estimates of Cost

EXPERT LAND DRAINING EXCAVATING, GRADING

114 Mt. Pleasant St. EAST GLOUCESTER

TASTE—
FLAVOR—
ENJOYMENT—

Served at our New Frigidaire Soda Fountain with Special Ice Cream and Cooling Drinks Specials on Saturday and Sundays.

TROWBRIDGE, The Druggist

THE NEW DRUG STORE

159 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER

PURE ICE

Frozen Naturally in the Purest Ponds in New England

Nothing to get out of order. The Perfect Refrigerant. To keep food juicy in a Refrigerator requires some moisture. No mechanical-chemical devices yet developed by man, regardless of how costly or intricate, equals ice as a safe, reliable, silent and economical cold maker.

CAPE POND ICE CO.

Telephone 180 GLOUCESTER

Plant would have to be postponed to another day when there would be more time.

Finally arriving back at Main street, the Clan again separated, going their several ways, and planning to meet at Barker's later. Bud and Anne set out for W. G. Brown's Boston Store to select beach pajamas from the smart new lot on display there; Phil and Marcia for Earle O. Phillips' for a smart sport jacket and white flannels for Phil; Chubby for Patillo's to arrange about the transportation of the new imported Hong Kong wicker furniture which he had recently purchased for his cottage; Peggy for Blanchard's to purchase some of their new enameled sport beads; Jack for the Cape Pond Ice Company's office to place his summer order for ice.

At 11 o'clock, all but Anne and Bud were enjoying fresh peach ice-cream sodas at Barker's. Presently, the two delinquents arrived filled with enthusiasm over their purchases.

"Bud Hastings makes use of opportunities while staying with brother," announced Phil. "I suppose I foot the bills?"

"You do," said Bud cheerfully. "But you'll be surprised at the teenyness of this one. Mahcia, you must go up to Brown's and get yourself some of those pajamas."

"She's right," Anne stated. "There are all kinds and sizes. Broadcloth, cretonne, cotton crepe, percale, boleros, tailored models, overalls, sailor suits, everything, and so reasonable. Bud and I each got a pair of blue and white sailor suits. Just the thing for the beach."

"Stahs on the collah, an' braid like a real sailah," added Bud.

In her enthusiasm, Bud had edged too close to Marcia's glass, and suddenly found herself covered with a fresh peach ice-cream soda.

"It's a new frock and Ah love it so," she murmured. "Peach stain doesn't come out, does it?" Bud looked ready to cry.

"The Cape Ann Laundry will take care of it, they can get anything out, Bud, so don't worry, dear," comforted Marcia. "I've ceased worrying completely about stains of all kinds since being introduced to that concern."

After a light and delightful luncheon at Towle's the Clan set out for home to change Bud's dress. After leaving the soiled dress at the Cape Ann Laundry, for which Bud swore she would never cease to thank Providence, they stopped at the miniature golf links at East Gloucester. They were all delighted with the charming appearance and beauty of this finest course in eastern Massachusetts, and after an enjoyable game, set out for Del Monte's and tea.

Jimmie and Gay had arrived at their cottage just after the Clan had left in the morning and it was a happy and animated group that sat down to the dinner at Marcia and Phil's that night. The cottage had proved to be just as delightful and charming inside as it was on the exterior and the Clan were enthusiastic in their praise.

Peggy was going into raptures over a Duncan Phyfe table from Poole's, Anne was raving over the kitchen. "I never saw such a complete affair in my life," she was saying to Marcia.

"Our old friends, L. E. Andrews, are responsible for that," said Marcia. "Every article in there is from their store. You know, they took care of all the yachting hardware on Phil's new

THE ROCKAWAY
AND COTTAGES
At ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
Right on the Water
Commanding a Superb View of the Ocean
Accommodates 400.
W. A. PUBLICOVER, Proprietor

Tel. 452 Established Here 1890
North Shore Dyeing and Cleansing Shop
Cleansing, Dyeing, Pressing and Repairing
Work called for and delivered
Next Olympia Theatre
245 Main St. Gloucester, Mass.

Samuel Bloomfield
SUMMER REAL ESTATE
specializing in
BASS ROCKS REALTY
Office:
53 Bass Ave., E. Gloucester
Tel. 1886

JOHN J. McDONALD
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
15 Washington St.,
Gloucester : : Mass.
Phone 473-W Res. 447-R

The Moorland
BASS ROCKS
EDWARD D. PARSONS, Prop.
Right on the Ocean
Accommodates 500

GOOD HARBOR BEACH INN
Briar Neck, Gloucester, Mass.
Ocean View and within one hundred feet of one of the best Bathing Beaches on the New England Coast.
Edwin C. McIntire,
Managing Proprietor

The Tavern
Directly on water at end of State Highway, Gloucester
Lobster, Fish and Steak Dinners
W. H. SMITH, Prop.
Telephone 1715-W

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS
-:- EXHIBITIONS -:-
1st—July 4th to July 21st
2nd—July 25th to Aug. 18th
3rd—August 22nd to Sept. 14th
First Exhibition Opening—July 4th from 2-6
GALLERY, EASTERN POINT RD. E. GLOUCESTER
Hours Weekdays 10-6; Sundays 2-6
Oscar Anderson, President Alida C. Anderson, Secretary
GALLERY PHONE 3842-W

J. A. NUNES : Art Store
Artist Materials and Picture Framing
Oil Paintings and Frames Restored
Hand Carved Frames in Stock and Made to Order
Painting and Decorating
6 Center Street, Gloucester, Mass.
Tel. 298-R Branch at Rocky Neck

Cape Ann Old Book Shop
35 High Street,
ROCKPORT, -:- MASS.
Rare, Interesting and Out of Print Books, Including First Editions.
For the Collector and Reader.

FISHING TACKLE
Motor Boat Supplies, Life Preservers, Oars, Fire Extinguishers, Lights, Hooks, Lines, Rowlocks
LOTHROP'S PATENT FOG HORN
L. D. LOTHROP & SON
70 Duncan St., Gloucester

Everett A. Flye. Opt. D.
Registered Optometrist
Established 1902
156 Main Street, Gloucester

boat, too. We're both more than satisfied."

After the dinner was over, the question before the house was how to spend the evening.

"Well, there's the Little Theatre, they're presenting three excellent plays this week, I understand," suggested Chubby.

"Which wasn't a very original last remark, since their plays are always good," remarked Peggy.

"And there's a good show at the North Shore, stop me if you've heard it," added Anne.

Opinions being divided, it was decided that at Bud's suggestion, they stay a home, go for a swim and come back to sandwiches, coffee, and bridge or dancing on the porch. The Clan dispersed to don bathing suits.

The first one back on the porch was Bud who perched on the rail and looked out over the moonlit sea. She was very happy, she decided except for a certain vague uneasiness that was probably groundless. Still Bud hated to be uneasy and vague about anything, groundless or not. Suddenly very close behind her she heard a step. Without turning, she said, "So you do remembah me?"

"Yes," said Jack, "and I knew you remembered me."

C. ANNE SHORE.

EASTERN POINT

(Continued from page 15)

FISH CLASS

Judy, Roy H. Lane	1 54 30
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	1 56 02
Shiner, G. S. Grace	1 56 03
Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 56 59
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	2 02 30

MIXED CLASS

Celeritas II, John Cooney	1 37 40
Saratoc, Ben Knudson	1 46 30

EASTERN POINT

July 4, opening race—Wind light, variable, southeast to southwest. Two classes failed to finish. The summary:

R CLASS

Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	3 00 17
Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	3 09 05

SONDER CLASS

Skeezix, Mrs. Frances Carter	2 49 12
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	2 54 03
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	2 54 05
Lady II, Wm. V. MacDonald	3 00 17
Vim, Pendleton Lewis	3 01 24
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	3 02 14
Hevella, Jonathan S. Raymond	3 04 07
Bandit, Mr. Mead	3 04 40
Tid III, Mrs. Carlton Swift	3 06 07
Shamrock, Isaac Patch, Jr.	3 14 00

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS

Old Ironsides, Jack Raymond	1 54 00
Maryland, Fred Boyce	1 53 10
Bemo, Charles Bratenahl	1 57 10
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	2 00 09
Tourareg, Lawrence Brown	2 01 10
Sylph, Cunningham Brothers	2 02 07
Fontana, Emma Raymond	2 03 03
Gueirriera, Pauline Raymond	2 08 10
Arethusa, Gordon Ellis	2 33 10

Eastern Point, July 5—Wind moderate, southwest. The summary:

CLASS R

Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 32 59
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	1 39 03

SONDER CLASS

Skeezix, Harry Wheeler	1 30 32
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 33 06
Nevella, Jonathan S. Raymond	1 34 00
Tid III, Mrs. Carleton Swift	1 36 49
Lady II, William V. MacDonald	1 36 58
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 37 24
Shamrock, Isaac Patch, Jr.	1 39 39
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 40 03
Bandit, Mr. Mead	1 42 25

TRIANGLE CLASS

Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 43 23
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	1 47 15
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot	1 47 40
Cursor, William G. Brown	1 48 28
Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 48 34
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 48 37
Flirt, William D. Elwell	1 52 05
Dart, Paul Comins	1 52 07
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	1 52 20
Triton, Dr. R. P. Cummins	1 52 30
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	1 57 25

ANNISQUAM

July 4, first race of the season: Wind light and variable from southeast to southwest. The fifteen footers and triangles did not finish. Summary:

CAT CLASS

Caterpillar, Ben Smith	2 57 21
Catling, Andrew Marshall	3 00 38
Kittiwake, J. W. White	3 01 23
Cats Paw, W. B. Stearns	3 03 04
Scat, Francis Jeffery	3 07 35
Ketchup, N. Freeman	3 21 35

FISH CLASS

Gold Fish, J. H. Bloombergh, Jr.	2 44 25
Sail Fish, C. Hall	2 47 50
Dab, David Dennison	2 48 50
Perch, Harry Griffin	2 52 52
Flying Fish, A. W. Hale	2 53 01
Sea Horse, B. Mecham	2 56 00
Malolo, Mary Bradley	2 37 04
Pollywog II, J. S. Mecham	2 41 55
Quinnat, S. Rushmore	2 59 15

BIRD BOATS

Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	2 32 39
Avis, Norman R. Olson	2 37 39

Annisquam, July 5 — Wind southwest, ten knots. The summary:

BIRD CLASS

Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	1 21 43
Avis, Norman Woodbury	1 26 14

CAT BOATS

Catling, Andrew Marshall	1 56 21
Caterpillar, Ben Smith	1 59 02
Kittiwake, John W. White	2 01 07
Katchup, N. Friedman	2 40 02
Scat, Francis Jeffrey	2 12 45

FISH BOATS

Sail Fish, C. Hall	1 31 25
Goldfish, Howard Bloombergh	1 34 08
Dab, David Dennison	1 35 25
Flying Fish, Albert Hale	1 36 07
Malolo, Mary Bradley	1 37 08
Navarra, L. Crawford	1 40 43
Sea Horse, B. Mecham	1 43 34
Perch, Harry Griffin	1 44 09
Pollywog II, J. S. Meeham	1 45 35
Quinnat, S. Rushmore	1 46 40

TRIANGLES

Scalene, H. E. Worcester	1 45 35
Idol, J. Gleason	1 48 57
Blue Bill, Horace Bent	1 52 05
Sayhia, Broos Stevens	1 54 16

15-FOOTERS

Tabasco, Jr., K. H. Wiggins	1 51 08
Hoorah, H. Sherburne Wiggin	1 59 27
Nisan, Daniel H. Woodbury	2 02 21
Yosan, Paul Woodbury	2 03 46

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

(Continued from page 3)

room, reclaims his forbidden but still beloved pipe and with a last look around he leaves what for so many years has been his throne room. It is a masterpiece of silent expression such as few modern actors can offer.

"The Millionaire" will play at the North Shore Theatre on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Gold Dust Gertie," the Warner Brothers picture which stars Winnie Lightner with Olsen and Johnson in support and opens Thursday at the North Shore Theatre, is one of the most riotous of comedies, teaming as it does, the screen's outstanding comedienne and the most famous pair of stage clowns in America.

Winnie turns vamp in her own behalf in "Gold Dust Gertie," a role in a way like her uproarious one in "Gold Diggers of Broadway." The story involves a bathing beauty contest and a hilarious ocean voyage on a private yacht, with three of Winnie's ex-husbands and a prospective one, contributing to the complications.

The cast includes Claude Gillingwater, Charles Judels, Charley Grapewin, Virginia Sale, Dorothy Christy, Vivian Oakland and Arthus Hoyt.

Shooting schedules were turned topsy-turvy for filming "Laughing Sinners," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picturization of the sensational Kenyon Nicholson stage hit, "The Torch Song," in which Joan Crawford will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the North Shore Theatre.

Since much of the action demanded night and rain scenes, the bulk of the screening was done at night, the company reporting for work at 5 P.M. instead of the usual 8 A.M. Harry Beaumont, who directed the new Crawford picture, alternated the night and day work for the comfort of the cast and crew, Sunday holidays coming as a rest period between the night and day shifts.

Neil Hamilton and Clark Gable share leading man honors in the dramatic feature with the cast including Marjorie Rambeau, Guy Kibbee, Cliff Edwards, Roscoe Karns, Gertrude Short, George Cooper, George F. Marion and Bert Woodruff.

In the picture Miss Crawford plays the part of a cabaret entertainer who joins the Salvation Army after a bitter love experience, only to backslide into the old life when the man returns to her through a chance meeting.

LITTLE THEATRE

(Continued from page 3)

stage manager at Eva Le Gallienne's Theatre in New York; Felice Leeds of Brookline; John Mann, Northampton; Barbara Percival, Boston; Patricia Peticolas, Connecticut; Natalia Watson, Buffalo; Harriet Weiller, New York City; Harriet Richardson, Brookline.

Ralph Geddis of New York will teach marionettes again this summer at the theatre. Mr. Geddis and Parker Colby of this city toured the United States last winter exhibiting Geddis' marionettes and presenting shows.

THE LITTLE THEATRE

On a typical Gloucester night, soft, damp and misty, the Gloucester School of the Little Theatre, jutting out into the water from the quaint and romantic docks of Rocky Neck, opened its doors for the first time this season. As many of the elite of Gloucester strolled around the surrounding grounds and "deck" of the little theatre between the acts of "An-

SIGHT-SEEING SAILS DAILY
Volunteer Toreador Club Conductors Explain Points of Interest on Cape Ann
Make Reservations in Advance at Y. M. C. A. (470)

GLOUCESTER SCHOOL OF THE LITTLE THEATRE
ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
PRESENTS
THREE ONE ACT PLAYS
Saturday, July 18
"Portrait of Tien," by Zoe Aikens
"Feast of the Holy Innocents," by Samuel M. Insley
"The Devil Comes to Alcaraz," by William H. Fulham

ROCKPORT DYE HOUSE
First Class Cleansers
Wearing Apparel Called For and Delivered Any Place on Cape Ann
MAIN STREET, ROCKPORT. Tel. Conn.

BELMONT SHOE REPAIRING
SHOE REBUILDING
Best Quality, Lowest Prices
Main St., Gloucester, Opp. Center St.

na Christie," a light. damp fog stole in. Lights playing on the water, the mellowed voices of men and women, burning cigarettes, the dry, sharp smell of coffee and doughnuts, all combined through the fog to create that atmosphere of cozy, Bohemian familiarity so characteristic of the Little Theatre.

Well in harmony indeed was the damp night with O'Neill's famous "Anna Christie," and appropriate the place in which the play was presented. For O'Neill himself, the great Irish playwright, started in just such a little theatre. His was the Wharf Theatre, and his players, the Provincetown Players, when he first broke into the life of the stage.

"Anna Christie," with its requisites of difficult scenic work, highly emotional acting, and clever directing, was a stupendous task to be undertaken by a small group, but any doubt or scepticism on the part of the audience was soon done away with by the excellent presentation.

Barbara Percival from New York, as Anna Christie, gave an excellent and praiseworthy interpretation. Tall, blonde, beautiful, Miss Percival was particularly well suited to the part in appearance.

The laurels of the evening performance go to William T. Wilson, returning again this year, who created a sensation by his portrayal of the part of Chris. He acted literally, "born to the part." He surpassed any actor's interpretation we have ever seen of Chris, and we are unable to conceive of any one's superiority to him in the part.

Eleanor Herbert in the difficult part of Marthy Owen, showed true interpretation of her part and ability in portrayal, while Matt Burke with "the great guts of the man in him" was expertly done by John J. Mann.

The well-known story of Anna Christie, the girl who kept her life story of how she had gone wrong to herself until finally an overwhelming combination of circumstances forced the truth from her to the dismay and horror of her father, Chris, and her lover, Matt, is one which beggars description in its pathos and keen insight of human nature.

The scenic effects were excellent, and showed the touch of finished knowledge and understanding of the theatre. The scene of the second act, laid on a coal barge, with fog predominating, the lighted cabin of the barge dimly outlined against the grayness of the mist, and the incessant moaning of a fog-horn, created an atmosphere of cool, quiet dampness that pervaded even the souls of the audience.

The directors, actors, and stage hands, are certainly to be congratulated on their initial performance. Next week three one-act plays should attract a great number of enthusiasts: "Portrait of Tien," by Zoe Aikens, "Feast of the Holy Innocents," by Samuel M. Insley, "The Devil Comes to Alcaraz," by William H. Fulham.

The School this year has the largest number of students it has ever had, and starting as it has, this season will undoubtedly be its most successful.

ARTS ASSOC. EXHIBITION

The artists are with us again in force. The ninth annual exhibition of the North Shore Arts Association opened their first exhibition July 4 to Thursday, September 10, inclusive.

The opening view for exhibitors and the public was held on the afternoon of July 4, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The exhibition consists of suitably framed pictures in any medium and sculpture, by members only.

All work submitted for exhibition must be passed upon by the jury. From accepted work by associate artists, nominations may be made for election to the artist class.

The following prizes have been offered for 1931:

Milton Gilbert Davis prizes, $50, for best landscape in the exhibition, oil or water color.

$50 for best portrait or figure painting, donated by Albert M. Davis.

$100 for best marine painting, given by Mrs. I. N. McHenry.

$100 for best still life painting, given by Mrs. Mary F. R. Clay.

$25 for best etching, given by Epes W. Merchant.

Esther M. Groome Memorial Prize, $50 for best work of art in the exhibition, given by Ruth Anderson Temple.

Prizes will be awarded by vote of the artist members who have personally viewed the show, said vote to be completed by July 31. All exhibited work is eligible for prizes.

The juries for 1931 will be as follows:

Painting — Aldro T. Hibbard, chairman; Hugh H. Breckenridge, Ruth Anderson, Bertha Menzler Peyton, Frederick J. Mulhaupt, Will Davis, William M. Paxton; Polly Nordell, H. Dudley Murphy, alternates.

Sculpture—R. H. Recchia, chairman; Katherine W. Lane, Louise Allen Atkins.

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY

The Gloucester Society of Artists plans for the exhibitions of 1931 are completed. The picture presented by the bare announcement is an interesting one.

The first exhibition opened Saturday, July 4 and closes Tuesday, July 21. Last day for entry of works, Monday, June 29.

The second exhibition opens Saturday, July 25 and closes Tuesday, August 18. Last day for entry of works, Saturday, July 18.

Third exhibition opens Saturday, August 22 and closes Monday, September 14. Last day for entry of works, Saturday, August 15.

Little picture exhibition Saturday, July 4, to Monday, September 14. Last days of entry, June 29, July 18 and August 15.

Meetings of members for the election of the hanging committees for each show will be held at the gallery on the Tuesday evenings previous to the opening of each exhibition.

The exhibition committee for 1931 is Margaret Fitzhugh Browne, chairman; Oscar Anderson, John J. Barry, Alice R. Hardwick, Charles Allan Winter.

The etching to be presented to each of the patron members this year will be a study of Cape Ann by Harry Vincent, one of the most prominent landscape artists of the country. The custom of giving an etching to the patron members is followed each year.

MEETING NORTH SHORE ARTS

Enthusiastic over the prospects of the North Shore Arts Association in the ninth year of its existence, 40 members met at the galleries off East Gloucester square for the first meeting of the year, to discuss the coming season and make plans for the activities which will take place.

Several innovations were accepted by the members, chief among them being the discontinuance of the concerts which have been a feature of the last few seasons, in favor of local talent and visiting artists, on account of the financial emergency of the times. Seven prizes are being offered this year, the largest number in the nine years' history of the organization. Frederick L. Stoddard, secretary, announced a prize of $150 offered this year by Capt. and Mrs. Horace Bean of Boston for the best oil in the exhibitions. Capt. Bean has been president of the association for three years.

The jury of selection has met. As four National Academy men are on the jury, the forthcoming exhibition promises to be more discriminatory and effective than perhaps ever before. The four academy men are Frederick J. Mulhaupt, William Paxton of Boston, Hugh Breckenridge and Aldro T. Hibbard, chairman of the jury. The other members are Mrs. Ber-

COLOR

COLOR combinations in Reed and Fibre Furniture are wonderfully effective in brightening your home. Our new Heywood-Wakefield arrivals of Reed and Fibre are now on display —see them.

North Shore Furniture Co.
161-163 Main St. Cor. Parsons
Telephone 94

AWNINGS
And Yacht Equipment
UNITED SAIL LOFT CO., Inc.
Foot of Pearce St.
71 Wharf St. Tel. Conn.

Office Open Day and Night.
Tel. Con.
WILLARD S. PIKE
Funeral Director
and Embalmer
Shipping, Transfer and Crematory Work
75 Washington Street
Gloucester Mass.

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR
For Your Child, ages 10 to 16
Competent Young Instructor
Tutoring at Your Own Home
Write P. O. Box No. 316, Gloucester

ALICE M. AMBLER, A. B.
(VASSAR)
PRIVATE TUTOR
French. German, Latin, English, Spanish, Algebra, Etc.
16 Highland Street, E. Gloucester
Tel. 3125-W

NORTH SHORE INN
Magnolia-by-the-Sea
Massachusetts
Charming Homelike Atmosphere
[Booklet on request]
Good Food—Reasonable Rates
Tune in Wednesday morning, 9-10 WHDH tha Menzler Peyton, Mrs. Ruth Anderson Temple, and Will Davis, completing a strong jury.

The association is planning a drive to enlist more patron members this year, offering the allure of an etching by Harry Vincent to each. The association has 150 patrons at the present time.

Much interest has been stimulated among Gloucester residents by the recent series of lectures which were given by Frederick L. Stoddard, and the resultant enthusiasm bodes well for the coming season, cementing a stronger understanding among the artists and laymen.

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY'S TEA

The Gloucester Society of Artists held a meeting Monday at the Gallery to chose the hanging committee for the first exhibition of the season, which opened Saturday, July 4, with a reception and tea from 3 to 6.

The committee includes: Marion MacIntosh, chairman; Charles P. Gruppe, J. Eliot Enneking, Mildred Turner Copperman, Oscar Anderson, Carl Nordstrom, Lester A. Gillette, Helen S. Davis, Eleanor Van Hook.

The tea was in charge of the house committee, comprising Miss Antoinette Inglis, chairman; Mrs. Juliet Burdoin, Mrs. John Barry, Miss Loretta Collins. They were assisted by Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Miss Margaret Fitzhugh Browne, Miss Marion MacIntosh, Mrs. Maud Fox Berneker.

On Saturday, July 11, school children are invited to attend the exhibition from 9 to 11 A.M., and members of the society will be there to answer questions and talk about the pictures with them.

The exhibition will be open at 9 o'clock. The gallery is at Hawthorne Inn Casino on Eastern Point road, East Gloucester.

SCORES AT ROCKPORT C. C.

ROCKPORT C. C.—June 21

18-Hole Handicap—George P. Sargent, 78—75; Isaac S. Hall, 91—77; Herbert P. Wasgatt, 94—77; A. J. Wallace, 102—82; J. Manuel Marshall, 96—82; Frederick M. Tarr, Jr., 89—84; Dr. C. T. Porter, 83—71; W. J. Cole, 79—74; George P. Sargent, 78—75; John Lyons, 93—80.

Scores for the Rockport Country Club 18-hole medal handicap tournament, played Saturday, June 27, follow:

G. A. Fiske, 97—71; I. S. Hall, 90—76; George P. Sargent, 80—77; Dan Riordan, 83—80; R. Bradley, 95—81; Frederick H. Tarr, Sr., 96—81; J. Manuel Marshall, 96—82; J. A. Lyons, 96—83.

June 28—Best selected nine, 3-4 handicap—

Leo Fiske, 41—29; A. J. Flynn, 40—31; Frederick H. Tarr, Sr., 42—31; C. N. Patten, 43—32; Herbert P. Wasgatt, 46—33; Frederick H. Tarr, Jr., 37—34; Dr. Lester Feener, 42—34; George P. Sargent, 37—35; Dan Riordan, 37—35.

Arthur J. Flynn, with a net 65, and Howard B. Lovell, with a gross 79, were the leaders July 4th in the 18-hole qualifying round for the directors' cup at the Rockport Country Club. The scores:

Arthur J. Flynn, 79—65; John A. MacDonald, 95—71; Francis Smith, 85—72; Howard B. Lovell, 79—72; George Fiske, 87—73; I. S. Hall, 90—74; Ralph O. Creelman, 93—74; Robert Smith, 83—75; C. T. Porter, 87—77; Walter Cale, 82—76; J. M. Marshall, 93—77; Dan Riordan, 83—79; Frederick H. Tarr, Sr., 97—80; H. I. Witcher, 100—81; S. P. Wasgatt, 101—82; Leon Lothrop, 119—95.

ROCKPORT C. C.

July 5—Medal Handicap

Howard Lovell and Robert Lovell, 77—72; George P. Sargent and Dan Riordan, 75—73; Walter Cole and John A. MacDonald, 84—76; Dr. Lester C. Fenner and Ralph C. Creelman, 88—77.

PARKING REGULATIONS

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Attention is called to the following extracts from an ordinance governing automobile traffic passed June 6, 1930.

Section One. During the months of June, July, August and September the following traffic regulations shall be effective for vehicles:

Parking Prohibited at All Times

Pleasant street, between Main and Warren streets, Short street.

Easterly side of Centre street.

Pearce street, from Rogers to Main street.

Westerly side of Water street from Main to Rogers street.

Within 15 feet of any hydrant on any street.

Westerly side of Elm street from Main to Prospect street; easterly side from Main street to the southern end of the Recreation Alleys.

Easterly side of School street from Middle street to Mason street, and on School street from Proctor street to Middle street after 11 P.M.

Northerly side of Middle street from Pleasant street to Washington street.

Northerly side of Main street, from a point opposite the westerly side of Porter street to Washington street.

Easterly side of Chestnut street.

All protected crossings.

Easterly side of Hancock street from Middle to Rogers street or on such portions of westerly side as are designated by white traffic lines.

Restricted Parking

Main street, from Washington to Vincent street, 30 minutes between 6 A.M. and 6 P.M., except on Saturday when the restricted parking extends to 10 P.M.

Center street, westerly side but only within a distance of 30 feet from Main street and 30 feet from Middle street.

Middle street, southerly side, from Pleasant to Washington street, for a period not exceeding one hour.

Dale avenue, westerly side only, in a diagonal position with the left rear wheel or right front wheel against the curb.

One Way Streets

Southerly side of Western avenue, from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for east bound traffic.

Northerly side of Western avenue from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for west bound traffic.

Federal street, travel only in an easterly direction, from Pleasant street to Elm street, no parking on either side.

Short street, one way north from Main street.

Hancock street, from Middle street to Main street, one way south.

Nautilus road, one way south between Bass avenue and Bass Rocks road.

Duncan street, one way south from Main street to Rogers street, parking on westerly side only.

Arlington street, Annisquam, one way in a southeasterly direction.

Chestnut street, one way south, parking only on westerly side.

Middle street, from Dale avenue to Pleasant street, one way east.

Warren street, one way west, parking on both sides.

Protected Crossings

Across Prospect street at Union hill; across Spring street at the westerly side of Union hill; across Main street at the North Shore Theatre; across Main street at the Olympia Theatre; across Main street at the Postoffice and Trust Company; at the Gloucester National Bank; from the Masonic Block to W. G. Brown & Company's store; from the A. & P. store to Herricks' fruit store; across Pleasant street, at the Postoffice; across Duncan street on Main street; across Hancock street on both sides the street.

Porter street, one way south, parking only western side.

Traffic lights in operation Main street, foot of Commercial, P. O. Square; Prospect street, near M. E. Church.

DANIEL M. CASEY,
City Marshal.

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE

No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st except by written permission of the Chief of the Fire Department or the Fire Warden.

Persons wishing to burn rubbish, grass, etc., in the business or residential sections of the city, i. e. within the limits established by the Eastern avenue School on Eastern avenue and the cut bridge on Western avenue and the Green on Washington street, should apply to the Chief of the Fire Department. Those wishing to burn rubbish, brush, grass, etc., in the outlying portions of the city, that is outside of the limits as here set forth, whose fire would be on or near any wood, brush or grasslands, should apply to the Fire Warden.

Readers of this notice are cautioned to be extremely careful of matches, cigars and cigarettes while in or near any wood or brushland to prevent forest fires.

HOMER R. MARCHANT,
Chief of the Fire Department.
ALBERT C. LA BELLE,
Fire Warden.

Magnolia Real Estate
SEA SHORE ESTATES
Cottages, Bungalows, Shops
JONATHAN MAY
Shore Road, Magnolia, Mass. Tel. Magnolia 426-R.

Gloucester Auto Bus Co.
Exclusive Street Passenger Transportation on Cape Ann, Gloucester and East Gloucester, Annisquam, Lanesville, Pigeon Cove, Rockport, West Gloucester, Essex, Magnolia, Manchester.
Starter's Office 114 Main Street
Information Telephone 2195 Telephone 1675

THE PATTILLO STORE
THE FINEST LINE OF SUMMER FURNITURE, SCREENS, MATTRESSES, RUGS, ETC., ON THE NORTH SHORE. UPHOLSTERING DONE BY SKILLED WORKMAN
A·MANTON PATTILLO
Fine Assortment of Vudor Shades for the Piazza
C. F. TOMPKINS CO.
67 MIDDLE STREET GLOUCESTER

THEY THAT GO DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS
1623 – 1923

Rooted Deep

"As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm,
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."
—GOLDSMITH.

- Commercial Banking
- Savings Accounts
- Club Accounts
- Safe Deposit Boxes
- Storage Vault
- Foreign Exchange
- Travellers Cheques
- Bond Department
- Travel Service

A Bank that started 132 years ago and is the oldest Bank in the State must be deep rooted. A Bank that has withstood all the hard times and financial and industrial changes down from Washington's time must have a certain inherent strength.

We offer you strength; a background of tradition, efficient service, and friendly co-operation.

The Oldest Bank in the State, the Seventh Oldest in the United States; a depository for City, County, State and U. S. Funds, and favored with an account from hundreds of firms and individuals on the Cape.

May We be Favored With Your Gloucester Business?

GLOUCESTER NATIONAL BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE CITY

OLDEST BANK IN MASSACHUSETTS

One of the steps in the preparation of codfish for the market. Drying and curing whole codfish at the Gorton-Pew Fisheries

You Are Cordially Invited—

OUR door is always open. And we are always glad to show visitors the fascinating processes employed in our plant. See how we take fish fresh from the ocean and prepare them for the tables of America's discriminating housewives. There is no more interesting sight in all of quaint old Gloucester.

If it were only possible to transport some of the charm of Gloucester back home—its romantic harbor, its curious old streets and homes, its atmosphere of the sea. Although this is impossible you may have a reminder of pleasant Gloucester days in sending to your home some of our delicious fish products. For this purpose we put up a special combination box. It is an attractive carton containing a popular assortment of Gorton's Sea Foods. Neatly packed ready for shipment. These tasty and popular sea foods will introduce you to new delights in fish eating.

The same offer is extended to all-year-round and summer-time residents. Visit us and see for yourselves how one of America's oldest and most interesting industries operates. You are cordially invited.

Gorton's
Sea Food Family

GORTON'S CODFISH
GORTON'S READY-TO-FRY COD FISH CAKES
GORTON'S FRESH MACKEREL IN CANS
GORTON' SALAD FISH
GORTON'S DEEP SEA ROE
GORTON'S CODFISH IN CANS
GORTON'S FINNAN HADDIE
GORTON'S FLAKED FISH
GORTON'S MANHATTAN CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S DOWN EAST CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S HADDOCK CHOWDER

Gorton-Pew Fisheries
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Founded in 1849

1885 - 1931

THE BOSTON STORE

WILLIAM G. BROWN COMPANY, Gloucester, Mass.

The Largest Store of the North Shore Covering a City Block from PLEASANT, MAIN and ELM STREETS
29 Departments. Largest Dry Goods Floor Space East of Boston. POST OFFICE SQUARE

The Department Store of Service where Summer Shopping is made pleasant.

In Gloucester on the North Shore you will find this store a well appointed, pleasant store in which to do your shopping on a warm summer's day.

It will be a pleasure and also afford you great satisfaction in knowing that you can come here and select quality merchandise at lowest possible prices.

Trade in Gloucester at the Big Store of the North Shore

One of the North Shore's Finest
BEAUTY SHOPS

4 Booths—2 Bobber Chairs
2 Manicure Tables

- Marcel Waving
- Shampooing
- Manicuring
- Facials
- French Curling
- Hair Dyeing
- Hair Tinting
- Permanent Waving
- Hair Dressing
- Hair Bobbing and Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting by Experts.

Atwater Kent, Majestic, Victor and Radiola Radios

Largest Line on Cape Ann
Expert Installation

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

New Soda Fountain
and Luncheonette
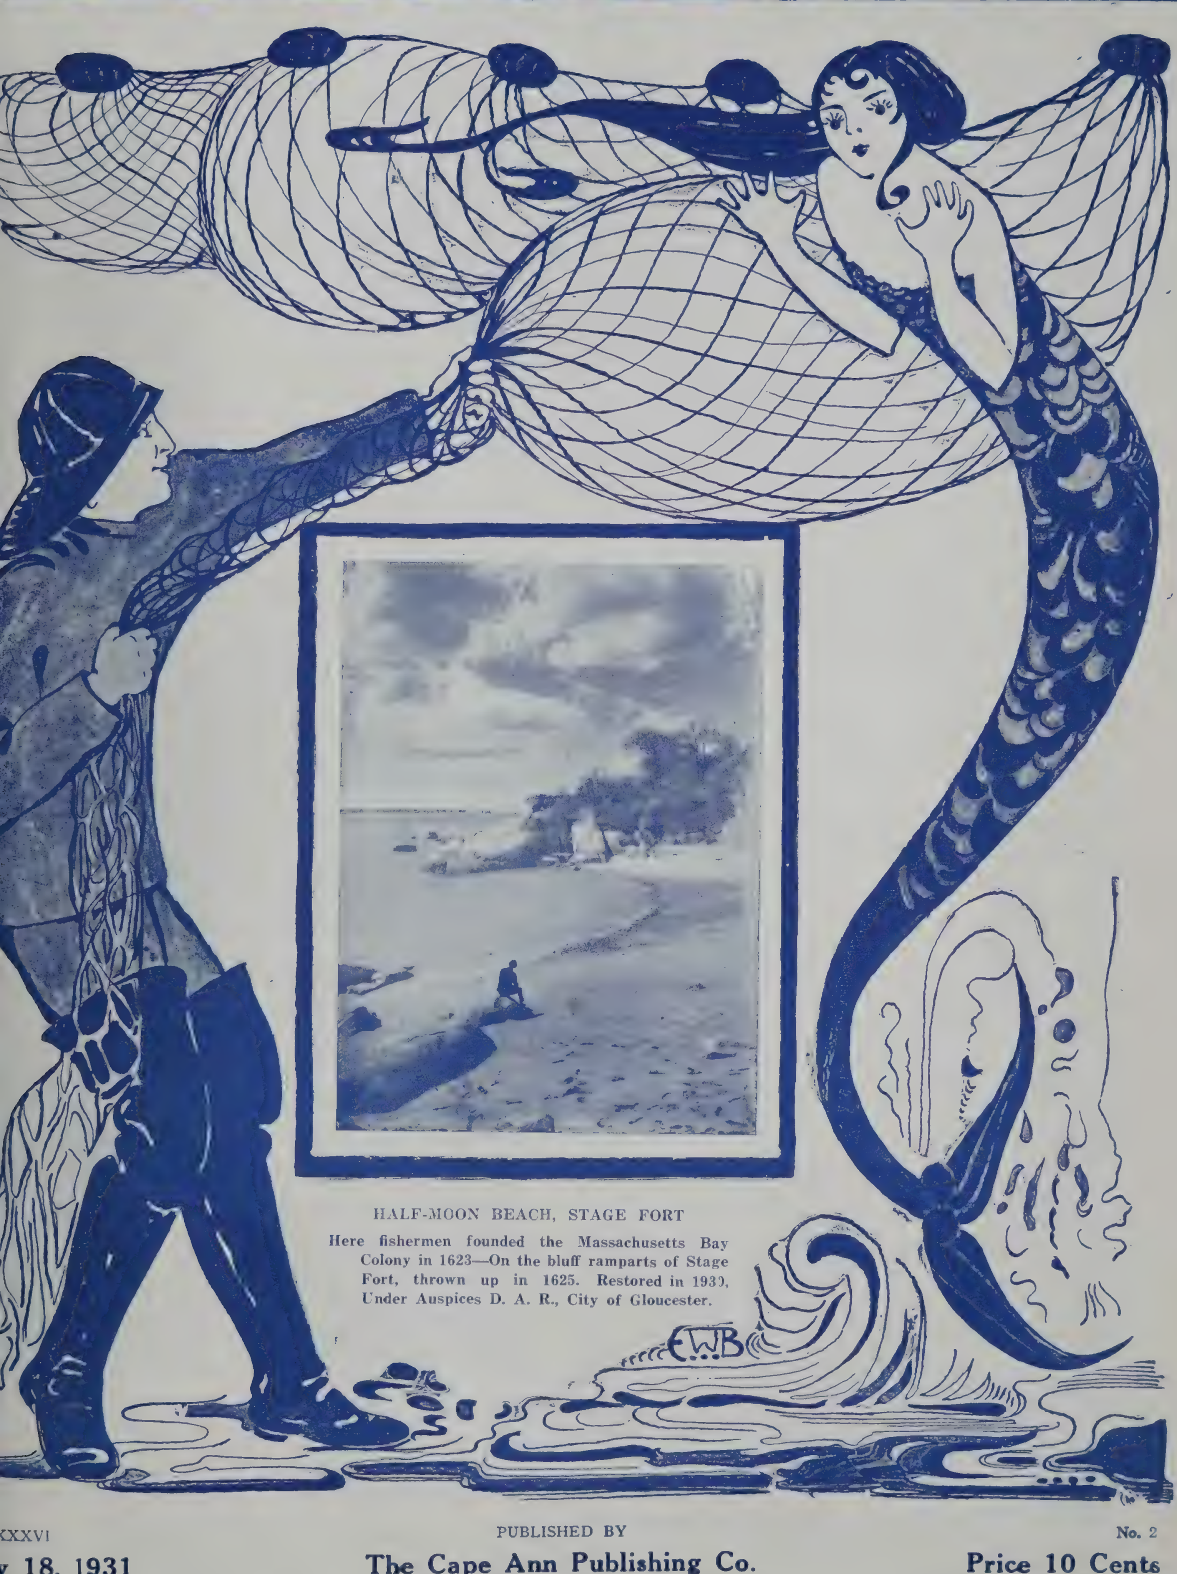
(MAIN FLOOR)
Best Food and Service
Afternoon Tea

Agnes Lee

CAPE ANN SHORE



HALF-MOON BEACH, STAGE FORT

Here fishermen founded the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1623—On the bluff ramparts of Stage Fort, thrown up in 1625. Restored in 1930, Under Auspices D. A. R., City of Gloucester.

XXXVI
y 18, 1931

PUBLISHED BY
The Cape Ann Publishing Co.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

No. 2
Price 10 Cents

C. S. NAUSS (Established 1837) L. H. NAUSS

L. B. Nauss & Sons

"NAUSS LUMBER"

LUMBER
LIME
CEMENT
BUILDING SUPPLIES

"Everything to Build Anything"

Telephones 195-196-197
RAILROAD AVE.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

They add a subtle touch of distinction to hospitality

Resplendent, efficient electric appliances make entertaining so satisfying and convenient

Drop into our store and see these wonderful aids to entertaining — electric percolator, electric coffee urn, electric waffle iron, electric toaster. We're glad to show them—whether you buy or not.

GLOUCESTER ELECTRIC COMPANY

Telephone 1250 Telephone 1250

POOLE'S ANTIQUE SHOPPES

BOND'S HILL
OLD WEBBER HOME
and
SAWYER HOMESTEAD

Opposite 359 Western Ave. Freshwater Cove
(Road to Magnolia)

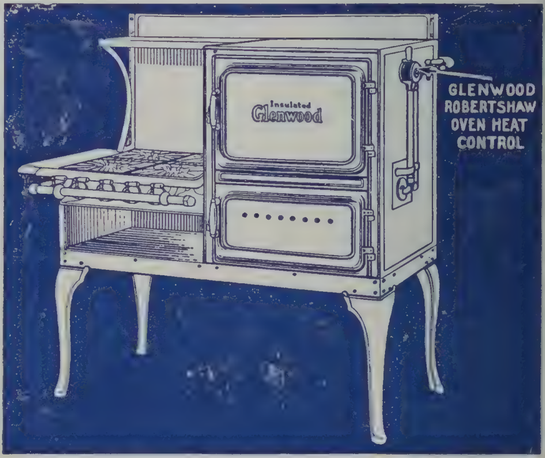
Authentic Reproductions of Fine Period Furniture under the direction of Frederick C. Poole, founder of this house, one of the oldest antique firms in this country.

Largest and Most Exclusive Assortments of Chintzes, Toile Jouy, Linens and Modernistic Fabriques.

At the Sawyer homestead we have an exhibition of our custom-made upholstered furniture.

TELEPHONES: Main Office, Bond's Hill—1585-W; Webber House—3517-W; Sawyer House—3517-R.

ENJOY YOUR SUMMER WITH A
New Glenwood Insulated Range



Insulated Glenwood
GLENWOOD ROBERTSHAW OVEN HEAT CONTROL

"You can do it better with Gas"

GLOUCESTER GAS LIGHT CO.

96 MAIN STREET Telephone 570

1896—OLDEST ESTABLISHED SUMMER RESORT PUBLICATION ON THE NORTH SHORE—1931

THE CAPE ANN SHORE

THIRTY-SIXTH SEASON

Gloucester, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks,
Long Beach, Briar Neck.

Land's End, Rockport, Pigeon Cove, Annisquam and River Territory, Fernwood, Magnolia, Manchester and Essex County.

Published Weekly, 8 times during July and August by the CAPE ANN PUBLISHING CO., James R. Pringle, Conductor, 95 Main Street, Gloucester. 75 cents the season on Cape Ann; elsewhere, $1.00. Tels. 412-W, 412-R.

"Entered as second-class matter July 16, 1920, at post office, Gloucester, Mass., under Act of March 3, 1879."

Special Contents, July 18, 1931

EDITORIALS:
- Eastern Point Situation Clarified
- Save the Magnolia

POEM:
- "Constitution and Guerriere"
  (Author unknown)

ART AND DRAMATIC
- Being a Review of Theatrical Topics and the Artist Colony

THE "CONSTITUTION" AS RELATED TO GLOUCESTER
With illustration by Gilbert Tucker Margeson, Rockport.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING
By C. Anne Shore

NEWS OF THE SUMMER COLONY
Manchester, Magnolia, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Briar Neck, Land's End, Rockport Center, Pigeon Cove, The Annisquam Region, The Cape Ann Countyside

THE WEEK'S YACHTING

GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO., -:- 43 Duncan Street

GLOUCESTER COAL AND LUMBER COMPANY

A PARTIAL LIST OF OUR SERVICES

LUMBER
A kind for every purpose.
FLOORING
First-quality oak, fir and pine, stored under controlled temperature.
SHINGLES
Durable, weather-resisting, stained. For roofs and walls.
HARDWARE AND PAINTS
Well-known makes of tools and household hardware. Valspar.
FURNITURE
Rustic, garden and unpainted furniture.
COAL
Imported Beacon Scotch Anthracite, the amazing fuel, and GLO-COAL, the American anthracite. Also automatic coal stokers.
FINANCING
A convenient finance plan to aid those building or modernizing homes.
PLANNING
Counsel, including plans, for those building or modernizing homes.

TELEPHONE 3060

Largest Coal and Lumber Dealers on the North Shore

GLO-COAL Beacon Anthracite
Caperton New River Soft Coal

BRANCH OFFICES
Rockport, Tel. 964 Magnolia, Tel. 426-R Manchester, Tel. 650

Dear Mr. Consumer: June 24, 1931

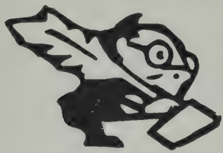
Do you realize that right here on Cape Ann is a firm capable of giving you every conceivable service in home building, modernizing and heating?

The Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company is such a complete service organization. We want you to know us better and for this reason invite you to take advantage of the special offer below.

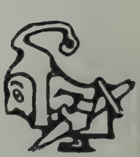
Here's an idea you'll like! On the enclosed card we have listed the most frequent things that people would like to have done to their homes. If you will simply check the things which interest you most and return it to us, the proper service division of this company will quickly and easily tell you — without obligating you in any way whatsoever — just what the cost of materials and labor on such jobs would be.

You couldn't find a better time to get this information. Prices are low — the season is right — everything is in your favor. Remember — in asking for this information you do not commit yourself to an order of any kind. This is just another Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company service — it may help you see the way to have done things you've been wanting to do for a long time.

Very truly yours,
GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO.
Chas. F. Heberle, Manager.



"Dearest Lord, teach me to be generous. Teach me to serve Thee as Thou deservest; to give and not to count the cost; to fight and not to heed the wounds; to toil and not to seek for rest; to labor and not to ask for reward, save that of knowing that I am doing Thy will." —Ascribed to St. Ignatius, but not found in his "Book of Spiritual Exercises."



EASTERN POINT SITUATION

A Modus Vivendi Satisfactory to All Arrived at—Meanwhile Citizens are Crowded off Their Own Parks and Beaches by "Hordes of Undesirables"

A deplorable mistake was made when, against all laws of the state and Supreme Court decisions, Stage Fort Park was thrown open promiscuously to the outside public, the selfish idea being that it would prove a catchall and barrier for the automobile parties recruited from the purlieus and slums of the cities of Eastern Massachusetts, then making itself manifest. However, once here this element didn't stop or stay put. They spied out the land at Eastern Point, Little Good Harbor Beach, Coffin's Beach, and other localities which they immediately began to overrun and preempt. Thus the very object of the illegal use of Stage Fort Park turned out a boomerang and invited the very nuisance it was intended to prevent.

Similarly the park and beach at historic Farm Point at Wingaersheek Beach given the city as a playground by Mrs. James S. Hawk has been overrun by outsiders and residents of that locality have been obliged to withdraw their children, as testified at the recent conference at City Hall, because of fear of "contamination" and are being deprived of a valuable right in which they should be protected.

The recent conference between the residents of Eastern Point and the Municipal Council has apparently clarified the situation there. A solution was arrived at satisfactory to the residents of the place, the citizens and the hotel proprietors. As one of the aldermen expressed it, he was not at all concerned with the outside element. What he wanted to iron out was that the well disposed inhabitants of the city and bona fide hotel guests should have reasonable access to the place, especially that part, tip end of the point, in the Mother Ann sector.

The Eastern Point representatives said that had always been their position and reiterated that stand. The representative of the hotel interest in that section affirmed that was entirely satisfactory and that he asked for no car rights as practically all his guests preferred the pleasure of the walk.

There is no need to go into conditions that have prevailed. They have been alluded to in The Shore. But the half was not told. The crux of the whole matter is that it is generally conceded that these undesirable parties are to be turned back. If this understanding is rigidly enforced from the very first much of the nuisance which Eastern Point has been obliged to put up with will be eliminated.

Two friends of the writer at the conference advanced the argument that at any cost the private roads at Eastern Point (so decreed by the Supreme Court) should be taken over for use as public highways. The Shore held identical views some years ago. It reflects much credit on the heart but little on the judgment. Theoretically sound, but in practice decidedly awry. If those holding this position lived next such areas or were ordered off their own lawns and premises which were left defiled, the view point would be entirely different. An army of police couldn't control the situation.

We trust this fight for common justice at Eastern Point led by Col. Prentiss has been won. As far as the present Municipal Council is concerned, we think it has.

The people of the city have to chose between those who are shunted away from all other North Shore reservations as undesirable or the summer resident. Already Bass Rocks shows signs of hesitancy, we hope only temporarily. At Magnolia the only place where the outside crowd might gain a toehold is at the Beach and that is controlled, in the main, by Manchester which hangs out the sign, "verboten."

Just now the informed are keeping an eye on the fisheries. To date official figures for the year are that the catch landed at Boston has fallen off nearly 30,000,000 pounds, nearly a third of the total annual catch. It may go to fifty millions before New Year's. The mackerel catch also shows a marked falling off.

It is from this source that the funds must be obtained to finance the large amount of home building of the past decade, underwritten by banks and building loan associations.

(Continued on page 13)

SAVE THE MAGNOLIA

Fragrant Bloom and Bush Growing Wild Alone in the North at West Gloucester In Danger of Extinction —Found Now only in One Place

Up to within a few years, motorists along the Magnolia road were offered bunches of these fragrant magnolia blooms at a price of $1 per dozen, which were eagerly bought. Since the war these flowers have absolutely disappeared as far as being offered for sale is concerned.

Alone of all places in the North, so say botanists, the magnolia glauca is found indigenous in the swamps of West Gloucester. It blooms in June, a white petalled flower whose surpassing fragrance permeates the locality where it grows for more than a mile. It is a bush growing to the height of 15 feet, its leaf a peculiar dark green on its top side and a delicate gray beneath.

Various have been the surmises as to its presence here. Migrating birds from the South is one explanation and perhaps the most plausible. Then again in the 1700's, a group of settlers from Westmoreland County in Virginia (among them the Pews) coming north in the Cape Ann fisherman traders may have brought them and planted them here. It is a tenable supposition. The women of the covered wagons held on to their rose slips when almost every other movable was jettisoned in the great trek across the plains to Oregon.

There were four principal swamps in which the magnolia grew sequestered in the deep woods known to comparatively few, Rust and Cedar swamps at West Gloucester, a swamp back of the Troy house in Upper Freshwater Cove and Barrell, or properly Varrell swamp, in the rear of the Bond's Hill district.

Two of these have been obliterated, Rust when the Dike's Meadow storage basin was built, and the Troy swamp recently, when the Magnolia golf links, still unfinished, were begun.

The great demand for the bushes from all over the northern country has practically obliterated the Cedar swamp and all that remains is Varrell's. Fortunately Varrell's (named after an early settler near the locality) is in-

(Continued on page 13)

THE CONSTITUTION AND GUERRIERE

This appeared and was a very popular song shortly after the battle. Author unknown, probably some forecastle bard.

I've often been told
That the British seamen bold
Could beat the tars of France neat and handy, O,
But they never met their match
'Til the Yankees they did catch,
For the Yankee tars for fighting are the dandy, O.

O, the Guerriere so bold
O'er the foaming ocean rolled
Commanded by Dacres the grandee O,
For the choice of British crew
That a rammer ever drew
And beat the Frenchmen two to one so handy O.

When the frigate hove in view
"O," said Dacres to his crew,
"Prepare ye for action and be handy O.
On the weather gauge we'll get her,"
And to make his men fight better
He gave them gunpowder and good brandy O.

"Now," this boasting Briton cries,
"Make that Yankee ship your prize,
You can in 30 minutes do it handy O.
Or 25 I'm sure, and I'll give you a double share of good brandy O."

"When prisoners we've made them
With switchell* we will treat them,
We'll treat them with Yankee Doodle Dandy O."
The British balls flew hot
But the Yankees answered not Until they got a distance that was handy O.

"O," cried Hull unto his crew,
"We'll try what we can do,
If we beat those boasting Britons we're the dandy O."
The first broadside we poured
Brought the mizzen by the board
Which doused the royal ensign quite handy O.

O, Dacres he did sigh,
And to his officers did cry,
"I didn't think the Yankees were so handy O."
The second told so well
That the fore and main mast fell
Which made the lofty frigate look quite handy O.

"O," says Dacres, "we're undone,"
So he fires a lee gun.
Our drummer struck up Yankee Doodle Dandy O.
When Dacres came on board
To deliver up his sword
He was loth to part with it, so handy O.

"You may keep it," said brave Hull.
"What makes you look so dull?
Cheer up and take a glass of brandy O."
Britons now be still
Since we hooked you in the gill
Don't boast upon Dacres the grandee O.

---

*Switchell, a drink made of water, molasses, oatmeal and vinegar, iced, used in hot weather.

Art and Dramatic

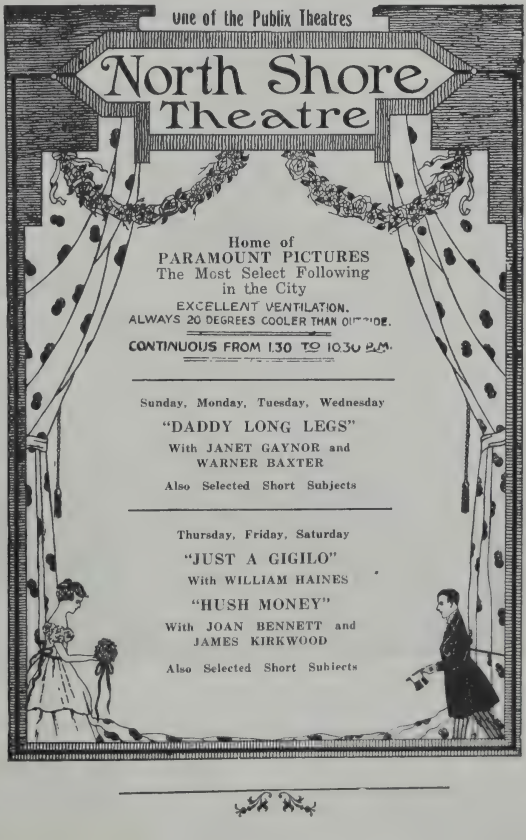
THE LITTLE THEATRE

From O'Neil's dramatic "Anna Christie," it is a far cry to the lighter type of drama given last Friday and Saturday nights at the Little Theatre at Rocky Neck. But the School succeeded in proving to a delighted audience their versatility and competence.

The first of the one-act plays presented was a beautifully done "Portrait of Tiero," by Zoe Akins. This was a masterpiece of color and art. Dramatic, enchanting, and yet impersonal, it became a beautiful, harmonious spectacle. The scenic devices, lighting and costuming were deserving of great praise in the symphony of colors they combined to acheive. Martin Jurrow as Tiero Di Lannoy showed great ability of interpretation, while Francesca di Genova, extremely well done by Polly Sayward, was magnificently beautiful in appearance. Siglio was exceedingly well characterized by Bruce Gray.

"The Feast of the Holy Innocents" captured the laurels of the evening. The story is charming in its simplicity of appeal and portrayal of human nature. Two spinsters, Cornelia and Electra Milk, who in spite of their reputations of godliness and excellent

(Continued on page 23)



One of the Publix Theatres
North Shore Theatre
Home of
PARAMOUNT PICTURES
The Most Select Following
in the City
EXCELLENT VENTILATION.
ALWAYS 20 DEGREES COOLER THAN OUTSIDE.
CONTINUOUS FROM 1.30 TO 10.30 P.M.

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
"DADDY LONG LEGS"
With JANET GAYNOR and WARNER BAXTER
Also Selected Short Subjects

Thursday, Friday, Saturday
"JUST A GIGILO"
With WILLIAM HAINES
"HUSH MONEY"
With JOAN BENNETT and
JAMES KIRKWOOD
Also Selected Short Subjects

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

Janet Gaynor forsakes the frivolous roles she portrayed in "Sunny Side Up" and "High Society Blues" to interpret one of the most lovable characters the stage has ever presented. The role in question is the young and beautiful Judy Abbott in that memorable romance, "Daddy Long Legs."

And let it be said here and now that it's good to see Janet Gaynor doing those things for which she is so well suited. And Judy Abbott is certainly one of them. As a matter of fact, preview audiences have already acclaimed her performance the finest of her career, not excepting her unforgettable characterization of Diane in "Seventh Heaven."

In addition to Janet Gaynor, Fox has given "Daddy Long Legs" a distinguished cast headed by Warner Baxter, Una Merkel, Louise Closser Hale, Claude Gillingwater, Elizabeth Patterson and a score of lovely children.

"Daddy Long Legs" comes to the North Shore Theatre Sunday for four days only.

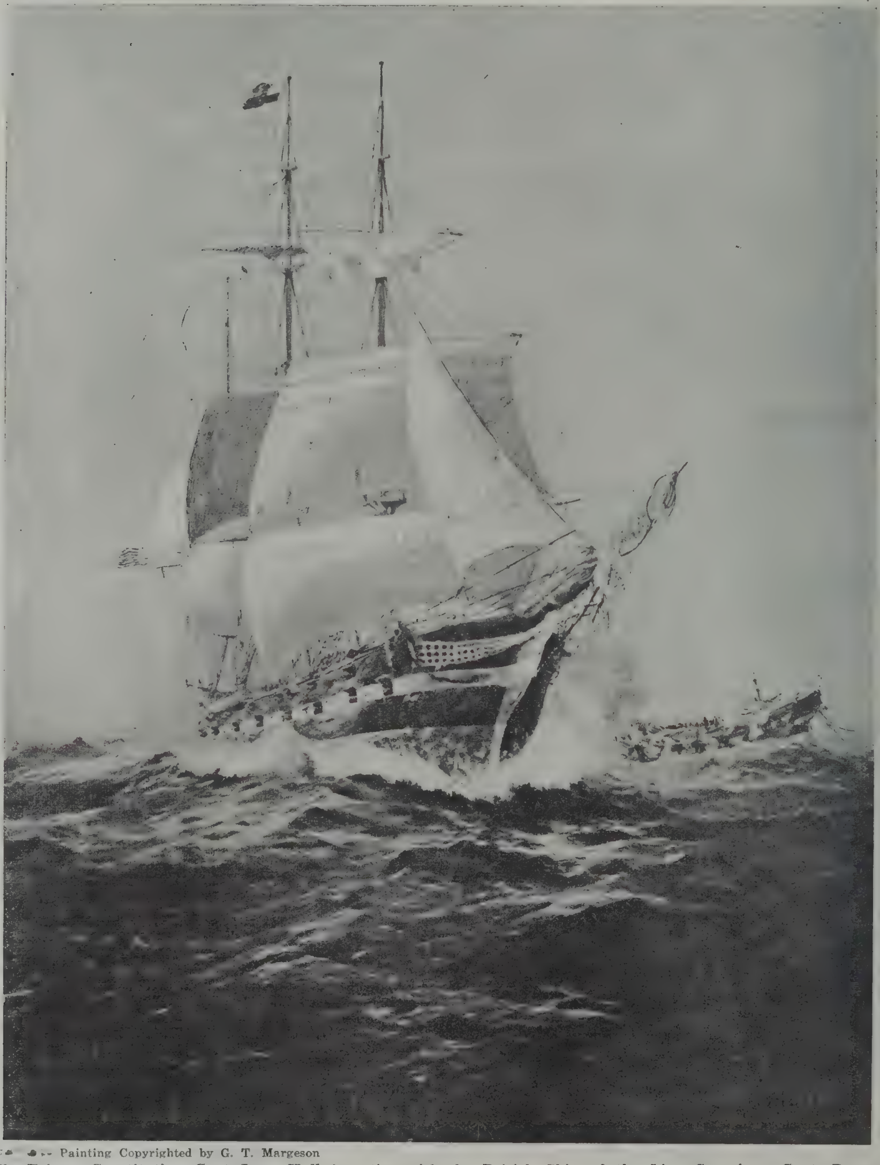
"Just a Gigilo," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's filmization of the Belasco stage hit, "Dancing Partner," with the irrepressible William Haines masquerading as a gigolo in a European summer resort, is the new attraction which

(Continued on page 23)

VISIT OF OLD IRONSIDES

Historic Frigate in the Harbor from July 23 to 27 for Inspection by the Public—Capt. Jonathan Harraden, Gloucester Born, Her Sailing Master—Gloucester Service Men Save Her from Destruction at Annapolis

J. R. P.



Painting Copyrighted by G. T. Margeson

The Frigate Constitution, Capt. Isaac Hull, in action with the British Ship of the Line Guerriere, Capt. Dacres, August 19. 1812. An action of a half-hour duration. One of the major sea combats in the world's history. Painting by Gilbert T. Margeson of Rockport. Purchased by Congress and hanging on the Congressional Walls as the most stirring and historically correct representation of that immortal combat.

FROM JULY 23 TO 27 the historic frigate Constitution is scheduled to base at this port. She will be open to visitors and the officers and Coast Guard officials have offered their boat facilities to take the visitors to and from the ship.

Summer residents especially will no doubt esteem it a privilege to inspect and walk the decks of this historic ship of the line whose deeds of victory under intrepid commanders and crews make her one of the most outstanding battleships of all time.

Remove the career of the Constitution from the records and much of the glory of the War of 1812 is gone. For that war on land is not particularly inspiring reading for the patriotic American. With the exception of the battle of New Orleans, fought after the treaty of peace was declared, there is not much to stress. Our national capitol, Washington, had been captured and burned by a land force, the damage not so material as the place went, but irremediable in the loss of valuable records.

It was the combats on the sea, the numerous victories of our ships of war, aided by the privateersmen, that brought the shipping interests of England to terms. Then England engaged against her own offspring, and was compelled to acknowledge that she had met her master.

Jonathan Harraden, Sailing Master of the Constitution, Gloucester Born

The Constitution was New England built—the North end of Boston—and New England manned. Gloucester, as will appear, more than any other seaport, may take a high degree of pride in this, strange to say, first visit to the port. For her sailing master was that renowned old seadog, hard-boiled mariner, Jonathan Harraden, born at Folly Cove on the northern side of the cape. Maclay pays him the highest tribute and his renown is imperishable in naval annals. After the war he sailed in command of Salem ships and died there, where a memorial has been erected in his honor. Gloucester was slow in this matter. It could at least—the time is not too late—place a bronze tablet recounting his exploits on the site of his birthplace.

Action toward this end was first taken in 1917 through the initiative of Mrs. James R. Pringle, then regent of the local chapter of the D. A. R. Four destroyers had been completed at Newport News and their launching was planned for July 4, 1918. Petition was made to the Secretary of the Navy to have one of these named the Harraden, and with the aid and co-operation of Hon. John A. Stoddart, World War mayor of Gloucester, this was granted. The launching party from this city was sponsored by Mrs. Pringle, the christening ceremony being performed by a a lineal descendant of the valiant old seadog.

And we were equally indifferent regarding the preservation of the Constitution. England guards Nelson's ship, the Victory, at Portsmouth, as a symbol of her sea prowess. The school children of the tight little isle contributed to that end as have the school children of today in the case of the Constitution. Nelson's statue in Trafalgar square is the most notable in the British Isles.

We came near losing the Constitution and she was headed for the junk pile until Oliver Wendell Holmes in the 50's sounded the tocsin to the nation. "Aye, tear her tattered ensign down"—familiar to every schoolboy—and the nation woke up and saved itself from everlasting shame.

Men of Gloucester Snatch the Constitution from Destruction

The presence of Gloucester men in the nick of time undoubtedly prevented the destruction of the Constitution at the outbreak of the Civil War. Among the first to respond to Lincoln's call for troops was Co. G, 8th Regiment, of this town. In April, 1861, news of firing on our troops in Baltimore came, the regiment being in Philadelphia. Volunteers were called for to go on to that city. A sergeant and 19 men from Co. G. responded, two-thirds of the required number. They went by the steamer Maryland. The Confederates were firing the navy yard at Annapolis. The Constitution was docked there. It was low tide. Quick work was necessary to save her. Who knew how? The Gloucester fishermen in the detail! They turned to, slung tackles and hoisted cannon and heavy removables on the dock, bent the sails and took her to a place of safety just in the nick of time. (Pringle's History of Gloucester, pages 116-117 relates this incident in detail with official record of its authenticity. The names of the Gloucester detail who did this work is given from the rolls.) It was at Baltimore that the first blood of the Rebellion was spilled, Ladd and Whitney of the Lowell company going down.

As a nation we have lost our sea guts since that time. But not Gloucester, which alone for years flew the national ensign at sea on her fishing schooners in foreign ports, as we have done continuously for a period of more than 300 years. In all wars her sailors have predominated. Five hundred picked fishermen volunteered in the Spanish-American War. Five hundred more volunteered for the navy six weeks before the declaration of our entry into the Great War and spurred the lagging youth of the nation by an inspiring example, a war, which as Pershing says, was fought largely by draftees, but conspicuously not so in the case of Gloucester fishermen.

And if old Jonathan Harraden, reincarnated, holds forth today on the deck of the Constitution with belaying pin in hand, what must be his regrets when visiting other New England seaports of renown to witness their complete decadence as maritime centers? And what his elation as, rounding Eastern Point, he finds his old seacradle town as pre-eminent as ever as the mistress of New England seaports.

But why preserve these mementoes of past struggles, asks the pacifist? The greatest historian of all time, when discoursing on an identical topic, answers thusly: "It is a sentiment which belongs to the higher and better part of human nature—and which adds not a little to the strength of states. That people which takes no pride in the noble deeds of remote ancestors will never achieve anything worthy to be remembered with pride by descendants."

Constitution: Long may you sail the seas, reminder of the golden age of American sailors—of wooden ships and iron men.

Next week—The Summer Resident Who Brought a Thousand Families to the City.

Del Monte's
ON THE NORTH SHORE
Magnolia,
Mass.

New Casino Opposite Norman's Woe, Commanding the Finest View on the North Atlantic—Ample Parking Space.

DANCING EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
With DEL MONTE'S FAMOUS ORCHESTRA

For Reservations of Tables—Phone Magnolia 590
A la carte J. P. Del Monte, Proprietor and Manager

TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE DISTINCTIVE

MAGNOLIA

MAGNOLIA

GOOD NEWS. The Shore has it on unquestioned authority that an offer has been made to the stockholders of the Kettle Cove Golf Club to acquire its holdings—the incomplete golf course terrain. Further, the offer has been accepted. Now all that is needed to make the transfer is the payment of the cash money. In which event it is reasonable to assume that the purchasers intend to go ahead with that project. We understand that the prospective purchasers are connected in some way with the new ownership of the Oceanside.

At Magnolia-by-the-Sea, the charming summer resort which combines the beauties of country and seashore, the season is well under way. Large numbers of former sojourners are steadily returning as well as many new-comers, and the hotels and summer homes along the Magnolia shores are rapidly being filled.

Returning guests as well as year-round inhabitants of Magnolia will be sorry to hear of the serious illness of Mrs. E. W. Longfellow. Mrs. Longfellow is the wife of the son of the famous late poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and has been a resident of Magnolia for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Bullard and their son, Teddy, are back at Magnolia for another season.

Mrs. Harrison K. Caner, Jr., from Philadelphia, and her children, Wytendale, Katherine, Harrison K., 3rd, and their governess, Miss Green, have arrived at Magnolia for the season.

Miss Elinor Jones, formerly of Magnolia, is touring Europe with her brother, Arthur. Lawrence, another brother, is at present attending a boys' camp in New York State.

Miss Almira Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Foster, Coolidge Point and New York City, has returned from her trip to Europe.

Mrs. Easterbrook of Boston with her children recently entertained friends at a small luncheon at the Magnolia Beach Club.

Another charming luncheon was recently given at the Club by Mrs. Derwood Grinstead and her two daughters, Anne and Maria, from Manchester.

The Oceanside Hotel, with fifty consecutive seasons of utmost success behind it, has opened its doors again this summer to the usual distinguished clientele. The atmosphere of quiet self-assurance and dignity, characteristic only of hotels of long standing reputation and success, the delightful location, and the intrinsic beauty of the interior have combined to attract a particularly large number of guests for so early in the season.

Among recent arrivals are: Dr. and Mrs. W. R. P. Emerson, Mrs. E. Marsh Binney, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Warren, Mrs. George E. Carter, Mrs. L. H. Eaton, Miss Clara E. Fuller, Boston; Mrs. M. G. Curtis, Brookline; Mrs. David Loring, Waban; William J. Crane, Edison Rice, Stewart Chaney, George Houston, W. Rosing and daughter, Diana, with her nurse, Nathaniel Cuthright, James Shelburne, Miss Virginia Stone, Miss Pauline Lord, Raymond O'Brien, Vernon Steele, New York City; Mrs. William L. Wirbelauer, Paterson; Mrs. H. Barton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stead, Philadelphia; Mrs. W. P. Tams, Mrs. Anson B. McCook, Washington; Donald Macmillan, New Brunswick; Miss Harriet S. Eels, Cleveland; Miss Cecil Gordon, Louisville; Mrs. W. A. Ramsay and sister, Mrs. J. G. Wurtele, Minneapolis.

William J. Crane, Edison Rice, Stewart Chaney, Nathaniel Cuthright, Raymond O'Brien, all members of the Oceanside Theatre Company, are from the American Opera Company, and are making their headquarters this summer at the Oceanside.

Miss Virginia Stone from New York City, daughter of the famous screen actor, Lewis Stone, is also with the Oceanside Theatre Company. Miss Stone is studying at present for the legitimate stage and will in all probability follow her father's lead by entering the moving pictures. May the daughter's career be as happy and successful as that of her father.

Miss Pauline Lord, recently completing successful tours in the Theatre Guild productions of "Strange Interlude," and "They Knew What They Wanted," (in the latter of which she played opposite the famous Richard Bennett), is also stopping at the Oceanside. Famous for her late excellent portrayal of O'Neil's incomparable "Anna Christie," she is today acclaimed by many critics as the finest actress in America. Cape Ann is fortunate indeed in having as its guest this talented and noted young woman, and many will benefit by the opportunity to see her in the productions to be presented by the Oceanside Theatre during the season.

The social season has begun in earnest at Del Monte's. With the attractions offered by the beautiful location, the excellent service, and the big drawing-card of Ruby Newman in person with his band, it is small wonder that each night sees the softly lighted casino so filled with parties of beautifully gowned women and meticulously dressed men.

Among those recently entertaining at Del Monte's were: Mrs. J. Hiram Walker, Walker's Point, Magnolia, with a party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Kittfield of Magnolia, party of ten; Mrs. Jacob Loose of Washington, party of eight; Mrs. H. H. Whitman of Beverly Farms, party of ten; John Morrow of Beverly Farms, party of eight; Mrs. Anne Paulton of Manchester, party of eighteen; J. B. Royce of Eastern Point, party of fifteen; John Amory of Beverly Farms, party of eight; Calvin Favorite of Bass Rocks, party of eight; George Brown of Salem, party of ten; Mrs. Philip Eisman of Beverly Farms, party of twelve; Robert Morse of Swampscott, party of fifteen.

Work is progressing on the new engine house on the site of the old edifice and when completed promises to improve the appearance of this section materially.

Notice to Water Takers

THE EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS imposed on the use of water last season on account of scarcity are removed. The usual rules are now in force.

The Water Board is pleased to announce that the Alewife Brook Water Basin, begun last summer, was completed in January and was filled to capacity within two months. While there is ample supply in storage in the four water basins, the Board wishes to caution against needless waste.

The Board takes this opportunity to express its thanks to the summer residents and citizens for their very general response to their request for economy in the use of water. This co-operation materially helped a very serious situation.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS OF CITY OF GLOUCESTER.

EAST GLOUCESTER

BRIGHTLY COLORED umbrellas, vast numbers of bathers in vari-colored suits, an inarticulate conglomeration of voices and laughter at the crowded beaches along the shore, all give evidence of the filled hotels and summer cottages.

Recent arrivals at the Inn are: Mrs. William E. Russell, Herbert Noble, Mrs. G. B. Noble, Boston; Mrs. John C. Stewart, Helen G. Stewart, Mrs. John H. Coes, Miss M. M. Coes, Worcester; Raymond Calkins, Robert M. Wernaer, Mrs. D. Eccles, Miss M. M. Eccles, Cambridge; Mrs. L. H. Williams, Mrs. T. W. Sothern, Mrs. Henry B. Miner, Dorothy Miner, Mrs. F. W. Crocker, Lillian Morrill, Brookline; Mrs. H. S. Whitney, Lawrence; L. C. Roberts, Charles Keating, L. H. Wakefield, Newton; Mrs. Herbert E. Drew and daughter, Belmont; Mrs. W. M. Storrs, Mrs. W. F. Gordy, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Merriam, Mrs. A. Bedell Benjamin, Mrs. Francis M. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Baldwin, Mrs. E. R. Misgrane, Mrs. Albert A. White, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Higgins, Miss E. V. Belzer, Miss J. A. Belzer, George Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. William Fosdick, Miss Helen H. Williams, Mrs. Josephine S. Pearce, Miss G. R. Dickenson, Miss Helen Lincoln, Misses Pat and Carol Rosenfeld, Mrs. J. F. Rosenfeld, New York City; Miss Alice Fischer Harcourt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Harcourt, Albany; Mrs. T. E. Kitching and daughter, Mrs. W. R. Thompson, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. S. Winslow, Providence; Rudolph Boen, Longmeadow; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Vickerman, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. W. P. Elwell, Miss Mary A. Brody, Mrs. Henry Brody, Miss Bertha D. Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Fabian F. Levy, Mrs. A. E. Chase, Frederick R. Leidy, Miss Clara T. Chase, Philadelphia; Lucian S. Thayer, Miss Mary L. Parker, Mrs. Samuel K. Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Miller, Baltimore; Mrs. William J. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. H. Marcus Dennison, Baltimore; Miss Marion Knox, Summit; Charles W. Kennard, Chicago; Mrs. Clemence Herschael, Montclair; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thompson, New Britain; Mrs. C. Laehmer, Miss F. B. Lehmer, Cincinnati.

At Merrill Hall recent arrivals for the season include: F. Kimball, Manchester, N. H.; Henry C. Lewis, Braddock; Mrs. Hugh Campbell, Alexander; R. Sampson Low, Mrs. Ruth Williams, Miss Julia McAllister, New York City; W. R. Bell, Cassollton, O.; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Poel, Cleveland.

At the Pilgrim recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Osland, Worcester; Miss M. B. Henry, Miss Hattie H. Henry, Newton; Mrs. M. M. Williams, Miss Pauline B. Williams, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Anderson and daughter, Mary Katherine, Harry F. Chase, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hodgkins, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Lawton, Troy; Charles E. Watson, Miss Isabel W. Watson, Collingsward; Mrs. K. B. Blooner, Mrs. Jessie Berwick, Northampton; Miss Anna L. Fitts, Washington.

At Cove Villa, recent arrivals include: Miss Ruth Alexander, Boston; William A. Elander, Miss Edith E. Grundstrom, N. Lowe, Worcester; Brainard B. Thresher, Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. H. Balcon, Providence; Miss Pearl Ballou, Providence; Miss E. Beatrice Meras, Miss Alice Benton Scott, New York City; N. Lowe, Long Beach.

At the Fairview, recent arrivals include: Mrs. E. G. Dexter, Miss Harriet M. Langdon, Miss Bertha Langmaid, Miss Isabella Hill, Miss H. M. Bless, Miss Cora Mitchell, Boston; Miss Mary Shurtleff, Cambridge; Miss Augusta Houghton, Milton; Mrs. Frank A. Brown, Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Baldwin, Joseph May, Philadelphia; M. C. Bornell, New York City; William Henry P. Warren, Bronxville; Miss Augusta McMillan, Princeton; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Lewis Maxey, Williamstown; Mrs. Frank Bray, Miss M. Homes, Louisville.

Eben Comins of Washington, the artist, and Miss Jean Nutting Oliver, writer and painter from Boston, are at the Delphine. Miss Oliver is enjoying a brief vacation with her cousin, Grace Oliver, from Somerville.

Other arrivals at the Delphine include: Mrs. C. C. Dormette, Boston; Mrs. Lewis N. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. McCreary, Mrs. Edwin Ford, Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hayden, Newtonville; Carolyn P. Holden, Concord; Mrs. Austen P. Kelly, Miss Nina DeL. Henriques, Miss Frances G. Donaldson, New York City; Miss Loretta Collins, Brooklyn; Mrs. A. H. Cox, Providence; Miss A. C. Whitelock, Baltimore; Mary W. White, Anna S. White, Washington; Mrs. H. H. Mason, Duluth; Mrs. George Hinckley, Dongan Hills.

At the Pilgrim: Mr. A. C. Bateman, Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mason, Malden; Mr. and Mrs. H. Geddes, Attleboro; Mr. M. M. Williams, Miss Pauline B. Williams, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Osland, Worcester; Louise E. Emerson, Providence; Charlotte Field, Misses Vera and Edwina Seaver and Mr. Edwin Seaver, New York City; Mrs. W. S. Blight, Philadelphia; Miss M. V. S. Blight, Mr. Charles Blight, Tocanda; Miss Wenonah Bell, Greenville, Ga.

Recent arrivals at Cove Villa: George R. Thomas, Durham; Mrs. David H. Cannon and son, David H., Jr., Miss Lily Hollings, Hartford; Miss Louise B. Mills, Mrs. E. B. Dende, Mrs. Catherine Hawlss, New York City; Miss Margaret Byrne, Miss Margaret McGovern, Troy; Mr. Willard Brownell, Albany; Mr. A. D. MacDonald, Princeton; Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts, Elizabeth; Miss Louise C. Gardiner, Pittsburg.

At Hawthorne Inn: Mrs. C. F. Rice, Edward T. Kelly, Philip K. Kelly, William Jardine, Mrs. Helen H. White, F. Hardon, Mrs. N. D. Drummency, N. D. Drummency, William W. Drummency, Boston; Mrs. John H. Coes, Worcester; Mrs. L. F. Kreeman, Lowell; L. H. Wakefield, Weston; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fay, Martinsville; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lembeck, Miss Annam, Miss Brown, New York City; Mrs. F. C. Willspaugh, Beach Bluff; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sparrow, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Atherton, C. C. Masendon, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fullman, Villette Fullman, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blake, Short Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. White, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flad, St. Louis; Mrs. Frank E. Weeden, Jamestown; Mrs. H. W. Blane, Lewisville.

On Tuesday night the Hawthorne Inn Bridge Club held another of its customary bridge parties at which twelve tables were in play. Both contract and auction bridge were played, refreshments were served and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent.

On Sunday in the Casino, Rev. James A. Muller, Ph.D., conducted a beautiful church service. Dr. Muller is a graduate of the Harvard Theologoical School, and plans to continue holding services on Sunday mornings here throughout the season.

At the Delphine recent arrivals include: A. W. Small, Boston; E. E. Dana, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Vosburgh, Cambridge; Mrs. George Glove and daughter Nancy, New York City; Mrs. Harold G. Irons, Wilmington; Mrs. R. W. Dinsmore and daughter, Mrs. T. A. Bogart, Jamestown; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Kendall, Philadelphia.

At a delightful luncheon at the Delphine on July 11, Mrs. Robert Minot, who is spending the season at the Delphine, entertained her guest, Mrs. MacGregor Jenkins of Dover.

On Sunday night, July 12, a concert was given at the Delphine by Solomon Sandler, violinist, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Lemos.

At Merrill Hall recent arrivals include: Frank A. Fernola, Melrose; Miss Louise Van de Water, Flushing; Hannah Scholze, Fannie Baylis, Jamaica; D. Annette Rogers, Brooklyn; Marion Beacon, Chevy Chase; Dorothy B. Kalb, Mrs. Fayette, Washington; L. Elizabeth Lelpin, Philadelphia; Mrs. T. Schlueter and family, Richmond.

On July 15, guests at Merrill Hall were delighted by a concert given by Solomon Sandler and Miss Dorothy Lemos, at violin and piano, respectively.

At Harbor View recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Matheson, V. Orlandin, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Breck, Brookline; Ruth McWalter, Cynthia R. Roberts, Concord; L. H. Holmes, Middleboro; L. M. Oldfield, F. A. Jones, Saylesville; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Risley and child, West Brookfield; Virginia Airies, Fred A. Riichardson, R. M. Smith, Leominster; Katharine Richards, Lexington; A. A. Donnelly, Devon; Mary P. Erkins, Larchmont; Mr. and Mrs. H. Koerber, Fort Wayne; Herbert A. Grant, Newark; Mr. and Mrs. W. Seivy, Mrs. Eve Buckley, Miss Flannery, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Matheson, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Talbot, Cincinnati.

At Cove Villa recent arrivals include: Minna Weiner, Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lindstron, Worcester; William A. Elander, Worcester; Edith Grundstron, Worcester; Mrs. A. S. Osborne, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Ballou, Peach Ballou, Providence; Mrs. Rachael Walter, Ruth Alexander, A. S. Poole, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Hackett, New York City.

At the Rockaway, recent arrivals include: K. E. DeWolfe, Mrs. C. E. Hallscour, Howard Raymond, Frederick K. Shaw, S. W. Eager, Boston; Mary E. Fisher, Cambridge; Mrs. H. A. Akerley, Morton Akerly, West Somerville; Thelma Wakely, Mrs. P. W. Simons, Richard L. F. Simmons, Springfield; Cora A. Sears, Carmyn C. Sears, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. Maxen A. Terry, Marblehead; Mrs. and Miss Stendahl, Arlington; Amy C. Sharpless,

(Continued on page 13)

BASS ROCKS

THE MOORLAND announces that talkies will be shown on Tuesday and Friday evenings, and patrons will be delighted to hear that on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays the Marion Chase Players will entertain again this year from 8 o'clock to 9.15, in the lobby, and from 9.30 to 11 in the casino. On Sundays they will play after 10 o'clock.

At the Moorland, recent guests include: Mr. and Mrs. John E. Jackson, Marie J. MacCaury, Mrs. G. B. Brackenborough, Boston; Georgia Coombs, L. L. Kendall, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Berry, Northbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burnham, Wilton; Mr. and Mrs. David Hale, Mrs. W. H. Sanburn, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gruff, Attleboro; Mrs. G. W. Butts, New Haven; Ida Macauley, Miss Dorothy Sutro, Adrianna R. Dorman, Mrs. A. B. Taylor, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Edward McKinney, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Allen, and sister, Carol S. Allen, Mrs. M. C. Byrnes, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. William Allen, Miss Dorothy Wilson, Syracuse; Rev. and Mrs. Henry E. Cobb, Master Oliver E. Allen, Scarsdale; Mrs. Barton Van Ness, Baltimore; Mrs. M. Louis Clark, Mrs. Charles C. Long, Mrs. McCook Knox and daughter Kathleen, Washington; Mary Bormsby Gray, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Porter, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Julian Meade, Daneville; Louise Erwin, Cincinnati.

The Thorwald offers a full summer program indeed with its dances throughout the summer on Tuesday and Friday nights, and its new feature this year of the "talkies," which entertainment will be available on Monday and Thursday nights.

At the Thorwald recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. James Quartz, Newton; Vera Hemminway, Mrs. Walter Hardy, Fitchburg; Mrs. Harry Wichener, Philadelphia; Ethel Paddock, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Robinson, New York; Daisy Prentice, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Flindall and daughter, Mrs. Klaren, Summit; Miss Carolyn Robinson, Short Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Blenhein, East Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Walter DeCamp, Cincinnati; Mrs. Aster, Mrs. Snyder, Miss Lillian Lawrence, Miss Brenda Chillas, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Clerk, and daughters, Mrs. H. J. Stewart, Mrs. O. E. Armstrong, and son, Master Teddy Armstrong, Louis Staife, Montreal.

The officers of the Bass Rocks Golf Club this season are as follows: Edward C. Wilson, president; Arthur N. Broughton, vice-president; E. Tucker Sayward, treasurer; Max L. Talbot, secretary. Committees, first named chairman: Greens, Herbert C. Talbot, Raymond S. Farr, Frank C. Pearce, N. Carleton Phillips, Edward C. Wilson. Play: Max L. Talbot, William D. Elwell, Arthur T. Safford. Tournament: Laurence A. Brown, William D. Elwell, Max L. Talbot. Women's tournament: Mrs. Fred C. Boyce, Miss Letitia B. Scott, treasurer. Membership: Charles H. Wilson, Raymond S. Farr, Carleton H. Parsons, Arthur T. Safford, E. Tucker Sayward. Finance: Frank A. Brewer, Richard M. Taylor, Harry T. Harmon. Tennis: Arthur N. Broughton, Mrs. Fred G. Boyce, Mrs. C. W. Mitchell. House committee: E. Tucker Sayward, Edward C. Wilson, Charles H. Wilson. The Ladies' Committee was given in last week's issue in connection with the Independence Day celebration.

The summer colony here will learn with regret of the passing during the winter of Mrs. C. G. Humphreys, who for several seasons was the occupant of the Newton cottage, Atlantic avenue.

Mrs. Robert A. Pogue and family of Cincinnati have come for the season to their Beach road cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Mills and his sister, Miss Georgianna Dodge of New York, have returned to "Under-the-Cliff" cottage and plan to stay the season.

At the Thorwald: Howard C. MacDuffie, Lawrence; Mr. and Mrs. David Hayes, New York City; Miss J. R. Bornell, George F. Vreeland, Summit, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fleisher, Philadelphia; Dr. Erwin Wright, Overbrook; Commodore and Mrs. A. W. Stahl, Washington; Misses Mary and Margaret Pitter, Kentucky; Mrs. George Layman, Montreal.

Local residents as well as our summer guests will be interested and pleased to know that afternoon tea will be served at the Thorwald this summer from 4.30 to 5.30 every afternoon.

Mrs. Pembroke Leah Thom of Baltimore has arrived at "Overledge," Atlantic avenue, for the season.

Miss Amelia F. G. Jarvie of Brooklyn, who was in Europe last summer, has returned to her cottage, 11 Craigmoor street, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Hyde of

(Continued on page 19)

EASTERN POINT

COL. JOHN W. PRENTISS of Blighty has issued a terse and convincingly phrased pamphlet relative to the controversy regarding the abuse of his section by outlanders during the past ten years. We say convincing, for when the Supreme Courts say that the roads in question are private property, none may gainsay the statement. As the result of the recent conference at City Hall, The Shore inclines to the belief that the worst of this thing is over. The problem now becomes almost wholly one of adequate policing and the prevention of non-residents from a free and unrestricted run of the place. There was never any question regarding the citizens and hotel guests.

Stephen D. Sleeper and family of Beacon street, Boston, were among the June arrivals and will make a stay well into the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Howland W. Twombly of Boston will again pass the season at their cottage, Bramble Ledge House.

Jonathan Raymond and family have come to their summer home near the tip of the point. Mrs. Raymond is one of the woman yachting enthusiasts of the point, her yacht being the German built Sonder, Hevella. Their son Jock has also proved his mettle as a sailorman.

Mrs. A. Wilder Pollard of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, has opened "Barlevento" for the summer.

Bishop Philip Rhinelander and family of Pennsylvania have come to "Dogbar," their seashore home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Hall of Beacon street, Boston, have opened their residence, "Stoneacre," on the harbor side.

Miss Lucy Taggart of Indianapolis plans to open the home completed for her last season, later in the season.

The summer house of Miss Caroline Sinkler of Philadelphia on Boulevard avenue, will be closed this season, the owner being in Europe.

The House of MANAHAN

MAGNOLIA
BRANCH SHOP

SUMMER FASHIONS

FEATURE

Silk Play Frocks

Beach Togs
and Swim Suits

Chiffon Afternoon
and Evening Dresses

Coats

Hats

280 BOYLSTON STREET
BOSTON

Commodore and Mrs. John Greenough have come for their 41st season to the home near the Breakwater built some 41 years ago. The Commodore may well lay title to dean of the summer colony at Eastern Point as well as the oldest yachtsman of the locality. He is the oldest in point of residence on the Point.

Clarence Birdseye and family have taken occupancy of their fine summer home recently completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Epes Merchant are occupying their seashore home fronting the beach.

Mrs. S. A. Raymond of Cleveland is entertaining at the Ramparts, Mr. and

(Continued on page 19)

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

IN SPITE of the fairly consistent dreariness of the weather for the past week, the inflow to Rockport of summer residents is constantly on the increase.

At the Manning House, Mrs. Thyra Danielson from Hyde Park is presiding this year as hostess. Her daughter, Miss Annamarie Danielson, a pupil at the Designers' Art School in Boston, is doing costuming and dancing for Daniel O. Brewster, at the Little Theatre in Rockport.

Guests at the Manning House include: Catharine Crowly, N. A. Finley, B. M. Blake, Evelyn F. Harrington, Mrs. L. Golden, Mrs. Charlotte Johnson, Boston; Mrs. A. F. Smith, Worcester; Bertha Rothwell, Grace E. Rothwell, Gardner; Mrs. A. M. Wales, Attleboro; Amy Day, Gertrude Chickas, Sylvia F. Eldridge, Brookline; Eileen Fitzgerald, Janet Virtue, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Garvie, Mrs. John Trotter, Mrs. Ethel Gillespie Jack, Cecily G. M. Jack, Montreal; M. S. Grant, Cleveland.

On Friday evening, July 10, the social events at the Edward started with a delightful concert in the lounge by Miss Mary Clark, the well-known protege of Caruso.

At the Edward: Edward Connolley, William Sullivan, Sybil Wieners, Boston; Agnes Kelly, Somerville; Alice Roche, Dorchester; Mrs. Grace A. Redding, Doris Redding, Winchester; Edith Heep, Quincy; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Poynter, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Bowen, Woonsocket; Mrs. W. T. Dunmore, Utica; Louise Gray, Brooklyn; Judge Charles H. Moorman and sons Charles, Jr., and Morris, Louisville.

At the Granite Shore: C. F. Herbly, Boston; Cyrus Casue, Danvers; Ida Apper, Dorchester; Lillian Mills, Dorchester; Mr. and Mrs. E. Trenholm, Forrest Trenholm, Wellesley; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Batty, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. John L. Foss, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lawrence, Mt. Vernon; W. H. Curley, Ashmont; Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Laes, Albany; Antonio Salem, Corinne B. Kitcham, New York City; Edwin G. Merrill, E. Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis and son, Pittsburgh.

At Straitsmouth Inn recent arrivals include: Miss Bridgeman, Mrs. Edith W. Palmer, Robert S. Palmer, M. L. Litchfield, Miss H. L. Rodden, Miss L. M. Brady, Miss C. B. Williston, Boston; Mrs. L. L. Booth, Worcester; Alice T. Skilton, Miss M. L. Witherspoon, Miss Charlotte B. Winsor, Brookline; Carolyn Faben, Brighton; J. W. Daniels, E. R. Kingman, Cambridge; Winifred B. Doherty, Malden; Florence C. Keenhan, Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Platts, Medford; Mrs. M. I. Walsh, Newton; Miss E. Kirstead, Dorchester; Miss M. Weeks, Dorchester; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Atwood, Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Goodwin, Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stone, Winchester; Mrs. E. T. Concree, Allston; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Graves, Weston; Mrs. Mabel H. Everett, Shrewsbury; Elsie K. Fanning, Middlebury, Conn.; Mrs.

(Continued on page 17)

THE ANNISQUAM SECTION

THE QUAINT, charming little village on the beautiful Annisquam River is bestirring itself again into the bustling and gay activity of summer life.

The village had for its guest for a short time a well known yachtsman, Livingston Shorts, president of the General Motors Insurance Corporation, and director of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, also a member of the New York Yacht Club. With Mr. Shorts as his guests on the "Stellar Polaris" are Ned Morrill and several other gentlemen. The party plan to cruise along the eastern coast.

There was a busy time at the Barnacle July 4, the date of its opening. Endless quantities of brilliantly colored, beautiful china from Durix, Spain, was being diligently unpacked by the charming hostess, Miss Nancy Flagg, in preparation for the anticipated season. With Miss Flagg was Mrs. Barret Kendricks, who was spending the week-end, together with her daughter, Betty, at the summer home of Mrs. Burton Johnston, and who, thoroughly captivated by the village, plans to return at a later date for the remainder of the season.

During the same week-end, Miss Barbara Howe, from Brookline, entertained several young friends from that city. Miss Jane Cooper, Miss Isabel Craigen, Donald Broadbent, Shackford Dexter, and Maxwell Dexter, who is manager of the Brookline Cubs, enjoyed a gay and full week-end at the low-ceilinged, quaint, beautifully-located Barnacle on the Annisquam.

"When a man bites a dog, it's news," and when a dog launches a boat, that comes very near being news, too. Master Billy Boochin, of blue-blooded true English Sealyham stock, astounded the residents of Annisquam by launching, on July 4, a small skiff belonging to his owner, Mrs. Ramona Parker of Brookline. We tried, being aware by rumor that the great event was about to take place, to secure an interview with Master Boochin. The gentleman would, we regret to state. have none of us, and in fact registered no interest whatsoever except when his friend Mrs. Parker was speaking.

Mrs. Parker is at present entertaining Mrs. Richard B. Scanderett, Jr., from New York City, and anticipates a visit presently from Miss Marguerite Macomber, New York City. Her daughter, Miss Bunny Parker, is expecting as guests Miss Valerie Lathrop and Miss Janet Muir from New York City.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

It was a happy and excited Clan that started on that July morning for Magnolia. It had all begun in Anne's new breakfast room. Anne had been thoroughly enjoying an elaborate breakfast, feeling just a bit luxurious after a refreshing morning dip, wrapped in a beautiful coolie coat from Beach Plum and Bayberry Candle Place in Rockport, and using the attractive new yellow breakfast set she had bought the day before at L. E. Andrews'. But this delightful feeling of self-satisfaction and indulgence was brought to a swift end by the sudden and undignified appearance of Marcia, starry eyed, breathless, and dripping wet from her recent dip. She held out a telegram and fairly gasped, "Anne! They have a son! Larry and Judith—in Europe!" From then on, it was a matter of a few seconds to summon the rest of the Clan and decide on a trip to Magnolia, for the purpose of outfitting the first offspring of the Clan. As they were leaving to make preparations for the shopping trip, Marcia looked around her ruefully.

"I suppose I've ruined your new floor," she said. "I'm so wet, Anne. It's a shame."

"Don't worry," answered Anne. "This is an Armstrong linoleum from Pattillo's, you couldn't hurt it."

At the Grande Maison de Blanc, they found a veritable baby's haven. Bud couldn't get by a beautiful pink wicker crib, lined with the same delicate shade of quilted satin, and decorated with the softest of pink satin bows. But Peggy would have nothing but the bassinet, also delicate pink wicker, with canopy and exterior hung with the same soft pink showing through gossamer-sheer lace. In spite of Bud's protests that "All children grew didn't they?" the Clan finally decided on the bassinet for the very small Larry Junior, and completed their purchases with the daintiest of taffeta sets of pillows and coverlets, and delicately tinted very fine sheets of the same shade.

Finally the Clan tore themselves away and disbanded temporarily. Anne and Marcia departed for Manahan's to look over the new display of sweater suits. The variety and beauty of the suits made a decision difficult, but Marcia finally chose a three-piece creation, consisting of a skirt with godets and coat, of a beautiful deep blue striped weave, and blouse of white jersey. Anne went into ecstasies over the exquisite turquoise and white Boucle suit designed for a larger figure, and finally ordered one in her mother's size to send as a birthday surprise in August.

Meanwhile at A. Schmidt and Sons, Bud and Phil were admiring a display of English Spode China of all shapes and sizes, each piece having a different hunt scene in beautiful reds, browns, and blues, copied from Lionel Edwards' paintings.

Chubby and Jack had, as usual, gravitated to Ovington's, and were looking over the wide variety of tooled leather on display here. Jack decided that he could not get along another day without a Florentine tooled desk set, and Chubby, not to be outdone, selected from the numerous bridge sets one which had as a design a unique arrangement of semi-precious stones laid on jade, and which contained five decks of cards.

They were just leaving Ovington's when Bud started to come in. "Hello, Chub—," she began, then, seeing Jack, she stopped, flushed, and hurried by. To Chubby's amazement and horror, he suddenly perceived that Jack was blushing, too, a fact very unusual and disconcerting for Jack to do at any time. Something was wrong and had been wrong, ever since Bud's arrival. But Chubby was tactful. He was bursting with curiosity, but he was quiet about it.

On the way home, Gay insisted that they stop off at Poole's Antique Shop, much to Jimmie's consternation. Bud, she argued, had "never seen the display, Jimmie." So Jimmie gave in, and they all trooped into the two beautiful old houses so filled with French, English, and very early American specimens. Bud was delighted, but Phil kept a firm grip on her arm and saw that she didn't stop too long beside any of the beauti-

KEEP COOL with CRYSTAL

CRYSTAL clear and cut crystal, crystal to bear the cooling thirst quenchers of summer, crystal in a new array of inviting shapes and sizes and prices—is gathered at Ovington's summer shop. Representatives are pictured. The engraved crystal pitcher holds 2 quarts and costs $6. (The silver plated swizzler is $3.) Highball glasses, $11 a dozen. Cocktail glasses, $10.

OVINGTON'S

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA, MASS.
FIFTH AVE. at 39th STREET, NEW YORK

ful things, sternly refusing to make another purchase.

"Well," said Jimmie, afraid of the look coming into Gay's eye as she lingered beside a beautiful spinet desk, "I have business in Gloucester, is anybody with me?"

Phil and Chubby immediately agreed. Chubby had to buy some shirts at Earle O. Phillips, and Chubby had to place an order with the Cape Pond Ice Co., and last but not least, Chubby had to eat. Phil had business at the Gloucester National Bank.

"My motion is," said Chubby, "that we all hurry back to Towle's and decide there on our plans for the afternoon."

The motion was enthusiastically carried, and the Clan was soon busily engaged in devouring the delicious special luncheons for sale at Towle's. Later as they were all passing Armstrong's busy corner, Marcia felt herself suddenly jerked into the doorway. Bud was responsible. "But I can't, Bud, I'll be getting notices from the Cape Ann National about my cash account being low." But when Marcia and Bud left Armstrong's they were shod in chic two toned Deauvilles and were carrying bags, hand woven of matching colors.

Chubby and Peggy were found to be absent when the Clan had all assembled where the cars had been left.

"At Barker's getting a soda, I'll bet my hat," suggested Jack.

"Or Trowbridge's," added Anne. "Those two are hopeless when they get together!"

But when the two culprits arrived, they were all injured innocence. They had only wandered down to the North Shore Furniture Company to look over the excellent collection of new Heywood-Wakefield reed and fibre furniture, and every one had to believe them, knowing as they did that Peggy had just had Steele & Abbott redecorate her entire living room.

Later, on Peggy's porch, the rest of the Clan awaited the arrival of Gay and Jimmie, the last to finish donning bathing suits.

"Heah they come," announced Bud, waving to the two late arrivals. "What held you up?" she asked, as they reached the porch.

"Oh, Jimmie has been fussing with that old ice box again," complained Gay. "I told him to see about getting a Frigidaire like yours, Marcia, from L. E. Smith's, but he forgot it. It's the first thing we'll do tomorrow."

"Let's go in town together," suggested Marcia. "I have to stock up at the First National."

"Let's go in if we're going," remarked Bud, jumping up and running down the steps. "Last one in knows what he is!"

As Gay stepped out of the bright beach pajamas which she had purchased recently at W. G. Brown's, Marcia uttered a little squeal of admiration. "Cute, cute bathing suit!" she cried.

"Isn't it?" said Gay. "I bought it a few days ago at Brown's. I love the separate trunks effect, don't you? I never saw such a large assortment as they have at that store. Every kind of bathing suit you can imagine, from the most elaborate taffetas to the most conservative, practical Jantzens. Every department seems to be that way, filled with a variety of stock all the time."

"I know it," agreed Marcia. "I love to shop there, it's so sort of satisfactory, somehow."

Soon the entire group was splashing and shouting among the powerful breakers.

"Hey! Bud," called Chubby. "Don't go out so far."

Bud laughed delightedly, turned, waved, and went on swimming outward.

"She loves it," said Marcia, standing while the rough waves whirled about her. "But she's not used to it. You tell her, Phil!"

"Bud!" shouted Phil, "come in here!" And then as Bud still swam out and out with long, swift strokes, "She's crazy," he said. "It's an old trick. She's always poking fun at my inferiority at swimming by making me come out for her and then beating me in shore."

(Continued on page 20)

"THE TROUSSEAU HOUSE OF AMERICA"

Grande Maison de Blanc

538-540 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

MAGNOLIA, MASS.

Table Damask
Fancy Table Linen
Lace Dinner Cloths
Bed Linen and Spreads
Blankets and Comforters
Bath Towels and Rugs
Towelings

Handkerchiefs and Neckwear
Lingerie and Negligees
Infants' and Children's Wear
Blouse and Top Dresses
Sport Coats and Sweaters
Purses and Bags
Motor Rugs

It is understood by our patrons that our Magnolia Prices are identical with those in our New York Shop

Patrons will receive the personal attention of

Mr. RAYMOND BROWN
Resident Manager
Telephone 459 Magnolia

MANCHESTER

J. Pierpont Morgan's yacht "Corsair" will be in Manchester Harbor this season. It is expected that Mr. Morgan will visit his relatives, Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal this summer.

Samuel Felton and family, Roger Hooper and family, Dr. and Mrs. George P. Denny and children, the R. S. Potters, the Alexander Wheelers and Col. E. M. House are numbered among the season's arrivals.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Reynolds have opened "White Lodge" this week.

Mr. Wallace Goodrich, who is generally among the last to leave in the fall and the first to arrive in the spring, is at "The Chubbs" with his family for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Putnam have closed their town house on Beacon street, Boston, and have opened their Smith's Point residence for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell are again ensconced in their beautiful summer home at the Cove after spending the winter at Palm Beach and making a leisurely trip northward.

The James Means have returned to "Meadow Ledge" for the season.

Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge has opened "Marble cottage" at Coolidge's Point for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Courtland Van Voorhis moved down from Boston this week opening their cottage "Ledgeleaf" on Proctor street.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Reynolds have gone to Topsfield where they have leased a house occupied for several seasons by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert L. Steward. During the three years they have been in Manchester they have occupied the Frederick M. Burnham cottage as an all the year home. Mr. and Mrs. Burnham will occupy their own home this summer.

Mrs. Henry L. Higginson expects to have as guests for the greater part of the summer at her cottage "Sunset Hill," her grandson Mr. Henry Lee Higginson, his wife and young daughter, Cecily.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denegre have come up from Washington and are at their West Manchester cottage for the season.

Among others coming here are the Randolph Grews, the F. J. Bradleys, E. R. Nash and family, Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Chase, the H. E. Hutchinsons, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Breese at West Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Beal and Mrs. Young to Union street.

Standish Backus and family have come on from the West and are located in their cottage on Essex Woods road for the season.

Mrs. Percy Musgrove and children of 304 Marlboro street, Boston, will be at Brownland Cottages this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Grew of Dover, who were summer residents of West Manchester for some years, have recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Esther Grew to Mr. Augustin H. Parker, Jr., son of Mr. Augustin H. Parker of "Noamet Farm" on the Charles River, and the late Caroline Miller (Dabney) Parker. He is a member of Harvard Class of 1932, and of the Delphine Hasty Pudding and Signet Clubs. Miss Grew is a graduate of Miss Sheldon's School in Florence, Italy, and a member of the Vincent Club and Junior League. She made her debut in 1929.

OCEANSIDE THEATRE MAGNOLIA MASSACHUSETTS
MR. W. ROSING
By arrangement with ROSS THOMPSON
PRESENTS A SEASON OF
DRAMA AND INTIMATE OPERA
Opening JULY 20th for One Week with
PAULINE LORD in "EFFIE GALLOWS"
A new play by Claire Spencer

JULY 27-28-29-30-31, AUGUST 1
GEORGE HOUSTON in
"SECOND MAN"
by S. N. Behrman
(Permission of The Theatre Guild)
AUGUST 4-6-7
"FAUST"
Opera by Gounod (sung in English)
AUGUST 10-11-12-13-14-15
CORA WITHERSPOON in
"THE NOTORIOUS LADY"
A new play by John Entenza

AUGUST 19-20-21
ANNA DUNCAN in a
DANCE PROGRAM and CHARLES HEDLEY
in "PAGLIACCI"
Opera by Leoncavallo (sung in English)
AUGUST 24-25-26-27-28-29
FIRST PRODUCTION IN AMERICA of
"SIMOON"
Famous French play by H. R. Lenormand
With a Distinguished Cast

Tickets may be secured from MISS EDITH ATWATER, Oceanside Hotel
Single seats .... $ 2.50
All six performances 12.00
Five performances $10.50
Four performances 8.75
Three performances $7.00
MRS. EVANS R. DICK, JR., Managing Director

Mr. and Mrs. Pierpont Stackpole arrived at their Smith's Point estate early in June for the summer season.

Mrs. F. M. Stanwood opened her Smith's Point home early in June for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leland came down from their Boston home in June and are located in their West Manchester cottage for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Lothrop and family are at their West Manchester home for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Adamowsi, who have passed many of their summers in West Manchester, are at Bar Harbor this year. They returned from Europe on the Scythia.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Sears, Jr., of Boston have leased the large cottage on the old Masconomo House estate for this season. Mr. and Mrs. John G. Flint of Chestnut Hill will have one of the smaller cottages which they occupied last season.

Among the season's arrivals along the shore are found, Charles Hill and family, Dr. and Mrs. James Lancashire, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hall and children, Reginald Foster and family, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dexter, Mr. and Mrs. Boylston Beal, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Curtis, Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Caner, Mrs. Gardiner M. Lane, Mr. Hugo Rosinfield, Mrs. J. H. Parker and family and Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan and family.

It will be a matter of regret to learn that Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coolidge, Jr., will not spend the summer in Manchester as usual this year, as they plan to go to West Haven, Me., with their children for the summer.

Mr. Lester Leland and family are closing their Beacon street home and opening their cottage, "Old Tree House," on Boardman avenue, West Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wheeler and family have closed their town house at 30 Marlboro street, and moved down to their summer home on Harbor street.

Mrs. John L. Thorndike and her daughter, Miss Alice Thorndike, are sojourning for a few weeks at the Hot Springs of Virginia before opening their West Manchester cottage for the summer.

Miss Mary Bartlett has opened her cottage, "Stone Lea." Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibson Winslow have arrived at the Morgan Homestead at Smith's Point. Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt C. Parsons have arrived at "Apple lane" cottage, and Miss Isabel Curtis is at "Sharksmouth." Mr. and Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby are at the "Apple Trees," and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Powning are again occupying "Wyndhurst." Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Duane have opened their cottage "Hilldane," on University Lane. Mrs. S. D. Warren has arrived at Rocky Hill, Essex.

Inventory of the estate of Erastus P. Gavet of Santa Barbara, Calif., a former summer resident here, filed in the Essex Probate Court, is for $66,150.

Miss Barbara Reynolds of 6 Arlington street, Boston, has taken lease of the cottage corner of Blossom lane and Masconomo street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Blumer of Boston who have for many years spent their summers in Manchester at their cottage in Blossom lane, will not be here this season, having sailed recently for Europe accompanied by their two daughters Nancy and Priscilla, where they will spend the entire summer.

Mr. Gordon Abbott, Jr., has come down from Boston to the Abbott cottage on Tucks Point road for the season.

SAVE THE MAGNOLIA

(Continued from page 2)

cluded in the reservation of Ravenwood Park. Here alone the magnolia in the North as a native flower makes its last stand.

The trustees of the park and the superintendent are making every effort to guard this three-acre tract as a wild magnolia conservatory. The digging of the shrubs and the gathering of the blooms is rigidly prohibited. It would be a shame to have this beautiful exotic wiped from the list of the natural flora of the Cape. All interested should aid in such conservation.

EASTERN POINT SITUATION

(Continued from page 2)

The city has taken over large bonded indebtedness for sewerage, water, etc. It is in no condition to assume additional burdens to build costly thoroughfares for the outside public and drive away desirable taxpayers. It is a time for sober, prudent and conservative thinking and action.

EAST GLOUCESTER MINIATURE GOLF

One of the finest miniature golf links in this country is that at East Gloucester, near the Main Street. This has been laid out by Mr. Frank Powler, who has spared no pains nor expense to equip the grounds with the latest and most approved appliances for this most popular diversion. Many of our summer residents find it a most pleasing course and are loud in its praise.

Hornblower & Weeks

ESTABLISHED 1888

Members New York, Boston and Chicago Stock Exchanges

Investment Securities

60 CONGRESS STREET,
BOSTON

42 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK

Chicago Detroit Cleveland Providence Portland Pittsburgh

NEW YORK, 8 East 48th St.
WASHINGTON, 1211 Conn. Ave.
NEWPORT, R. I.

BOSTON, 587 Boylston St.
LOS ANGELES, CAL.
PASADENA, CAL.

A. Schmidt & Son, Inc. IMPORTERS OF

Silver and Sheffield Plate & Fine Porcelains

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA
Fine Wedding Presents a Specialty

Telephone Magnolia 408
Christmas Gifts held for December Delivery

BRIER NECK—GOOD HARBOR BEACH

The Good Harbor Beach Inn opened its twentieth season on Saturday, June 27th, under the management of owner Edwin C. McIntire.

The first concert and ball was held July 4. It was a grand success and was enjoyed by the guests and cottage people. McErne's orchestra furnished music.

The regular dinner concert and ball started on Saturday, July 11. Aside from the many old guests the Inn has several new families who are spending their first vacation in Gloucester.

Arrivals to date: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Begg, Ruth and Bruce Begg, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dorr, Marelyn, Charles P. and Julian A. Dorr, A. Ramsay Gifford, Wm. F. Conant, Jr., Arthur S. Pease, Charles N. Martel, Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Mallon, Cincinnati; Mrs. L. S. Palmer, May L. Palmer, Cordelia Hodgdon, Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Walton, Waltham; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Cline, Catherine Anna Cline, Marie Howard, Springfield; Mrs. Wm. J. Walther, Esther Walther, Newton Highlands; Mrs. George F. Partridge, Miss Martha and John Partridge, Helen R. Shields, Mary E. Shields, Cambridge; Anna Dunbar, Canton; Mrs. Douglass T. Sands, Douglass M. Sands, Mrs. Alice G. Darling, Miss Mary Darling, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. Allen A. Lowe, Barbara Lowe, Glens Falls, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Coughlan, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Collins, Boston; Miss Lovis Pope, N. Y. City; Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Haight, Nancy Jane Haight, Millbrook, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Mallon Waterman, Neil John Waterman, Barbara Waterman, Anne Waterman, North Haven, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wiggs, Miss Marjorie Wiggs and maid, Montreal; Ethel C. Conner, Woburn; Mr. and Mrs. George F. Dunn, George F. Dunn, Jr., Miss Agnes and Alice Woods, Fitchburg; Miss Irene Dee, Winchendon; Miss Julia Guay, Laconia, N. H.; Mary E. Gully, John R. Watson, Leominster; Lawrence Bridgman, Albert Dormon, Jr., Chicopee.

EAST GLOUCESTER

(Continued from page 7)

Haverford; Alfred E. Smith, Concord; Mrs. Addie A. White, Mrs. H. T. Mann, Mrs. H. Erwin Trowly, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mason, Mrs. C. E. Hallscour, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. William J. MacKown, Mrs. B. Bromle, Marie Z. Canale, Brooklyn; C. L. Devon, Ruth K. Hune, Edward Devon, 3rd, Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Allen, Orange; Mrs. George Richards, Mrs. H. E. Hooss, John Mays, Georgianna H. Lenthstrom, Chicago; Miss Clara L. C. Duffield, John Bissell, Philadelphia; Mrs. A. M. DesErens and daughter, Alma, F. E. Leibing, Carolyn Ortman, Cincinnati.

The regular Tuesday night bridges have begun in earnest and on Tuesday evening the tables of contract and auction were busily in play at the Rockaway. Prizes were awarded as follows: Contract, first prize, Mrs. Katherine Jones, Philadelphia; second, Kate Sweetster, New York City; consolation, Mrs. William Wood, Philadelphia. Auction, first prize, Mrs. George Dickerson, Kansas City; consolation, Miss Caroline Peck.

On Friday night, July 17, the guests at the Rockaway enjoyed another beautiful concert given by Solomon Sandler, violinist, and Dorothy Lemos, pianist.

TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE PRACTICAL
RIGHT VALUES AND COMPLETE VARIETY ARE TO BE FOUND IN THE SHOPS OF
GLOUCESTER
ENJOY THE PASSING HOUR AND
THE CAPE ANN BREEZE

EASTERN POINT

A stiff southerly wind inclined to be puffy, kicking up a white capped sea gave the Eastern Point heavy weather boats their chance Saturday afternoon. The contest in the R class was a duel between the Taja and Bonnie Prince, with the Taja always plowing out the leading and winning by two minutes.

The Magnolia boat Tern, sailed by J. D. Cox, Jr., of Cleveland, had her innings in the Sonder class, winning by 50 seconds.

The Triangles had toe to toe work and in fighting to the very end. Injun, Kitmer and Quail finished in one second intervals, Cursor got the start but was soon pulled back by the first mentioned trinity. Prettier racing may not be seen this season. In the Cape Cod Knockabouts the Cunningham brothers, like the others, practically sewed up the contest from the first. The summary:

R CLASS

Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 38 05
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	1 40 15

SONDER CLASS

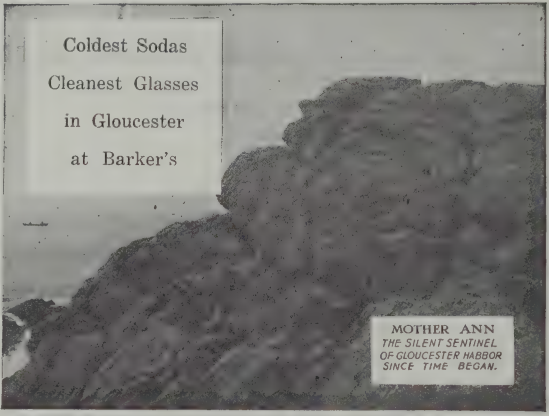
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 38 20
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 39 10
Lady II, William C. MacDonald	1 40 55
Tid III, Mrs. Carlton Swift	1 44 23
Bandit, Charles Meade	1 45 20
Shamrock, Isaac Patch, Jr.	1 45 23
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 45 30
Skeezix, Mrs. Frances Carter	1 45 43
Hevella, Jonathan S. Raymond	1 46 19
Vim, Pendleton Lewis	1 49 52

TRIANGLE CLASS

Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 51 23
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot	1 51 24
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 51 25
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 52 10
Cursor, Bobby Brown	1 53 51
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	1 53 55
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	1 54 35
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	1 54 41
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	1 55 06
Flirt, W. D. Elwell	1 56 46
Dart, Paul Comins	2 00 00

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS

Sylph, Cunningham Brothers	1 03 23
Touareg, Lawrence Brown	1 05 06
Maryland, Meredith Boyce	1 06 09
Swan, Torrence Baker	1 06 30
Bemo, Charles Bratenahl	1 07 40
Fontana, Emma Raymond	1 08 47
Arethusa, Gordon Ellis	1 23 34
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	1 13 14



Coldest Sodas
Cleanest Glasses
in Gloucester
at Barker's

MOTHER ANN
THE SILENT SENTINEL
OF GLOUCESTER HARBOR
SINCE TIME BEGAN.

Barker's Soda Fountain has such a wide reputation for the richness and quality of its Ice-Cream Sodas, Frozen Whipped Cream, College Ices and Specialities, that people come for miles around to get sodas at this fountain.

BARKER'S DRUG STORE, 134 Main Street

Summer Residents of Cape Ann

We Carry the Finest and Best Selected of Summer Footwear in This Locality

SPORT, GOLF, TENNIS and BEACH SHOES

Exclusive Agent for Arch Preserver—Queen Quality Shoes—Imported Deauville Sandals for women and children—Florsheim Shoes for Men—Buster Brown Shoes for boys and girls (Prices reasonable and to your liking). Warner's "Society Maid" Silk Hose 99c to $1.69.

DR. SHOLL FOOT APPLIANCES

Armstrong's Busy Corner

106 Main, Corner Center Street

ESTABLISHED 33 YEARS. TEL. CONN.

CHECKING ACCOUNTS
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS

We Act as Trustee, Executor or Administrator.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

Cape Ann National Bank

"THE SERVICE BANK"

154 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER, MASS.

TAJA AND TERN AMONG EASTERN POINT VICTORS

Blue skies and fleecy clouds, accompanied by a moderate northwest breeze, looked good to yachtsmen and everybody else Sunday, having been denied such scenery for quite a spell.

A doubleheader was sailed at Eastern Point in the morning and afternoon. The morning's tourney was a result of the July 4 number for the Triangle class, in which the Squam flotilla in that contingent participated and incidentally grabbed off first, third and fourth positions.

Flukes and flaws characterized the northwest breeze at Eastern Point in the afternoon, three classes getting away. In the R's it was again a sail all the way for Taja, the course being to windward and return. The Sonders were sent over the regular triangle and J. D. Cox, Jr., won an uphill fight in the Tern.

Epes Merchant in the Quail won his first race in the Triangle class. The summary:

R CLASS

Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 59 50
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	2 06 07

SONDER CLASS

Fern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 58 44
Skeezix, Harry Wheeler	1 59 37
Hevella, Jonathan C. Raymond	2 03 09
Lady II, William V. MacDonald	2 03 41
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	2 04 05
Vim, Pendleton Lewis	2 07 00
Shamrock, Isaac Patch, Jr.	2 08 10
Tid III, Mrs. Carlton Swift	2 10 27
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	2 14 13
Bandit, Charles Mead	2 23 19

TRIANGLE CLASS

Quail, Epes W. Merchant	2 14 53
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	2 18 02
Injun, Hastings Gamage	2 20 20
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	2 20 31
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot	2 21 55
Dart, Paul Comins	2 22 12
Cursor, Robert Brown	2 22 46
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	2 23 37
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	2 23 44
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	2 27 18
Charles Tolman	2 34 00

TRIANGLE CLASS
Resail of July 4

Scalene, Henry E. Worcester, Jr.	1 10 48
Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 11 10
Blue Bill, Horace Bent	1 11 28
Idol, Frances Gleason	1 11 44
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 12 36
Dart, Paul Comins	1 12 59
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 13 00
Flirt, William D. Elwell	1 13 03
Cursor, Robert Brown	1 13 26
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	1 13 30
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	1 18 48
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	1 14 27
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	1 15 26

AT ANNISQUAM

A fine southwest 15-knot breeze steady and true and favoring no especial contestant prevailed during the races off Cape Ann Saturday afternoon. Five classes started at Annisquam.

In the Triangles, John Gleason in the Idol was first at the start, but Blue Bill just edged out for honors on the beam reach to Essex.

On the reach to the outer mark, Scalene went into first place, but miscuing on the position of the mark lost a four boat length lead which cost her the race.

On the beat home Blue Bill and Idol came about in shore to port under the beach while the others stood to the eastward.

At the black buoy, Blue Bill was to weather of Idol but Skipper Gleason wriggled out by sailing through Blue Bill's lee and came down the home stretch a winner.

Conditions such as prevailed Sunday were made to order for Nisan in the 15-footers. Barring breakdowns, she was a winner from ten minutes after the start. In the smaller classes with inshore courses, Oloof in the Birds, Caterpillar in the Cats and Perch in the Fish class were leaders all the way. The summary:

TRIANGLE CLASS

Idol, John Gleason	1 32 46
Blue Bill, Horace Bent	1 33 15
Scalene, H. E. Worcester	1 35 36
Sayhia, Brooks Stevens	1 36 42

FIFTEEN FOOTERS

Nisan, D. H. Woodbury	1 33 56
Hoorah, H. J. Wiggin	1 37 45
Tobasco, Jr., H. H. Wiggin	1 37 46
Yosan, Paul Woodbury	1 41 22

BIRD BOATS

Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	1 43 27
Avis, Norman Olson	1 46 29

CAT BOATS

Caterpillar, Ben Smith	1 10 29
Kittiwake, J. W. White	1 12 55
Catling, Andrew Marshall	1 13 46
Scat, Frances Jeffrey	1 16 48
Katchup, N. Friedman	1 20 46

FISH BOATS

Perch, Harry Griffin	1 17 47
Bab, David Dennison	1 18 43
Malolo, Mary Bradley	1 18 52
Flying Fish, A. Hale	1 19 12
Pollywog, J. S. Meecham	1 19 32
Goldfish, Horace Bloombergh	1 59 33
Sailfish, C. Hill	2 02 03
Sea Horse, B. Meecham	2 03 58
Quinnat, S. Rushmore	2 06 03

SCALENE LEADS RIVALS IN ANNISQUAM

When the first two classes got away at Annisquam Sunday afternoon the wind which was from the northwest was fairly strong but spotty, coming in veins.

When the boats got out of the river into Ipswich Bay it became steadier, but not so strong. So all the classes, once out in the open, went wind hunting.

Harry Worcester in the Scalene in the Triangles having hung up a win in the class at Eastern Point in the morning, repeated the trick at home in the afternoon.

In the Cat class the contest was practically a duel between Ben Smith in the Caterpillar and John White in Kittiwake, the former winning. The summary:

TRIANGLE CLASS

Scalene, H. E. Worcester	2 06 51
Sayhia, Brooks Stevens	2 07 45
Blue Bill, Horace Bent	2 15 12
Idol, John Gleason	2 18 18

BIRD CLASS

Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	1 44 57
Avis, Norman Olson	1 49 40

CAT CLASS

Caterpillar, Ben Smith	1 58 21
Kittiwake, J. W. White	1 58 35
Scat, Francis Jeffrey	2 07 31
Catling, Andrew Marshall	2 11 23

FISH CLASS

Goldfish, J. A. Bloomberg	1 50 24
Flying Fish, Albert Hale	1 53 42
Perch, Harry Griffin	1 59 51
Pollywog, John Meecham	2 00 14
Malolo, Mary Bradley	2 03 39
Dab, Davis Dennison	2 04 19
Havarra, L. Crawford	2 14 19
No Name, R. Philbrook	2 20 02

The sail off for the unfinished race in the Triangle class July 4 will be next Sunday.

AT ROCKPORT

A brisk southwester kicking up a short choppy sea gave the heavy weather craft their chance at Sandy Bay Saturday afternoon. While the stiff and steady boats took it on the chin and plunged along for more, the more tender crafts were perforce eased along. The result was the stiffer division had things all their own way, Bobbino in the Sandy Bay class and Eclipse in the Stellar division being winners. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Bobbino, Benton C. Story	1 35 32
Maidee, Gifford Beal	1 37 13
Mamie, John Cianciola	1 38 10
Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	1 38 26

INTERNATIONAL STAR CLASS

Eclipse, Guy Hale	1 47 35
Ibex, Max Kuehne	1 51 32
San Souci, Homer Clark	1 53 32
Vega, Herbert Evans	1 53 50

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	1 17 01
Shirlidee, Shirley Dean	1 17 12

BIRD CLASS

Ibis, R. Russell Smith	1 08 42
Pee Wee, Charles Pierce	1 29 38

FISH CLASS

Skipjack, C. H. Davis	0 45 42
Minnow, Herbert Gott	0 46 10
Shiner, G. S. Grace	0 46 15
Judy, Roy H. Lane	0 46 32
Fairybelle, Dona D. Phillips	0 47 16
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	0 47 50

MAIDEE'S VICTORY AT ROCKPORT PROTESTED

In a moderate northwest breeze Sunday afternoon, Maidee won from Bobbino in the Sandy Bay class. Bobbino led up to the last leg of the second round, when Maidee went to the front. Bobbino's skipper ran up his protest flag, claiming that Maidee failed to give way as rules require. Guy Hale in the Eclipse was never hurried with San Souci and Ibex following up. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Maidee, Gifford Beal	2 08 05
Bobbino, Benton C. Story	2 11 17
Myrtice A, Lindley E. Dean	2 12 38
Mamie, John Cianciola	2 20 06

INTERNATIONAL STAR CLASS

Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 04 20
Sans Souci, Homer Clark	2 04 38
Ibex, Max Kuehne	2 05 34
Altair, Pierce Grover	2 07 05
Vega, Herbert Evans	2 07 07
Comet, Frank Pierce	2 09 05

BIRD CLASS

Ibis, R. Russell Smith	2 16 37

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	1 49 45
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 58 40
Shirlidee, Shirley Dean	1 54 42

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 59 20
Judy, Roy H. Lane	2 01 48
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	2 04 17
Shiner, G. S. Grace	2 05 52
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	2 09 48
Fairy Belle, Donald Phillips	2 10 59

MIXED CLASS

Saratog, Ben Knudsen	1 42 33
Celeritas II, John Cooney	1 43 26

SERVE THE BEST
at no additional cost

YOU cannot afford to compromise with the quality of the food you serve in your summer menus. Near your home you will find a First National Store, specializing in quality foods. Come in and give us the opportunity of assisting you in the selection of the best for your table.

COMBINATION MARKETS AT
147 Main St., Gloucester
37 Main St., Rockport

First National Stores, Inc.
Where New England Buys Its Food.

INSURANCE
ALL KINDS
STRONGEST COMPANIES
JOHN A. JOHNSON
Gloucester National Bank Bldg.
Telephones 16 and 17
Just off Custom House Square

A. P. STODDART & CO.
Established 1876
ENGINEERS AND MACHINISTS
Engine Repairing and Installing
FULLY EQUIPPED MACHINE SHOP
236 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER, MASS.

Pringle's History of Gloucester, 1892
The Gloucester Tercentenary Book
ALSO FOUR LOG BOOKS OF DEEP SEA VOYAGES
FOR SALE AT
BLANCHARD'S
125 MAIN STREET -:- GLOUCESTER

LONG BEACH

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ackers and their children, Madeleine and John, from Cambridge, are at the "Sea Breeze" for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Monahan from Lynn, and son Paul, who has been attending the Tower School in Salem, are spending the season at the Beach.

At the "Laughing Water" are Mrs. William P. Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon and daughter Shirley, of Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Smith with their daughter, Elinor, and son, Roland, are back at "The Moorings" for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lincoln, Mrs. Day, and her daughter, Cora, from Waltham are spending the summer at the Beach. Miss Althea Ryan is their guest.

Mrs. C. W. Hazleton and their daughter, Mary Margaret, from Turner's Falls, and Mrs. Karl Koch and children, Joan and Karl, from Montague City, are occupying a cottage at the Beach for the season.

Mrs. George Steele and her sons, George, Quentin and Carrol, from Gloucester are back at their cottage, "The Ripple," for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. William Darcy and their daughter Jacqueline, of Gloucester, are spending the summer at the Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tracy and their daughter, Marie, with her two sons, John and David, are at the Beach for another season.

Mrs. Aaron Perkins and her mother, Mrs. Alden Baily, from Gloucester are at the Beach again this season.

Mrs. Ida Simpson from Boston and her brother, G. A. Zbrosky, with his wife and daughter, Marion, from Newton, are at the "Villa Marie" for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boles of Gloucester are at their cottage, "112 Limit."

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Johnson and children from Leominster are at the "Eveready" for the summer.

At the "Silver Spray," John Rhodes, Joseph Hurly, Frank Levy, Charles Hennly, Harold Burke, Paul Connolly, Michael Donald and Charles Cunningham from Waltham are enjoying a short vacation.

Mrs. Cogan has returned to her cottage, "By-the-Sea," for a few weeks, where she recently entertained her daughter, Mrs. Flood and children. Mrs. Cogan has as guests at present, her daughters, Josephine and Mrs. O'Keefe and family. Later in the month the cottage will be occupied by Mrs. Thomas and family from Watertown.

Mrs. John Tully and family are at the Beach this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dow from Melrose are at the "Yumatella" for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Merrill and family from Belmont are spending the season at the "Bayside" cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Butman from Waltham, and sons Douglas and Paul are spending another season at the Beach. Paul Butman is visiting friends in Canada at present and will return shortly to complete his vacation with his family at the Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Huckins and sons, Joseph and Robert, are again at the Beach for another season. Joseph Huckins graduated in June from Dartmouth, where Robert has one more year.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Stone and daughter, Barbara, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Kneeland from West Newton are spending the summer at the Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sproul and family from Boston are at the Beach this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Worthington, and their son Norman from Wakefield are at "CampBell" for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Adams from Roslindale and their daughter, Shirley Rose, are at the Beach again this summer and are entertaining Mrs. Nelson from Medford. Jack Adams, well known for his musical ability, is playing this summer at Whalen Park, and frequently spends Sundays at the Beach with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hochberger with their son Fred and daughter Betta, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jacobs, Myer Jacobs, and Miss M. M. Frazier, from Brookline are spending the season at the Jacobs cottage.

Mrs. R. G. Mathews from New Jersey with her mother, Mrs. Kincade, and children, Cuyler and Dickie, is spending the season at the Beach. R. G. Mathews is expected in a few weeks for the remainder of the season.

Mrs. George W. Johnson with her sons, George Jr., and Hillard, and daughter, Clarissa, from Newton are at the Beach this season.

Mrs. Clara Chant with her daughter, Mrs. Blue, and son Robert, are spending the summer at the Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Bunker and two children from Malden are at the Beach this season.

At "Peggy's Rest" are Mr. and Mrs. Ginsburg and family and Mr. and Mrs. H. Gordon and their daughter, Charlotte, from Somerville.

Mrs. M. R. Colby from Middleboro is at the Beach this summer with a guest, Mrs. Harriet Sylvester.

THE ZONING ORDINANCES!!

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Gloucester have been printed in their entirety and are now ready for distribution at the office of the City Clerk, Allen F. Grant, City Hall. Copies will be mailed on application.

In a general way, all the summer resort areas have been made residential sections only. Six types of districts have been designated, namely: 1, single residence districts; 2, general residence districts; 3, apartment house districts; 4, business districts; 5, light industrial districts; 6, heavy industrial districts.

The ordinances specify in detail the requirements, restrictions, area, regulations, yards and courts, nonconforming uses, district boundaries, accessory uses, automobile services, methods of procedure to obtain building permits, changes, variations, appeals, etc. They are of especial interest to summer resident realty owners.

ALLEN F. GRANT, City Clerk.

Gloucester, July 1, 1931.

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

(Continued from page 9)

Proctor, Miss Hunt, Miss Chesebro, Miss L. J. Eldridge, Pleasantville; Miss M. S. Reynolds, Poughkeepsie; Mrs. H. Hoyt, New Canaan; Mrs. Walter L. Scott, E. Orange; Miss G. Black, E. Orange; Miss Isabel Wright, Chicago; A. H. Chandler, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Graham, Dr. Ada Ford, Mansfield; Miss Rubenia Dubach, Boulder.

At Turk's Head Inn, recent arrivals include: Georgia Clark, A. T. MacCoy, William H. Shea and family, Mrs. John Duff, May Juliet Duff, the Misses O'Meara, Mrs. H. S. Pattern, Celia P. Pond, Laura C. Childs, Virginia C. Goldstein, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. William T. Mann, Mrs. Thomas Babson, Elinor Babson, Florence Collins, W. W. Higgins, Rosamond Higgins, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Cooper, Winthrop; Mrs. John Robinson, Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wheatland, Topsfield; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harding, Framingham; Cynthia Nichols, Andover; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Whittey, Wellesley; Mrs. Charles Stewart, Mrs. Cleveland Scott, Mrs. Herbert Clark, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Adams, Springfield; M. E. Ford, Pittsfield; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Williams, Rochester; Mrs. Nancy H. Dow, Miss C. O'Connor, Faith Potter, Herbert Farrar, Gordon Wextcoff, Miss Bertha Newman, New York City; Mrs. Charles M. Lines, Mrs. John Hinchliffe, Miss Kathleen Willard, Cleveland Heights; Miss Nancy Potts, Jimmy Wilde, Toronto.

Mortons'

BOOKS, STATIONERY, OFFICE SUPPLIES, GREETING CARDS, GIFTS
and
LENDING LIBRARY

6 PLEASANT ST.,

GLOUCESTER, MASS.

Recent arrivals include Miss Emily Hammond Smith, Boston; Joseph Kelly, Mansfield, O.; Mr. and Mrs. George MacLaughlin, Old Lynn; Mr. and Mrs. Elden, Williamsville.

At the Rockmere Manor: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. F. Gray, Boston; Miss Edith Orn, Miss E. P. Craig, Cambridge; Dr. Anna E. Skinner, Watertown; Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Karnhen, Medford; George E. Davis, Brookline; Miss Dorothea Gierasch, Edward Gierasch, Concord, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. William A. Taylor, Miss H. E. Dana, Miss M. M. Smith, Mrs. C. F. Reid, Miss M. G. Reid, Flushing; Henry S. Colton, Passaic; Mrs. H. P. B. Snell, Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard, Frederick McCracken, Clearwater, Florida; James Gray Doty, Evanston; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bell, Magog, Quebec.

At the Manning House, members of the Rockport Woman's Club were recently entertained at a bridge and whist party given for the benefit of the Scholarship Loan Fund for girls. Bridge prizes were awarded as follows: First, Mrs. James Hodgins; second, Mrs. Charles Johnson; third, Mrs. Miller; consolation, Miss Smith. The whist prizes were won by Mrs. Charles Tresnon, first; Mrs. Helen Parsons, second; Miss Thurnbull, third; Miss Marion Norwood, consolation. Sixteen tables were in play, and a thoroughly delightful afternoon was the price paid for a decided increase in the Fund.

Recent arrivals at the Manning House include: G. R. Eaton, Miss Elizabeth Duffie, North Andover; Miss Sue Fuller, Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Holmes, Haddon Heights; Miss Louise E. Andrews, Miss Patricia Hammersley, St. Louis; Miss Frances Armstrong, Long Beach; Miss Aiki Takaka and Miss Iri Yiama, Tokio, Japan.

At Straitsmouth Inn: Mrs. E. H. White, Mrs. M. W. Burlen, Miss Cora E. Bigelow, Miss Julia S. Carpenter, Miss Alice M. McIntire, Boston; Mrs. F. Frederick Warren, John L. Warren, Mrs. Leighton Calkins, Miss Dorothy L. Calkins, Cambridge; Mrs. Kathleen MeDermott, Watertown; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Platts, Miss M. Gertrude Faerbanks, Medford; Miss Mildred Stone, Winchester; Mrs. M. S. Rossier, Brookline; Mrs. C. Q. Little, Arlington; Mrs. Edward H. Roscoe, West Roxbury; Miss Beulah T. FitzHugh, Salem; Miss Marion Sawyer, Manchester, N. H.; Mrs. Egerton Brown, Miss J. B. Coulter, Miss Jeanette E. Brown, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. H. Thacher, Princeton; Mr. and

(Next to Main Street Waiting Room)

Service With a Smile

"The Tea-room with an atmosphere"

Tempting Salads, Sandwiches and Luncheon Specials

AT OUR FOUNTAIN

REFRESHING DRINKS AND ICES

Home-made Candies and Fresh Salted Nut Meats prepared on the premises every day

Ice-Cream Packed with DRY ICE will keep four to five hours without ice or salt.

A Delightful Place to Eat.

RANSELLEAR TOWLE
118 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER

WE OFFER SPECIAL LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING SERVICE FOR SUMMER VISITORS

Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co.

PHONE 524 NOW

Offices and Plants:
8 PARKER ST., - GLOUCESTER

L. E. ANDREWS & CO.

Plumbing and Heating

Kitchen Furnishings, Garden Tools, Prepared Paints, Hardware of all descriptions. Vessel work, Yachting Hardware, Garden Hose, etc.

'Phones 645 and 646

121 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER
(Opposite Waiting Station)

Silent Automatic Oil Furnaces.

EARL O. PHILLIPS

Smart Shop for Men

Smart Clothes for Summer Comfort

A. G. SPALDING BROS.'
BATHING SUITS
GOLF BALLS
TENNIS HOSE

HICKOK BELTS
DELPERK PAJAMAS
SUMMER NECKWEAR

ARROW SHIRTS

SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES

ROBER REIS
UNDERWEAR
BATHING SUITS
SWEATERS
GOLF HOSE

EARL O. PHILLIPS, Inc. Smart Shop for Men

PERSONAL SERVICE

131 Main Street, Cor. Hancock, Gloucester, Opposite Barker's Drug Store

For Sixty Years

THIS PHARMACY has been dispensing Reliable

Drugs and Medicines

to the people of Cape Ann. Have you ever given us an opportunity to prove to you our capabilities along the lines of EFFICIENCY and REAL SERVICE? We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage this present season.

The Wetherell Pharmacy
P. O. SQUARE

8909
Cigarette Case
$3.75

Memories of Gloucester

TRUE SOUVENIRS of the sea—Bill Folds, Cigarette Cases, and all manner of articles fashioned of tough

TANNED CODFISH SKINS

Unlike any other Souvenir, they serve as a constant reminder of this famous fishing town.

$1.00 to $10.00

W. E. BLANCHARD,
Jeweler
125 Main Street, Gloucester, Mass.

Mrs. David M. R. Culbreth, Baltimore; A. W. Garrick, Miss I. M. Garrick, Mrs. B. Allen, Adam Smith, Toronto.

At the Granite Shore, recent arrivals include Joseph Healy, Boston, and Miss Polly Sullivan, New York City.

Prof. and Mrs. Robert E. Rogers of M. I. T. have returned to their Rockport summer home for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wentworth of Lexington have come to Greystones, their Marmion Way summer home.

Mrs. Harry J. West of Auburndale has arrived at Breezy Gables for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tate Smith of Gloucester are sojourning at their cottage in Bearskin Neck.

Miss Anne G. Towle of Manchester has opened Boulder bungalow in Marmion Way for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Tarr of Gloucester are at High Rock cottage, Marmion Way.

Mrs. Frances A. Pierce of Boston has come for the summer to "Felsenheim," her Marmion Way summer house.

Gen. and Mrs. William A. Pew of Salem are again established at Fore Top, their Land's End summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Pevear of Cambridge are in occupancy of their summer cottage on Pebble Bluff, Sandaba Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Powers of Boston have taken the Gage cottage, Land's End, for another season.

Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Thacher of Brookline, who have made their summer home at Billingsgate, Land's End, have arrived for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Pepper of Auburndale are again passing the summer in the Pepper cottage.

At the Granite Shore recent arrivals include: E. H. Gilman, H. E. Riss, E. A. Gilman, Boston; M. H. Pentland, Worcester; Dorothy L. Stevens, Andover; Margaret Wall, Ida C. Storm, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bloomfield, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. A. Lindquist, Stanford; Viggo Erickson, Jaffrey; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Yates, Philadelphia.

At the Rockmere recent arrivals include: Evelyn Barrows and sister, Nellie L. Dagemann, Alice C. Gleason, Mary M. Gleason, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. F. Gray, M. C. Cann, Watertown; John W. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gray, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Karnheim, A. M. Winchell, Medford; Grace P. Sweetser, Mrs. Annie B. Jones, Cambridge; Harriet L. Robbins, Somerville; J. A. Speirs, Quincy; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Coleman, Dorothea E. Coleman, Dorchester; Miss Ellis, Cora F. Murdaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hewitt, Newton; Agnes C. Hayes, Monica Brit, Thelma A. Doell, Rochester; Marcella McKenna, Waltham; Mrs. Helen Proctor, Scarsdale; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Merrill Orne, New York City; Mary Deldon Stewart, Sarah Maclay, Anne Eaton and sister, Philadelphia.

Commander A. G. Kirk, U. S. N. Schenck, 159, Commander Merrill of the U. S. N. Williamson, Commander Cready of the U. S. N. Leary, and Lieutenant McCracken of the U. S. N. Leary were entertained at dinner at the Edward recently.

Recent arrivals at Turk's Head Inn include: J. A. Campbell, Frances E. Shea, Thomas B. Shea, Mrs. W. F. Shea, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart C. Rand, Belmont; Mrs. Elmer Lane, Cambridge; Gwendoline M. Mills, Brookline; Wilbert A. Slack, Francis Wright, T. B. Churchill, Mrs. L. B. Churchill, Mrs. L. Quincy Brown, Mrs. William H. Taylor, Miss G. Arnold, Mr. Graydon, Mrs. Jane J. Ahearn, Mrs. James J. Bergin, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Turner, Bertha Newman, New York City; Anne Maine, Irene G. Maine, Brooklyn; Mrs. C. W. Weims, Greenwich; Margaret and Jane Churchill, Englewood; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Addie, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. T. B. Churchill, Rumson; Janet B. Laing, Rosemont; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Gassnia, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. George A. Reichenberg, Woonsocket; Miss Winifred Rand, Detroit; Mrs. Belle Beirce Stair, Cleveland.

Recent arrivals at Straitsmouth Inn include H. L. Winsor, Louise R. Alger, L. M. Goodrich, Mrs. W. J. Webber, Boston; Margaret H. Jones, Dorothy B. Jones, Brookline; Ruth E. Wheeler, Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Vinal, Winchester; Mrs. L. M. Brown, Worcester; H. G. Graves, Weston; Ruth C. Roberts, Reading; Amy R. Merriam, Hart-

East Gloucester Miniature Golf Course

116 EAST MAIN STREET
18 of the Largest Fairways in New England
NEWEST, MOST UP-TO-DATE
-:- OPENS -:-
Daily at 9 A.M. Sunday at 1 P.M.
FRANK POWLER, Inc.

THE L. E. SMITH COMPANY
Sole Cape Ann Agents for the
Frigidaire, Modern Sanitary Iceless Refrigerator

SILENT FLOW OIL BURNER FOR RANGES
Maytag Washing Machine
Chambers Fireless Gas Range
Plumbing, Heating, Hardware, Lawn Mowers, Garden Hose, Kitchen Furnishings, Etc.
221-223 Main St., 169 E. Main St.
GLOUCESTER

ford; Kenneth Robbie and family, Plainville; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Robertson, Greenwich; Anne Riggs, H. C. Davies, Mrs. M. P. Cainston, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Darling, Jeanette E. Broon, New York City; Alice L. Tracy, New Rochelle; Natalie Harris, Mrs. Edith G. Harris, Daytona Beach; K. B. Carpenter, Philadelphia; Mrs. William Bradford, Delaware; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Small, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kessinger, Rome; Mrs. Francis O. Wilson, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Snyder, Louisville.

BASS ROCKS

(Continued from page 8)

Philadelphia are at their residence at High Popples for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Sargent of Haverford, Penn., are again occupying "Wyncote," their seaside home.

Harold C. Strong and family of Croton-on-Hudson have come for another season to "Stronghold" in Way road.

Major and Mrs. Charles H. Wilson of New York have returned to their summer home in Way road. They occupy the Warner cottage, so-called, which they purchased four years ago.

Mrs. Arthur H. Rowbotham of Brookline, who had the Morey cottage last year, has taken the Dr. Conant cottage in Beach road for the season.

Mrs. John Gray has come for the season to Greyledge, her summer home.

Bass Rockites returning for a summer's stay are the Frank Montagues, who have passed the winter at Miami.

Mrs. Louis Pierce of New York has taken lease of the James S. Gilbert home.

John K. Heyl of Cincinnati, who occupied the Whiteside cottage last year, has this season transferred to the Tufts cottage, Hillside road, of which he has taken a five years' lease.

The McClelland Barclay cottage at Bass Rocks is being occupied this season by Mrs. D. B. Cleveland and daughter of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pierce and family of Waban have taken the Seth Mendell cottage at Bass Rocks.

Among the colony at Bass Rocks welcomed for another season were Mr. and Mrs. George F. Fuller of Worcester, who have opened their eligibly located summer home, "Krossanes" (Thorwald's name for Gloucester) in Bass Rocks Road. They are entertaining Miss Grace Barber and Miss Sarah Southwick of Worcester. Mr. Fuller, one of the enthusiastic yachtsmen of this section, who has been one of the quarterdeck men on every international fishing schooner race that has occurred, has gotten his launch "Sea Dog" in commission and is busy superintending the finishing touches on his new speed boat being built at Wheeler's.

Recent arrivals at the Thorwald include: A. M. Brewster, Miss Husted, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Hamilton, H. A. Hamilton, Elizabeth H. Hamilton, George T. Mayo, New York; G. E. Southerland, Anna V. Southerland, Brooklyn; Elizabeth Gaddis, New Jersey; R. H. Clark and family, Washington; Mrs. Harry G. Michener, Pennsylvania; A. H. Thompson and daughter, Quebec; Maxwell Gardner, Montreal; Mr. Lyman and daughter, Mrs. Roberts, Montreal.

Recent arrivals at the Moorland include: Mrs. W. J. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Murphy, Virginia Murphy, Brighton; Mrs. J. F. Bidwell, Mrs. J. A. Kenney, Springfield; Mrs. L. R. Tuttle, Leroy Tuttle, Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Daniels, New York City; Mrs. A. D. Kaiser, Rochester; Mrs. Thomas Winston and daughter, Genevieve, Haverford; Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew Myers, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Coffin, Washington; Eliza Stewart, Isabel H. Neff, Mary S. Neff, Edith E. Neff, Fannie R. Stewart, Cincinnati; Mrs. John D. Underwood, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. William F. Donovan, Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. Georges Pelletier, Mr. and Mrs. Hurtubise and daughter, Montreal.

EASTERN POINT

(Continued from page 9)

Mrs. Edward M. Williams, the latter, her daughter, and her granddaughter, Molly Williams of Cleveland. Miss Molly is one of the "Point's" prominent yachtsmen, her craft being the Buccaneer.

"The Boulders" continues to be the summer home of Spencer Ervin and family of Bala, Penn.

Arthur Bradford Grover and family of New York are again in occupancy of their cottage "Beach End."

The John Clays, senior and junior, will not occupy their summer home on the tip of the Point this season. The Clays have been coming here continuously for about 30 years.

Mrs. Frances M. Carter of Winchester, one of the well known women yachtsmen of the locality, has arrived for the season at her Briar road summer house.

Very Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, dean of Washington Cathedral, and family have arrived at their summer home, built in the very early colonial type in the Brace's Cove district.

Mrs. James H. Knowles of Philadelphia has taken occupancy of her summer home fronting the beach and will remain into September.

Bishop Philip Rhinelander of Pennsylvania, and family have come to their Eastern Point summer home "Dogbar" for the season.

Harry H. Walker and family of Boston have returned to "El Nido" cottage for another season.

Coburn Smith and family of Boston are occupying their cottage at Blueberry Ledge.

John J. Pew with Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Parmenter have come to their summer home "Pennrhyn" for the season. nue for the summer.

The Robert C. Brookings of Washington are among the arrivals at their cottage in St. Louis avenue, purchased from W. J. Little two years ago.

C. F. R. Ogilby and family of Chevy Chase, Md., are passing another season at their cottage in the Blueberry Ledge district.

Miss Edith Notman of Park avenue, New York, has opened "Three Waters," her picturesque stone cottage in the

(Continued on page 22)

HAGSTROM CO., Inc.
GENERAL CONTRACTORS
Loam, Dressing, and other materials
for
Garden and Landscape Work
Gravel and Crushed Stone for
Driveway Surfacing
TEL. GLOUCESTER 617

BEAUTIFUL
COOLIE COATS
$2.95
AT THE BEACH PLUM
AND
BAYBERRY CANDLE PLACE
Dock Square, Rockport, Mass.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

(Continued from page 11)

Suddenly Bud turned and started back. As she turned, she was confident and unafraid, but there was a sickening pull at her legs downward and outward by the strong undertow, and she felt a curious tightening in her throat and heart as she saw that in spite of her strong, hard strokes, the shore seemed to be retreating.

They were all watching her. Marcia looked at Phil. "She's O. K." he said reassuringly. "It's an old trick," he repeated, but even as he spoke, there was a rush and a splash in the water beside him and a dark form went skimming by him in the direction of the now obviously weakening Bud. Immediately, Phil realized his mistake, and with Chubby and Jimmie made for the rocks, in the hope of helping the two swimmers to climb up.

It was a long, hard pull. Jack reached Bud in time and together they managed to make some headway toward the jagged ledge where the three men were waiting.

It was a white lipped, frightened party that made their way back to Peggy's. The two swimmers were badly cut from the rocks and fairly well exhausted, and Peggy, Marcia and Anne busied themselves in making them as comfortable as possible.

"Thank heaven for Gloucester Electric Companies and their heating pads," murmured Anne, as she adjusted one for the trembling Bud.

"Not to mention the Gloucester Gas Light Company and their Glenwood Ranges," added Peggy as she removed the tea kettle, boiling already, and prepared to bathe cuts and bruises.

"Oh, Peg, you'll ruin those new towels," said Bud weakly and remorsefully.

"New!" exclaimed Peggy. "Don't flatter me. The Cape Ann Laundry has laundered these towels for years, and will continue to do so. They'll look just as new after they're washed this time, too. You stop worrying and try to relax."

In spite of every one's attempted gayety, the Clan was fairly well shaken up. Every one avoided talking about the accident, but it filled the atmosphere. Finally Jimmie stood up. "I'll tell you what," he announced. "Bud and Jack feel O. K. now except for a badly shaken nervous system. I suggest that we all plan to do something to wake us all up and get this business out of our minds."

"My own smart Jimmie," said Gay. "It's a perfect idea. How about Del Monte's?"

"Oh," moaned Bud from the depths of her pillowed and blanketed chair, "Ah love Del Monte's so. Ah couldn' go to that gay place feelin' like this."

"O. K. Bud," announced Chubby. "You're boss of this party, where do you want to go?"

"Why don' you all go out an' play tennis on your courts, Chub? I'm all right here."

"We can't," retorted Peggy triumphantly, "because Swinson Brothers aren't coming until tomorrow to finish the work on them. After this week of rain, they are a wreck, and Chubby won't allow any one near them until Swinson has perfected them again. So you can't get rid of us, you see."

"Swinson Brothers?" asked Jimmie. "Didn't they do the work on your lawn, Phil?"

"Right," answered Marcia. "They did a wonderful piece of work, too."

"Well, let's go to the North Shore," suggested Peggy.

"We went Monday," said Gay, "and the show doesn't change until tomorrow. It's a marvelous show though, so let's go tomorrow night."

"I have it! The Oceanside Theatre!" exclaimed Chubby.

"Marcia and Bud and I went last night," said Phil. "They've a wonderful company. You mustn't miss any of the plays. But I doubt if you could get tickets anyhow now. The place was filled last night."

"How about the Little Theatre?" demanded Jimmie.

"Dear," said Gay, very slowly and gently, "the Little Theatre is open on Fridays and Saturdays. Today is Wednesday."

Jimmie laughed. "Well, I'm still suggesting," he maintained, "and this suggestion is my last. What about the

Quiouhamenec Farm
(Pronounced Ke-ham-e-nec)
SWINSON BROS.
LANDSCAPE GARDENERS
Road and Lawn Tennis Court Construction
Local Agents for Sheep Manure and Fertilizer
Blue Stone for Walks, Driveways and Lawn Tennis Purposes
Telephone 873 Estimates of Cost
EXPERT LAND DRAINING EXCAVATING, GRADING
114 Mt. Pleasant St. EAST GLOUCESTER

TASTE—
FLAVOR—
ENJOYMENT—
Served at our New Frigidaire Soda Fountain with Special Ice Cream and Cooling Drinks
Specials on Saturday and Sundays.
TROWBRIDGE, The Druggist
THE NEW DRUG STORE
159 MAIN STREET Tel. 3040 GLOUCESTER

PURE ICE
Frozen Naturally in the Purest Ponds in New England
Nothing to get out of order. The Perfect Refrigerant. To keep food juicy in a Refrigerator requires some moisture. No mechanical-chemical devices yet developed by man, regardless of how costly or intricate, equals ice as a safe, reliable, silent and economical cold maker.
CAPE POND ICE CO.
Telephone 180 GLOUCESTER

new miniature golf course at East Gloucester?"

Jack sat up. "Jim, you're a wonder. There's nothing I'd rather do."

Chubby looked at Bud. "O. K. with you, Bud?"

"Ah've nevah played, but Ah'd try it," she said.

Every one agreeing, they were soon off for the golf course.

"Oh," squealed Gay, "what a beautiful place. Look at all the little toy golfers and the bright umbrellas. Isn't it darling. I've never seen it before, you know," she confided to Anne.

"It's lovely all right," said Anne. "But wait until you've played on it once. The hazards are just perfect. Notice all the rock garden effects. Isn't it cute?"

The excitement of the game, the gayness of the course under the excellent lighting system, and the general happy atmosphere all combined to dispel the gloom of the early afternoon. The Clan was almost back to its normal happy self again as they started for home.

"Ah certainly love that game," said Bud to Gay, as they climbed into their cars.

"I should think you might," Gay grumbled. "You won. For the first offense you certainly made a success of it."

"Beginner's luck," retorted Bud, as she stepped into Chubby's car.

"You know, Chub," she said, as they were whirling homeward, "there are two promises you made me that you never kept."

"And they were—?" answered Chubby, looking straight ahead and finding himself peculiarly disturbed by Bud's ethereal nearness.

"A trip," said Bud, counting them off on her fingers, "a trip to Gorton Pew Fisheries, and a trip to the L. B. Nauss Lumber Yard."

"Next week, honest, Bud."

"Don't forget."

Chubby suddenly summoned a lot of courage. "Bud," he began, "Bud, did you know Jack before you came here?"

Bud was silent for a long minute. "Yeas, Ah knew him." She turned and looked at Chubby. "Why, Chubby?"

Chubby started to explain and then suddenly felt very clumsy and awkward and self-conscious and too fat, and hated to feel that way.

"It's none of my business," he said, and Bud laughed, and he wished he was home alone, and almost hated Bud.

The night was hot and still and muggy, and the Clan were sprawled comfortably in the rustic furniture from the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Co. in Anne's pretty garden.

"This is the most restful and fragrant place in the world," said Gay, stretching luxuriously. "Who is responsible for the arrangement and planting here, Anne?" she asked.

Hagstrom & Company took charge of everything," said Anne. "It was all done when I arrived this summer. Beautiful, isn't it?"

"Cha'min'," said Bud. "What a lovely world this is," and she shuddered, thinking of the afternoon.

"What time is it?" Jimmie wanted to know. "I left my watch at Blanchard's for repairs this morning. I think it's time we started home."

"Wake up, Jack, old boy," said Anne. "You have hardly spoken all evening."

Jack stood up. His face had a drawn, white look in the dim light.

"I'm quite tired," he said. "I think I'll be going," and he started toward

THE ROCKAWAY
AND COTTAGES
At ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
Right on the Water
Commanding a Superb View of the Ocean
Accommodates 400.
W. A. PUBLICOVER, Proprietor

Tel. 452 Established Here 1890
North Shore Dyeing and Cleansing Shop
Cleansing, Dyeing, Pressing and Repairing
Work called for and delivered
245 Main St. Gloucester, Mass.

Samuel Bloomfield
SUMMER REAL ESTATE
specializing in
BASS ROCKS REALTY
Office:
53 Bass Ave., E. Gloucester
Tel. 1886

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS
-:- EXHIBITIONS -:-
1st—July 4th to July 21st
2nd—July 25th to Aug. 18th
3rd—August 22nd to Sept. 14th
Gallery, Eastern Point Rd. E. Gloucester
Hours Weekdays 10-6; Sundays 2-6
Oscar Anderson, President Alida C. Anderson, Secretary
GALLERY PHONE 3842-W

JOHN J. MacDONALD
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
15 Washington St.,
Gloucester : : Mass.
Phone 473-W Res. 473-R

The Moorland
BASS ROCKS
EDWARD D. PARSONS, Prop.
Right on the Ocean
Accommodates 500

J. A. NUNES : Art Store
Artist Materials and Picture Framing
Oil Paintings and Frames Restored
Hand Carved Frames in Stock and Made to Order
Painting and Decorating
6 Center Street, Gloucester, Mass.
Tel. 298-R Branch at Rocky Neck

Cape Ann Old Book Shop
35 High Street,
ROCKPORT, -:- MASS.
Rare, Interesting and Out of Print Books, Including First Editions.
For the Collector and Reader.

GOOD HARBOR BEACH INN
Briar Neck, Gloucester, Mass.
Ocean View and within one hundred feet of one of the best Bathing Beaches on the New England Coast.
Edwin C. McIntire,
Managing Proprietor

The Tavern
Directly on water at end of State Highway, Gloucester
Lobster, Fish and Steak Dinners
W. H. SMITH, Prop.
Telephone 1715-W

FISHING TACKLE
Motor Boat Supplies, Life Preservers, Oars, Fire Extinguishers, Lights, Hooks, Lines, Rowlocks
LOTHROP'S PATENT FOG HORN
L. D. LOTHROP & SON
70 Duncan St., Gloucester

Everett A. Flye, Opt. D.
Registered Optometrist
Established 1902
156 Main Street, Gloucester

the gate. "You've all been awfully nice," he paused and looked back. "Thank you. Good night." And he was gone.

There was a little cry, and Bud had jumped up and was running down the walk after him.

C. ANNE SHORE.

MRS. MOODY AT MANCHESTER

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody will open her Eastern campaign in an invitation tournament at Manchester, Mass., July 20. On August 7 and 8, she will play in the Wightman Cup matches at Forest Hills and will finish up with the Nationals August 17-22. On her return here she may accept an invitation to tour Japan for three months, meeting various stars of the Orient. The invitation was extended several months ago.

EASTERN POINT

(Continued from page 19)

French chateau manner at the farther side of Nile's Beach.

Mrs. George E. Tener of Sewickley, Penn., and family are occupying their cottage in Eastern Point boulevard.

Mrs. W. A. Taft of Arlington and family have opened "Balmaha" for the summer.

Charles A. Mailman and family of Brookline have come to "Hacienda," their Eastern Point summer home, for a late stay.

Mrs. S. A. Raymond of the Ramparts is entertaining Mrs. E. J. Latimer of Cleveland, Mrs. David Barber of New York, and Miss Bertha Stockwell of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton H. Swift and Carlton H. Swift, Jr., and daughters, Josephine, Harriet and Lila of Chicago, will pass the season with Mr. Arthur G. Leonard at "Drumteac" at the tip end of the point.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Woodbury and daughter, Willa, spent the past winter sailing on the Isle de France in southern Europe making a principal stay at Palma, Island of Majorca, a Spanish possession, returning in early summer and opening their home in Eastern Point Road.

Mrs. Charles P. Miller and daughter, Mrs. Marcia Wonson of Bridgewater, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George W. Woodbury as are also their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Woodbury, and young son, David Elwell Woodbury of Brookline.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Vosburgh of Cambridge with their son, Peter, have taken one of the Delphine cottages, the "Studio on the Rocks," on Eastern Point Road. Peter Vosburgh is one of the all-American crew of the 48-footer "Skal" and sailed in the ocean race from Newport, July 4. The owner of the Skal is Capt. Richard Lawrence of old Gloucester ancestry of note, the Grovers, his mother, Clementine Lawrence, being a daughter of Capt. Charles E. Grover, who commanded a company from this city in the Civil War and was for a term postmaster here.

John Paulding Meade and family o Boston have taken the Gen. Reid hous at Eastern Point for the heated term

Col. Thorndike D. Howe and famil of Boston are again enjoying the season at the Atwood cottage, Ledge road

Mrs. Norman MacLeod of Boston i occupying a cottage in St. Louis ave

Frederick G. Hall of 260 Beaco street, Boston, is at "Stoneacre," fronting the harbor, at Eastern Point.

Mrs. W. A. Taft of Arlington and family have opened "Balmaha" .cottage for another season's stay.

Henry D. Sleeper of Boston has opened "Beauport," his summer home fronting Gloucester Bay.

W. Jay Little and family of Boston are at their summer home near Bemo Ledge.

Philip M. Tucker and family of Brookline have come to "Overlook," which they have made their summer home for several seasons past.

Mr. and Mrs. Seth K. Ames of Melrose Highlands are occupying "Sunset Hill" cottage, their summer home for the past 20 years.

Jefferies Wyman and family have come for another season to their seashore home which they have made summer headquarters for the past 25 years.

Miss Marie List of Brookline has taken the Smith cottage on Eastern Point road.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin O. Tower of Brookline will make Bunnyfield cottage their home for the midsummer season.

THE OCEANSIDE THEATRE

Owing to the fact that Mr. Buswell is not opening Stillington Hall for plays and concerts this summer, there has been a persistent demand for entertainment of superior merit. Realizing the situation, W. Rosing has assembled a distinguished company of artists and has arranged a season's program of varied interest and appeal that promises to be sensational in its success.

The Oceanside Theatre is truly well named. Located in a hitherto unused room of the Oceanside Hotel, its windows are in close proximity to the beautiful expanse of ocean on the Magnolia coast. A complete transformation is taking place in the room, and the new theatre is almost in readiness for its opening night on July 20. The long windows are hung with soft blue and greens suggesting the sea, and the same colorings are effectively used about the auditorium. The theatre will seat three hundred people, and an item well worthy of mention is that the seats are so arranged that by raised platforming the seats in the very back of the hall are as good as those in front.

On Sunday afternoon, July 19, a musicale and tea inaugurating the opening will take place in the new theatre. Mrs. Evans Dick, Jr., managing director of the Oceanside Theatre, is assisted at this function by a committee consisting of Mrs. John Phillips, Mrs. Henry Powning, Mrs. Pierpont L. Stackpole, Mrs. Richard D. Sears, Jr., Mrs. Samuel A. Tucker, all patrons of the theatre project.

The first performance at the theatre will be the romantic tragedy of "Effie Gallows." This new play by Claire Spencer, who is spending the season at the Oceanside, makes its first appearance under promising conditions. The scenic designer, Stewart Cheney, is a graduate of the famous "Baker Workshop" at Yale, and the cast under the direction of the well-qualified Mr. Rosing, whose talent and capacity as a producer are well known, is exceptionally distinguished. George Houston, who will be remembered for his outstanding performance in "Faust," during the season of the American Opera Company at Stillington Hall, will play the part of Fiddler; Raymond O'Brien, Harriet Eells, and Robert Henderson, who will also be remembered

SIGHT-SEEING SAILS DAILY
Volunteer Toreador Club Conductors Explain Points of Interest on Cape Ann
Make Reservations in Advance at Y. M. C. A. (470)

GLOUCESTER SCHOOL OF THE LITTLE THEATRE
ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
PRESENTS
A THREE-ACT PLAY ENTITLED
"NINE TILL SIX"
By Aimee and Philip Stewart
Friday, July 17 and Saturday, July 18

ROCKPORT DYE HOUSE
First Class Cleansers
Wearing Apparel Called For and
Delivered Any Place on Cape Ann
MAIN STREET, ROCKPORT. Tel. Conn.

BELMONT SHOE REPAIRING
SHOE REBUILDING
Best Quality, Lowest Prices
Main St., Gloucester, Opp. Center St.

as members of the American Opera Company, will play respectively Ernest Weir, Mrs. Weir, and Young Man. Doris Rich, from Detroit, who has recently completed a successful season in stock, and who is famous at Cape Ann for her performances last year at Stillington Hall, will play Mrs. Murphy. Other important members of the cast include, Virginia Stone, daughter of Lewis Stone, as Nettie Malloch, James Shelburne as the Minister, Donald Macmillan as John William Williams from Provont, Vernon Steele as the Stranger.

Miss Pauline Lord, internationally acclaimed as the creator of the character of "Anna Christie," and who has recently added to her laurels by her excellent performance in the Theatre Guild production of "Strange Interlude," in which she played the lead, will play Effie Gallows. Miss Lord will be recognized as the star in innumerable other successful productions including 'They Knew What They Wanted," "Mariners" and many more.

The season will extend from July 20 to August 29, including in all six productions of widely varying nature at the rate of one play a week.

LITTLE THEATRE

(Continued from page 3)

characters, possess, unbeknown, even to each other, secret cravings for the excitement of the city, finally go to the unheard of extent of borrowing the money from an obliging neighbor to attend the consecration of the new bishop. They depart for the city, each carrying beneath severely correct coats and dresses, secret hopes for new and thrilling experience and life.

The twain were superbly done by Marion Sawyer and Kathleen Knox. Katharine Raht as Mrs. Oberly, made much of a small part and was highly applauded by the audience, while Mrs. Oberly's daughter, Jennie, was excellently done by Virginia Grey. Jane Oakley as the citified Mrs. Oman completed the very well chosen cast.

"The Devil comes to Alcarez" was a light, romantic sketch of an incident in a little Spanish town. Joan Bancroft portrayed with skill the difficult part of Gasilda, while her mother was well done by Honora Bruere. Arthur G. Sharpe, Jr., is to be congratulated on his performance as Mayor of Alcarez, while the supporting cast were each worthy of mention. The play was reminiscent of romance, adventure and old Spain, and the scenery and lighting played an important part in securing this effect.

The play scheduled for this week, "Nine till Six," in three acts by Aimee and Philip Stewart, will also be on Friday and Saturday evenings, July 17 and 18, and should attract a large and enthusiastic audience.

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

(Continued from page 3)

will open Thursday at the North Shore Theatre.

Haines romps through a whimsically comical situation that is varied with a few tense dramatic moments and a couple of heart throbs. Two members of the original David Belasco stage cast, brought from New York for the picture, help preserve all of the flavor of the original, while spectacle is added in an airplane elopement, scenes in replicas of famous spots in Europe, and other details.

Haines plays a young British nobleman with an American background, a role unique in his career. Jack Conway, who directed the star in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," and who recently scored with "Paid," directed the new Haines production.

Irene Purcell plays the role she did on the stage as the sophisticated heroine, and Charlotte Granville is seen in her stage role as the mother. The cast also includes C. Aubrey Smith, Lilian Bond, Albert Conti, Maria Alba, Ray Milland, Lenore Bushman, Gerald Fielding and Yola Davril.

The story deals with the adventure of a nobleman who poses as a gigilo to "test" the girl his rich uncle has arranged for him to marry. He falls in love in the process and complications are fast and furious. Finally she slaps his face to show him that she really loves him—a situation worthy of Ripley's "Believe It or Not." Haines' comedy is varied with some very clever dramatic acting in the more serious parts of the picture.

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS

July 4, the Gloucester Society of Artists opened its twenty-fifth exhibition of oils, water colors, etchings, and sculpture. With a delightful tea as is its custom on opening days, the society began its ninth annual season.

From July 4 to July 21, for both art-lovers and laymen, there is much that is of interest to be found in the variety of scenes, portraits, and still lifes, with which the walls of the gallery are lined. The exhibition is, as always, non-jury, open to all members with restrictions only as to size, number of pictures shown, etc.

Among eminent artists exhibiting are Oscar Anderson, Emile A. Gruppe, Margaret Fitzhugh Brown, Mrs. Alice Beach Winter, Mrs. Maud Nottingham Monnier, Alethea Platt, Maud F. Bernika, Antoinette Inglis, Carl H. Nordstrom and John A. Cook.

In the large central gallery, portraits, turbulent waters, and landscapes predominate, while in the lower and upper galleries small water colors and etchings are hung. The already famous "Portrait of Dicky," by Alice Beach Winter, hangs as silent evidence that Mrs. Winter has again captured the delicately evasive spirit of childhood. Perry L. Allen's "Portrait of My Mother" skillfully reflects in the expression of the face, subtle, comprehending, experienced and inscrutable, the personality of the mother portrayed. The portrait of Captain Howard Blackburn, famous and interesting Gloucester character, will attract in itself many visitors. Margaret Fitzhugh Browne has cleverly expressed on this face all the adventure, intrigue and hazard that the great man has experienced.

Among the etchings, those of "Miriam" by Alice Beach Winter, and "Mary" by Antoinette Inglis are outstanding in their simplicity and charm; while among the little pictures, "Clovelly, England," by Alethea Platt; "Nymphe," by Emile Gruppe, and "Springtime in Connecticut," by Maud Nottingham Monnier, show sympathy and talent.

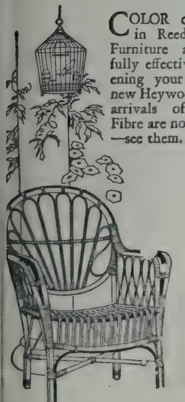
Gertrude C. Fosdick shows among the sculptured works, an example of interpretation and sympathy in "Grief"; while "Portrait of a Girl," by Frank Wigglesworth is well worthy of note.

A new feature this year is that of opening the gallery to all school children of Cape Ann, on Saturday, July 11, from 9 to 11 A.M. The Society has decided to give this time to meeting and discussing with the children the pictures and sculpture exhibited.

The collection this year rivals that of all previous seasons, and appreciation of this fact is obvious from the large groups of visitors which each day fill the galleries. There will be two more exhibitions, the second beginning July 25 and ending August 18, and the third extending from August 22 to September 14.

The Children's Hour

On Saturday morning, July 11, the gallery on Eastern Point road rang with unusual sounds. The



COLOR

COLOR combinations in Reed and Fibre Furniture are wonderfully effective in brightening your home. Our new Heywood-Wakefield arrivals of Reed and Fibre are now on display—see them.

North Shore Furniture Co.
161-163 Main St. Cor. Parsons
Telephone 94

AWNINGS
And Yacht Equipment
UNITED SAIL LOFT CO., Inc.
Foot of Pearce St.
71 Wharf St. Tel. Conn.

Office Open Day and Night.
Tel. Con.
WILLARD S. PIKE
Funeral Director
and Embalmer
Shipping, Transfer and Crematory Work
75 Washington Street
Gloucester Mass.

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR
For Your Child, ages 10 to 16
Competent Young Instructor
Tutoring at Your Own Home
Write P. O. Box No. 316, Gloucester

ALICE M. AMBLER, A. B.
(VASSAR)
PRIVATE TUTOR
French. German, Latin, English,
Spanish, Algebra, Etc.
16 Highland Street, E. Gloucester
Tel. 3125-W

NORTH SHORE INN
Magnolia-by-the-Sea
Massachusetts
Charming Homelike Atmosphere
[Booklet on request]
Good Food--Reasonable Rates
Tune in Wednesday morning, 9-10
WHDH

SUPERIOR DYE HOUSE
12 MAIN ST.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Work Called For and Delivered
Anywhere on Cape Ann
Cleaning, Pressing, and Alterations.
Telephone 2644
Satisfaction Guaranteed

laughter and raised voices of children filled the imposing and beautifully lined exhibition rooms of the Gloucester Society of Artists. Scampering feet and shrill voices gradually calmed down surprisingly as quietly and unnoticed, Oscar Anderson, Mrs. Alice Beach Winter, Miss Margaret Fitzhugh Browne and Gayton Whitmore mingled with the children, chatting and laughing in a way to gain their confidence and utmost admiration. It was an opportunity for any artistic photographer, and Herbert Bryant Turner, eminent and widely travelled, made the best of it, assisted by his niece, Miss Mildred Turner Copperman.

"It's only an experiment," Mr. Anderson and Mrs. Winter confided to me at the beginning of the morning. "We just want to see how it will work out." For an experiment it was certainly a great success. The observations of the children were remarkable in their naive significance of appreciation. One youngster remarked that she liked "—the lightness of the peacocks again the dark forest;" while another tiny tot loved a landscape that looked "just like Uncle Ed's camp!" A little girl, hardly more than three years old, when asked why she liked "Peggy and her Pet," announced that it was "becauthe I wuv bunnieth."

An unexpected feature was the taking of a vote among the children. "Rugged Mountains," by Judge Charles Murphy of Salem, and "Portrait of Dickie," by Alice Beach Winter, won respectively first and second places with a difference of one vote. "Peggy and her Pet," by Eben F. Comins came in next, while "Bright Eyes," by Mrs. Winter followed. The landscapes were in general more popular than the portraits.

There was much more of interest that could to told, and we regret that we are obliged to omit so much, but we feel that the Society making such a success of the first will soon carry out another such experiment. Rumor has it that a means of transportation for the Gloucester children may be provided on the next occasion, and it is expected that the group will at that time be even larger. The idea of developing artistically the minds of our children in this way is a new one to Gloucester, and the Gloucester Society of Artists is offering an opportunity which should not be missed.

MacDONALD LOW AT ROCKPORT

The scores at Rockport Country Club for the 18 holes handicap qualifying round for the Navy cup, played Saturday, follow:

John A. MacDonald, 90—66; A. J. Flynn, 82—72; Robert M. Smith, 80—72; H. B. Lovell, 79—73; George P. Sargent, 78—74; Dr. C. T. Porter, 84—74; Daniel Riordan, 79—75; Francis Smith, 98—75; George Fiske, 91—77; Frederick H. Tarr, Sr., 94—77; A. J. Fitzgerald, 97—78; J. Manuel Marshall, 94—78; Walter Cole, 84—78; I. S. Hall, 96—80; T. T. H. Harwood, 103—80; John B. Lyons, 96—81; Ralph O. Creelman, 101—82; Louisa Rogers, 102—83.

ROCKPORT C. C.—JULY 12

Sweepstakes

Dr. C. T. Porter, 82—72; Howard B. Lowell, 81—74; John A. Lyons, 89—74; George A. Fiske, 89—75; Walter Cole, 82—76; George P. Sargent, 87—76; A. Grover Fitzgerald, 97—78; Dr. Lester Feener, 90—80; Leon Lathrop, 105—81; Dan Riordan, 86—82.

PARKING REGULATIONS

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Attention is called to the following extracts from an ordinance governing automobile traffic passed June 6, 1930.

Section One. During the months of June, July, August and September the following traffic regulations shall be effective for vehicles:

Parking Prohibited at All Times

Pleasant street, between Main and Warren streets, Short street.

Easterly side of Centre street.

Pearce street, from Rogers to Main street.

Westerly side of Water street from Main to Rogers street.

Within 15 feet of any hydrant on any street.

Westerly side of Elm street from Main to Prospect street; easterly side from Main street to the southern end of the Recreation Alleys.

Easterly side of School street from Middle street to Mason street, and on School street from Proctor street to Middle street after 11 P.M.

Northerly side of Middle street from Pleasant street to Washington street.

Northerly side of Main street, from a point opposite the westerly side of Porter street to Washington street.

Easterly side of Chestnut street.

All protected crossings.

Easterly side of Hancock street from Middle to Rogers street or on such portions of westerly side as are designated by white traffic lines.

Restricted Parking

Main street, from Washington to Vincent street, 30 minutes between 6 A.M. and 6 P.M., except on Saturday when the restricted parking extends to 10 P.M.

Center street, westerly side but only within a distance of 30 feet from Main street and 30 feet from Middle street.

Middle street, southerly side, from Pleasant to Washington street, for a period not exceeding one hour.

Dale avenue, westerly side only, in a diagonal position with the left rear wheel or right front wheel against the curb.

One Way Streets

Southerly side of Western avenue, from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for east bound traffic.

Northerly side of Western avenue from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for west bound traffic.

Federal street, travel only in an easterly direction, from Pleasant street to Elm street, no parking on either side.

Short street, one way north from Main street.

Hancock street, from Middle street to Main street, one way south.

Nautilus road, one way south between Bass avenue and Bass Rocks road.

Duncan street, one way south from Main street to Rogers street, parking on westerly side only.

Arlington street, Annisquam, one way in a southeasterly direction.

Chestnut street, one way south, parking only on westerly side.

Middle street, from Dale avenue to Pleasant street, one way east.

Warren street, one way west, parking on both sides.

Protected Crossings

Across Prospect street at Union hill; across Spring street at the westerly side of Union hill; across Main street at the North Shore Theatre; across Main street at the Olympia Theatre; across Main street at the Postoffice and Trust Company; at the Gloucester National Bank; from the Masonic Block to W. G. Brown & Company's store; from the A. & P. store to Herricks' fruit store; across Pleasant street, at the Postoffice; across Duncan street on Main street; across Hancock street on both sides the street.

Porter street, one way south, parking only western side.

Traffic lights in operation Main street, foot of Commercial, P. O. Square; Prospect street, near M. E. Church.

DANIEL M. CASEY,
City Marshal.

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE

No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st except by written permission of the Chief of the Fire Department or the Fire Warden.

Persons wishing to burn rubbish, grass, etc., in the business or residential sections of the city, i. e. within the limits established by the Eastern avenue School on Eastern avenue and the cut bridge on Western avenue and the Green on Washington street, should apply to the Chief of the Fire Department. Those wishing to burn rubbish, brush, grass, etc., in the outlying portions of the city, that is outside of the limits as here set forth, whose fire would be on or near any wood, brush or grasslands, should apply to the Fire Warden.

Readers of this notice are cautioned to be extremely careful of matches, cigars and cigarettes while in or near any wood or brushland to prevent forest fires.

HOMER R. MARCHANT,
Chief of the Fire Department.
ALBERT C. LA BELLE,
Fire Warden.

Magnolia Real Estate
SEA SHORE ESTATES
Cottages, Bungalows, Shops
JONATHAN MAY
Shore Road, Magnolia, Mass. Tel. Magnolia 426-R.

Gloucester Auto Bus Co.
Exclusive Street Passenger Transportation on Cape Ann, Gloucester and East Gloucester, Annisquam, Lanesville, Pigeon Cove, Rockport, West Gloucester, Essex, Magnolia, Manchester.
Starter's Office 114 Main Street
Information Telephone 2195 Telephone 1675

THE PATTILLO STORE
THE FINEST LINE OF SUMMER FURNITURE, SCREENS, MATTRESSES, RUGS, ETC., ON THE NORTH SHORE. UPHOLSTERING DONE BY SKILLED WORKMAN
A·MANTON PATTILLO
Fine Assortment of Vudor Shades for the Piazza
C. F. TOMPKINS CO.
67 MIDDLE STREET GLOUCESTER

THEY THAT GO DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS
1623 - 1923

Rooted Deep

"As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm,
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."
—GOLDSMITH.

Commercial Banking
Savings Accounts
Club Accounts
Safe Deposit Boxes
Storage Vault
Foreign Exchange
Travellers Cheques
Bond Department
Travel Service

A Bank that started 132 years ago and is the oldest Bank in the State must be deep rooted. A Bank that has withstood all the hard times and financial and industrial changes down from Washington's time must have a certain inherent strength.

We offer you strength; a background of tradition, efficient service, and friendly co-operation.

The Oldest Bank in the State, the Seventh Oldest in the United States; a depository for City, County, State and U. S. Funds, and favored with an account from hundreds of firms and individuals on the Cape.

May We be Favored With Your Gloucester Business?

GLOUCESTER NATIONAL BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE CITY

OLDEST BANK IN MASSACHUSETTS

One of the steps in the preparation of codfish for the market. Drying and curing whole codfish at the Gorton-Pew Fisheries

You Are Cordially Invited—

OUR door is always open. And we are always glad to show visitors the fascinating processes employed in our plant. See how we take fish fresh from the ocean and prepare them for the tables of America's discriminating housewives. There is no more interesting sight in all of quaint old Gloucester.

If it were only possible to transport some of the charm of Gloucester back home—its romantic harbor, its curious old streets and homes, its atmosphere of the sea. Although this is impossible you may have a reminder of pleasant Gloucester days in sending to your home some of our delicious fish products. For this purpose we put up a special combination box. It is an attractive carton containing a popular assortment of Gorton's Sea Foods. Neatly packed ready for shipment. These tasty and popular sea foods will introduce you to new delights in fish eating.

The same offer is extended to all-year-round and summer-time residents. Visit us and see for yourselves how one of America's oldest and most interesting industries operates. You are cordially invited.

Gorton's
Sea Food Family

GORTON'S CODFISH
GORTON'S READY-TO-FRY COD FISH CAKES
GORTON'S FRESH MACKEREL IN CANS
GORTON' SALAD FISH
GORTON'S DEEP SEA ROE
GORTON'S CODFISH IN CANS
GORTON'S FINNAN HADDIE
GORTON'S FLAKED FISH
GORTON'S MANHATTAN CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S DOWN EAST CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S HADDOCK CHOWDER

Gorton-Pew Fisheries
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Founded in 1849

1885 - 1931

THE BOSTON STORE

WILLIAM G. BROWN COMPANY, Gloucester, Mass.

The Largest Store of the North Shore Covering a City Block from PLEASANT, MAIN and ELM STREETS
29 Departments. Largest Dry Goods Floor Space East of Boston. POST OFFICE SQUARE

The Department Store of Service where Summer Shopping is made pleasant.

In Gloucester on the North Shore you will find this store a well appointed, pleasant store in which to do your shopping on a warm summer's day.

It will be a pleasure and also afford you great satisfaction in knowing that you can come here and select quality merchandise at lowest possible prices.

Trade in Gloucester at the Big Store of the North Shore

One of the North Shore's Finest
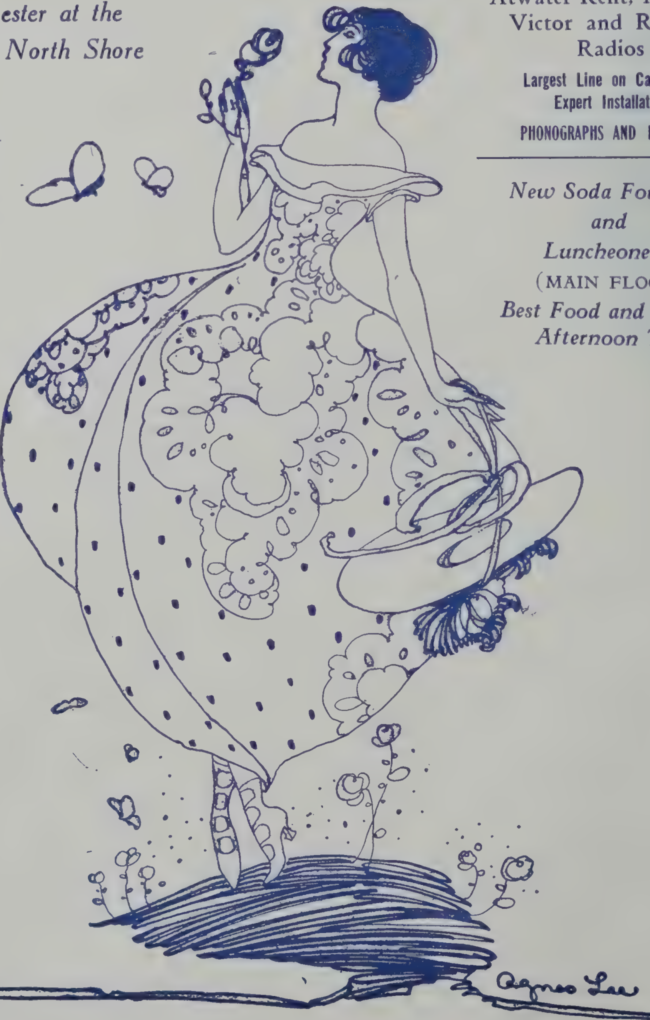
BEAUTY SHOPS

4 Booths—2 Bobber Chairs
2 Manicure Tables

Marcel Waving
Shampooing
Manicuring
Facials
French Curling
Hair Dyeing
Hair Tinting
Permanent Waving
Hair Dressing
Hair Bobbing and Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting by Experts.



Atwater Kent, Majestic,
Victor and Radiola
Radios

Largest Line on Cape Ann
Expert Installation

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

New Soda Fountain
and Luncheonette
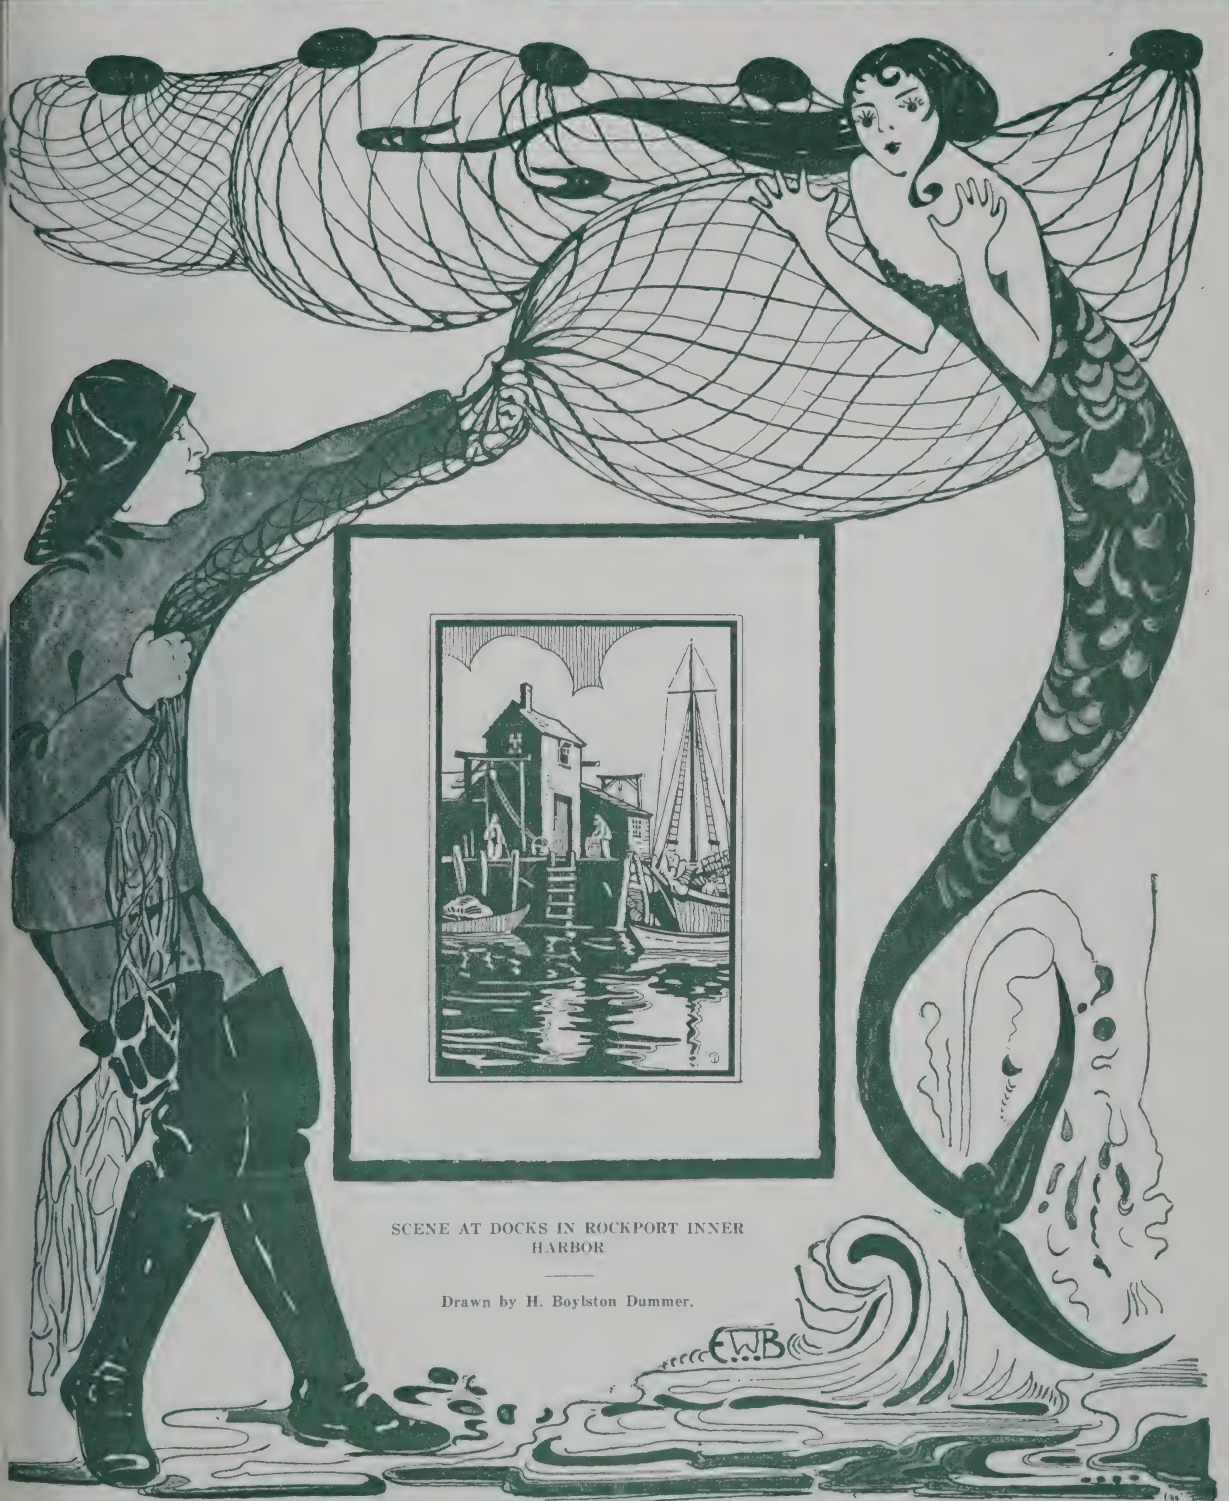
(MAIN FLOOR)
Best Food and Service
Afternoon Tea

CAPE ANN SHORE



SCENE AT DOCKS IN ROCKPORT INNER HARBOR

Drawn by H. Boylston Dummer.

Vol. XXXVI
July 25, 1931

PUBLISHED BY
The Cape Ann Publishing Co.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

No. 3
Price 10 Cents

C. S. NAUSS (Established 1837) L. H. NAUSS

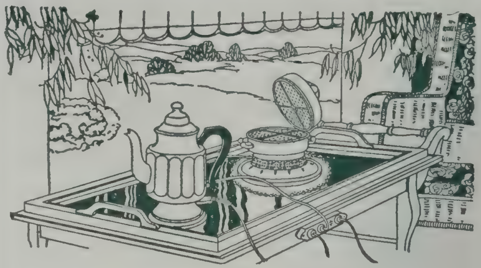
L. B. Nauss & Sons

"NAUSS LUMBER"

LUMBER
LIME
CEMENT
BUILDING SUPPLIES

"Everything to Build Anything"

Telephones 195-196-197
RAILROAD AVE.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.



They add a subtle touch of distinction to hospitality

Resplendent, efficient electric appliances make entertaining so satisfying and convenient

Drop into our store and see these wonderful aids to entertaining — electric percolator, electric coffee urn, electric waffle iron, electric toaster. We're glad to show them—whether you buy or not.

GLOUCESTER ELECTRIC COMPANY

Telephone 1250 Telephone 1250

POOLE'S ANTIQUE SHOPPES

BOND'S HILL
OLD WEBBER HOME
and
SAWYER HOMESTEAD

Opposite 359 Western Ave. Freshwater Cove
(Road to Magnolia)

Authentic Reproductions of Fine Period Furniture under the direction of Frederick C. Poole, founder of this house, one of the oldest antique firms in this country.

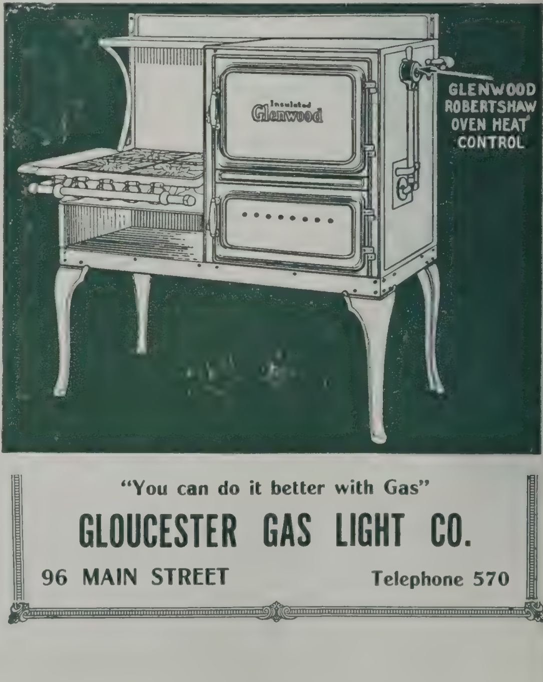
Largest and Most Exclusive Assortments of Chintzes, Toile Jouy, Linens and Modernistic Fabriques.

At the Sawyer homestead we have an exhibition of our custom-made upholstered furniture.

TELEPHONES: Main Office, Bond's Hill—1585-W; Webber House—3517-W; Sawyer House—3517-R.

ENJOY YOUR SUMMER WITH A

New Glenwood Insulated Range



"You can do it better with Gas"

GLOUCESTER GAS LIGHT CO.

96 MAIN STREET Telephone 570

1896—OLDEST ESTABLISHED SUMMER RESORT PUBLICATION ON THE NORTH SHORE—1931

THE CAPE ANN SHORE

THIRTY-SIXTH SEASON

Gloucester, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Long Beach, Briar Neck.

Land's End, Rockport, Pigeon Cove, Annisquam and River Territory, Fernwood, Magnolia, Manchester and Essex County.

Published Weekly, 8 times during July and August by the CAPE ANN PUBLISHING CO., James R. Pringle, Conductor, 95 Main Street, Gloucester. 75 cents the season on Cape Ann; elsewhere, $1.00. Tels. 412-W, 412-R.

"Entered as second-class matter July 16, 1920, at post office, Gloucester, Mass., under Act of March 3, 1879."

Special Contents, July 25, 1931

EDITORIALS:
- Yachting and Coming of the New York Yacht Club
- A Bas the Mosquito

POEMS:
- "The Road to Gloucester Town" By Isobel Keil Wurtele
- "My Task" By Ellen A. Lewis

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING
By C. Anne Shore

GEN. BENJAMIN F. BUTLER
Cape Ann's Industrial Benefactor

ART AND DRAMATIC
Being a Review of Theatrical Topics and the Artist Colony

NEWS OF THE SUMMER COLONY
Manchester, Magnolia, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Briar Neck, Land's End, Rockport Center, Pigeon Cove, The Annisquam Region, The Cape Ann Countyside

THE WEEK'S YACHTING

GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO., -:- 43 Duncan Street

GLOUCESTER COAL AND LUMBER COMPANY

TELEPHONE 3060

Largest Coal and Lumber Dealers on the North Shore

GLO-COAL Beacon Anthracite Caperton New River Soft Coal

BRANCH OFFICES

Rockport, Tel. 964 Magnolia, Tel. 426-R Manchester, Tel. 650

A PARTIAL LIST OF OUR SERVICES

LUMBER
A kind for every purpose.

FLOORING
First-quality oak, fir and pine, stored under controlled temperature.

SHINGLES
Durable, weather-resisting, stained. For roofs and walls.

HARDWARE AND PAINTS
Well-known makes of tools and household hardware. Valspar.

FURNITURE
Rustic, garden and unpainted furniture.

COAL
Imported Beacon Scotch Anthracite, the amazing fuel, and GLO-COAL, the American anthracite. Also automatic coal stokers.

FINANCING
A convenient finance plan to aid those building or modernizing homes.

PLANNING
Counsel, including plans, for those building or modernizing homes.

Dear Mr. Consumer: June 24, 1931

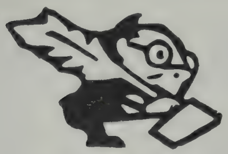
Do you realize that right here on Cape Ann is a firm capable of giving you every conceivable service in home building, modernizing and heating?

The Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company is such a complete service organization. We want you to know us better and for this reason invite you to take advantage of the special offer below.

Here's an idea you'll like! On the enclosed card we have listed the most frequent things that people would like to have done to their homes. If you will simply check the things which interest you most and return it to us, the proper service division of this company will quickly and easily tell you — without obligating you in any way whatsoever — just what the cost of materials and labor on such jobs would be.

You couldn't find a better time to get this information. Prices are low — the season is right — everything is in your favor. Remember — in asking for this information you do not commit yourself to an order of any kind. This is just another Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company service — it may help you see the way to have done things you've been wanting to do for a long time.

Very truly yours,
GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO.
Chas. F. Heberle, Manager.



It's a wise man who makes a truce with circumstances—Carlyle.

NEW YORK YACHT CLUB

Through Membership in Eastern Point Organization May Make Gloucester its Base Above Cape Cod—Colonel Prentiss Interested

From its inception The Shore has emphasized the importance of yachting from the practical as well as the patriotic side, meaning that the employment given to boat builders, riggers, sailmakers, and dealers in yachting chandlery generally would be beneficial to the citizens while from the patriotic side the new generation, whose progenitors were bred to the sea, would at least not lose that instinct as far as yachting could make up for the real thing.

Last year in an historical sketch we noted the progress on Cape Ann of organized yachting from its inception to the present. We expressed the hope that the Sandy Bay Club at Rockport might be revived. This has come to pass and there are now three well established yachting centers at strategetical centers on Cape Ann which combined make an impressive total. No place as favorably situated for this sport on the Atlantic coast, Gloucester Harbor, Annisquam with its Ipswich Bay course, and Rockport with its unrivalled stretch of water.

Years ago, nearer fifty than forty, the New York Yacht Club sought headquarters somewhere north of Cape Cod. The Astors and Vanderbilts in their schooner yachts made Gloucester Harbor their base for considerable stretches of time and had their eye on the Stage Fort property as a site for the New England base of that club. Tentative proffers for the land were made but it was eventually secured as a memorial park commemorating the first settlement in the Bay colony, the purchase price being $70,000 in 1897 on a forty-year loan.

The New Yorkers never came north of Cape Cod to settle but succeeding generations of the club have never gotten over the idea of the Gloucester base. The harbor is ample, easy of access, affords ideal shelterage, and the general conditions to their liking.

The Eastern Point Yacht Club two years ago purchased the tract on which the Beachcroft Hotel is built for headquarters. Later it was decided to get nearer the water for a club house so the property and house in the Wonson's Field tract, so-called, was also acquired and is now utilized as a club house eventually to be superseded by a somewhat larger building for the purpose.

The Beachcroft property is to be retained and on the expiration of the lease the hotel is to be converted into a private hotel-club house for members. This matter has been discussed by prominent members of Eastern Point who meet daily in business and social contact, members of the New York Club to whom this idea meets with favor.

Membership in the Eastern Point Club will mean when these plans are carried into effect that the owner of a yacht may drop anchor on the finest anchorage ground along the New England coast, come ashore and be landed in an organization to which he belongs, order supplies to be delivered at the club float, and put up at the hotel at which accommodations to his metropolitan liking may be secured.

This, of course, will mean a great increase in business to all those connected in any degree with the yachting interest all down the line. Further, when an international or national fisherman schooner race is scheduled these men, intensely interested, may make a short cut through the canal in their yachts and make headquarters here and in all probability give the game a substantial boost, for these New Yorkers have a great admiration for the genuine deep-sea Gloucester fisherman. And it is within bounds of the probable, if that perennial challenger, Sir Thomas, ever tries for the Queen's cup again, the incomparable fisherman's course off Cape Ann might be designated. Sir Thomas, who has already donated two such fishermen's cups was a spectator at one of these races, and is a great admirer of Gloucester and its fishermen.

Now all this is not the dream which a writer with head in the clouds hopes may come true but is a plan of such men with feet on the ground as Col. John W. Prentiss and associates, firm friends of the city and eager to advance its interests.

A BAS MOSQUITO

War Declared on the Minute Midnight Marauder and Insect Racketeer—Effective Preventive Measures Taken to Evict Him from the Cape

"Despise not the day of small things."

The rat and the mosquito are among the most formidable enemies of mankind. Consider the mosquito. He has altered the destinies of the world nations and saved the United States from being involved in serious complications arising from the Munroe doctrine. Possibly on that account we owe him a certain debt of gratitude.

He caused De Lesseps to abandon his plan of digging a canal across Panama when the job was half completed by disseminating yellow jack among the laborers, mowing them down in windrows. It was not until American scientists found a way to cope successfully with that pest and put him to rout that the job was finished and controlled by Americans.

Well, the mosquito bulks large in the summer resort equation. Practically the first question asked by summer residence seekers is whether the mosquito nuisance is pronounced. Much depends upon the answer.

His favorable habitat to propagate is in wet, marshy and stagnant districts. Therefore the indicated solution is to abolish these breeding places. There were never many of these plague spots on Cape Ann which in the main is a tableland about a hundred feet above sea-level sloping on all sides to the sea. One of the few places where he may find lodgement was in the area of marshland near Good Harbor Beach. But not now.

This spring the state having allocated a certain sum to exterminate the pest along the North Shore, some $30,000 was expended on this work in this district. The marsh land in question was trenched thereby allowing the water to drain seaward and there was nothing left in which the mosquito might propagate. So it has been exit for Mr. Mosquito. His depredations hereabouts, never very pronounced, have been noticeable by their absence this very rainy season.

THE ROAD TO GLOUCESTER TOWN

By Isobel Keil Wurtele

Twin Lights, and the Breakwater,
Pointing to Thatcher's Isle.
And the merry din of the tide, just in,
Dragging its kelp, the while.

On, on, where the bay shelters,
Safely the dories rest.
They are bobbing corks, where the highway forks,
On the calm of the harbor's breast.

Sunset, and the reef lying,
Flat, like a purple fold.
While the battleship, with a rise and dip,
Rides on a sea of gold.

Twin Lights, and the Breakwater,
Out to the open sea.
Oh, the road leads down from Gloucester town,
Straight to the heart of me.

MY TASK

By Ellen A. Lewis

The disagreeable must be faced
And it must be faced by me.
To follow a chosen path of ease
Is more than cowardly.

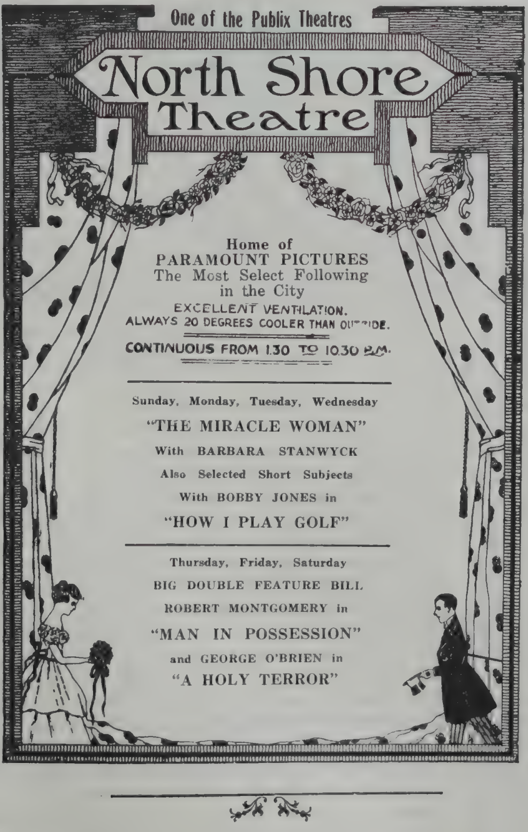
I must not allow the difficult
To crush me beneath its weight;
But accept its taunt as a challenge
To the best of me, innate.

Art and Dramatic

THE LITTLE THEATRE

On last Friday and Saturday nights the habitues of the Little Theatre were completely transported to the world behind the showrooms of a dressmaking and millinery shop. The realistic impression created by the writers, Aimee and Philip Stuart, was intensified by the acting of the well-qualified cast. This smart, modern comedy-drama, made up entirely of feminine characters took place exclusively in the shop of Mrs. Pembroke, an English lady who had faced all the trials of working up from the bottom, and now was suddenly beginning to notice the futility of it all. Mrs. Pembroke—competent, understanding, sweet, and quietly strong, was done by Roswell Hawley, who created a personality that will not soon be forgotten by those who were present. Never slipping out of character for a moment, she scored a triumph with her enthusiastic audience. Dorothy Coleman, as Miss Roberts, millinery saleswoman, showed an excellence of interpretation and expression that could not have been improved upon, while Linda Collins as Gracie Abbot captivated the audience at once with her naive charm and simplicity. Claire Pembroke, done

(Continued on page 25)



One of the Publix Theatres
North Shore Theatre
Home of
PARAMOUNT PICTURES
The Most Select Following
in the City
EXCELLENT VENTILATION.
ALWAYS 20 DEGREES COOLER THAN OUTSIDE.
CONTINUOUS FROM 1.30 TO 10.30 P.M.

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
"THE MIRACLE WOMAN"
With BARBARA STANWYCK
Also Selected Short Subjects
With BOBBY JONES in "HOW I PLAY GOLF"

Thursday, Friday, Saturday
BIG DOUBLE FEATURE BILL
ROBERT MONTGOMERY in "MAN IN POSSESSION" and GEORGE O'BRIEN in "A HOLY TERROR"

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

That old adage "the eyes are the mirror of the soul," is familiar to every one—but unless you are an expert on make-up, the chances are ten to one that you don't know that the mirror in the eye is the thing that gives it life. In other words, a blind man's eye doesn't reflect your image even if you are looking straight into it. Thus, in order to produce the effect of blindness in an actor's eyes for the stage or screen, the first essential is to kill the reflective qualities in the iris.

That this can be done convincingly is demonstrated in the case of David Manners, who plays the blind hero, John, in Columbia's drama of regeneration, "The Miracle Woman," showing on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the North Shore Theatre. Manners' eyes, which normally have a steady twinkle in them, present in this picture the appearance of absolute deadness—this despite the fact that there is no visible defect in them. This effect was by no means easy to produce, and was achieved by Norbert Myles, make-up expert at Columbia, only after several days of concentrated work on experiments.

Myles finally turned the trick by the means of what he terms the "three point reflector"—that

(Continued on page 25)

GEN. BENJAMIN F. BUTLER

Summer Resident Who More Than Any Other Person in the City's History Contributed to the Industrial Upbuilding of Cape Ann

Another in the occasional sketches of "Summer Visitors I Have Known," series. J. R. P.

IN THE MIND OF THE WRITER, the man of all men who did more to advance the interest of Cape Ann than any other, was Gen. Benjamin F. Butler. Born in Maine, a graduate of Colby, afterwards studying law and called to the bar, he was among the first to volunteer in the Civil War. His fame in the legal profession was international.

Sand Dunes, Farm Point, Coffin's Beach—One of the historic points of the North Shore. Here Col. Coffin assembled his slaves who worked his plantation August 5, 1775, and with men of the countryside, repelled a landing party from a British Sloop of War.—Across this, Gen. B. F. Butler planned to run a railroad from the Bay View Quarries to Boston, via Essex.

Commissioned as a major general, he was first assigned to duty in the South with headquarters at New Orleans, a seething hotbed of secession.

The sanitary conditions of this French Creole city were vile. Mindful of the welfare of his troops, Butler instituted a rigorous cleaning up of the city. He scrubbed it clean fore and aft. His aggressive tactics made this "Yankee" doubly obnoxious to the inhabitants, manifested by the women by dousing passing Union soldiers with dirty water thrown from upper stories. Gen. Butler gave notice that he considered this an insult to the flag and if continued, offenders would be accorded the same treatment given women of the streets. Persisting, his warning was carried into execution. Thereafter the Union uniform was respected in New Orleans. In the North, especially in the cities, much of the journalism was tinctured with pro-southern sympathy, "copperheadism," and Butler was reviled and ridiculed by these papers. However, he won the confidence and esteem of the leading Union generals, Gen. Grant and others, in fact was one of the inner circle of military and political men of the period.

Returning to Massachusetts in 1867, he foresaw the era of construction which was to follow a country freed of internecine strife with the passing of the vexed question of slavery. Versatile and resourceful, he determined to share in the resultant prosperity. His attention was called to the granite resources of Cape Ann. These had been in operation for more than a century in a very small way. Their possibilities had been barely scratched.

He purchased large tracts of undeveloped quarry land at Bay View, his right hand man being Col. Jonas H. French, who had served on his staff at New Orleans. To Col. French was left the entire development of this proposition.

Gen. Butler resolved to make Gloucester his home. He built the two stone villas at Bay View, one occupied by himself, now the home of Gen. Adelbert and Mrs. Ames, the latter born Blanche Butler, daughter of the general.

Then things began to move fast. The sparsely settled northern part of the cape began to hum with industry and soon crowds of skilled stone workers from England, Scotland, Italy, and other places began to pour in. For miles the air rang with the sharp metallic ring of steel on stone, hundreds of dwellings for the operatives, and large sheds, wharves, a steam railroad from a quarry in the interior to the wharves where a fleet of large stone sloops were being loaded with rough and finished stone and paving, came into being. A boom town almost over night.

Aware that the government as well as commercial interests were to embark on the largest building program the country had seen, Gen. Butler got into the thick of things and secured large contracts for public and private buildings, navy yards and other projects. The execution of these brought into life the activity described in the foregoing paragraph.

The result was that for more than 50 years a tremendous stimulus was given to the granite industry here. Not only the Butler quarries, but others at Rockport were developed as a consequence. Altogether at its height, fully a thousand families, executives, or operatives of these companies derived their livelihood from these shipments of stone. Especially was this true of the shipment of paving, Cape Ann granite being accounted the most durable material for this purpose, solely used for road construction previous to the introduction of tar-asphalted macadam some 20 years ago.

Tremendous single blocks of stone for monuments and similar work were hauled through the streets to the railroad station at Gloucester by six and eight yoke of oxen. The building of a railroad across Squam Point from the quarries to Essex was seriously projected.

Gen. Butler's stay here was short. Immediately on taking up his residence here, he ran for Congress and was elected. Just after the Credit Mobiler scandals, the Republican party was in bad odor. During a campaign for reelection, the general, away on business, considering his re-election secure, was defeated.

A short time after, he removed to Lowell, where his outstanding business instinct had been manifested by the erection of great bunting and textile mills, greatly adding to the prosperity of that section and New England. He continued his connection with politics in the meantime, his reputation as a lawyer increasing, his practice being rewarded with some of the largest fees of the time. His ambition was to be governor, and although fiercely assailed on all sides during a spectacular campaign, he prevailed and was chosen chief executive. Dead, his enemies have not forgiven him. To date the effort to erect a state sponsored memorial to him has been frustrated. Impartial history will accord him his due. His reward will come.

Such, briefly and sketchily, is the connection of Gen. Butler with this city. He virtually brought the granite business on Cape Ann to such a commanding height that it ranked the fisheries a close second in financial importance. As a small lad, the writer recalls him well. The boys of the period were wont to get their pocket money by selling pond lilies gathered at the West Gloucester lily pond, to the passengers at the Old Eastern Railroad station. He always wore a bloom as a boutonniere, in their season, and the writer had the pleasure of pocketing the penny paid for these water flowers on several occasions. He was very nearsighted but never wore glasses. He always stood while waiting for the train and utilized the time by reading the Journal or Advertiser, and occasionally the Post, the "silver-top" Democratic paper which was his staunchest opponent.

Col. French, to whom allusion was made, stayed as director with the granite company until the late nineties, the industry flourishing as in the beginning. He was a type of man one of whom is seen in a generation. Tall, six feet two, well proportioned, of military and autocratic bearing, wearing the black mustache and imperial affected during the period, he combined superb physical appearance with corresponding intellectual qualities. He was a finished and convincing orator frequently heard here. He dominated the Maverick National Bank of Boston. He made some powerful enemies and, in the late nineties, after the death of Gen. Butler, these maneuvered him into a tight corner and secured the closing of the bank. It went into a receivership and afterwards paid a hundred cents on the dollar. The colonel remained here practically the whole of his business life to the end. Strange to say, he was a pronounced Democrat. Had he espoused the opposite political affiliation, he might have gone far in this section in the political world. As Democratic nominee for Congress from this district, he came within a few hundred of an election. I have said he was of autocratic mien, but a closeup acquaintance rather modified this view. He entertained lavishly at his home, one of the show places of the Cape, the grounds of which he threw open to the public. I recall many pleasant social contacts with him and have a memento which brings to mind thoughts of happy days. He was a staunch advocate of all matters pertaining to the material and social welfare of this city, keen to defend any attempt to deface its natural attractions. Gen. Butler and Col. French: A pair of men the like of which we will not see in our span, the greatest benefactors of Cape Ann that have come into its history.

Gen. Benjamin F. Butler was a patriot in war, responding to the defense of his country, quick to defend the right of the humblest soldier. In peace he devoted his great genius to the development of raw New England resources as no other single man of his time, bringing employment, peace and prosperity to thousands of families whom he brought into and amalgamated into the great American commonwealth. Oliver Ames and the Nickersons, of course, threw their energies into the construction of the great transcontinental railroad construction. Their glory belongs to the West.

Gen. Butler's career was the result of what follows all great wars. The World War or Great War, as you will, brought its ten-fold opportunity after its close. Followed the decade of building construction just ended. But no Gen. Butler has taken advantage and marshalled circumstances to another great thrust to the forefront for Cape Ann granite. Col. French has passed on. While other communities have thriven mightily from the sale of its construction material, the Cape Ann quarries have been strangely silent. Today a mere remnant remains of the mighty fabric built after the Civil War. The working population have moved away. The works are silent and tumbling down, and there are no evidences of a revival. No master minds of a succeeding generation have come into the breach.

Del Monte's
ON THE NORTH SHORE
Magnolia,
Mass.

New Casino Opposite Norman's Woe, Commanding the Finest View on the North Atlantic—Ample Parking Space.

DANCING EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
With DEL MONTE'S FAMOUS ORCHESTRA

For Reservations of Tables—Phone Magnolia 590
A la carte J. P. Del Monte, Proprietor and Manager

TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE DISTINCTIVE MAGNOLIA

MAGNOLIA

JULY HAS NEARLY run its span. One more week to August, always a month of activity on the North Shore. Fine weather is promised and the season should go on to the end prosperously.

Among those entertaining on Saturday evening, July 11, at Del Monte's were: C. S. Jopp of Boston with a party of eight; Miss Charlotte Sherburne of Marblehead, party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. George C. Vaughan, Jr., of Hamilton, party of ten; Richard Woodbury of Eastern Point, party of six; Mrs. J. Wardsworth Busk of Magnolia, party of six; H. H. Proctor of Little's Point, Swampscott, party of fourteen; John Strong of Bass Rocks, party of twelve; Mrs. A. D. Paulton and sister, Priscilla Dennett, party of ten; Mrs. S. Browning of Bass Rocks, party of ten; Donald Thompson of Washington and Magnolia, party of twelve; Mrs. J. Harrington Walker of Magnolia, party of five; Mrs. Jacob Loose of Eastern Point, party of ten; Mr. and Mrs. William Harmer of Bass Rocks, party of eight; Ira Brainard of Magnolia, party of five; P. M. Tucker of Eastern Point, party of eight.

Lew Conrad of the N. B. C. Broadcasting Station entertained on Saturday night a party of friends from New York City here at Del Monte's.

At the North Shore Inn recent arrivals include: Alice Tinkham, Mrs. Mary Bradley, Boston; Mrs. L. B. Reibe and daughter, Mrs. E. R. Kidder, Brookline; Mrs. Francis Dewes, Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison G. Catheron from Newton Centre, with their daughters, Lorraine and Miriam, spent a delightful week-end at the North Shore Inn recently. The Catherons had with them a guest, Miss Virginia Millar.

At the Oceanside recent arrivals include: H. H. Little, Mrs. Joseph H. Goodspeed, Cora Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Barry, Boston; Mrs. Clement A. Smith, West Newton; Mrs. A. Philip Giles, Auburn; Mrs. Charles H. Ditson, Leone Soresa, Thorne Crane, Mrs. Henry Sanford Mann, Mrs. W. Henry Harrison, E. Deffner, Robert Henderson, Signe Ogren, Edith L. Allen, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. H. Whitin, Northbridge; Charles Wilson, Evan M. Wilson, Rosemont; H. C. Faill, New Canaan; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Davies, St. Louis.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Geary, Jr., of Philadelphia, was recently the scene of the most delightful of birthday parties when Miss Louise Geary with fourteen guests celebrated here, her twelfth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Smith and their two children are the guests of their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Coolidge at Magnolia.

At the Magnolia Beach Club the activity is, with the advent of clear weather, starting off anew. Bathing followed by luncheons on the beach seems to predominate, while tennis and swimming lessons given to the members of the club are going on at full force.

Recent guests at the club include: Jane Gilman of West Newton, guest of Margaret Esson; Roland Richards of St. Louis, guest of O. W. Richardson; Janet Swift of Chestnut Hill, guest of J. J. Phelan; Polly Merrill of Dedham, also guest of J. J. Phelan; Edward Hennessy of Chestnut Hill and Nancy Faxon of East Gloucester, both guests of Harriet Boyd.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Atkins entertained in June, at Haskell house, their residence at West Gloucester, Mr. Atkins' mother, Mrs. H. L. Atkins, of Madison, Wis.

Mrs. A. G. Atkins was the hostess at tea Sunday to fifty of her friends of the North Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. McEwen, formerly of Seattle, are established in "Stonehame" cottage, Stage Fort Terrace, and are enjoying the beauties of that locality. The youngsters of the family include Lawrence C. J. and Barbara.

The anticipated opening of the Oceanside Theatre was inaugurated Sunday afternoon with a large tea and musicale in the parlor of the Oceanside. The guests enjoyed the delightful program consisting of selections by Miss Harriette Eels, whose beautiful contralto will long be remembered from Stillington Hall nights; Mr. George Cuthright, and Mr. W. Rosing, tenors, and Mr. George Houston, bass baritone, famous for his performance in Faust at Stillington.

Among those present at the tea and musicale were: Mrs. J. H. Lancashire and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Southgate, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller and a party of friends who motored down from Rye for the event, Mrs. Stedman Hanks, Mr. Eben Comins, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Butler, Mrs. F. W. Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Buswell, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Codman.

The opening performance at the Oceanside Theatre, "Effie Gallows," was postponed from July 20 to July 22, to a full house. Among those present were: Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Mrs. Richard Sears, Jr., Mrs. John F. Held, Mrs. John C. Phillips, Mrs. Samuel A. Tucker, Mrs. John L. Saltonstall, Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Durward Grinstead, Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Coolidge.

At the Oceanside recent arrivals include: Mr. George B. French, Boston; Mr. Louis K. Hyde, Plainfield; Mrs. Harry Brown, Pittsburg; W. L. Wirrbelauer, Patterson; Mrs. L. M. Johnson, Miss Katherine Johnson, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Krewson, E. H. Krewson, Merchantsville; A. Philip Guiles, Auburndale; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McMillan, New Orleans; Mrs. Joseph A. Smith, Little Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Miller, Cincinnati; Mrs. H. H. Lowe, Steubenville; Miss Caroline H. Bovey, Mrs. J. A. Ross, Minneapolis.

The North Shore Inn was the magnet for many new arrivals this past week. Among these were: Mrs. Susan S. Grey, Boston; Mrs. Marshal N. Rice, Miss M. E. Costello, Arlington.

The list of week-end guests include: Mr. Alden Cobe, Boston; Mrs. Martha Mahady, Mrs. R. Finn and daughter, Miss Miriam, Cambridge; Mr. C. F. Colbath and party,

Notice to Water Takers

THE EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS imposed on the use of water last season on account of scarcity are removed. The usual rules are now in force.

The Water Board is pleased to announce that the Alewife Brook Water Basin, begun last summer, was completed in January and was filled to capacity within two months. While there is ample supply in storage in the four water basins, the Board wishes to caution against needless waste.

The Board takes this opportunity to express its thanks to the summer residents and citizens for their very general response to their request for economy in the use of water. This co-operation materially helped a very serious situation.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS OF CITY OF GLOUCESTER.

Brookline; Mrs. Bessie Smith, Braintree; Miss Catherine Rogers, Charlestown; Miss Anne M. Conlan, Haverhill; Mr. Leroy H. Dreher, who made plane connections in New York City on Friday night in order to enjoy the hospitable atmosphere of the Inn for the weekend, with his friend, Mr. Rice and party, also from New York City. Mr. Dreher plans to return to the North Shore Inn in August for a more extended visit.

Among those remaining for an indefinite stay are: Miss Alice Tinkham, Mrs. M. E. Bradley, Hotel Charlesgate, Boston; Miss Marguerite E. Waters, New York City; Mrs. Francis J. Dewes, Chicago, and sister, Mrs. L. B. Leibe, Brookline.

At Hesperus Villa recent arrivals include: Mrs. George M. Cleveland, Boston; Mrs. E. H. Haskell, Miss Marion Haskell, Newton Center; Miss F. J. Foster, Gloucester.

At the Magnolia Beach Club, entertainment this week seems to run mostly to bathing followed by luncheons on the beach.

Miss Polly Richardson entertained on Saturday, six friends at a beach luncheon.

Mrs. B. E. Cole and her family entertained a group of friends recently at another charming beach luncheon.

On the spacious veranda of the club house, six of the friends of Miss Ruth Martin enjoyed a delightful luncheon which she gave on Monday.

The J. J. Martins of Coolidge Point are entertaining at present Mr. and Mrs. William Martin of Brookline with their baby daughter, and Miss Dorothy Robinson of Chicago.

MAGNOLIA BEACH CLUB

The Magnolia Beach Club has been the scene of several indoor luncheons, one of which was recently given by little Miss Renee Schenck who entertained fourteen of her small friends.

Miss Priscilla Phelan was recently hostess to a party of thirteen guests whom she entertained at the club.

Another delightful party, consisting of ten guests, was given recently by Mrs. J. S. Sampson at the club.

At Hesperus Villa: recent arrivals include the Misses MacNeil, Nancy, Janet, and Louise, from Chestnut Hill, and their governess, and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. W. Brown from Brookline.

The Oceanside has as its guest Miss Claire Spencer, well-known playwright, author of the new play "Effie Gallows," the opening production of the Oceanside Theatre Company at the Oceanside Theatre.

Recent arrivals at the Oceanside include: Mrs. C. I. Hood, Miss Wilder, Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. Burnham Lewis and two children, Weston; Mrs. Charles H. Ditson, Mrs. James N. Wells, Delia Linwell, Elsie Crane, Mrs. M. A. Bashford, New York City; Mrs. Edwin Johnson and son, Louis, and her mother, Mrs. Louis Gholstin, Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. Shirley A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Earhart, Ann Arbor.

Mr. Shirley A. Smith, who is staying at the Oceanside for the season with his wife, is vice-president of the University of Michigan.

DEL MONTE'S

Among those recently entertaining at Del Monte's were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woods of Hamilton, with a party of eight; Miss Charlotte Sherburne of Marblehead, party of fifteen; Mr. and Mrs. George C. Vaughan, Jr., of Magnolia, party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Raphael of Marblehead, party of twelve; Mr. George Dobyne of Beverly Farms, party of ten; Mr. and Mrs. Grafton Smith of Hamilton, party of fourteen; Mr. John Morrill of Manchester, party of eighteen; Mr. William Martin of Coolidge Point, party of twelve; Mr. and Mrs. John Amory, party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy, party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Winslow, Jr., of Bass Rocks, party of thirty; E. H. Brainard, Magnolia, party of eight; E. B. Kitfield of Magnolia, party of eight; Mr. Ray Lappan, Marblehead, party of eight; Miss Constance Percival of Marblehead, party of twelve; Miss Margaret Brainard of Magnolia, party of twelve.

An announcement of this kind is sufficient proof of the popularity of this most beautiful casino on the North Shore. Every night draws large numbers of those discriminating in their choice of entertainment to Del Monte's, and on Saturday nights in particular, the softly lighted casino echoes with the sounds of laughter, conversation and music as the many devoted patrons entertain in this delightful way groups of their respective friends.

On Friday night, Del Monte's had as its dinner guests, Mrs. Alvan T. and Miss Lydia Fuller.

TARR—DUMMER

The marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Boylston Dummer of Rockport and Boston of their daughter Dorothy and Reginald Wentworth Tarr, son of Mrs. Jessie Dunshee of Washington, united two colonial families of note, Miss Dummer being a lineal descendant of Gov. William Dummer and of Jeremiah Dummer, a silversmith of colonial note. The groom is a descendant of a colonial governor of New Hampshire. The bride is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and Mr. Tarr of Technology and is an engineer. They will make their home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

EAST GLOUCESTER

SUMMER LIFE is at its height at the busy resorts included in the East Gloucester region. The two art exhibits, the many beaches, the popular evening parties, as well as the introduction of the talkies and the increasing number of interesting lectures at many of the summer hotels, all combine to attract large numbers to this section of Cape Ann.

At the Hawthorne Inn Casino on Saturday night an enthusiastic audience listened to a fascinating lecture on India given by Louis H. Baker, soldier, forest officer and big game hunter, who has been touring this section of the country for a short time.

On Thursday, Mrs. Harry Elger, who is a guest at the Inn, entertained about sixty of her friends at a delightful dinner party and bridge in the Manse.

Recent arrivals at the Inn include: Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hughes, Mrs. Beatrice Gardener Montague, William Jardine, Boston; Philip Mansfield, Mrs. E. L. Shaw, Cambridge; Mrs. Frederick B. Holder, Mrs. Arthur W. Spencer and daughter, Brookline; John C. Stewart and daughter, Worcester; Mrs. Heaton Robertson, Miss Kathleen Robertson, A. Heaton Robertson, New Haven; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dahl and daughter, Hartford; Mrs. L. D. Greene, Mrs. Annette Natanson, Mrs. S. C. Harriot and son, Samuel S., Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Wanner, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Brennen, Miss Margaret E. Field, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Angevine and family, Rochester; Mrs. Henry C. Rowe, Westerly; Miss Deborah Turnbull, Wilmington; Mrs. Sophie G. McCormick, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Henry B. Carpender, Somerville, N. J.; Ellen Kerr, Carlota Kerr, Philadelphia; Marjory Spooner, Maplewood; Mrs. James Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Carlson, Newark; Dr. and Mrs. John K. Walker, Media; Judge and Mrs. C. C. McCord, Mrs. Margaret M. Boyle and daughter, Mrs. Harlan Scott, Mrs. W. F. Halsey, Mrs. Moorhead Millor and daughter, Caroline, Washington; Mrs. A. F. Hopper, Toronto; Mrs. Esther F. Bradford and son, Evanston.

At the Delphine recent arrivals include: M. F. Hooper, Boston; Annie C. and Rachel Johnson, Belmont; Kenneth L. Hoyden, Newtonville; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Corell, Louise J. Corell, New York City; M. E. Rumney, Germantown.

Lieutenant-Colonel L. R. James was a guest at the Delphine over last weekend. Mrs. James is spending the season here.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Streeter are the guests of their brother, George Streeter, who is spending the season at the Delphine.

At the regular Tuesday night auction and contract bridge party at the Rockaway, the following prizes were awarded: Contract, Mrs. Roy Wonson, first; Dr. William J. McKown, consolation; auction, Mrs. Harriet Blair, first.

(Continued on page 14)

BASS ROCKS

LAST MONDAY the regular bridge scheduled for that day at the Bass Rocks Golf Club proved to be the largest so far this season. The arrival of the consistently beautiful weather which came on the same day may have accounted for it. The entertainment at the Club this year is running more to luncheons, teas, and bridges, several of each having occurred during the past week.

At the Thorwald recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. M. Mydens, Boston; Miss Armister, Mrs. Edward Grotzinger and children, Edward and Helen, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Leger and daughter, Dorothy, Troy; Emily LeHuray, Summit; Lucy and Mary Norton, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. Marcella Fortier, Mrs. I. M. Davyie, Mr. and Mrs. G. Davie, Miss Hallowell, Montreal.

At the Moorland: Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Vogt, Cambridge; Helen Weston Coombs, Worcester; Sarah and Alice Hawkins, West Hartford; Ida Auerbach, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Corn, Mr. and Mrs. John Devine, New York City; Frank C. B. Held, Buffalo; Mrs. E. C. McKellor, Binghamton; Anna and Edith M. Brett, Flushing; Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Cook, Fayetteville; Rossele McKinney, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Green, Toronto; Mrs. E. J. Ryerson, Jackson; Mrs. Ovid Butler Jameson, Minneapolis; Professor E. G. Frazier, Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Semple, Montreal; Mrs. C. H. Hollister, Grand Rapids; Elizabeth MacDonald, Grand Rapids; Adelaide Flynn, Streeter B. Flynn, Jr., Oklahoma City; Mrs. C. P. Pickard, Ottawa.

Mrs. Schill from Englewood, New Jersey, who is occupying the Brown Boulder cottage this season at Bass Rocks entertained on Tuesday, July 14, with a charming tea and bridge at the Club.

Another delightful event which took place during the past week was a luncheon bridge given by Mrs. Anderson Case of Syracuse, who is spending the season at the Stoddart cottage on Atlantic road.

Mrs. Frank Nash recently entertained at another luncheon bridge at the Club. Mrs. Nash is also from Syracuse.

A large group of her friends recently enjoyed a charming luncheon bridge given by Mrs. C. H. Wilson at the Club.

Mrs. Boody, who is spending the season at the Hawthorne Inn, entertained at the Club a few of her friends on Friday.

On Tuesday, July 14, the women's tournament occurred followed by a tea at the Club. Mrs. Richardson of New York won the tournament and Mrs. Belvedere Brooks from Montreal, who is a guest at the Moorland came in second.

Continuing its season of activity which began on the Fourth with the club dinner at which over a hundred and thirty guests were present, the Bass Rocks Golf Club is already dated far ahead for luncheons, bridges, and teas. On Monday afternoons, the customary club bridges will be continued throughout the season. On Wednesday, Mrs. Stahl, the wife of the well-known Admiral Stahl from Washington, entertained at a charming luncheon at the club house. Another delightful luncheon, occurring on the same day was given by Miss M. B. Day from Baltimore, who is occupying the Dr. Ayer cottage at Bass Rocks.

Miss Louise Condit from Boston gave on Thursday afternoon a tea for the Garden Club at her summer home at Bass Rocks.

On Saturday afternoon, July 11, Mrs. Frank Nash from Syracuse, entertained a group of friends at her summer home at Bass Rocks with a luncheon and bridge.

Mrs. Victor Kauffman of Washington entertained recently at a luncheon which she gave at the club. At another luncheon here, Mrs. Mason from Syracuse, entertained twelve of her friends.

Among recent arrivals at the Moorland is Mrs. Ovid Butler Jameson of Indianapolis. Mrs. Jameson is the sister of Booth Tarkington.

Alternative bids were opened at the State House, Tuesday for the construction of a $50,000 cement or steel bulkhead to extend two-thirds of a mile.

EASTERN POINT

THE WEEK has been enlivened by the coming of the youthful contestants from Marblehead, Annisquam, Rockport and other centers in the contests for the right to sail for the Sears cup which is scheduled for in the waters of Long Island Sound.

Mrs. S. A. Raymond of the Ramparts is entertaining Mrs. Harold Clark and son, David, of Cleveland.

Mrs. Robert Goheen of Dahguela, India, is also a guest at the Ramparts, and will return to India later in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe Nesbitt of Haverford, Penn., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Laughlin of Sewickley, Pa., and Mrs. William Thayer Brown of Short Hills, N. J., are guests of Mrs. George E. Tener at her Eastern Point home.

Miss Carol Young of Boston has opened one of the cottages on the Pollard estate and will remain until the close of the season.

The Caroline Sinkler cottage on Eastern Point Boulevard, which has been closed thus far this season during the absence of the owner in Europe, has been taken for the rest of the season by the William Dexters of Marlboro Street, Boston.

The Beachcroft: M. Montgomery, G. F. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Parker, Mrs. R. E. Oressay, Boston; Rose McMahon, Somerville; Anna E. McDonough, Dorchester; Mary Litchfield, Cambridge; Eleanor Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Smith and family, Alvin Dexter, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. Westbury and family, West Newton; Molly Sweeny, Jamaica Plain; W. J. Walker, Medford; Mrs. Howard Chidley, Winchester; Bessie L. Holden, Concord; Mrs. Annie Root, Louise MacPherson, Mrs. Frank Pease, Helen and Betty Pease, Lee; Martha Martin, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Bird, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Fortz A. Holmstrand, Miss Mahler, K. B. Sturges, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. S. D. H. Weld, Larchmont; Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Thomas, Alfred S. Thomas, R. Dodge, New Rochelle; R. S. Thomas, Staten Island; Mary A. Rich, Catherine Peltz, Albany; Mrs. Fenton Marshall, Schenectady;

The House of MANAHAN

MAGNOLIA
BRANCH SHOP

SUMMER FASHIONS

FEATURE

Silk Play Frocks
Beach Togs
and Swim Suits
Chiffon Afternoon
and Evening Dresses
Coats
Hats

280 Boylston Street
BOSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan M. Veino, Watervliet; Alice Louise Chase, Mary A. Sherman, Mrs. Dolores F. Hurd, George Frary, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Eckeson, Medina, N. Y.; Mrs. Julian Rothery, Anna Rothery, Bronxville, N. Y.; M. A. McCormick, M. McCormick, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith, Utica; Frances M. Bigelow, Hannah C. Bennett, Eleanor F. Welsh, Genevieve B. Corey, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cadd, Bridgeport; Irene Lawrence, Charlotte; Martha Bradley, Gastonia; C. A. Hasty, Maxton, N. C.; Frank Bray, Nellie Home, Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Fayette B. Dow, Washington; Ruth D. Elder, Berkeley, Calif.; Nancy D. Funkhouser, Harrisonburg, Va.; Mrs. C. A. Harty, Maxton, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brazer, Wilson Brazer, Lansdowne, Pa.; Mary Brown and Margaret Brown, Detroit; Joanna E. Lavery, M. Kathleen Hickey, Concord, N. H.; G. Charlotte Lunden, Leonora Guiain, Middletown, Ct.; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Gordon and son, Providence.

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

THE BEAUTIFUL WEATHER and preceding rains have again combined so satisfactorily to give Rockport the clean, swept look for which it is so famous. Once more the beaches and streets are filled with bustling gayety as with the arrival of clear skies and sunshine the round of pleasure on the golf course, beach, and water is resumed.

New arrivals at Turk's Head Inn include: M. F. McTague, H. C. Trombley, L. M. Poole, Boston; Mrs. Adele Esty, Dorchester; Mrs. L. M. Wall, Brookline; L. F. Diemar, Mrs. A. P. Shaffer, Worcester; Adele E. Meister, Dedham; Mrs. George W. Klett, Hartford; W. E. Johnson, Bellows Falls; H. C. Crowell, Bangor; H. O. Hanson, Providence; Professor and Mrs. E. H. Sneath, Charles McGowan, New Haven; Elise W. Searing, Flushing; Jane and Margaret Churchill, Englewood; L. B. Churchill, Rumson; Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Goggin, White Plains; Louise Benjamin, Barbara Eaton, Montclair; Mrs. J. H. Sypher, Miss Sypher, Constance C. Jones, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Horn, Indianapolis; Helen V. Wheeler, San Francisco.

At Straitsmouth Inn recent arrivals include: Mrs. William D. Brigham, Mrs. O. C. Sawtelle, Mrs. George Agry, Maud Parks, Emily H. Smith. H. L. Windsor, Bennett Springer, Boston; Ruth E. Wheeler, Cambridge; Amy Wardell, Wellesley Hills; Mrs. G. M. Huntly, S. Huntly, Everett; Mrs. Bond, Miss White, Methuen; Harold S. Eames, Weston; W. W. Lathrop, Taunton; Eunice Lathrop, Wellesley; Mrs. L. D. Apley, Mrs. Frank Chamberlain, Hudson; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Vinal, Winchester; F. W. Swan, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Patterson, M. Hanford, Bridgeport; Mrs. Oscar Troeve, Mary Anne Troeve, Dexter Brigham, New York; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Cresson, Margaret D. and Mary R. Cresson, Swaithmore; Mrs. John Ommert, Pittsburgh; Agnes L. Birney, E. F. Engle. Philadelphia; B. Betty Berger, Isabel King, Marion Hiller, Cleveland; L. D. Grisbann, Indianapolis.

On July 24, guests at Straitsmouth Inn enjoyed a lecture on "Wilderness Wonders," by M. P. Greenwood Adams, Australian explorer and lecturer.

At the Granite Shore recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. George C. Lord, Dorchester; N. H. Pentland, Worcester; Margaret Wall, Jane M. Clark, Ethel M. Gilmore, New York City.

Recent arrivals at the Manning House include: J. D. Carney, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay, New York City.

Recent arrivals at the Edward include: Louisa A. Wells, Elizabeth Thackara, Cambridge; J. M. Stencke, Richmond Hill, N. Y.; Walter K. Belknap, Louisville.

At Rockemere Manor recent arrivals include: Esther G. Barrows, Boston; Mrs. Adelaide Cutler, Brookline; Dorothy H. Weeks, Allston; Maud Belcher, Natick; Sarah Markly, Ardmore; Annie C. and Mrs. Margaret Eaton, Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Thayer of Atlantic are at Petite Maison.

(Continued on page 19)

ANNISQUAM

THE CHAND BROTHERS, stage drivers of Annisquam, have always been credited with setting out the willow slips, now the Willows. But now comes claim that Samuel Curtis, road surveyor, some time before the war, was the originator of the job, the idea being to remedy a swampy section in the roadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bucknam of Wellesley Hills are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow L. Webber of Wellesley who have the William M. Jelly house on Norwood's Heights this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Babson of Wellesley are passing the season quietly at their cottage at Railcut Hill, which they have sequestrated as a bird sanctuary, one of the high hillocks of the Cape.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexis Arapoff have Appletree Lodge on the Hyatt estate at Annisquam. Mr. Arapoff is an artist and finds many subjects to his liking at Annisquam.

Arthur M. Wiggin and family of Brookline have returned to Squam Rock cottage, remaining until after Labor Day.

Another Brookline family returning for the season is that of Sherburne Wiggin, who are occupying Rockholm cottage.

Arthur M. Wiley and family have one of the cottages in the Diamond Cove district.

Mrs. J. Bertram Williams of Cambridge is at Hermitage Ledge cottage.

Here is one to figure out quickly: Dr. A. R. Keith of West Hartford, Conn., has returned to the "Ark," his summer home, for several seasons.

Prof. Charles L. Norton of Boston and family have taken occupancy of their colonial cottage in Leonard street for the season.

William H. Pear and family of Cambridge, long time cottagers here, came in June to their Cambridge Avenue house.

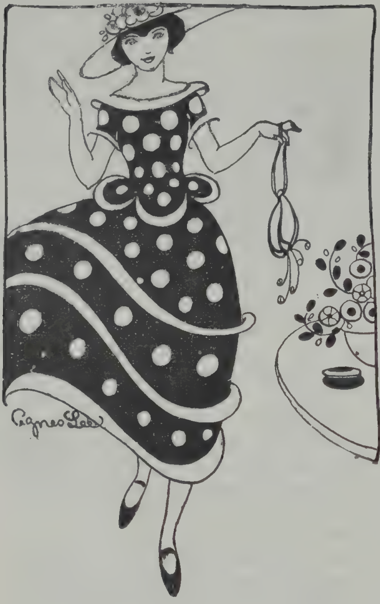
Mrs. W. B. Stearns of Brookline has the Sanford Riley cottage this season.

Rev. Dr. Eugene Rodman Shippen and family, formerly minister of the Second Church in Boston, have arrived at the house in Arlington Street they have occupied for some years.

Trenor Tilley of Holyoke and family have taken occupancy of a cottage in the Rockholm district.

Fred H. Norton and family of Win-

(Continued on page 15)



MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

Peggy was shopping. That is to say, Chubby was doing the shopping and Peggy was acting as chief advisor. Chubby had just received word of the unexpected marriage of a favorite cousin, and in order to do justice to the event he had whisked Peggy away to the Grande Maison de Blanc on a shopping tour. The array of beautiful luncheon and dinner sets captivated Peggy. Even Chubby was dazzled by the Intricasies of design in the delicate Point de Venice and Flemish lace affairs. There were, besides the luncheon sets, lace tea cloths and matching napkins, banquet cloths, also of Flemish and Point de Venice lace, and a wide variety which were delicately tinted and some lovely informal luncheon sets of gayly colored and embroidered patterns. They finally decided on a twenty-five piece luncheon set of delicate ivory lace, and departed highly pleased with their purchase. They were just leaving the Grande Maison de Blanc when they simultaneously noticed Marcia's car across Lexington avenue.

"You can't escape the members of this Clan, no matter where you go," announced Peggy. "Let's go over to Manahan's. I'll bet she's either there or in Ovington's."

And Peggy turned out to be quite correct. They entered Manahan's just in time to see Marcia, wrapped in a beautiful fall coat with a luxurious collar, parading before the mirror, and Anne with a rapt expression surveying her.

"You're just in time," Marcia exclaimed after surprised greetings had been exchanged. "Phil and I are leaving tomorrow for the mountains for a few days and you can help me select a coat from this marvelous array."

They were delighted with all of them and finally selected a rich tweed mixture with a large sport fur collar. Anne was across the room breathing deep covetous sighs before a gorgeous display of evening wraps. There were all kinds and very smart with their metal brocade richness and fur-trimmed touch of softness. One in particular, of deep crimson chiffon velvet, was especially suited to Anne's dark beauty. It was short, of course, with luxurious Dolman sleeves, and could be made to fit very snugly.

"Say, are there any men around here?" Chubby, uncomfortable and disinterested, wanted to know.

"Poor Chub," laughed Marcia. "Phil and Jimmie and Gay went over to Ovington's to do some table-buying. wasn't it, Anne?"

"Right," said Anne. "Let's all go over, I'd like to have a look at those tables Gay has been raving about, myself."

They found at Ovington's a much disturbed three-some, the two men trying to out-argue the indignant Gay.

"Oh, defend me!" entreated Gay of the new-comers. "I claim that these green iron based, glass topped nests of tables are by far the most practical and best for our porch. Those two bullies—" pointing at the laughing Phil and Jimmie.

"Now Gay," interrupted Phil, "you know that both Jimmie and I admit the beauty and worth of those tables, but we can both just picture that tiled top table being a great success on your porch. Look, Chubby, can't you? Just the right height for bridge or backgammon and with those bright squares of orange and black, just big enough to use and small enough not to be in the way."

"I give up," sighed Gay. "You certainly missed your vocation, Phil—"

She was interrupted by a little squeal of delight from Marcia across the store. "Look at this one!" she cried. "So tiny and beautiful, solid mahogany inlaid with satin wood, and look, Phil, at this other one. It looks just like a beautiful Japanese tray, but you just press these levers on the ends and, bing! the legs drop down and you have a table!"

"Oh," groaned Phil, "whose idea was it to come in here? I can see that I won't be going home empty-handed."

Which was quite true, and Gay was given her way by the taking of both tables, and every one enthusiastically accepted Chubby's plan that they return to Gloucester and play some miniature golf before lunch.

"At the New East Gloucester Miniature Golf Course," said Gay, "otherwise I refuse. "I'm bad enough anyhow and get so mad. At least over there

SERVICE PLATES FOR THE BRIDE

THE finest service plates in the world are to be seen at Ovington's. Service plates from the famous potters . . . service plates, distinctive in design, distinguished for their decoration and color . . . service plates that are aristocratic in mien yet ever so humbly priced. $25 a doz. up.

OVINGTON'S
LEXINGTON AVENUE, MAGNOLIA, MASS.
FIFTH AVENUE at 39th STREET, NEW YORK

you can't find any fault with the course and there's plenty to interest you when you get too disgusted with your own playing to feel like enjoying much of anything."

"It sure is cute," enthused Marcia. "I could just sit down and look at it, so attractive."

"I remember last week over there," said Gay, "but, by the way, where's Bud? I meant to ask you before."

Marcia looked at Phil. Phil looked at Gay and tried to be nonchalant in his answer. "I don't know what's the matter. She wouldn't come."

Later on the way back to town from the East Gloucester Miniature Golf Course, Phil and Marcia confided to Anne that they didn't know what had happened to Bud. "She just hasn't been the same at all since the accident," said Phil.

"She's worried about Jack's illness, that's all," furnished Anne. "If you weren't blind, you'd see yourself that she's crazy about him."

"It's not that, Anne, I know," said Marcia a little wearily. "I wish I could explain why it's not, but I can't."

From this, Anne tactfully turned the subject to Jack's serious illness, starting on the night of the accident.

"Shaken nerves, that's all," announced Phil. "It was a tough strain. He'll be all right any time now."

"Don't forget to stop at Trowbridge's for that prescription for him," said Marcia.

"But," persisted Anne, "how about that night a week ago when Bud went running after him and we all waited an hour for her to come back, and finally the rest of us went home."

"Oh," said Phil, "she just thought he was sick and went down to help him. She came back later and Marcia and I went down and found him unconscious. His nerves had just snapped I guess."

Arriving at Gloucester, concentration on the tempting menus at Towle's ended all further conversation.

"You order for me," said Jimmie. "I have to run over to the Cape Ann National. Just get me one of those rare special luncheons."

"Order that ice while you're out, at the Cape Pond Ice Company," reminded Gay.

"Hey!" called Phil, "wait a minute. Marcia, what did you say the name of those shirts was at Earle O. Phillips' Smart Shop? Those Irish poplins?"

"Burton's," replied Marcia. "And get some ties there, too, Phil."

"How about buying something to take home to Bud?" suggested Peggy, as they were leaving Towle's. "How about some of Towle's home-made candy? Mmm, I'd like some myself."

"Funny," remarked Phil, "I thought of getting her something while I was out, and dropped in Blanchard's." He drew out of his pocket a little sport silver link bracelet with a diamond shaped smooth monogramed clasp. Every one was highly enthusiastic and Peggy immediately began to wonder if Bud would mind if she bought one like it.

"I have to go up to Brown's and get a radio," announced Anne. "Is there anything I can get for any one while I'm there?"

"I'll go with you," offered Chubby. "I'd like to look over their supply this summer. I bought mine there last year, and it's as good as new. They have four makes: Radiola, Atwater Kent, Majestic and Victor."

"That store!" enthused Gay. "Is there anything they don't carry?"

"How about all meeting afterwards at Barker's?" suggested Peggy, trying hard to look innocent.

"O. K., Peggy," laughed Chubby. "You saved me suggesting it that time."

So the Clan temporarily disbanded again, Peggy leaving for Armstrong's to buy some new sport oxfords and stockings; Phil and Marcia for the Cape Ann National Bank; Jimmie and Gay, enthralled by Peggy's redecorated living room, departed for Steele & Abbott's and the North Shore Furniture Company to make arrangements

(Continued on page 22)

"THE TROUSSEAU HOUSE OF AMERICA"

Grande Maison de Blanc

538-540 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

MAGNOLIA, MASS.

Table Damask
Fancy Table Linen
Lace Dinner Cloths
Bed Linen and Spreads
Blankets and Comforters
Bath Towels and Rugs
Towelings

Handkerchiefs and Neckwear
Lingerie and Negligees
Infants' and Children's Wear
Blouse and Top Dresses
Sport Coats and Sweaters
Purses and Bags
Motor Rugs

It is understood by our patrons that our Magnolia Prices are identical with those in our New York Shop

Patrons will receive the personal attention of

Mr. RAYMOND BROWN

Resident Manager

Telephone 459 Magnolia

The old master, Frederick C. Poole, with children of Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw-McKean —Margarett, Jenny, Shaw and Harry (twins).

There passed on last fall a man probably as widely known to the many thousands who have visited Cape Ann in the past 30 years as any other on Cape Ann, Frederick C. Poole, who had attained the ripe milestone of 81 years.

Mr. Poole was born in Switzerland but came to New York with his parents before he learned to talk. He was apprenticed to the cabinet maker's trade but became something more than a workman. The same spirit and genius that animated Heppelwhite, Chippendale, Phyffe, and others to formulate artistic creations in household furniture which have won for them immortality was also his inspiration.

To his art he gave enthusiastically all that was in him. Every article that came from the hand of this master craftsman was the output of love and painstaking care. Coming to this city in his prime, his ability and talent were recognized. His restorations and originations were eagerly sought and in a short time he built up a business employing the most proficient craftsmen of the kind to be found. His handiwork may be seen in the homes of the wealthy and cultured in every state of the country and Canada, valued above money considerations.

He was an ardent baseball "fan." As a boy he was at the birth of baseball in this country, crossing the ferry to Hoboken to watch the first games in the Elysian fields (how appropriate to lovers of the game), admission being free in that pre-commercialized sports era. He was a constant attendant at the big games in Boston and when age prevented these journeys, the radio filled in for him much of what he formerly visualized. It was while listening to one of these air-strewn descriptions of a league game that the end came peacefully in an arm chair. They found him a little later with a smile on his face. He had passed on to that Elysian field where the Great Umpire gives his judgment unerringly. A ripe, rich life, rounded and happily completed. He loved children and our picture of him is with a group of the little ones of one of his clients, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw McKean.

His work lives on in the establishment under the auspices of his daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Keffer, in whom is the spirit that animated the founder of the house.

OCEANSIDE THEATRE MAGNOLIA MASSACHUSETTS
MR. W. ROSING
By arrangement with ROSS THOMPSON
PRESENTS A SEASON OF
DRAMA AND INTIMATE OPERA
Opening JULY 20th for One Week with
PAULINE LORD in "EFFIE GALLOWS"
A new play by Claire Spencer

JULY 27-28-29-30-31, AUGUST 1
GEORGE HOUSTON in
"SECOND MAN"
by S. N. Behrman
(Permission of The Theatre Guild)
AUGUST 4-6-7
"FAUST"
Opera by Gounod (sung in English)
AUGUST 10-11-12-13-14-15
CORA WITHERSPOON in
"THE NOTORIOUS LADY"
A new play by John Entenza

AUGUST 19-20-21
ANNA DUNCAN in a
DANCE PROGRAM and CHARLES HEDLEY
in "PAGLIACCI"
Opera by Leoncavallo (sung in English)
AUGUST 24-25-26-27-28-29
FIRST PRODUCTION IN AMERICA of
"SIMOON"
Famous French play by H. R. Lenormand
With a Distinguished Cast

Tickets may be secured from MISS EDITH ATWATER, Oceanside Hotel
Single seats .... $ 2.50
All six performances 12.00
Five performances $10.50
Four performances 8.75
Three performances $7.00

MRS. EVANS R. DICK, JR., Managing Director

EAST GLOUCESTER

(Continued from page 9)

Recent arrivals at the Rockaway include: Mrs. H. E. North, Katherine Doin, Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn R. Cherby, H. F. Bradford, Boston; H. S. Young, Cambridge; Mrs. Henry P. Murray, Grace E. Barnes, Emily Barnes, Jessie Scott, Worcester; Alfred E. Smith, Concord; Laura Hovey Sayre, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Cody, Patricia Cody, Gardner; Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Hammer, Branford; Blanche G. Snow, Pawtucket; Ella S. Howard, Northampton; Dorothy Q. Veeds, Hartford; V. F. Page, G. D. Mosher, Winifred Fell, Charlotte A. Tremper, Margaret B. Allen, New York City; Mrs. James D. Cox, Mary Corwin, E. Josephine Corwin, Middletown; Mrs. R. Reimer, Brooklyn; G. H. Dennison, Pittsburgh; Betty Gaddis, Summit; Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Bartow, Jr., Englewood; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Kay, Roselle Park; John U. Perkins, Washington; Mrs. Robert Carter, Susan Carter, University of Virginia; Mrs. C. W. Blow, T. R. Blow, St. Louis.

At Merrill Hall: J. W. Browning, Boston; L. H. Marion, Provincetown; Helen and Minnie O'Donnell, Robert Mahn and son, New York City; C. M. Benson, Armenia; Mrs. F. S. Condit and daughter, Summit.

At the Pilgrim: William Lowe, Boston; William A. Finney, Brookline; M. K. Henwood, Germantown.

At Cove Villa, the many artists who make their summer home here season after season have inaugurated a custom, new to this part of the country but quite widely in practice in New York and Connecticut. Each artist has donated a picture to Mr. Sheedy, the manager and owner of the Villa, to hang wherever he chooses in the interior. The collection is nearly complete and interesting in its variety and beauty.

Recent arrivals at the Villa include: Ruth L. Alexander, Elizabeth Ewer, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bosworth, Violet E. James, Boston; John E. Lerch, C. F. Lamb, Cambridge; F. C. McCormick, Worcester; Marjorie Pierce, Lexington; A. W. Schattlam, Edwin A. Black, Betty Baker, New York City; Willard Brownwell, Albany; Mrs. E. G. Small, Tarrytown; Professor R. W. Roberts, University of California.

ANNISQUAM

(Continued from page 11)

chester make their summer home in a cottage in Leonard Street.

William H. Graves has returned to Orchard cottage, Adams Hill.

Hollis French and family of Boston are in their Squam Rock cottage.

William H. Fobes and family are among the Diamond Cove cottagers who have opened their cottage for the summer.

Charles H. Gleason and family of Newton have arrived for the season.

Mrs. James H. Dwinell of Winchester has come to her Norwood's Height summer residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dewey and family of Boston have the Pray cottage in Arlington Street.

Charles E. Dennison and family of Boston have come to their Revere Street summer home on property originally in the Dennison family for nearly three centuries.

Philip A. Davis and family of Concord annually make their summer home here. They have the Adams cottage, Adams Hill.

Rev. Dr. Davis Wasgatt Clark and family are again occupying "High Elm" cottage in Arlington Street.

Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Bloombergh and family of Chestnut Hill have a cottage in the Norwood's Heights section this season.

Mrs. Walter O. Adams has the Terrace cottage. Mrs. Rayne Adams of New York has the Homestead.

William Chester Chase and family have returned to one of the Adams cottages for another season. Mr. Chase is one of the associate architects designing the new Federal building for Gloucester.

J. Rush Green of Somerville will pass the summer at his home on Barberrie Heights.

James Guiler and family of Newton, who have made Squam their summer home for the past twenty years, are again in occupancy of Wigwam cottage.

Frederick Manley Ives and family of Winchester are others of the colony of long standing again among the cottage colony.

Mrs. Melbourne H. Hardwick has come to her studio in River Road.

E. McKendry Hayden and family are in the Coddington cottage.

Frank H. Howes and family of Newton will spend another season at their cottage, Annisquam Heights.

Hornblower & Weeks

ESTABLISHED 1888

Members New York, Boston and Chicago Stock Exchanges

Investment Securities

60 CONGRESS STREET,
BOSTON

42 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK

Chicago Detroit Cleveland Providence Portland Pittsburgh

You are cordially invited to an

Exhibition and Sale

Needlework, Lingerie, Embroideries from Foreign Lands (Florentine a Specialty), Commerced and finished pieces also Embroidery Materials, Canvas, etc. Some fine old Silver. Among the Brass Pieces are several Old Church Candlesticks with Bells, Medals, Curios, Antiques, Jewel Cases, One Confederation Medal. Priceless Old Real Laces. Shawls, Scotch, Turkish, Paisley, Tissue and White Crepe. Counterpanes. Hand Woven Rugs. One Fine Old Prayer Rug for Wall Hanging. South Sea Island and Mexican Drawn Work. Tea and Bridge Sets and Doilies. Sofa Pillows, Jewelry and Bric-a-Brac, Bed Quilts and Quilt Patterns, Linen Sheets, Pillow Cases, Table Cloths, Towels, etc.

Free Embroidery Lessons

at the

Public Library Art Gallery
Magnolia, Mass.

NEW YORK, 8 East 48th St.
WASHINGTON, 1211 Conn. Ave.
NEWPORT, R. I.

BOSTON, 587 Boylston St.
LOS ANGELES, CAL.
PASADENA, CAL.

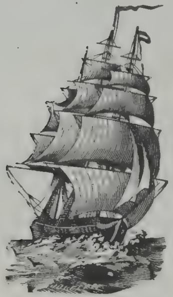
A. Schmidt & Son, Inc. IMPORTERS OF

Silver and Sheffield Plate & Fine Porcelains

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA
Telephone Magnolia 408

Fine Wedding Presents a Specialty
Christmas Gifts held for December Delivery

TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE PRACTICAL
RIGHT VALUES AND COMPLETE VARIETY ARE TO BE FOUND IN THE SHOPS OF
GLOUCESTER
ENJOY THE PASSING HOUR AND
THE CAPE ANN BREEZE



BONNIE PRINCE BEATS TAJA AT EASTERN POINT

One of the closest races in all classes for quite a time was sailed at Eastern Point, Wednesday afternoon, July 15. A fine breeze from south southwest, shifting a bit to southwest, prevailed.

The course was to be windward, leeward, but the variation in wind made a close reach instead of a beat. The summary:

CLASS R

Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	1 26 16
Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 26 40
Tabasco V, Harry H. Wiggin	1 27 00

SONDER CLASS

Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 20 47
Skeezix, Mrs. Frances Carter	1 20 57
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 21 45
Hevella, Mrs. Jona. S. Raymond	1 22 53
Tid III, Mrs. Carlton Swift	1 25 15
Shamrock, Paula Patch	1 30 50
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 30 51

TRIANGLE CLASS

Sprite, Margaret Farrell	1 30 30
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 31 15
Dart, Paul Comins	1 33 35
Scalene, Henry E. Worcester, Jr.	1 33 37
Bluebill, Horace D. Bent	1 33 40
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 33 47
Cursor, William G. Brown, Jr.	1 35 50
Athlon, Harry H. Walker	1 36 45
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	1 37 05
Idol, Frances Gleason	1 37 14
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	1 37 35
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	1 37 45
Kitmer, 2d, M. L. Talbot	1 42 44

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS

Touareg, Lawrence Brown	1 28 40
Maryland, Kate Boyce	1 34 37
Nemo, Alex Bratenahl	1 35 10
Old Ironsides, Jock Raymond	1 36 07
Sylph, Cunningham Brothers	1 38 50
Fontana, Emma Raymond	1 38 56
Arethusa, Leonard Ellis	1 40 10
Swan, Torrence Baker	1 40 40
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	1 40 45
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	1 41 40

TAJA AND TERN WIN EASTERN POINT RACES

A brisk southerly breeze with a sharp jump to the sea gave the Eastern Point yachtsmen smart sailing conditions Saturday afternoon. The first leg was a beat followed by two reaches. In the R's the Taja and Bonnie Prince sailed an even windward race, Taja rounding 20 seconds to the good. On the reaches Taja stretched out the margin of water steadily.

The Tern lived up to her reputation as the glutton for this kind of going, jumping right out in front at the gun fire.

In the Triangles Quail scored again. Young Jock Raymond in Old Ironsides, won by four minutes in the Cape Cod divisions.

TRIANGLE CLASS

Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 53 40
Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 55 00
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot	1 57 15
Mavcurneen, Gerald O'Brien	1 55 19
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	1 58 20
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 58 22
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	1 58 22
Flirt, William D. Elwell	1 58 55
Curscr, Robert Brown	1 59 05
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	1 59 07
Athlon, Harry H. Walker	2 00 01
Dart, Paul Comins	2 04 20

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS

Old Ironsides, Jock Raymond	1 02 19
Touareg, Lawrence Brown	1 06 26
Fontana, Emma Raymond	1 07 28
Swan, Torrence Baker	1 08 12
Bemo, Charles Bratenahl	1 12 15

CLASS R

Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 41 07
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	1 43 26

SONDER CLASS

Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 41 05
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 44 15
Skeezix, Richard Woodbury	1 49 01
Hevella, Mrs. Jona. S. Raymond	1 52 00
Lady II, W. V. MacDonald	1 52 12
Vim, Pendleton Lewis	1 55 28
Tid III, Mrs. Carleton Swift	1 55 35
Shamrock, Paula Patch	2 03 07

SPECIAL CLASS

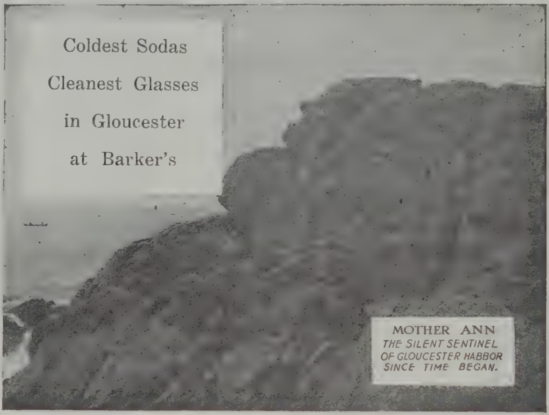
Sylph, Cunningham Brothers	1 12 31
Maryland, Kate Boyce	1 17 46
Arethusa, Leonard Ellis	1 17 47
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	1 18 58

TWO AT EASTERN POINT

Two races were sailed at Eastern Point Sunday that of the morning being a resail of the July 8th race in the Sonders and Triangle classes. A moderate 8-knot breeze from the southwest backing to the southward prevailed in the morning. In the Sonders the Demon, which made her first appearance Saturday in two years, held the lead to the mark, Skeezix, Tern, and Hevella coming close on.

In the triangles Scalene from Squam was sent over ahead of the signal and was handicapped two minutes in rectifying her mistake. Black Bess led both on windward and leeward work to the finish.

The afternoon race was sailed in a moderate southwesterly, Sonders and Triangles comprising the entrants. The triangular course was indicated, a beat to the southward, a spinnaker reach to the western mark and a reach home. As in the morning Demon took the bit in her teeth at the start. The flotilla split into two divisions to windward but Tern which had gone to the westward worked into first place in the middle of the leg turning 1½ minutes ahead of Tid IV and maintaining her advantage on the run and reach to the finish. The Quail in the Triangles kept up her



Barker's Soda Fountain has such a wide reputation for the richness and quality of its Ice-Cream Sodas, Frozen Whipped Cream, College Ices and Specialities, that people come for miles around to get sodas at this fountain.

BARKER'S DRUG STORE, 134 Main Street

Summer Residents of Cape Ann

We Carry the Finest and Best Selected of Summer Footwear in This Locality

SPORT, GOLF, TENNIS and BEACH SHOES

Exclusive Agent for Arch Preserver—Queen Quality Shoes—Imported Deauville Sandals for women and children—Florsheim Shoes for Men—Buster Brown Shoes for boys and girls (Prices reasonable and to your liking). Warner's "Society Maid" Silk Hose 99c to $1.69.

DR. SHOLL FOOT APPLIANCES

Armstrong's Busy Corner

106 Main, Corner Center Street

ESTABLISHED 33 YEARS. TEL. CONN.

CHECKING ACCOUNTS
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS

We Act as Trustee, Executor or Administrator.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

Cape Ann National Bank

"THE SERVICE BANK"

154 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER, MASS.

good work of the past two weeks and finished more than two minutes over Cursor, second boat. She had the lead throughout. The summary:

RESAIL OF JULY 8 RACE

SONDER CLASS

Skeezix, Richard Woodbury	1 28 44
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 28 56
Hevella, Mrs. Jona. S. Raymond	1 29 13
Demon, Isaac Patch, Jr.	1 30 35
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 30 50
Lady II, W. V. MacDonald	1 33 29
Tid III, Mrs. Carlton Swift	1 34 25
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 34 52

TRIANGLE CLASS

Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 38 39
Bluebill, Horace Bent	1 39 05
Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 40 08
Cursor, W. G. Brown, Jr.	1 40 16
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	1 40 57
Dart, Paul Comins	1 41 13
Scalene, H. E. Worcester, Jr.	1 41 20
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 42 38
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	1 43 15
Idol, Donald Gleason	1 44 36
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	1 44 59

AFTERNOON RACES

SONDER CLASS

Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 54 33
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 55 34
Skeezix, Harry Wheeler	1 58 04
Lady II, W. V. MacDonald	1 58 16
Hevella, Mrs. Jona. S. Raymond	1 58 20
Demon, Isaac Patch, Jr.	1 59 24
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	2 01 26
Tid III, Mrs. Carleton Swift	2 02 43
Vim, Pendleton Lewis	2 03 48
Bandit, Jack Mead	2 06 12

TRIANGLE CLASS

Quail, Epes W. Merchant	2 08 35
Cursor, W. G. Brown, Jr.	2 10 49
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	2 11 31
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	2 12 05
Dart, Paul Comins	2 12 17
Injun, Hastings Gamage	2 12 55
Kitmer, II, H. L. Talbot	2 13 55
Triton, Charles Tolman	2 15 35
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	2 17 54
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	2 18 38
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	2 19 36

SCALENE, NISAN AND MALOLO WIN RACES

A brisk southwesterly breeze, approaching 18-knot force, which kicked up a sharp chop in the bay, gave the heavy-weather boats a chance at Annisquam Saturday. Incidentally, it developed weak spots in the gear and rigging, as three boats were towed in as breakdowns.

Henry Worcester, with Scalene, added another tally to his wins in the Triangle class.

In the 15-foot class, Commodore Wiggin was euchred out of the race by Dan Woodbury in the Nisan when within a stone's throw of the line. The commodore had led all over the course, with Nisan following, and established a comfortable three-quarters of a minute lead, when coming into the river, Nisan stood in, under the bar, while Tabasco was held under the Squam shore. On the next tack Nisan crossed the commodore's bow near Marsh's Rock and in two more short tacks got the gun.

John White and Ben Smith had a nip-and tuck fight in the Cats, while Mary Bradley, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Charles H. Bradley, proved herself a thorough-going heavy-weather sailor by beating Squam-born Harry Griffin for first place by three seconds. The summary:

TRIANGLE CLASS

Scalene, H. E. Worcester, Jr.	1 40 32
Sayhia, Brooks Stevens	1 43 01
Blue Hill, Paul Woodbury	1 43 26
Idol, John Gleason	1 44 25

15-FOOTERS

Nisan, Daniel H. Woodbury	1 49 13
Hoorah, H. S. Wiggin	1 50 16
Tabasco, Jr., H. H. Wiggin	1 50 19
Yosan, Evelyn Woodbury	disabled

CATBOATS

Kittiwake, J. White	1 27 16
Caterpillar, Ben Smith	1 28 43
Catling, Andrew Marshall	1 30 01
Scat, Frances Jeffery	1 32 23
Ketchup, N. Freedman	1 38 19
Catspaw, W. B. Stearns, Jr.	disabled

FISH CLASS

Malolo, Mary Bradley	1 35 09
Perch, Harry Griffin	1 35 12
Pollywog, J. S. Mecham	1 36 47
Flying Fish, Albert Hale	1 36 50
Goldfish, J. Bloombergh	1 40 23
Sea Horse, B. Mecham	1 41 16
Navarra, L. Crawford	1 47 29
Blackfish, Roscoe Philbrook	1 47 53
Dab, David Dennison	1 50 50
Shark, C. A. Hamilton, Jr.	2 00 00
Sailfish, C. Hill	disabled

SCALENE WINS AGAIN

Another fine steady southwest breeze favored the yachts at Squam Sunday afternoon with a fairly smooth sea. Harry Worcester won in the triangles in the Scalene. This gave him five wins out of seven starts so far.

A fine setto took place in the Cat class between John White of Wakefield and Ben Smith, two keen young ones, the former winning in Kittiwake. The summary:

TRIANGLES

Scalene, H. E. Worcester, Jr.	1 46 39
Idol, Francis Gleason	1 48 32
Bluebill, Horace Bent	1 49 02
Sayhia, Brooks Stevens	1 54 43

BIRDS

Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	2 10 46
Avis, Norman Elsen	2 17 16

CATS

Kittiwake, J. W. White	1 32 46
Caterpillar, Ben Smith	1 35 29
Katchup, L. Friedman	1 42 35
Catling, Andrew Marshall	1 52 18

FISH BOATS

Sailfish, C. Hill	1 45 18
Flying Fish, Albert Hale	1 46 15
Malolo, Mary Bradley	1 46 34
Pollywog, J. S. Mecham	1 52 47
Blackfish, R. Philbrick	1 53 34
Dab, David Dennison	1 53 47
Navarra, L. Crawford	1 54 45
Goldfish, J. Bloomberg	1 55 44
Perch, Harry Griffin	1 58 48
Shark, C. A. Hamilton	2 00 44

MAIDEE AND ECLIPSE VICTORS AT SANDY BAY

While the Eastern Point and Squam had a hill and dale sea Saturday afternoon, Sandy Bay sailed over a comparatively smooth floor, being under the lee of the Gloucester hills which break the force of a southerly. There was a good capful of wind, however. Cooney piloted the Maidee to victory over a three-cornered course twice repeated, a run to Straitsmouth, a reach to Andrews' Point and a beat to the starting point.

Eclipse won in the Star Class by 42 seconds.

STAR CLASS

Eclipse, Guy Hale	1 45 07
Ibex, Max Kuehne	1 45 49
Vega, Herbert Evans	1 48 44
San Souci, Homer Clark	1 49 56
Star of India, Ralph Hale	1 50 32
Altair, Pierce and Grover	withdrew

SANDY BAY CLASS

Maidee, Gifford Beal	1 38 43
Bobeno, Benton C. Story	1 40 06
Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	1 42 52
Mamie, John Cianciola	1 42 54

(Continued on page 26)

SERVE THE BEST
at no additional cost

YOU cannot afford to compromise with the quality of the food you serve in your summer menus. Near your home you will find a First National Store, specializing in quality foods. Come in and give us the opportunity of assisting you in the selection of the best for your table.

COMBINATION MARKETS AT

147 Main St., Gloucester
37 Main St., Rockport

First National Stores, Inc.

Where New England Buys Its Food.

Quiouhamenec Farm
(Pronounced Ke-ham-e-nec)

SWINSON BROS.
LANDSCAPE GARDENERS

Road and Lawn Tennis Court Construction
Local Agents for Sheep Manure and Fertilizer
Blue Stone for Walks, Driveways and Lawn Tennis Purposes
Telephone 873 Estimates of Cost
EXPERT LAND DRAINING EXCAVATING, GRADING
114 Mt. Pleasant St. EAST GLOUCESTER

Pringle's History of Gloucester, 1892
The Gloucester Tercentenary Book
ALSO FOUR LOG BOOKS OF DEEP SEA VOYAGES
FOR SALE AT
BLANCHARD'S
125 MAIN STREET -:- GLOUCESTER

CARILLON RECITAL

Wednesday evening, July 29, Church of Our Lady of Good Voyage. Kamiel Lefevre, carilloneur, at 8.30 P.M.

1	The Bells of St. Mary's	Adams
2	Old Black Joe	Foster
3	Hymn: A Virgin Most Pure	Christmas Carol
4	Cradle Song	Schubert
5	The Palms	Faure
6	Minuet in G	Beethoven
7	Nellie Gray	Scotch Folksong
8	Humoresque	Dvorak
9	Annie Laurie	Lady John Scott
10	The Perfect Prayer	Henson

LEAHY—WOODBURY

An early summer wedding of interest to the summer colony of this locality occurred Saturday evening when Miss Charlotte Woodbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodbury of Littleton, became the bride of William Edward Leahey of Littleton. Rev. Benjamin B. Hersey of the Annisquam Universalist Church, performed the ceremony which occurred at the family home, 14 Leonard street.

The bride wore her mother's wedding dress, point d'esprit trimmed with mechlin over taffeta and carried swansonia and pink roses. The maid of honor was her sister, Evelyn, who was gowned in green lace and chiffon and carried talisman roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The best man was Paul Caswell Woodbury, brother of the bride. Some 200 attended the reception that followed.

After a motor trip in Canada they will reside in Littleton. The bride is known as one of the skillful women yachtsmen of the North Shore and the Annisquam Yacht Club.

MRS. MOODY AT MANCHESTER

At the invitation women's tennis tournament at the Essex County Club, Manchester, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, most noted of women players, played two matches Tuesday, defeating Mrs. Ary J. Lamme, Jr., of New York in the forenoon and Miss Charlotte Miller, the New York girl who played for the University of California last spring, in the afternoon. The uncrowned champion just went along as she pleased, and evidently has been experimenting with her game, as she defeated Mrs. Lamme, 6—1, 6—3.

Against Miss Miller she met another hard hitter, like Miss Margaret Blake, who is especially strong with her backhand. This match gave the gallery much pleasure as she tried to measure strokes with Helen. Mrs. Moody won 6—2, 6—2, but her service still needs improvement. She made double faults putting the ball in play in both of her matches, and in several other shots Mrs. Moody did not have the success for which she aimed. The weather was hot and the conditions were not suited for her, but she is so much better than any one else in the tournament there is small chance of her being beaten.

Miss Sarah Palfrey of Longwood also had to play two matches, her first against Mrs. B. E. Cole, 2d, of Andover. Miss Palfrey's victory was marked by brilliancy and dazzling strokes. This, Mrs. Cole admitted. In the afternoon Miss Palfrey faced Mrs. John A. Van Ryn, formerly Miss Marjorie Gladman, who was runner up to Miss Morrill last year. The same style of play that Miss Palfrey exhibited in the morning was continued throughout the first set, which she won 6—3.

It was the first meeting of the pair, and the fact Mrs. Van Ryn is one place ahead of the Longwood player in the national ranking added interest to the play. Miss Palfrey took a lead in the second set, and four times she was within a point of cleaning up the contest in straight set with a win of 6—4, only to lapse in her play.

She lacked the anticipation of the first set, and contributed errors. The set became a long drawn out affair, with the lead changing at several stages. Finally Mrs. Van Ryn won, 10—8, to even up the contest.

The third set saw another measuring of strokes. Miss Palfrey won the first two games, but it was not long before she again fell into making errors, and the set was prolonged to 14 games, which the Longwood player finally won 8—6.

What probably was the feature match of the day was played in the forenoon when Miss Marjorie Morrill of the home club and Miss Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., winner of the Longwood singles event last Saturday, took exactly one hour and 40 minutes to finish.

The summary of the day's events:

SINGLES—THIRD ROUND

Miss Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, beat Mrs. Benjamin E. Cole, 2d, North Andover, —2, 6—2; Mrs. Frederic S. Moody, Jr., San Francisco, beat Mrs. Ary J. Lamme, Rye, N. Y., 6—1, 6—3.

FOURTH ROUND

Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper, Santa Barbara, Calif., beat Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere, Southboro, 6—3, 6—2; Miss Mary Greef, Kansas City, beat Miss Cecilia Riegel, Philadelphia, 6—3, 6—4; Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, beat Miss Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., 6—3, 13—11; Miss Sarah Palfrey beat Mrs.

(Continued on page 24)

THE ZONING ORDINANCES!!

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

1873

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Gloucester have been printed in their entirety and are now ready for distribution at the office of the City Clerk, Allen F. Grant, City Hall. Copies will be mailed on application.

In a general way, all the summer resort areas have been made residential sections only. Six types of districts have been designated, namely: 1, single residence districts; 2, general residence districts; 3, apartment house districts; 4, business districts; 5, light industrial districts; 6, heavy industrial districts.

The ordinances specify in detail the requirements, restrictions, area, regulations, yards and courts, nonconforming uses, district boundaries, accessory uses, automobile services, methods of procedure to obtain building permits, changes, variations, appeals, etc. They are of especial interest to summer resident realty owners.

ALLEN F. GRANT, City Clerk.

Gloucester, July 1, 1931.

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

(Continued from page 11)

Mr. and Mrs. George Sloan of Boston are at their summer home in Pleasant Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Kauffman of Brookline have arrived at "Casa del Floria" in the Marmion Way colony.

Anthony Thieme and family have taken the stone Margeson studio, "Saltaire," near Bearskin Neck.

Charles Evans and family of the Marmion Way colony have arrived for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Allen of Cambridge have taken the Allen cottage for another season.

Polly Sullivan recently spent a week at the Granite Shore, arriving here by airplane from New York.

At the Manning House recent arrivals include: Mrs. Charlotte Johnson, Mrs. F. L. Beck, Boston; Anne L. Wallace, Mexico.

Recent guests at the Edward include: William Doelger, Boston; W. B. Griswold and daughter Dorothy, Hyannis; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gardener and daughter Barbara, Scarsdale; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Grapes, Battle Creek.

Guests at Turk's Head Inn are enjoying each evening from 7 to 9 delightful concerts by a stringed ensemble composed of Miss Celia Pond who plays the 'cello, Miss Laura Childs, piano, and Mrs. Goldstein, whose husband is the solo violinist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, violin.

Harold W. Sturtevant and family of Springfield are spending another season at the "Anchorage," Bearskin Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. L. Wingate of Winchester make their summer home at "Serok" cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Y. McIntosh of Brookline have one of the Harvey cottages for the season.

The Jabez L. Robinson family of Cambridge are again established at their cottage on the Headlands.

The Joseph R. Worcester family of Waltham are again domiciled at "Rockend" for the summer.

Mrs. Frederick R. Rugen of Springfield is once more enjoying the beauties of this section at "Rochelle" cottage which she makes her summer residence.

Old comers returning for the heated term to their Marmion way cottage are the Warren D. Rustons of Boston.

Other cottagers of the original colony comprised in this season's list of Land's End residents are the William R. Areys of Salem.

A Cambridge family long enrolled in the Land's End settlement include the John T. G. Nichols.

J. L. W. Cram and family of Newtonville are again in occupancy of their Marmion way cottage.

The William P. Sutton family of Cambridge are at their cottage at Land's End.

Mrs. Louis Elson and son Arthur of Brookline have come for the summer to their Shetland road cottage.

Russell V. Burkhardt and family of Newton have arrived at their house in Prospect street for the season.

Miss Persis Cox and mother, Mrs. Abigail Cox of Northampton have opened their home in Norwood avenue for a stay until the season's close.

Mrs. Lillian B. Fitz-Maurice and

Mortons'

BOOKS, STATIONERY, OFFICE SUPPLIES, GREETING CARDS, GIFTS
and
LENDING LIBRARY
6 PLEASANT ST.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

(Next to Main Street Waiting Room)
Service With a Smile
"The Tea-room with an atmosphere"
Tempting Salads, Sandwiches and Luncheon Specials
AT OUR FOUNTAIN
REFRESHING DRINKS AND ICES
Home-made Candies and Fresh Salted Nut Meats prepared on the premises every day
Ice-Cream Packed with DRY ICE will keep four to five hours without ice or salt.
A Delightful Place to Eat.
RANSELLEAR TOWLE
118 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER

WE OFFER SPECIAL LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING SERVICE FOR SUMMER VISITORS
Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co.
PHONE 524 NOW
Offices and Plants:
8 PARKER ST., - GLOUCESTER

L. E. ANDREWS & CO.
Plumbing and Heating
Kitchen Furnishings, Garden Tools, Prepared Paints, Hardware of all descriptions. Vessel work, Yachting Hardware, Garden Hose, etc.
'Phones 645 and 646
121 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER
(Opposite Waiting Station)
Silent Automatic Oil Furnaces.

EARL O. PHILLIPS
Smart Shop for Men
Smart Clothes for Summer Comfort
A. G. SPALDING BROS.' BATHING SUITS
GOLF BALLS
TENNIS HOSE
HICKOK BELTS
DELPERK PAJAMAS
SUMMER NECKWEAR
ARROW SHIRTS
SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES
ROBER REIS UNDERWEAR
BATHING SUITS
SWEATERS
GOLF HOSE
EARL O. PHILLIPS, Inc. Smart Shop for Men
PERSONAL SERVICE
131 Main Street, Cor. Hancock, Gloucester, Opposite Barker's Drug Store

For Sixty Years

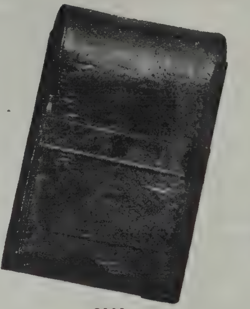
THIS PHARMACY has been dispensing Reliable

Drugs and Medicines

to the people of Cape Ann. Have you ever given us an opportunity to prove to you our capabilities along the lines of EFFICIENCY and REAL SERVICE? We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage this present season.

The Wetherell Pharmacy

P. O. SQUARE



8909
Cigarette Case
$3.75

Memories of Gloucester

TRUE SOUVENIRS of the sea—Bill Folds, Cigarette Cases, and all manner of articles fashioned of tough TANNED CODFISH SKINS

Unlike any other Souvenir, they serve as a constant reminder of this famous fishing town.

$1.00 to $10.00

W. E. BLANCHARD,
Jeweler
125 Main Street, Gloucester, Mass.

daughters, Misses Hildegrade and Ernestine Fitz-Maurice of Philadelphia have arrived at the Henderson cottage on South street for the season. Miss Ernestine Fitz-Maurice has just returned from a year spent in Europe in the study of political economics.

Morris H. Pancoast, who summers on Beach street, had the misfortune to break his leg while at his home in Wellesley.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Worcester of Waltham are cottagers of years' standing returning to their residence at Land's End.

WHEELER'S POINT

The opportunities for boating, swimming, and general good time at Wheeler's Point are attracting again this season the usual large number of cottagers. The location of the resort, so secluded, and at the same time so conveniently near to town is perhaps responsible, too, for its perennial popularity.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Robbins from Boston are spending the season at the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacDowell from New York are at the Point for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kennedy of Everett have arrived for the season.

Professor Harry B. Center of the Boston University School of Journalism is spending his vacation at his cottage on the Point.

Joseph Morton of Medford and his son, Warren, are at their cottage at Wheeler's Point for another season. Mr. Morton is director of the Publicity Department at Tufts College, and his son graduated in June from the same school.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fletcher of Boston with their son Alec who is a student at Yale, are at their cottage for another season.

Thomas Brophy and sister, Miss Kate, are at their cottage on the Point for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyde from Melrose are occupying the "Sunrise" cottage this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson from Melrose are at the "Echo" cottage for the season.

At the Curtis cottage, Lieutenant and Mrs. John J. Curtis and family of Gloucester are enjoying their second season on the Point. Lieut. Curtis is the senior inspector of the Gloucester police force.

Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Olsen of Watertown have come to Wheeler's Point for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newhouse and daughter Lois have returned to the Point for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Sullivan and son, Kenneth, of Boston, have arrived at the Point for the season.

The Misses Glynn of Brookline have returned to the Point for another season.

John P. Foley and family of Melrose have returned again this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Hill of Reading have returned to their cottage again this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williamson of Somerville are spending another season at their cottage on the Point.

Arthur N. Weaver of Dorchester is back again for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Mitchie of Somerville have returned for the season to the Point.

Mrs. L. R. Symmes of Winchester, who has spent over fifteen seasons at the Point with her family, is back again this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Thompson who have made their summer home at the "Lilies" for more than thirty years, are back for another season.

John Little and family of Dorchester, who have spent their summers at the Point for some years, are back again this summer.

Major H. Bert Knowles, U. S. A., and Mrs. Knowles are here for another season.

James Flynn and family from Arlington are former cottagers returning for another season.

Commander and Mrs. Moran from Cambridge are back at their cottage for another season.

Mrs. Andrew Hanson, who teaches at the Lynn English High School, is back at her cottage on the Point for another season.

Miss Mabel Willard, who is a teacher of art at the Melrose High School, is spending the season at the Point.

The Misses Nellie and Honora Murphy, who are respectively librarian and teacher at the Lawrence High School, are spending the summer at the Point.

Edward Foley, Clerk of the Courts at Dorchester, with Mrs. Foley and daughter, Katherine, are at the Point for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burnham and family

East Gloucester
Miniature Golf Course

116 EAST MAIN STREET
18 of the Largest Fairways in New England
NEWEST, MOST UP-TO-DATE
-:- OPENS -:-
Daily at 9 A.M. Sunday at 1 P.M.
FRANK POWLER, Inc.

THE L. E. SMITH COMPANY
Sole Cape Ann Agents for the
Frigidaire, Modern Sanitary Iceless Refrigerator
SILENT FLOW OIL BURNER FOR RANGES
Maytag Washing Machine
Chambers Fireless Gas Range
Plumbing, Heating, Hardware, Lawn Mowers,
Garden Hose, Kitchen Furnishings, Etc.
221-223 Main St., 169 E. Main St.
GLOUCESTER

of Gloucester are back at their cottage for the season.

Mrs. May Winchester and her daughters, Virginia, and Mrs. Benjamin Shute, are at their cottage for another season.

THURSTON'S POINT

Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Powers from Boston have returned to their cottage at Thurston's Point for another season.

Mrs. Winifred D. Roberts of Boston is at her cottage on the Point for the season.

Ex-Governor and Mrs. John L. Bates from Boston are back at their cottage for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morris from Boston are spending the season here.

Mrs. Marie Davis and daughter, Gloria, of Winchester, are at the Point for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hayes of Chelsea are enjoying the season at a cottage on the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Friar from Boston have come again to their cottage on the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Langill of Charlestown are at the Point for the summer.

Mrs. Lucy L. Whittier and her two daughters, Blair and Jean of Brookline, are back at the Point for another season.

Mrs. Roscoe Philbrick of Gloucester is spending the season at the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Craig from Gloucester is spending another summer at the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacDowell from New York are at the Point for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Justin Paache of Medford, who have spent the past ten summers at the Point are enjoying another season here.

MANCHESTER AND THE COUNTY SIDE

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griess, who spent the winter months in France, have returned to their summer place at Beverly Farms.

After a pleasant stay at Long Island Miss Emily Dick has returned to her home at Pride's Crossing.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston A. Thomas have returned from Europe and are located at "The Locusts," their home in Hamilton.

Mrs. William Phillips of "Highover," North Beverly, had a meeting of the executive committee of the Beverly Improvement Society at her home this week.

Mrs. Dudley L. Pickman, Jr., of Beverly Cove has as her guest her mother, Mrs. C. A. Wessel of New York.

Mrs. George Pierce is among the late arrivals, having closed her house at Weston, and is now at her cottage on Old Neck Road.

Miss Lydia Hess, artist, is spending her vacation in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Amory, Jr., of Boston are numbered among the week's arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Burnham are occupying their cottage on Old Neck Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, Jr., of Boston have leased a cottage on Sea Street.

LONG BEACH

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Proctor and their son Amos are at the "Mizpah" for another season.

Mrs. F. W. Dale and her two sons, Robert and Norman, and Mrs. G. B. A. Treffry, from Somerville, are at the Beach this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tomlinson and their children, Mary, Warren, Grace, and Anne, from West Newton are at the Beach this summer.

Mrs. W. R. Bolton from Cambridge, and Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Lawrence and daughter Barbara, from Somerville, are occupying the same cottage at the Beach.

Miss Edna Calkins from Brimfield and Miss Maybelle Fall from Needham are spending a few weeks at the Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jones and R. H. Cutter and family from Arlington are at the Beach for the summer and at present are entertaining Mrs. Carlton Hicks from Somerville and her son, Carlton Hicks, Jr., from New York City.

Mrs. John Kelly and her family from Jamaica Plain is at the Beach for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arnold Lowery from Belmont and their children are spending the season at the Beach.

ROLAND HOLT

It is with regret that The Shore received news of the death last week of Roland Holt, a contributor to its dramatic columns for several years. His calls at the office were always a source of pleasure and his contributions of value. For some years he was a summer resident at East Gloucester. His death occurred at New Canaan, Conn. He was 63. His wife, Constance D'Arcy Mackay, survives and three sisters, Mrs. Rufus G. Mather of Baltimore, Mrs. Joseph Bloodgood of Baltimore, and Miss Sylvia Holt of New York.

A son of the late Henry Holt of Henry Holt & Co., publishers, he had been associated with the firm since 1890, and was its vice-president for twenty-one years, from 1903 to 1924. He was a member of the class of 1890 at Yale, when he was dramatic critic of the New Haven Palladium. He made five trips to Europe to study the theaters there, and lectured on theatrical subjects in New York, Boston, Washington, Chicago, New Orleans, London.

He had been a director of the Century Opera Company and of the New York Drama League.

JEROME H. REMICK DEAD

Jerome H. Remick, 62, for many years head of a music publishing house that bore his name, and prominent in Detroit affairs for many years, died there July 15 following a prolonged illness. His wife and three children survive. In the 20's the Remicks had a summer home at Bass Rocks and later in Magnolia.

HAGSTROM CO., Inc.
GENERAL CONTRACTORS
Loam, Dressing, and other materials
for
Garden and Landscape Work
Gravel and Crushed Stone for
Driveway Surfacing
TEL. GLOUCESTER 617

BEAUTIFUL
COOLIE COATS
$2.95
AT THE BEACH PLUM
AND
BAYBERRY CANDLE PLACE
Dock Square, Rockport, Mass.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

(Continued from page 13)

about having some work done on their own home.

Later at Barker's the Clan was indulging in peach ice-cream sodas. "Let's go to the movies," suggested Anne. "There's a rare show at the North Shore."

"As always," added Chubby. "I'd like to, who else?"

Marcia hesitated, "I'd love to go—but I hate to leave Bud home alone, and I don't think she would go," she regretted.

"I thought she said something about going to Rockport to buy a coolie coat like Anne's," Phil remarked.

"At the Beach Plum and Bayberry Candle Shop?" asked Anne.

"Yes," Marcia replied. "But she might change her mind. I think if you don't mind, I'd better go home."

After Marcia and Phil had gone, the Clan buzzed over their sodas.

"I don't understand," said Chubby. "Bud's been acting very queerly. On Friday I took her on an inspection tour of L. B. Nauss and the Gorton Sea-Food concern, and she didn't seem to want to go at all. When we were there, she was delighted and apparently awfully glad she had come, and seemed to be her own natural enthusiastic self again. It is a thrill to watch the operations at both places, but as soon as we left she was quiet again. It beats me. I can't figure it out. I hate mysteries," he finished, rebelliously.

"She's acted strange ever since the night of the near-drowning, ever since Jack has been sick," said Anne.

"I wish I knew how she knew Jack before," puzzled Gay.

"Well," said Jimmie, "if we're going to the North Shore—"

"Meaning that it's none of our business," laughed Gay, "and it is late. Let's go."

Meanwhile Marcia and Phil had arrived home.

" I wonder where she is," said Marcia, a worried note creeping into her voice.

"She's all right," Phil, with a poor attempt at being convincing, ran up the steps. "Bud!" he called.

There was a muffled sound from upstairs, and Marcia rushed up to find a sleepy-looking Bud curled up in bed.

"Why, you lazy thing!" she exclaimed, pretending not to notice the tear-stained eyes.

"It's such a comfortable bed," sighed Bud. "Ah could sleep foh evah heah. Whea evah did you-all get such a one?"

"Pattilo's of course," replied Marcia. "The entire bedroom set came from there. I love walnut. The mattress is a Simmons."

"It's lovely," murmured Bud. "Ever'-thing is lovely heah."

Bud's blue eyes filled. Marcia suddenly felt ridiculously like crying, too. "This is very silly," she announced, and when Phil came upstairs he found his wife and sister clinging to each other and being very moist around the eyes. He stopped at the door. "Well, I suppose you know, Marcia?"

Marcia nodded. "You dear foolish little girl," she said. "As though it would make any difference to any of us."

Bud smiled, and soon they were all laughing and gay again.

"Let's have some tea," suggested Phil. "That's a good cure for the weeps." And soon the tea-kettle was boiling merrily on the faithful Glenwood range recently installed by the Gloucester Gas Light Company.

"Well, what's happened around here since we've been gone?" Marcia wanted to know, as they were all comfortably seated on the smart newly painted furniture that Phil had bought from the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company.

"Well, Swinson Brothers were over to fix up your tennis court like they did Chubby's," said Bud. "They fascinate me they work so fast. It's practically finished now."

"Gee, they do look perfect," shouted Phil from the window. "I can see that I'll be getting pretty dependent on them soon. Last week they fertilized and fixed up our lawn and it looks like a new place already."

"Oh, and L. E. Smith called up to say that they'd deliver your Maytag tomorrow."

"That's good," said Marcia. "I meant to go in and see them today, what a

Only Concert of the Season
THE BOSTON SINFONIETTA
UNDER DIRECTION OF ARTHUR FIEDLER
Jesus Maria Sanroma, Pianist
UNDER AUSPICES OF
THE NORTH SHORE ARTS ASSOCIATION
AT THE GALLERIES, EAST GLOUCESTER SQUARE
SATURDAY, AUGUST 1, AT 8.00 P. M.
TICKETS — $2.00
On Sale at the Galleries Daily from 10.00 A.M. to 6.00 P.M.
ALL SEATS RESERVED
May be reserved by Telephone Gloucester 1857-W

TASTE—
FLAVOR—
ENJOYMENT—
Served at our New Frigidaire Soda Fountain with Special Ice Cream and Cooling Drinks
Specials on Saturday and Sundays.
TROWBRIDGE, The Druggist
THE NEW DRUG STORE
159 MAIN STREET Tel. 2040 GLOUCESTER

PURE ICE
Frozen Naturally in the Purest Ponds in New England
Nothing to get out of order. The Perfect Refrigerant. To keep food juicy in a Refrigerator requires some moisture. No mechanical-chemical devices yet developed by man, regardless of how costly or intricate, equals ice as a safe, reliable, silent and economical cold maker.
CAPE POND ICE CO.
Telephone 180 GLOUCESTER

saving. They're so reliable, I had no idea they'd be so quick about it."

"And the Cape Ann Laundry called, too," added Bud.

"Oh, yes," said Marcia. "About that rug, I suppose. I thought sure it was ruined, and I wanted to know if they could clean it."

"They can," furnished Bud. "Ah nevah saw such an establishment. They can clean anything from towels to upholstery."

"I know it. You remember when Chubby spilled the ice-cream last week on that beautiful chair, Phil? They got it all out. There's the chair over there, Bud. You'd never know anything had happened to it."

Bud surveyed a beautiful chair upholstered in gorgeously rich chintz.

"Isn't that the upholstery material you bought at Poole's Antique Shop in Magnolia?" Bud asked.

"Yes, you remember the day we looked at all those beautiful samples they have over there this season, and the curtain materials, too?"

"It's beautiful. Some men have been working over at Peggy's all afternoon. What's she havin' done?" Bud asked, curiously.

"Hagstrom is remaking the entire garden and putting in a new driveway, I understand. They're the same company that is fixing the new reservoir we looked at the other day. They do wonderful work," announced Phil.

"Say Phil, you forgot to see L. E. Andrews about having the plumbing looked over," cried Marcia, suddenly. "Oh dear! Well, they'll come tomorrow. They're so dependable," she said to Bud. "It's such a relief after some of the firms you run up against. We're having them install a silent oil burner, too, very soon as protection against the cool summer and early fall mornings."

That night the Clan were all assembled with the exception of Jack in Marcia's front living room.

"How about some coffee and chicken sandwiches?" suggested Phil.

"You can't tempt us," laughed Anne. "Although I know that the coffee is delicious fresh Kybo from the First National Stores and the chicken the best in town, we have recently indulged in a delicious light lunch at Wetherell's."

"How about a swim first to freshen up your appetites?" Much to every one's surprise, it was Bud who was suggesting it. Bud, who had not been near the water since that fateful Wednesday. But the Clan was happy to notice that Bud was apparently quite herself again tonight, even more so if anything. Marcia alone was divided in her opinion. It seemed to her that Bud's wit and gayety was just a bit forced. Beneath the delicately shaded lights recently installed by the Gloucester Electric Company, Marcia surveyed the bright little group. To an outsider they looked normal enough, but Marcia felt an indistinct shudder of apprehension, an instinctive feeling of impending catastrophe, and dreaded to leave the peaceful well-lighted room for the wildness of ocean and beach at night.

"There's not even a moon," she objected.

"Oh pooh! Marcia, don't be a killjoy," and so she joined them on the beach.

Suddenly she observed that Bud had gone back to the house. Unnoticed, she, too, slipped away, and running up the steps, she called her name to Bud and was answered by complete silence.

THE ROCKAWAY
AND COTTAGES
At ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
Right on the Water
Commanding a Superb View of the Ocean
Accommodates 400.
W. A. PUBLICOVER, Proprietor

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS
-:- EXHIBITIONS -:-
2nd—July 25th to Aug. 18th
3rd—August 22nd to Sept. 14th
ANNUAL FAKIRS BALL at Hawthorne Inn Casino, Thursday, Aug. 13th
Gallery, Eastern Point Rd. E. Gloucester
Hours Weekdays 10-6; Sundays 2-6
Oscar Anderson, President Alida C. Anderson, Secretary
GALLERY PHONE 3842-W

Tel. 452 Established Here 1890
North Shore Dyeing and Cleansing Shop
Cleansing, Dyeing, Pressing and Repairing
Work called for and delivered
245 Main St. Gloucester, Mass.

Samuel Bloomfield
SUMMER REAL ESTATE
specializing in
BASS ROCKS REALTY
Office:
53 Bass Ave., E. Gloucester
Tel. 1886

JOHN J. MacDONALD
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
15 Washington St.,
Gloucester : : Mass.
Phone 473-W Res. 473-R

The Moorland
BASS ROCKS
Edward D. Parsons, Prop.
Right on the Ocean
Accommodates 500

J. A. NUNES : Art Store
Artist Materials and Picture Framing
Oil Paintings and Frames Restored
Hand Carved Frames in Stock and Made to Order
Painting and Decorating
6 Center Street, Gloucester, Mass.
Tel. 298-R Branch at Rocky Neck

Cape Ann Old Book Shop
35 High Street,
ROCKPORT, -:- MASS.
Rare, Interesting and Out of Print Books, Including First Editions.
For the Collector and Reader.

GOOD HARBOR BEACH INN
Briar Neck, Gloucester, Mass.
Ocean View and within one hundred feet of one of the best Bathing Beaches on the New England Coast.
Edwin C. McIntire,
Managing Proprietor

The Tavern
Directly on water at end of State Highway, Gloucester
Lobster, Fish and Steak Dinners
W. H. SMITH, Prop.
Telephone 1715-W

FISHING TACKLE
Motor Boat Supplies, Life Preservers, Oars, Fire Extinguishers, Lights, Hooks, Lines, Rowlocks
LOTHROP'S PATENT FOG HORN
L. D. LOTHROP & SON
70 Duncan St., Gloucester

Everett A. Flye, Opt. D.
Registered Optometrist
Established 1902
156 Main Street, Gloucester

Rushing up the stairs for the second time that day, she felt a peculiar clutching at her heart as she burst into Bud's vacant room.

The closet door was open, clothing wildly disarranged, bureau drawers open and empty, and in the mirror a little note.

> "Forgive me. I had to go. Thanks so very much. You understand, I had to go. Forgive me."

Like Bud, Marcia thought, and stood quite motionless for a moment, before rushing down to call the others.

C. ANNE SHORE.

THE CONSTITUTION ARRIVES

Thursday afternoon the historic frigate Constitution arrived and anchored in the outer harbor. She was received with a salute of guns and Mayor Parker and a delegation of citizens boarded her and extended their compliments.

Friday, it was open ship and thousands took opportunity to visit her. Last evening, Mayor Parker gave a banquet at the Tavern to the officers and the crew were entertained by a dance.

She will leave for Marblehead next Wednesday night. The intervening time will be one round of entertainment, illuminations and fireworks.

MRS. MOODY AT MANCHESTER

(Continued from page 18)

John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, 6—2, 8—10, 8—6; Mrs. Moody beat Miss Charlotte Miller, New York, 6—2, 6—2; Miss Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, beat Miss Mianne Palfrey, Brookline, 6—3, 6—8, 6—3; Miss Dorothy Weisel, Sacramento, Calif., beat Miss Edith Sigourney, Brookline, 6—2, 2—6, 6—2; Miss Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Calif., beat Baroness Levi, New York, 6—2, 2—6, 6—3.

DOUBLES—FIRST ROUND

Mrs. W. M. Shedden and Mrs. W. M. Martin beat Mrs. John Yerxa and Miss Joanna Palfrey, 6—4, 6—2; Mrs. George W. Wightman, Brookline, and Miss Marjorie Morrill won from Misses C. and E. Chase, by default.

SECOND ROUND

Misses Sarah and Mianne Palfrey beat Misses Hilda and Helen Boehm, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Ruby Bishop and Miss Dorrance Chase beat Miss Catherine Boyden and Miss Edwina Campbell, 6—4, 6—3; Miss Clara Zinke and Miss Virginia Rice beat Mrs. C. A. Welch and Mrs. H. Yerxa, 6—3, 6—0; Mrs. J. L. Bremer and Mrs. F. H. Godfrey beat Mrs. Crawford and Miss Jones, 4—6, 6—4, 6—3; Miss Dorothy Andrus and Miss Virginia Hilleary beat Mrs. Philip B. Hawk and Baroness Levi, 6—2, 6—2; Miss Mae Ceurvorst and Miss Ruth Oexman beat Mrs. Reginald Smithwick and Miss Virginia Ellis, 6—2, 6—2; Mrs. Mary I. Freisenbruck and Mrs. Roger Wolcott won from Miss Nancy Jaynes and Mrs. Quincy Shaw, Jr., default; Miss Dorothy Weisel and Mrs. Benjamin Cole, 2d, beat Mrs. Shedden and Mrs. Martin, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. Wightman and Miss Morrill beat Mrs. John Amory and Mrs. William Faversham, 6—0, 6—2; Miss Eleanor Cottman and Miss Cecilia Riegel beat Mrs. Henry R. Guild and Miss Margaret Blake, 8—6, 8—6; Miss Charlotte Miller and Mrs. John Van Ryn beat Miss Margaret Carspecken and Miss Anne Page, 12—10, 0—6, 6—4; Miss Dorothy Jarvis and Miss Marian Duane beat Miss Margaret Haskell and Miss Elsie Jansen, 4—6, 6—3, 6—3; Misses Lee and Polly Palfrey beat Miss Mary Cutter and Miss Louise Packer, 7—5, 7—5; Miss Edith Cross and Miss Katherine Winthrop beat Mrs. Paul Sanborn and Mrs. E. K. Nash, 6—3, 6—4; Mrs. William Endicott and Mrs. J. Dallis Corbiere beat Miss Florence LeBoutillier and Miss Clara Greenspan, 6—3, 6—4.

ROCKPORT GOLF FIXTURES

Interesting Season's Schedule Arranged at the Land's End Links

The golf committee of the Rockport Country Club has mapped out an interesting schedule of tournaments on every weekday through the summer, concluding on Labor Day, September 7. The annual open tournament, under the auspices of the Massachuetts Golf Association, will be held on Friday and Saturday, July 24 and 25.

The fixtures from today on are

July 24 and 25—Open tournament auspices of Massachusetts Golf Association.

July 26 — Tombstone tournament.

August 1 and 2—Club championship, qualifying round; 18

SIGHT-SEEING SAILS DAILY
Volunteer Toreador Club Conductors Explain Points of Interest on Cape Ann
Make Reservations in Advance at Y. M. C. A. (470)

INSURANCE
ALL KINDS
STRONGEST COMPANIES
JOHN A. JOHNSON
Gloucester National Bank Bldg.
Telephones 16 and 17
Just off Custom House Square

THE GLOUCESTER SCHOOL OF THE LITTLE THEATRE
ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
"MISS LULU BETT"
A Comedy in Three Acts by Zona Gale
FRIDAY and SATURDAY, AUGUST 11 and 12
Reserved Seats, on Sale at the School, $1.25
One-Act Play Friday Mornings at 11.30
Puppet Performances Saturday Mornings at 11.30
THIS WEEK, "MILESTONES"

A. P. STODDART & CO.
Established 1876
ENGINEERS AND MACHINISTS
Engine Repairing and Installing
FULLY EQUIPPED MACHINE SHOP
236 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER, MASS.

Dry Cleaning and Pressing
STRAND DYE HOUSE
Louis Kramer, Prop.
Odorless Cleansing and Pressing
Dyeing, Altering and Relining
We call for and deliver
45 Main St., Gloucester, Mass.
Phone 2563 Open Evenings

BELMONT SHOE REPAIRING
SHOE REBUILDING
Best Quality, Lowest Prices
Main St., Gloucester, Opp. Center St.

ROCKPORT DYE HOUSE
First Class Cleansers
Wearing Apparel Called For and Delivered Any Place on Cape Ann
MAIN STREET, ROCKPORT. Tel. Conn.

STEELE & ABBOTT CO.
"The North Shore Painters"
PAINTING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES
by skilled workmen.
INTERIOR DECORATING A SPECIALTY
WALL PAPERS AND PAINTS
We are the Largest Painting Contractors on the North Shore
OUR MARINE DEPARTMENT
is equipped to haul out, paint and repair the largest pleasure yachts afloat. We maintain a special corps of marine painters, carpenters, caulkers, etc. This department foot of Duncan Street. Telephone (for yachts, etc.) 2720.
MAIN OFFICE: 287 MAIN ST. Tel. 148
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Also Branch Shops at Manchester and Beverly Farms holes; no handicap; best 16 gross to qualify; prize to low gross.

August 8—Best selected nine, 18 holes; three-quarters handicap; prizes to low gross and low net.

August 9, A.M.—Club sweepstakes, 18 holes; full handicap; prizes to low gross and low net; P.M., mixed foursome, medal play; 18 holes; Scotch foursome; one-half of combined handicaps to apply; selected drives; alternate shots; prizes to be divided by low gross and low net.

August 15—Red and blue team match—18 holes three-quarters of difference in handicap to apply; losing team to pay for dinner at club house that evening.

August 16—Medal tournament, 18 holes full handicap; prizes to low gross and low net.

August 22—Handicap vs. par.

August 23 — Kickers' tournament.

August 29 — Putting medal, score total number of putts on 18 holes; use separate card; prize to low.

August 30, A.M.—Club sweepstakes, 18 holes; full handicap; prizes to low gross and net; P.M., mixed foursome, medal play; 18 holes; Scotch foursome; one-half of combined handicaps to apply; selected drives; alternate shots; prizes to be divided by low gross and low net.

September 5, 6 and 7—Charles Evans cup tournament, 36 holes; medal play; full handicap; cup to winner; also prizes for low gross and low net.

Ladies' tournaments arranged by ladies' golf committee and announced later.

COLOR

COLOR combinations in Reed and Fibre Furniture are wonderfully effective in brightening your home. Our new Heywood-Wakefield arrivals of Reed and Fibre are now on displa— —see them.

North Shore Furniture Co.
161-163 Main St. Cor. Parsons
Telephone 94

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

is, the use of highlights, placed with geometrical precision at certain points around the eye. The three principal ones—the ones that cause the light to converge —are placed one in each corner of the eye, and one in the exact center of the lower lid. These white dots, translated into little shafts of light by the powerful Kliegs, meet and react on the iris of the eye killing its reflective quality. The result is that the eye, though actually perfect, is rendered utterly dead looking.

"The Miracle Woman" is the latest starring vehicle for the glamorous Barbara Stanwyck. In addition to David Manners, who is the masculine lead, the cast includes Sam Hardy, Beryl Mercer, Russell Hopton, Aileen Carlyle and Harry Todd. Frank Capra, responsible for such directorial achievements as "Rain or Shine," "Ladies of Leisure" and "Dirigible," handled this production.

"The Man in Possession," previewed at the Criterion in Santa Monica, Cal., receiving a good reception from an audience that apparently found the performance by Robert Montgomery to its liking, will be shown here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Spicy dialogue is accompanied by swift tempo under the direction of Sam Wood.

The locale is London, where Montgomery returns to his family after serving a term in prison for selling property which did not belong to him. His father and brother (C. Aubrey Smith and Reginald Owen) try to persuade him to go to a foreign land, but Montgomery prefers to stay in England and gets a job as a sheriff's man. His first duties make him "man in possession" at the home of Irene Purcell, poor but beautiful, whom Owen loves. Owen does not know of Montgomery's duties. When Montgomery's family comes to dine, Miss Purcell drafts him to enact the butler role. His family does not acknowledge his identity, nor does he. This provides a situation for comedy, including slapstick.

Montgomery has found himself in love with Miss Purcell and declares himself after his family has departed. She reciprocates to a degree. Alan Mowbray, a former suitor, phones and Montgomery tells him that she is out. In the morning Owen comes to the house and Montgomery advises him that Miss Purcell is not wealthy. This is after Owen has paid Montgomery a thousand pounds to leave the country. Then Montgomery informs Miss Purcell of his identity, and the two leave England with the money Owen has given him.

All the principals except Montgomery speak with a very pronounced English accent. Why not Montgomery also? members of the audience asked.

Maude Eburne and Forrester Harvey add comedy touches to the picture.

Every male member of the supporting cast of "A Holy Terror," the Fox picture featuring George O'Brien and Sally Eilers, at the North Shore Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with the exception of Stanley Fields, who was a headliner in vaudeville, has been a leading man on Broadway.

The youngest is Humphrey Bogart, who starred in David Belasco's New York success, "It's a Wise Child," while the others are James Kirkwood, Robert Warwick, Richard Tucker and Earl Pingree.

Irving Cummings, who directed the picture, was, likewise, a leading man in New York before he became prominent in motion pictures in which he played roles before he took up the megaphone.

Rita La Roy, who enacts an important role in "A Holy Terror," was a leading woman on the stage, but Sally Eilers, appearing in the leading feminine role had neither stage nor picture experience when she launched her screen career in "The Goodbye Kiss."

O'Brien is the only other member of the cast who has never been on the stage.

"A Holy Terror," based on Max Brand's thrilling outdoor story, "Trailin'," has a very exciting and dramatic surprise climax.

THE LITTLE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

sympathetically and with finish by Honora Bruere, and Mrs. Abbot, done by Elizabeth Prime with equal skill, were well worthy of mention. Jane Bancroft as Brigit Penarth, daughter of a lord and an apprentice for the fun of it, showed ability and sympathy, Margaret Reimer as Carry, head packer, showed talent in portrayal of character parts, and the part of Violet called forth many a laugh and relief from the tenser moments of the play, in the hands of the skillful Harriette Weiler. The mannequin parts were well done by Deborah Hall, Polly Sayward, and Betty Childly, who made a great deal of comparatively minor parts.

Altogether the play was a great success. The scenic devices were excellent and very realistic, the gowns were exquisite, and the cast well chosen and capable. Madam Evans and Miss Cunningham are to be congratulated on this third successful production, and wished equal success in their three-act play scheduled for next week, "Milestones," by Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblock.

SINFONIETTA AND SAN ROMA AT NORTH SHORE ARTISTS' ASSOCIATION

One of the musical attractions of the season will be the concert by the Boston Sinfonietta orchestra, Arthur Fiedler, conductor, with Jesus San Roma piano virtuoso as soloist. This promises to be an event, as this will be the only appearance of this famous organization in this section this summer. The date is Saturday evening, August 1 at the rooms of the association in East Gloucester square at 8 o'clock. San Roma will play a concerto by Weber by special arrangement. Already there has been a large advance sale of tickets.

Friday afternoon, July 24, there will be a tea at the rooms of the association to which all sum-

AWNINGS
And Yacht Equipment
UNITED SAIL LOFT CO., Inc.
Foot of Pearce St.
71 Wharf St. Tel. Conn.

Office Open Day and Night.
Tel. Con.
WILLARD S. PIKE
Funeral Director
and Embalmer
Shipping, Transfer and Crematory Work
75 Washington Street
Gloucester Mass.

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR
For Your Child, ages 10 to 16
Competent Young Instructor
Tutoring at Your Own Home
Write P. O. Box No. 316, Gloucester

ALICE M. AMBLER, A. B.
(VASSAR)
PRIVATE TUTOR
French. German. Latin, English.
Spanish, Algebra, Etc.
16 Highland Street, E. Gloucester
Tel. 3125-W

NORTH SHORE INN
Magnolia-by-the-Sea
Massachusetts
Charming Homelike Atmosphere
[Booklet on request]
Good Food—Reasonable Rates
Tune in Wednesdav morning, 9-10
WHDH

SUPERIOR DYE HOUSE
12 MAIN ST.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Work Called For and Delivered
Anywhere on Cape Ann
Cleaning, Pressing, and Alterations.
Telephone 2644
Satisfaction Guaranteed

mer guests are invited. George B. Stevens will be chairman and the hostesses will comprise Mrs. Aldro T. Hibbard, Mrs. Richard Recchia, Mrs. Edmund Klotz and Mrs. C. Edmund Delboss.

PUPPET SHOW AT ARTISTS' GALLERY

Under the auspices of the Gloucester Society of Artists a puppet show will be given at the gallery of the association Thursday evening, July 30, at 8.30, by Ralph Geddes, comprising Hans Christian Andersen's "Little Mermaid," with music by DeBussy; and the comical tragedy of "Punch and Judy." Admission 75 cents, tickets at the door. Mr. Geddes has studied under the masters of marionettes in this country and abroad and his exhibitions have always been received with enthusiasm.

YACHTING

(Continued from page 17)

BIRD CLASS

Ibis, R. Russell Smith	1 50 02
Pee Wee, Charles Pierce	1 58 00

PILOT CLASS

Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 24 25
Shirlidee, Shirley Dean	1 24 34
Onward, Laura Cooney	withdrew

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 24 58
Judy, Roy H. Lane	1 25 45
Darter, Mr. Cook	1 27 02
Shiner, G. S. Grace	1 28 21
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	1 30 40
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	1 33 06

MYRTICE A. WINS

A light southwesterly prevailed at Sandy Bay Sunday afternoon, the triangular course repeated being sailed. In the Sandy Bay class Gifford Beal held the Maidee in the lead until the concluding leg, a beat. Then, Myrtice A, the runner-up, split tacks and headed to starboard off shore wind hunting. She found what she wanted and scored the win with a minute and a half to spare. Eclipse in the Star class was never seriously challenged. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	2 10 38
Maidee, Gifford Beal	2 11 00
Bobeno, Benton C. Story	2 13 00
Mamie, John Cianciolo	2 15 26

INTERNATIONAL STAR CLASS

Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 06 10
Ibex, Max Kuehne	2 07 05
Sans Souci, Homer Clark	2 07 14
Vega, Herbert Evans	2 15 03
Altair, Pierce and Grover	2 20 55

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	1 26 24
Shirlidee, Shirley Dean	1 32 09
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 34 50

MIXED CLASS

Rover, Brown Brothers	1 16 33
Saratog, Ben Knudsen	1 20 40

FISH CLASS

Shiner, Frank Somers	1 35 10
Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 35 40
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	1 41 50
Judy, Roy H. Lane	1 42 13
Flounder, Thebeault and Perkins	1 42 00

SMITH COPS ROCKPORT NET

Rockport, July 18—Robert M. Smith, with 78—70, had the best net. Louis A. Rogers and C. T. Porter each 34, best scores for the out nine, and O. C. Stiles, with 31, best for the in nine in today's Nassau tournament at the Rockport C. C. The scores:

Robert M. Smith, 78—70; Louis A. Rogers, 90—71; Arthur J. Flynn, 81—71; Dr. C. T. Porter, 81—70; O. C. Stiles, 95—72; George P. Sargent, 77—73; T. T. H. Harwood, 97—74; Frederick H. Tarr, Jr., 82—75; Walter Cole, 81—75; Thomas R. P. Gibb, 81—75; Howard B. Lovell, 84—77; Prof. Stratton, 99—77; George A. Fiske, 92—78; Frederick H. Tarr, Sr., 95—78; Francis E. Smith, 93—80; Ralph O. Creelman, 99—80; John MacDonald, 101—81; Dan Riordan, 86—82.

DIRECTORS' CUP

First Round—J. Manuel Marshall defeated Harry I. Wichter, 25 holes.

PARKING REGULATIONS

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Attention is called to the following extracts from an ordinance governing automobile traffic passed June 6, 1930.

Section One. During the months of June, July, August and September the following traffic regulations shall be effective for vehicles:

Parking Prohibited at All Times

Pleasant street, between Main and Warren streets, Short street.

Easterly side of Centre street.

Pearce street, from Rogers to Main street.

Westerly side of Water street from Main to Rogers street.

Within 15 feet of any hydrant on any street.

Westerly side of Elm street from Main to Prospect street; easterly side from Main street to the southern end of the Recreation Alleys.

Easterly side of School street from Middle street to Mason street, and on School street from Proctor street to Middle street after 11 P.M.

Northerly side of Middle street from Pleasant street to Washington street.

Northerly side of Main street, from a point opposite the westerly side of Porter street to Washington street.

Easterly side of Chestnut street.

All protected crossings.

Easterly side of Hancock street from Middle to Rogers street or on such portions of westerly side as are designated by white traffic lines.

Restricted Parking

Main street, from Washington to Vincent street, 30 minutes between 6 A.M. and 6 P.M., except on Saturday when the restricted parking extends to 10 P.M.

Center street, westerly side but only within a distance of 30 feet from Main street and 30 feet from Middle street.

Middle street, southerly side, from Pleasant to Washington street, for a period not exceeding one hour.

Dale avenue, westerly side only, in a diagonal position with the left rear wheel or right front wheel against the curb.

One Way Streets

Southerly side of Western avenue, from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for east bound traffic.

Northerly side of Western avenue from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for west bound traffic.

Federal street, travel only in an easterly direction, from Pleasant street to Elm street, no parking on either side.

Short street, one way north from Main street.

Hancock street, from Middle street to Main street, one way south.

Nautilus road, one way south between Bass avenue and Bass Rocks road.

Duncan street, one way south from Main street to Rogers street, parking on westerly side only.

Arlington street, Annisquam, one way in a southeasterly direction.

Chestnut street, one way south, parking only on westerly side.

Middle street, from Dale avenue to Pleasant street, one way east.

Warren street, one way west, parking on both sides.

Protected Crossings

Across Prospect street at Union hill; across Spring street at the westerly side of Union hill; across Main street at the North Shore Theatre; across Main street at the Olympia Theatre; across Main street at the Postoffice and Trust Company; at the Gloucester National Bank; from the Masonic Block to W. G. Brown & Company's store; from the A. & P. store to Herricks' fruit store; across Pleasant street, at the Postoffice; across Duncan street on Main street; across Hancock street on both sides the street.

Porter street, one way south, parking only western side.

Traffic lights in operation Main street, foot of Commercial, P. O. Square; Prospect street, near M. E. Church.

DANIEL M. CASEY,
City Marshal.

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE

No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st except by written permission of the Chief of the Fire Department or the Fire Warden.

Persons wishing to burn rubbish, grass, etc., in the business or residential sections of the city, i. e. within the limits established by the Eastern avenue School on Eastern avenue and the cut bridge on Western avenue and the Green on Washington street, should apply to the Chief of the Fire Department. Those wishing to burn rubbish, brush, grass, etc., in the outlying portions of the city, that is outside of the limits as here set forth, whose fire would be on or near any wood, brush or grasslands, should apply to the Fire Warden.

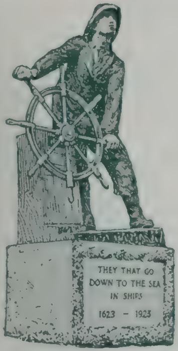
Readers of this notice are cautioned to be extremely careful of matches, cigars and cigarettes while in or near any wood or brushland to prevent forest fires.

HOMER R. MARCHANT,
Chief of the Fire Department.
ALBERT C. LA BELLE,
Fire Warden.

Magnolia Real Estate
SEA SHORE ESTATES
Cottages, Bungalows, Shops
JONATHAN MAY
Shore Road, Magnolia, Mass. Tel. Magnolia 426-R.

Gloucester Auto Bus Co.
Exclusive Street Passenger Transportation on Cape Ann, Gloucester and East Gloucester, Annisquam, Lanesville, Pigeon Cove, Rockport, West Gloucester, Essex, Magnolia, Manchester.
Starter's Office 114 Main Street
Information Telephone 2195 Telephone 1675

THE PATTILLO STORE
THE FINEST LINE OF SUMMER FURNITURE, SCREENS, MATTRESSES, RUGS, ETC., ON THE NORTH SHORE. UPHOLSTERING DONE BY SKILLED WORKMAN
A·MANTON PATTILLO
Fine Assortment of Vudor Shades for the Piazza
C. F. TOMPKINS CO.
67 MIDDLE STREET GLOUCESTER



THEY THAT GO DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS
1623 - 1923

Commercial Banking
Savings Accounts
Club Accounts
Safe Deposit Boxes
Storage Vault
Foreign Exchange
Travellers Cheques
Bond Department
Travel Service

Rooted Deep

"As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm,
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."
—GOLDSMITH.

A Bank that started 132 years ago and is the oldest Bank in the State must be deep rooted. A Bank that has withstood all the hard times and financial and industrial changes down from Washington's time must have a certain inherent strength.

We offer you strength; a background of tradition, efficient service, and friendly co-operation.

The Oldest Bank in the State, the Seventh Oldest in the United States; a depository for City, County, State and U. S. Funds, and favored with an account from hundreds of firms and individuals on the Cape.

May We be Favored With Your Gloucester Business?

GLOUCESTER NATIONAL BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE CITY

OLDEST BANK IN MASSACHUSETTS

One of the steps in the preparation of codfish for the market. Drying and curing whole codfish at the Gorton-Pew Fisheries

You Are Cordially Invited—

OUR door is always open. And we are always glad to show visitors the fascinating processes employed in our plant. See how we take fish fresh from the ocean and prepare them for the tables of America's discriminating housewives. There is no more interesting sight in all of quaint old Gloucester.

If it were only possible to transport some of the charm of Gloucester back home—its romantic harbor, its curious old streets and homes, its atmosphere of the sea. Although this is impossible you may have a reminder of pleasant Gloucester days in sending to your home some of our delicious fish products. For this purpose we put up a special combination box. It is an attractive carton containing a popular assortment of Gorton's Sea Foods. Neatly packed ready for shipment. These tasty and popular sea foods will introduce you to new delights in fish eating.

The same offer is extended to all-year-round and summer-time residents. Visit us and see for yourselves how one of America's oldest and most interesting industries operates. You are cordially invited.

Gorton-Pew Fisheries
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Founded in 1849

Gorton's
Sea Food Family

GORTON'S CODFISH
GORTON'S READY-TO-FRY COD FISH CAKES
GORTON'S FRESH MACKEREL IN CANS
GORTON' SALAD FISH
GORTON'S DEEP SEA ROE
GORTON'S CODFISH IN CANS
GORTON'S FINNAN HADDIE
GORTON'S FLAKED FISH
GORTON'S MANHATTAN CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S DOWN EAST CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S HADDOCK CHOWDER

1885 - 1931

THE BOSTON STORE

WILLIAM G. BROWN COMPANY, Gloucester, Mass.

The Largest Store of the North Shore Covering a City Block from PLEASANT, MAIN and ELM STREETS
29 Departments. Largest Dry Goods Floor Space East of Boston. POST OFFICE SQUARE

The Department Store of Service where Summer Shopping is made pleasant.

In Gloucester on the North Shore you will find this store a well appointed, pleasant store in which to do your shopping on a warm summer's day.

It will be a pleasure and also afford you great satisfaction in knowing that you can come here and select quality merchandise at lowest possible prices.

Trade in Gloucester at the Big Store of the North Shore

One of the North Shore's Finest
BEAUTY SHOPS

4 Booths—2 Bobber Chairs
2 Manicure Tables

Marcel Waving
Shampooing
Manicuring
Facials
French Curling
Hair Dyeing
Hair Tinting
Permanent Waving
Hair Dressing
Hair Bobbing and Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting by Experts.

Atwater Kent, Majestic,
Victor and Radiola
Radios

Largest Line on Cape Ann
Expert Installation

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

New Soda Fountain
and Luncheonette
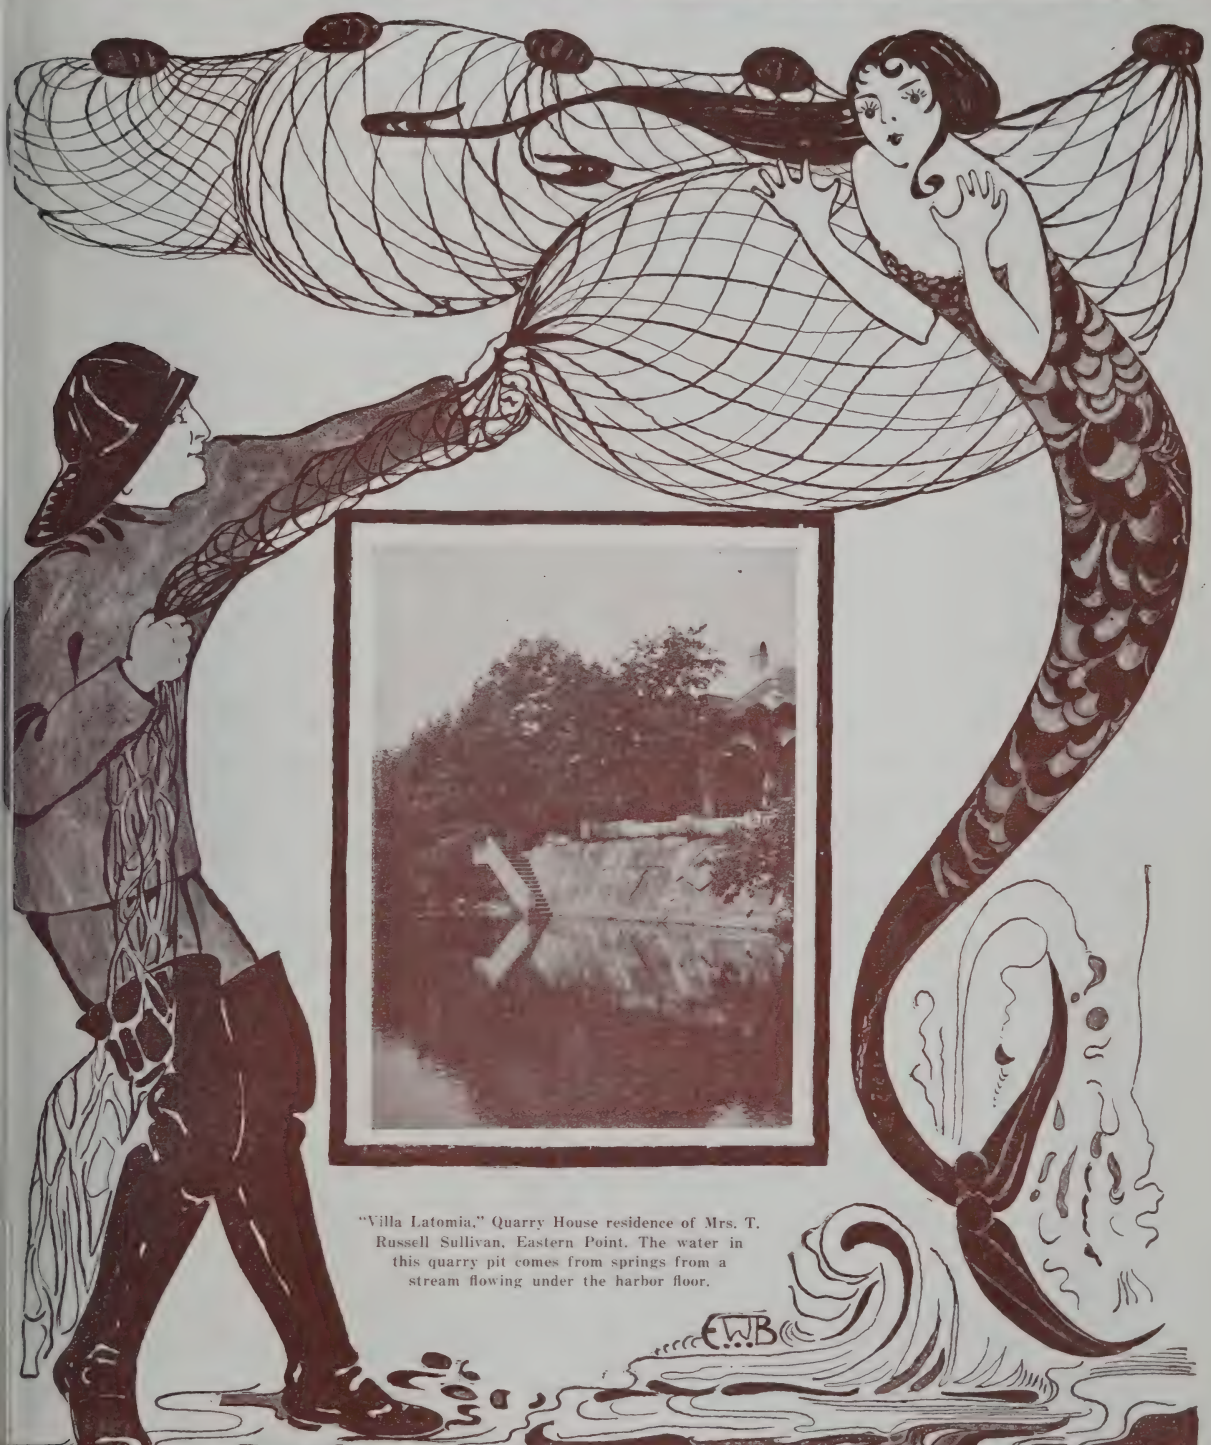
(MAIN FLOOR)
Best Food and Service
Afternoon Tea

Agnes Lee

CAPE ANN SHORE



"Villa Latomia," Quarry House residence of Mrs. T. Russell Sullivan, Eastern Point. The water in this quarry pit comes from springs from a stream flowing under the harbor floor.

ol. XXXVI
ugust 1, 1931

PUBLISHED BY
The Cape Ann Publishing Co.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

No. 4
Price 10 Cents

C. S. NAUSS (Established 1837) L. H. NAUSS

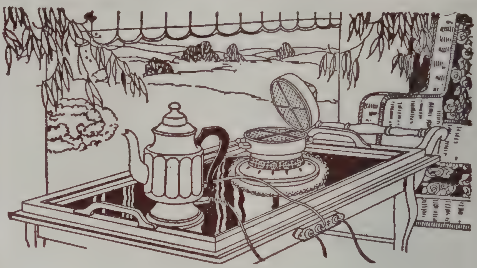
L. B. Nauss & Sons

"NAUSS LUMBER"

LUMBER
LIME
CEMENT
BUILDING SUPPLIES

"Everything to Build Anything"

Telephones 195-196-197
RAILROAD AVE.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.



They add a subtle touch of distinction to hospitality

Resplendent, efficient electric appliances make entertaining so satisfying and convenient

Drop into our store and see these wonderful aids to entertaining — electric percolator, electric coffee urn, electric waffle iron, electric toaster. We're glad to show them—whether you buy or not.

GLOUCESTER ELECTRIC COMPANY

Telephone 1250 Telephone 1250

The F. C. POOLE SHOPS

Bond's Hill, Gloucester

BRANCH SHOPS
359 Western Ave. And House Opposite

ANTIQUES—We have a fine collection of Early American and English pieces at our show rooms on Western Avenue and on Bond's Hill.

REPRODUCTIONS—As fine as we can make them, true copies of the originals. Our craftsmen can create for you any piece that you may have in mind.

UPHOLSTERED PIECES—Made in our own work shop on Bond's Hill. We specialize in comfortable davenports, sofas, chairs, chaise longues—or anything that you may wish made to order.

DRAPERIES — Our selection of chintzes, linens, drapery and upholstery materials is worthy of your consideration.

UPHOLSTERED SPRINGS AND MATTRESSES—Made to order of the best quality materials and very comfortable.

We know you will enjoy a visit to our shops.

Effie Poole Keffer, Proprietor

ENJOY YOUR SUMMER WITH A

New Glenwood Insulated Range

Insulated Glenwood
GLENWOOD ROBERTSHAW OVEN HEAT CONTROL

"You can do it better with Gas"

GLOUCESTER GAS LIGHT CO.

96 MAIN STREET Telephone 570

1896—OLDEST ESTABLISHED SUMMER RESORT PUBLICATION ON THE NORTH SHORE—1931

THE CAPE ANN SHORE

THIRTY-SIXTH SEASON

Gloucester, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks,
Long Beach, Briar Neck.

Land's End, Rockport, Pigeon Cove, Annisquam and River Territory, Fernwood, Magnolia, Manchester and Essex County.

Published Weekly, 8 times during July and August by the CAPE ANN PUBLISHING CO., James R. Pringle, Conductor, 95 Main Street, Gloucester. 75 cents the season on Cape Ann; elsewhere, $1.00. Tels. 412-W, 412-R.

"Entered as second-class matter July 16, 1920, at post office, Gloucester, Mass., under Act of March 3, 1879."

Special Contents, August 1, 1931

EDITORIALS:
- Zoning
- Visit of the "Constitution"

POEM:
- Excerpt from "Glory of the Garden"
  By Rudyard Kipling

GLOUCESTER FISHERMAN'S INSTITUTE
- Largest Mariners' Club in the World

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING
- By C. Anne Shore

ART AND DRAMATIC
- Being a Review of Theatrical Topics and the Artist Colony

NEWS OF THE SUMMER COLONY
- Manchester, Magnolia, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Briar Neck, Land's End, Rockport Center, Pigeon Cove, The Annisquam Region, The Cape Ann Countyside

THE WEEK'S YACHTING

GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO., -:- 43 Duncan Street

TELEPHONE 3060

Largest Coal and Lumber Dealers on the North Shore

GLO-COAL Beacon Anthracite
Caperton New River Soft Coal

BRANCH OFFICES

Rockport, Tel. 964 Magnolia, Tel. 426-R Manchester, Tel. 650

A PARTIAL LIST OF OUR SERVICES

LUMBER
A kind for every purpose.
FLOORING
First-quality oak, fir and pine, stored under controlled temperature.
SHINGLES
Durable, weather-resisting, stained. For roofs and walls.
HARDWARE AND PAINTS
Well-known makes of tools and household hardware. Valspar.
FURNITURE
Rustic, garden and unpainted furniture.
COAL
Imported Beacon Scotch Anthracite, the amazing fuel, and GLO-COAL, the American anthracite. Also automatic coal stokers.
FINANCING
A convenient finance plan to aid those building or modernizing homes.
PLANNING
Counsel, including plans, for those building or modernizing homes.

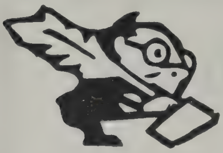
Do you realize that right here on Cape Ann is a firm capable of giving you every conceivable service in home building, modernizing and heating?

The Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company is such a complete service organization. We want you to know us better and for this reason invite you to take advantage of the special offer below.

Here's an idea you'll like! On the enclosed card we have listed the most frequent things that people would like to have done to their homes. If you will simply check the things which interest you most and return it to us, the proper service division of this company will quickly and easily tell you — without obligating you in any way whatsoever — just what the cost of materials and labor on such jobs would be.

You couldn't find a better time to get this information. Prices are low — the season is right — everything is in your favor. Remember — in asking for this information you do not commit yourself to an order of any kind. This is just another Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company service — it may help you see the way to have done things you've been wanting to do for a long time.

Very truly yours,
GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO.



To be sincere! To look life in the eyes
With calm, undrooping gaze. Always to mean
The high and truthful thing.—Anon.

ZONING! !

Law of Paramount Importance to Summer Residents—Efforts to Make a Breach in Its Provisions Unsuccessful—Vigilance Necessary

More, perhaps, than any other ordinance or regulation, the Zoning Law concerns the summer resident. And to a slightly lesser degree the all year round citizen.

State and city have provided for such protective regulations drafted in logical relationship to community development in the best interest of all concerned. In brief, the idea is to have an ordered communal arrangement whereby, as far as possible, manufacturing and residential districts shall be separated and to concentrate at each as far as possible. To that end it has been found advisable both from a business and esthetic standpoint to concentrate the manufacturing center in the thickly settled sections, contiguous to railroads and sea transportation and to segregate the more noxious of these enterprises in secluded districts where their effects will be least apparent.

The paramount consideration and law that should be the basic principle of such an allocation is the greatest good to the greatest number. When a public highway or other improvement is to be made, the preamble and formula reads, "whereas the common convenience and necessity require" that so and so be done.

Such a plan has been adopted for this city after careful study by those on the spot who were best conversant with the situation with the aid and assistance of an expert of wide knowledge and experience in this thing. There was nothing haphazard or hasty about the matter. Rather the contrary.

A number of citizens develop a section either as a permanent or summer residence section or both. No business enterprise has invaded its precincts. It is set aside in the zoning regulations as residential. With this guarantee of protection by the city and relying on the good faith of the municipality, others come in, build and increase its valuation and desirability, adding hundreds of thousands to the taxable valuation.

After all this has been done, some one, perchance a recent comer to the city, sees an opening to put in a filling station or hot dog stand on a piece of land he has bought or leased in the district. So with the intent of bringing all the pull and pressure to bear that he can on the city officials, he puts in a petition to the city to have this law modified into a business district.

A hearing is ordered, counsel is employed, the stock argument being thrust forward with much bathos, "Would you gentlemen deprive my deserving client of the means of getting a livelihood?" and the argument has much weight with those inclined that way, especially those who have an innate feeling against the well-to-do.

Such a plea is easily punctured. It might be asked in rejoinder, though the writer never has heard the comeback, whether there is no spot other than that particular place in the city or country where such an individual may obtain a livelihood or if he is restricted to that particular place. This is a rather wide world.

Again does the common necessity and convenience require it and does it conduce to the greatest good of the greatest number? There are filling stations and lunch stands aplenty within every half mile of any populous community in New England. If not one more additional permit of the kind were granted in this city, there would still be too many. Along Main street alone from Washington street to Dog Hill, there are some 32 eating and lunch places.

If the petition is granted, what happens? Property in this quiet residential district is almost immediately depreciated by the noise of the coming and going at all hours of the night of loud noises and boisterous alcoholic conversations. Those in a position to do so, get out as soon as they can and inevitably the section runs down and depreciates and the city, through the lack of common sense of its officials, loses a substantial sum from its income by the tax route. Further residential development is checked.

If these petitions are refused no one is harmed. There are other avenues of endeavor open to the enterprising. Fortunately such onslaughts aimed at properties in the West Parish, Bass Rocks and Magnolia, have been resisted by the authorities in recent years.

(Continued on page 22)

VISIT OF THE CONSTITUTION

Maritime Object Lesson of Patriotism of the Past Attracts Large Throngs—School Children Greatly Impressed

If sailor tales to sailor tunes,
  Storm and adventure, heat and cold,
If schooners, islands, and maroons,
  And buccaneers, and buried gold,
And all the old romance, retold
  Exactly in the ancient way,
Can please, as me they pleased of old,
  The wiser youngsters of today,

So be it, and fall on. If not,
  If studious youth no longer crave,
Their ancient appetites forgot,
  Kingston and Ballantyne the brave,
And Cooper of the wood and wave,
  So be it also! And may I
And all my pirates share the grave
  Where these, and their creations, lie.

Stevenson, introduction to "Treasure Island."

The Constitution has come and gone. It was a happy thought of the Navy Department to send the historic craft, now restored and renewed for years to come, adventuring down the coast that the people might see this relic of former martime glory. We understand that this itinerary is to be continued until the principal ports on the Atlantic seaboard have been so visited and then the west or Pacific coast will be similarly cruised.

The inspiring and worth while thing about these visits was the eager enthusiasm of the school children who swarmed over her decks from stem to stern and from taffsail almost to keelson. This was the first time many of them had ever seen a square rigger, not so rare a sight in Gloucester harbor so many years ago. For it is the coming generation we must reach and indoctrinate "exactly in the ancient way."

And it is a pity that the sails could not have been bent and the ship manned by real Gloucestermen, for here, almost alone in any port of this country, can a crew of men capable of handling a square rigger be found who can "reef, hand and steer." What an advertisement for this port were such the case. It could have been done and the ship at least under partial sail make port under canvas as in the old days.

These young people have read the story of the Constitution and her record of forty victories undimmed by a

(Continued on page 22)

"GLORY OF THE GARDEN"

From Kipling

NOTE—Essex County sea and countryside never looked as charming, and as verdant as now. The exceptionally prolonged rainy season and morning fogs have contributed to this. New England is Old England in this respect this summer. Everywhere the garden flourishes bright with blossom and bloom. My lady and Judy alike may be seen along the way laboring (that's not the word) lovingly and tenderly among the flower beds. The subject inspired Rudyard Kipling in one of his many fine poems. We quote this excerpt.

Our England is a garden that is full of stately views,
Of borders, beds and shrubberies and lawns and avenues,
With statues on the terraces and peacocks strutting by;
But the glory of the Garden lies in more than meets the eye.

Then seek your job with thankfulness and work till further orders,
If it's only netting strawberries or killing slugs on borders;
And when your back stops aching and your hands begin to harden,
You will find yourself a partner in the Glory of the Garden.

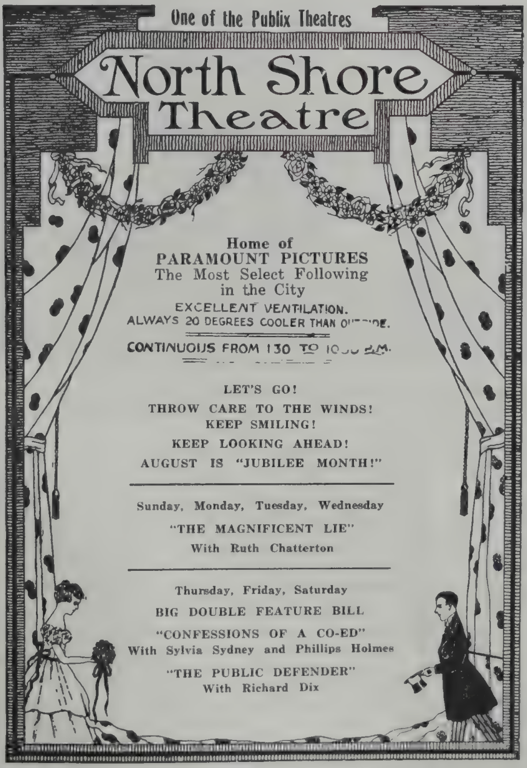
Oh, Adam was a gardener, and God who made him sees
That half a proper gardener's work is done upon his knees;
So when your work is finished, you can wash your hands and pray
For the Glory of the Garden that it may not pass away!
And the Glory of the Garden it shall never pass away!

Art and Dramatic

THE LITTLE THEATRE

The Little Theatre consistently conforms to its reputation for versatility in production and ability, and produced this week a play entirely distinct from anything put on thus far. "Milestones," by Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblock which took place on Friday and Saturday evenings is a play which in three acts covers three centuries of intriguing romance and family life. Beginning with the romance of John Rhead and Rose Sibley, both admirably done by Charles Edgecomb and Roswell Hawley, who marry against the wishes of Rose's family, the story continues with the same situation arising in three successive generations, each time the objectors to the match forgetting their own experience. An excellent opportunity is furnished by this play. The scenery, costumes, and acting, done well would accomplish a success and an impression that would not be soon forgotten, done poorly they could combine to make a complete and inglorious failure. The Little Theatre made a success of it. The aging of the characters through the acts was excellently done and greatly appreciated by the audience. Patricia Petticolas as Emily Rhead was excellent, and

(Continued on page 23)



One of the Publix Theatres

North Shore Theatre

Home of
PARAMOUNT PICTURES
The Most Select Following
in the City
EXCELLENT VENTILATION.
ALWAYS 20 DEGREES COOLER THAN OUTSIDE.

CONTINUOUS FROM 130 TO 1030 P.M.

LET'S GO!
THROW CARE TO THE WINDS!
KEEP SMILING!
KEEP LOOKING AHEAD!
AUGUST IS "JUBILEE MONTH!"

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
"THE MAGNIFICENT LIE"
With Ruth Chatterton

Thursday, Friday, Saturday
BIG DOUBLE FEATURE BILL
"CONFESSIONS OF A CO-ED"
With Sylvia Sydney and Phillips Holmes
"THE PUBLIC DEFENDER"
With Richard Dix

THE NORTH SHORE THEATRE

When "The Magnificent Lie," Ruth Chatterton's latest starring picture, is shown around the country, audiences will recognize in the leading male role a favorite stock player, Ralph Bellamy, who toured the country before getting the break on the New York stage which has led him to the door of moving picture fame.

In "The Magnificent Lie," which will show at the North Shore Theatre for four days, starting Sunday next, young Bellamy makes his screen bow. As Chatterton's leading man, he steps into a role which should advance him far on the road to stardom. In motion picture circles, he is already considered a "find."

Bellamy, in "The Magnificent Lie," plays the role of a sincere young lumberman, who is duped by Miss Chatterton into believing she is a famous French musical comedy star. Miss Chatterton undertakes the deception on a laughing wager, but the man's sincerity quickly turns her fooling to real love. Then she lacks the courage to disillusion him. Bellamy discovers her true character, and the love which has grown up between them is put to a severe test.

The picture was directed by Barthold Viertel, the celebrated

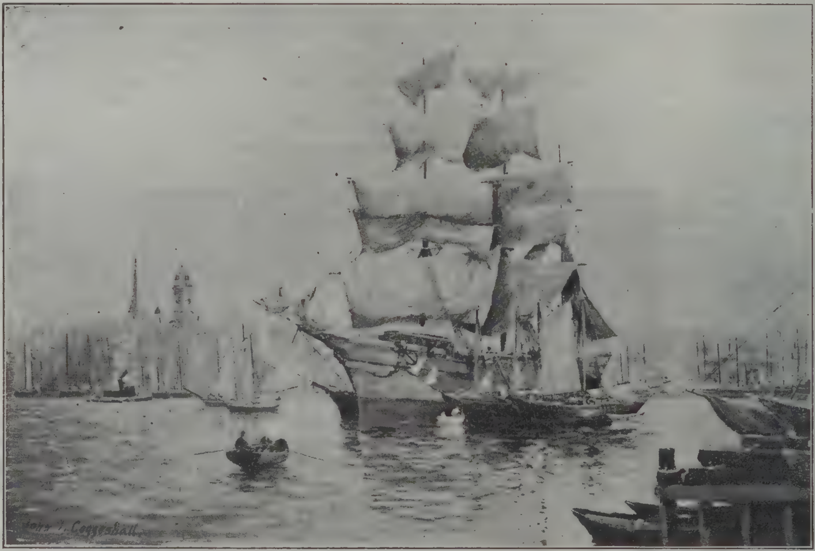
(Continued on page 23)

GLOUCESTER FISHERMAN'S INSTITUTE

A Membership of Nearly 4,000 Includes the Most Unique Club House in the World—Will Conduct Memorial Exercises Sunday Afternoon, August 2

PROBABLY THE MOST UNIQUE club house in the world, perhaps the only one of its kind, is the Gloucester Fishermen's Institute. True, there are Seaman's Bethels—until the revival of the American shipping since the war almost out of commission as seagoing concerns for lack of "true born sailor" patronage—but there is nothing of the bethel characteristic about this club.

It is housed in a four-story brick building of its own in Duncan street, on which there is no mortgage. There is an assembly room, billiard and pool rooms, 27 up-to-date dormitories, lunch counter, shower and tub baths, in fact every facility these men require.



The last Full-Rigged Ship in Gloucester Harbor—Until recently five or six full-rigged salt laden ships annually discharged cargoes here—The cargo, or tramp steamer has displaced them. Painting by the late John A. Coggeshall.

Here many of the men when ashore make headquarters. In an off season when the weather holds their vessels in port, as many as a thousand men per day avail themselves of the privileges of the place.

Gloucester gathers the pick of the seafaring men from the seven seas of the world. I remember during the Russo-Japanese War when the skipper of a fishing craft was a Russian born and one of his best men a Japanese, and they got along in perfect harmony, but these races are a rarity. I have never known a colored man to ship on the Gloucester fleet. If such has been the case they did not last long, although the coastwise fleet never carried them both before the mast and as cooks.

They come from all quarters of the white world, the bulk from the Maritime provinces, mainly Nova Scotia, with a sprinkling from the Scandinavian countries. It is here that letters are written appraising the home folks of tidings of the wanderer and it is to the chaplain that those at home write for tidings of their loved ones from whom they have not heard for a long period.

All this and much more. The only requisite for admission to this club is that one is a bona-fide fisherman. That is all. There are no dues.

It may be said that there have come here a good proportion of Portuguese fishermen and in the past decade a representation of the Italians. These may not be seen so numerously in the groupings at the institute but a number of these elements avail themselves of its privileges. The southern races, on the whole, prefer to keep by themselves socially.

Recently the building was put out of commission in its upper section when the police building adjoining was damaged by a fire which originated in that edifice, and last Wednesday after extensive repairs had been made, there was a visitation and house warming day, during which many, including a good representation of the summer colony, took occasion to make an inspection of these quarters and were enthusiastic over what they saw.

This institution, the largest in membership of any organization in the city by far, came into existence some forty-five years ago. At that time the fisheries were at their zenith, between four and five thousand men sailing from this port. A Scandinavian sailor-chaplain, Rev. Magnus Charlton, came here and saw the possibilities. He was accorded the free use of vacant rooms farther down in Duncan street and these he fixed up in a modest fashion with a few benches and an organ which had been donated and opened for the work.

At first it met with an indifferent reception, although it attracted a good following. Perhaps it was the religious feature which was made prominent that was responsible for this attitude.

However, the chaplain persevered. He sought the aid of the summer colony, always intensely interested in the fishermen. Concerts and addresses were made at the principal summer hotels and financial assistance solicited.

These appeals met with a ready and substantial response.

A wealthy Magnolia summer resident, Mrs. Maria McClure, came forward and practically secured and paid for the block farther up the street, which much remodeled, is the site of the institute. It was named in her honor, the McClure Institute.

Chaplain Charlton, after about fifteen years' service, retired and his place was taken in succession by Chaplains Roper, Alpheus E. Tuttle, Parsons, and the present incumbent, all of whom proved successful in carrying forward and extending the scope of the work, the sectarian feature, if indeed any such existed, being gradually modified, the institution assuming the nature of a club house pure and simple, although religious services are still conducted.

The present chaplain is Rev. George H. Russell, who during his incumbency of thirteen years, has carried the work to a high level, the institution gaining in attendance and popularity and in firmer foundation. A fisherman is proverbially democratic and independent and resents too much show of authority. So the principle of the government of the place is that enunciated by a wise European statesman who declared that that people was best governed who were least governed.

It is during the winter that the institution functions at its highest. The assembly room is a lively sight as the men are engaged in playing pool or checkers (a favorite game) or some other diversion. The men coming ashore engage a room in the dormitory and thus the undesirable features which accompany some sailors' boarding places are avoided. The baths are liberally patronized, and the chaplain sometimes acts as a banker by placing money in the safe for safe keeping literally, and in many ways in a quiet way many pitfalls formerly placed in the way of the seamen are eliminated. Hot coffee and lunch are available at all times and an atmosphere of good cheer always pervades the institution.

An annual feature sponsored by the institution is the memorial service to those fishermen of the port whose lives have been sacrificed at sea in their dangerous calling. Since the inception of the Gloucester fisheries in 1623, some 8,000 have been so recorded. The first instance of such a loss off this coast was in 1630 when a passenger to the colony, while engaged in catching mackerel over the side of his craft which was approaching shore, fell overboard and was drowned.

In recent years the terrible toll of life and property from loss at sea has been happily minimized, in fact practically eliminated, by the improved models of fishing craft, abandonment of dangerous methods of fishing, especially the group fishing of the "two-hooker" days in winter on Georges and the use of the oil auxiliary engine and the curtailment of the use of the dory in fishing on the banks.

Prior to this, heavy were the losses and deep the sorrows when hundreds of these men were drowned in a single gale, casting the town into deep mourning. The Lord's Day gale of August, 1873, in the North Bay or Bay St. Lawrence took a toll of 14 vessels of the mackerel fleets and 252 of our fishermen. It was then the custom to take small boys aboard these craft during the school vacation. The writer well remembers this gale, being in the thick of it. Then the heavens literally opened and the floodgates broke loose and descended. Nothing could withstand its force. Vessels were cast ashore from Canso to North Cape. Many a boy playmate in the fleet was among the missing and never returned. Some of the finest skippers and men that ever sailed around Eastern Point went down in that gale. Long was it remembered here.

A feature in which Chaplain Russell has been especially active has been the placing of old and friendless fishermen (can this be said to be so when they had so great a friend as Chaplain Russell?) in the Sailors' Snug Harbor at Staten Island. During his incumbency some 250 old Gloucester fishermen who had seen their best days as fishermen and were stranded upon the lee shore of adversity in their old age have been provided with a good home in their declining years. Previous to that, fishermen were not received at Snug Harbor.

An impressive ceremony and perhaps the only one observed in this country, originated here, is the service in memory of the drowned under the auspices of the institute. It always attracts a sympathetic and reverent assemblage.

This year it will be held tomorrow Sunday, August 2, in the afternoon. The gathering will march from the Community House in Angle street, accompanied by a band, to the Fisherman's memorial monument on the Stacy Esplanade, Western avenue, where a stop will be made during which Capt. John A. MacKinnon, past president of and representing the Master Mariners' Association, will deposit a wreath at the base.

Reforming, the procession will take up the line of march to the Cut Bridge, the exercises of the day being held at the entrance of the Blynman Canal where it enters the harbor. Chaplain Russell will have direction of the exercises. There will be singing by a selected group and the assemblage, and Rev. Clarence J. Cowing, pastor of the Independent Christian (Universalist) Church will deliver the address. The list of the drowned for the year will be read, taps will be sounded, and the Boy and Girl Scouts will strew the water of the bay with flowers as a floral tribute to the brave. Donations of flowers for this purpose will be thankfully received by Chaplain Russell at the Institute.

Next week—The woman summer resident who proved the greatest advertiser of the charms of Gloucester. "Its severest critic and best friend."

Del Monte's
ON THE NORTH SHORE
Magnolia,
Mass.

New Casino Opposite Norman's Woe. Commanding the Finest View on the North Atlantic—Ample Parking Space.

DANCING EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
With DEL MONTE'S FAMOUS ORCHESTRA

For Reservations of Tables—Phone Magnolia 590
A la carte J. P. Del Monte, Proprietor and Manager

TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE DISTINCTIVE

MAGNOLIA

MAGNOLIA

HERE WE ARE into August. Midsummer. A little more than four weeks to Labor Day. Verily Tempus Fugit. August always has been a big month numerically speaking on Cape Ann and the years have been so rare that we cannot recall an instance when the hotels have not at least been comfortably filled during the eighth period of the year. The season to date has just jogged along one rainy day after another. We are due for sunshine and a fine fall.

Years ago there was talk of a breakwater from Lobster lane across the reef to Kettle Island. This accomplished, a fine sheltered harbor for boats would be afforded—just the thing for yachtsmen. If such a project were accomplished, it would give Magnolia a great boost ahead and perhaps a yacht club might be started.

The largest and most brilliant group of the season were gathered on last Saturday night within the walls of Del Monte's beautiful Moorish casino. Gorgeous gowns, women's laughter, masculine voices, delicate perfumes, burning cigarettes, steaming exotic dishes, and above all the tantalizing strains of the far-famed Ruby Newman's band, all combined to produce the inimitable atmosphere for which Del Monte's is so famous. The prestige of Del Monte's, enhanced by the presence of so many of the elite of the North Shore at all times, continues to attract more and more of those discriminating in their choice of entertainment.

Among those entertaining were: Mrs. Harry Brown, who is staying at the Oceanside with a party of nine, among whom were Senator David I. Walsh, Mrs. Jacob Loose, Gen. and Mrs. Logan, Col. Backworth, Mr. and Mrs. Greene, and E. H. Brainard; Miss Suffern of Bass Rocks, party of ten; Mrs. John Flint of Manchester, party of four, including Mr. and Mrs. William Martin and Ruth and Robert Martin; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woods of Hamilton, party of six; Mr. and Mrs. John Amory and Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy of Manchester; John Sherman of the Ritz-Carlton, party of twelve; George E. Schanck of Magnolia, party of eight; Samuel Felton of Manchester, party of twenty-five; P. M. Tucker, Jr., of Eastern Point, party of ten; Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan and family of Manchester; E. B. Kitfield, party of eight; John Favorite of Bass Rocks, party of eight; George Brown of Swampscott, party of ten; John Morrill of Manchester, party of twelve; Thomas A. J. Johnson of Magnolia, party of eight.

Among the recent arrivals at the North Shore Inn are included the Misses Jane and Mary Comisky, Troy; Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Jacobson, Montreal; Martha Podison, Portchester.

The Inn continues to draw week-enders and this past week was host to the following: Mrs. George Fitts and daughter Ruth, Everett; A. L. Tisch, Brighton; Mrs. R. Finn and daughter, E. J. Pearson, Cambridge; C. A. Mulligan and Arthur McKaig, Battle Creek, both of whom are taking special courses at Harvard.

Mrs. Susan H. Lawrence, manager of the Inn, has as her guest, Mrs. Cora Fickling of New York City, who will act as social hostess, teaching contract and auction bridge, arranging parties and assisting in the production of several entertainments scheduled throughout the season, among which is the lecture to be delivered by L. S. Baker, F.C.G.S., on India, Burma, etc. Moving picture and puppetteer reviews are among the various programs arranged for the enjoyment of the guests.

Malcolm G. Stewart and Louis Ledgewood, while en route to Mathew Bartlett's of Beverly Farms, stopped to enjoy the hospitality of the Inn. Other guests included: Marguerite Water, New York City; Mrs. Francis J. Dewes, Chicago, and sister, Mrs. L. R. Reibe of Brookline; Alice Tinkham and Mrs. M. E. Bradley of the Hotel Charlesgate, Boston; Mrs. Susan Grey, Boston; Mrs. Marshal N. Rice, Mary E. Costello, Arlington.

Recent arrivals at the Oceanside include: Grace M. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Preston, Mrs. Mary E. Prim, Mrs. Cartright, Frank E. Hatch, Boston; C. O. Emmerton, Salem; Mrs. R. Cotton Smith, Ipswich; Mrs. W. G. Thayer, Ipswich; Mrs. C. Horton Nichols, Manchester; Marjorie A. Custis, Worcester; Mrs. Harriet B. Cook and son, Cambridge; Emily and Katherine Davis, Marblehead; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ferguson, Cambridge; Mrs. Clement H. Smith, Newton; C. B. Hammond, Julia and Louise Dunbar, Buffalo; Mrs. J. Earle Collier, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. George Wilshire and daughters, New Haven, and guests Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Miller, Cincinnati Mary Davis, New York City; Mrs. Florence Parke, William Hendrick, Charles G. Staiger Mrs. H. Rosenfield, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney E Dekay, Juanita Donahue, Mrs. A. C. Carlas T. W. Roudin, Mary Nicholson, Arthur Butter, Jr., Mrs. V. Rosing, Mr. and Mrs. P. E Johnson, Doris Rich, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sommer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hedley, Miss Cora Witherspoon, M. R. Bashford, New York City; Miss Caroline H. Baily, Mrs. J. A. Ross Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Hunter Chicago; Mrs. C. McE. Wendell, Albany; Cora B. Whitin, Northbridge, Mrs. L. B. Simard Montreal; Mrs. V. A. Fletcher, New London Mrs. W. H. Werberling, Camden; E. A. and W. A. Werberling, Morristown; Mrs. H. H Suydam, Cincinnati; Richard Larkin, Hillslow Mrs. M. L. Haines, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs James Green, Washington; Mrs. Wykof Smith, William Wycoff Smith, Bryn Mawr Mrs. H. L. F. Kreger, Cleveland; Mrs. A. S Phenix, Mrs. Harry Butler, Portland; Miss L. R. Richmond, E. S. Richmond, Buffalo Mrs. G. Gould Lincoln, Washington; E. Balaban, Rochester; Mrs. Thomas R. Gorden Louisville; J. E. Wilson, Melrose; Eleanor Lewis, Stalban; William H. Brown, Jr., T Stockton Gaines, Pittsburgh; Miss Elizabeth Earhart, Ann Arbor; C. G. Belliero, Philadelphia; Mrs. George G. McCracken, Montreal Mr. and Mrs. J. Loring Brooks, Jr., Brookmont; H. A. Waite, Squantum.

Recent arrivals at Hesperus Villa include Mrs. E. H. Haskell, M. R. Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Meckerman and daughter Helen, Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Lasher and son, Poughkeepsie.

LOAN EXHIBITION— AFRICAN FLOWERS

An interesting display may be seen at the Sawyer Free Library rooms comprising colored pictures of African flowers. The exhibition is by courtesy of Miss Mary Brooks, who loaned the collection to the Library. She has recently returned from an extended tour in Africa.

Notice to Water Takers

THE EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS imposed on the use of water last season on account of scarcity are removed. The usual rules are now in force.

The Water Board is pleased to announce that the Alewife Brook Water Basin, begun last summer, was completed in January and was filled to capacity within two months. While there is ample supply in storage in the four water basins, the Board wishes to caution against needless waste.

The Board takes this opportunity to express its thanks to the summer residents and citizens for their very general response to their request for economy in the use of water. This co-operation materially helped a very serious situation.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS OF CITY OF GLOUCESTER.

EAST GLOUCESTER

At the Pilgrim recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stevens, Andover; Mrs. F. B. Hayden, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Everett, Elmira.

At the Rockaway: H. F. Bradford, Elizabeth A. Donnelly, Alice Donnelly, Mrs. E. F. Donnelly, Miss M. I. Garraghan, L. Candre, Boston; Olive Myers, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Myers, Mrs. Elden Jones, Mrs. Merrick Lincoln, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Taylor, Middletown; Charlotte Baum, Northampton; Mabel E. Rosenquist, Woburn; Walter S. Wood, Concord; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Douglas, Manchester; Jean F. White, Blanche N. and Jane L. Davis, Providence; H. Roden, Mrs. W. M. Ireland, Jeane H. Champlin, Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Lope, Gladys P. Williams, Bessie MacDougal, Ellen MacDougal, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McManus, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Irving Williams, Maplewood; Mr. and Mrs. S. Hoskins, Hartsdale; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Butterfield, Buffalo; Mrs. E. M. Doyle, Ithaca; Mrs. F. L. Atkins, Mrs. L. B. Riggin, P. J. Conroy, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Parsons, Rutherford; Marion Hairland, Montclair; Mrs. J. W. Smyth, Margaret S. Smyth, Melrose Park; Jane M. Stemke, Richmond Hill; Mr. and Mrs. George Wells, E. M. Wells, A. D. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Wiley, Hedwig Wiley, Mary V. Richmond, Anna L. Richmond, Mrs. R. R. Benedict, Mrs. A. B. Jackson, Philadelphia; Mrs. Joseph Blake, Jr., Jenkintown, Penn.; R. H. Heiser, Eleanor P. Custis, Marion H. Custis, Washington; John T. Richards, George T. Richards, Chicago; Lt. Commander and Mrs. J. H. Carson, Danville; Mrs. H. W. Johnson, Miss Caroline Johnson, Savannah; Mrs. Max Schmidt, Miss Jane Schmidt, B. N. Carter, Miss Mary A. Sullivan, Sarah L. Sullivan, Cincinnati; Adele R. Brooks, St. Louis; Mrs. W. A. Hamiston, Annie G. Inman, Cleveland; Mrs. D. A. MacCallum, Mrs. W. R. Beecher, Mrs. C. G. Seldon, Detroit; Mrs. J. J. Symes, Marion Symes, Evanston; Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bowner, Francis S. Bowner, Woonsocket.

At Hawthorne Inn: Mr. and Mrs. William Drummey, W. Bailey, Edith Burnham, Katharine Cliff, Boston; C. M. Howe, Belmont; Mrs. L. F. Sherman and son Alden and grandson Leonard, Lowell; Helen A. Dowsley, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. John H. Coes, Worcester; Robert Scaffer, Mrs. A. W. Sawyer, Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lowe, Margaret Lowe, R. B. Lowe, Jr., Fitchburg; Maribel Vinson, Winchester; L. Wakefield, Weston; Mr. and Mrs. William D. Otis, New Haven; Irma L. Hanley, Katherine F. Martin, Providence; Dr. and Mrs. Fielding, Mlle. Theophile Trottier, Mrs. Grose Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Ball, New York City; Mrs. Walter L. Douglas, Brooklyn; Miss N. Helleman, Jersey City; Betty Smith, South Orange; M. E. Bissell, C. A. Bissell, Jersey City; John Z. Hamil, R. D. Benson, Jr., John C. Melcher, Philadelphia; Celia McCormick, Pittsburgh; M. Magee, Mrs. Blecker Luce, Washington; Mrs. L. L. Faison, Baltimore; Mrs. John W. Price, Louisville; Mrs. J. W. Stovall; Miss Margaret Halstead, Pasadena; Miss Mary Pennfield, Evanston; Miss Mary Wallis, Chicago; Mrs. M. Spurgeon, London; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Montague, Paris.

At Fairview Inn: Louise Hayden, Bertha E. Smith, Boston; Mrs. Bertha B. Leacy, Wellesley; R. M. Clark, Fannie E. Clark, Miss Clark, Natick; Mrs. Robert A. Swift, Milton; Edward M. Thurber, Jr., Port Hope; Miss Alice H. Scott, Maplewood; Miss Marguerite M. Scott, Maplewood; Mrs. G. G. Cameron, Mrs. John B. Roberts, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Merrill Orne, New York City; Nellie Innis Hay, New Orleans.

At the Delphine: Donald G. Webster, Harry G. Webster, Springfield; F. R. McCreary, Watertown; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hammerslough, Morristown; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Tiffany, Baltimore; Miss Simonds, Walter A. Simonds, Pasadena.

At Merrill Hall: Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Emerson, Belmont; Elizabeth Trainor, Frances M. Quinn, Worcester; William H. Ensign, Mrs. Charles J. Little, Mrs. Charles H. Beala, Westfield; M. A. Turell, C. H. Turell, West Roxbury; Robert B. Mahn, Evelyn Anderson, New York; Lorraine Bird, East Orange; R. S. Holstead, Jr., and Carly, Pittsburgh; Margaret S. Echlin, Mrs. F. S. Condit, Summit; Mrs. Isabelle D. Oakley, Ruby S. Fuhr, David Robert Smith, Terre Haute, Ind.; Earle Polhemus, Nyack.

At Cove Villa: Lucinde H. Hartshorn, Berlin; A. M. Winchell, Medford; Freida B. Diel, Meriden; Marjorie Gleyre Lachmund, Yonkers; Hilda Kloenne, Mr. and Mrs. Percy T. Coburn, New York City; Mary A. Charles, Forest River; Alice B. H. Parlin, Indianapolis; Mrs. L. K. Gilman, C. S. J. Smith, Baltimore; Miss Bernice Blodgett, Minneapolis; Anna Bier, K. Townsend, Mrs. Bier, John Engelkin, Greenville, Ohio.

A bridge party will be given at the gallery of the North Shore Art gallery August 10, with Mrs. Frances Storrs as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Frederick L. Stoddard.

FOLLY COVE

Mrs. Rebecca VanB. Conway of Philadelphia is at her cottage on Folly Point for the season.

Miss Lillian Newman of Detroit with her sister, Miss Ada Newman, is spending the summer at her Folly Cove cottage.

Miss Florence Waterman of Boston has arrived at her Folly Cove cottage for the season.

Miss Gabrielle deV. Clements of Washington has returned to the Thickets, Folly Cove, for the season.

Miss Ellen D. Hale, daughter of Edward Everett Hale of Washington, is again at her Folly Cove summer cottage.

Edward S. Clymer of Yomissing, Penn., is at the "Seacroft" studio for the summer months.

Mrs. J. Southgate Yeaton of Baltimore is at Lanesville for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cheeseman of Madison with their two sons, Radcliffe and Benbow, students at the Kent School, N. J., are spending the summer months in the Lanesville sector.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicola D'Acenzo of Philadelphia are at Folly Point for another season.

Mrs. Charles Grafly and daughter, Dorothy of Philadelphia, are at their Folly Cove studio.

Miss Ellen B. Laight of Salem has returned to Folly Point for the season.

Miss Nellie Potter of Portland is spending the summer at Folly Cove. With Miss Potter is Miss Grace Marchant, also of Portland.

At the "Rooftree" cottage, Mrs. C. Frank Carpenter has again opened her book shop. Mrs. Carpenter has recently returned from a two weeks' stay in New York City. With her at the Rooftree are her three children, Frederick, Mary, and John. John has just returned from Camp Washington, Long Valley, N. J. The Carpenter home is in Boonton, N. J.

Professor and Mrs. William D. Hoyt of Lexington, Va., are at the "Folly" again this season. Professor Hoyt is of the Washington Lee University. Mrs. Hoyt is devoting the summer to painting. With them are their three sons, Southgate, William, and Robert, who is a senior at Washington Lee, and four guests, Joseph Taylor, also of Lexington, and the Misses Mary, Margaret, and Florence Hoyt, sisters of Mr. Hoyt. Miss Margaret Hoyt is a health nurse in Baltimore, Miss Florence, a teacher in the Bryn Mawr School in Baltimore, and Miss Mary, an English teacher in the Ethel Walker School in Connecticut.

Mr. Holmquist and his granddaughter, Betty Holmquist, who are summering at Folly Cove this summer, expect to be joined soon by Mr. Holmquist's daughters, Caroline and Louise, and another granddaughter, Christina.

William MacLean, who is principal of two junior high schools in Montclair, N. J., with his family is again at the Cove for the season. They are entertaining Miss Dorothy Hutchinson, Supervisor of Physical Education at the Montclair High School, N. J.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter C. Pugh of Philadelphia with their three children, Cresson, Dorothy, and Francis, are at the "Dotcrest," Folly Cove, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilford Francis and family of Buffalo are at the Folly Cove Inn this season with their two daughters, Catherine and Marjorie.

Professor William Coan, of the Washington Lee University, and Mrs. Coan are at the Cove for the summer. With them is their mother, Mrs. Clara Detamore, and nephew, Mr. Lowell Detamore of Birmingham, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph White and four children are at the Folly Cove Inn for the month of August.

BASS ROCKS

THE BASS ROCKS Golf Club continues its activity as the most popular place of entertainment at Bass Rocks. The usual Monday bridge was held the first of the week and attended by a particularly large number. At the Women's golf tournament on Tuesday, Mrs. Richardson of New York again came in first.

On Wednesday, Mrs. George Butts of Washington, who is stopping at the Moorland, gave a delightful luncheon for a group of her friends at the club. Mrs. Prentice, also from Washington, who is staying at the Thorwald, gave on Wednesday at the club a delightful luncheon at the club.

Mrs. James Prentice from Baltimore, who is at her cottage on Beach road again this summer, entertained recently at the club several friends at a bridge and tea.

On Friday, Mrs. Goetsinger of Pittsburgh entertained a few friends at luncheon at the club.

Mrs. Belvedere Brooks of Montreal, who is spending the season at the Moorland, gave a luncheon at the club on Saturday.

A charming bridge and tea was also held on Saturday by Mrs. De Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Fuller, of Worcester are entertaining at their Bass Rocks home, "Krossanes," Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hallock and son Robert P. of Worcester. Week-end guests have been Clara S. Flagg of Somerville and Mrs. George F. Leavitt and Mrs. James Kindred of Worcester.

At the Moorland recent arrivals include: Frances Hardon, Boston; Z. W. Coombs, Worcester; Mrs. A. D. Briggs and daughters, Dorothy and Leontine, West Hartford; Anne T. and Mary E. Cunningham, Hartford; Louise C. Rapalje, New York City; H. V. Russell, Covington; Mr. and Mrs. George M. Shriver, Baltimore; Miss Mary C. Short, Louisville; Helen Wilson, Cincinnati; Emily L. Black; Mrs. G. W. Rourke and daughter, Seattle; John D. Underwood, Cleveland; Louise H. Wood, Paris.

LAST OF HER RACE ON CAPE ANN

Hattie Johnson of West Parish, Lone Occupant of Old Freeman House, Has Passed On

An event of historical importance occurred last week in the death at West Gloucester of Hattie Johnson, for the past 20 years occupant of the well known Freeman house at West Gloucester, one of the four houses with the overhanging second story on Cape Ann, the house being a landmark to all passersby.

She was in her 81st year and was the daughter of Charles Freeman, a well known figure of a generation ago. They were last of the Colonial colored population on the cape. Just prior to the Revolution there was an extensive negro population on the cape, the census disclosing at that time that one in ten of the population of the town was colored. The fact was that slave labor was a common thing among the wealthy of the town and that Col. Peter Coffin, original owner of the farm surrounding the Coffin's Beach sector, carried on his extensive plantation there with slave labor and these blacks constituted quite a factor in repulsing the attack of a British landing party from a sloop of war in August 5, 1775.

The cold truth is that a considerable part of the "foreign commerce" of that day consisted in running "wool and ivory" from the gold coast, a highly profitable industry. It was the complaint of the Southerners just prior to the Civil War that the Yankees ran their niggers across and sold them South and later became rampant abolitionists seeking to make them free, which plaint had a certain measure of truth.

You can't hook up much of this trade with any certain port as, like rum running or smuggling, official or family record is nil, those concerned of succeeding generations, honest and upright citizens, preferring to let this ep-

(Continued on page 14)

EASTERN POINT

ALL NEXT WEEK the yachtsmen will be at Marblehead for the open races to be sailed there. Practically all the young people of the locality interested in yachting will be in attendance.

Miss May Murray Kay, sister of Mrs. John W. Prentiss, is a guest at "Blighty" for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Leonard, Jr., and daughter Isabel Jane have arrived at the home of their father, Arthur G. Leonard, "Druimteac," at the end of the point. The children of the Leonard family were among the many from the summer colony in this section who have visited the Constitution under escort of Mr. Carleton W. Swift, and have been quite thrilled at the opportunity to inspect thoroughly, almost from deck to keelson, that historic craft.

The children of the Raymond family have also been among those who have given the ship a thorough inspection and scrutiny. Young Jock Raymond, growing now into a fine lad, may claim to be the original Old Ironsides admirer of the Point. As proof we point to the fact that his ship in the Eastern Club's junior classes bears that classic marine designation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Bennett of Englewood, N. J., are occupying their summer home in Ledge road. Their son Lloyd is at present enjoying life on one of the dude ranches of the West.

Peter Vosburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Vosburgh of Cambridge, who are occupying one of the Delphine cottages, is one of the crew of the "Skal," the smallest boat in the fleet which sailed from Newport July 4. The race was completed last week, the "Skal" being second boat to arrive.

The hospitality of Mrs. Clarence E. Birdseye makes it possible for the Gloucester branch of the American Red Cross to announce a benefit bridge to be held at her home Wednesday afternoon, August 5. The needs for assistance from the Red Cross have been

The House of MANAHAN

MAGNOLIA
BRANCH SHOP

SUMMER FASHIONS

FEATURE

Silk Play Frocks
Beach Togs
and Swim Suits
Chiffon Afternoon
and Evening Dresses
Coats
Hats

280 BOYLSTON STREET
BOSTON

heavy, making additional funds imperative. The offer of Mrs. Birdseye is appreciated and it is expected that a substantial sum will be realized. The Birdseye home, completed this summer, has one of the most delightful locations on Eastern Point.

Rt. Rev. Philip M. Rhinelander and Mrs. Rhinelander, whose summer home is at Eastern Point, sailed recently on the Berengaria for Europe, where they will visit in England and France.

Rev. James A. Muller of Cambridge has been conducting Episcopal services at the Hawthorne Inn during July.

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

MORE LIVELY and interesting in its activity than ever before, Rockport continues to attract not only large numbers of hotel guests, but an extra large number of cottagers as well. And each week-end it becomes more difficult to wend one's way among the many cars parked and moving which fill the streets, disconcerting evidence of the popularity with transients of this quaint little town.

At Turk's Head Inn recent arrivals include: Robert M. Boyden, Watertown; Margaret R. Moynhan, Brockton; James L. Buckley, Lynn; Grace Tweedy, Danbury; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kip, Mrs. James E. Macher, New London; Florence J. Learned, Pittsfield; Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Vose, N. M. Vose, Jr., Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mayer, Newport; Mrs. Mary D. Womack, Geoffrey Wardell, Edgar Barrier, Lilian Wiles, Mr. and Mrs. M. Findlay, Mr. and Mrs. William X. Ryn, Gertrude Watson, New York City; Mrs. B. A. Couroy, Montreal; Mrs. John Coon, Cleveland.

At Straitsmouth Inn this season there has been an unusually large number of guests from Indianapolis. The Misses Josephine, Mary Y., and Anna Belle Johnson, arriving early in June at the Inn, are spending another long season here, while Miss Lillian Reeves, Miss Emma Byfield, and Mrs. John J. Appel, also from that city have recently arrived for the remainder of the season. Several other guests have returned to the West after an enjoyable month's vacation at this beautifully located and popular hotel.

Among recent arrivals at the Inn are: Mrs. F. E. Tomlinson, Boston; Miss Edith M. Harper and son William, Waban; Ethel M. Colby, Mrs. A. J. Ward, W. G. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Emery, Brookline; Miss Buckley, Auburndale; Marion A. Dogherty, Louise M. Chamberlaine, Cambridge; Mrs. J. A. Linton, Winchester; Mrs. Homer Davis, Mrs. W. P. Linston, Arlington; Edith M. Tuttle, Allston; Mrs. Francis Murdock, Newton; Olive K. Burrison, West Newton; Mrs. A. L. Gordon, Marion Gordon, Ruth Gordon, Newtonville; Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Greene, Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Evelith, Concord, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Merris, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. George J. Hughs, Jersey City; Hyram T. Snyder, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hart, Evanston; Elizabeth D. Wood, Chicago; D. McLaughlin, Toronto.

At the Granite Shore recent arrivals include: G. L. Page, H. E. Ackelson, V. E. Zehner, W. C. Smith, U. S. Navy; Blanche S. Olin, Richard S. Atkinson, Boston; Ludwig Striegler, Winthrop; Mr. and Mrs. George C. Lord, Dorchester; J. B. Walker, Edwin Walker, Dorothy Walker, E. M. Walker, Springfield; Frank Carson, Provincetown; H. Roth, P. Roth, B. Lubarsky, Mrs. L. M. Coffin, William C. Stutelberg, Hildegard Stutelberg, New York City; Mary H. Graham, Jane H. Graham, Mrs. Ida Burkinshaw, Philadelphia; Edna and Virginia O'Malley, Brooklyn; Dr. Edward J. Ell, Robert Burner, Newark; Jane Hensler, Summit.

At the Edward recent arrivals include: J. H. and W. T. Goon, Harvard University stu-

(Continued on page 19)

ANNISQUAM

Francis J. O'Brien, the Harvard football star, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. R. Russell Smith, at her summer home on the point, "Sidelight."

Mrs. Hector W. Carveth of Niagara Falls is at her summer home. Miss Henrietta Farnum of Augusta, Me., recently entertained a party of fourteen young people, concluding with a theatre party in her honor.

Miss Julianna Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Russell Smith, entertained some twenty of her young friends in the summer colony in honor of Miss Henrietta Farnum.

Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn and daughter Eleanor and son Mark of Minneapolis are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Jelliff at their summer home, "The Ledges," Norwood's Heights.

Col. and Mrs. James Barnes of Princeton, N. J., are the guests of Mrs. Barnes' mother, Mrs. David Stevens of Boston, whose summer home is in Arlington street.

Miss Margaret Fitzhugh Brown departed this week for Bar Harbor, where she is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Augustus Thorndike. After concluding her visit there, she will go on to Sorrento for a stay with Miss Lelia Mechlin of Washington. Miss Mechlin it will be recalled, was a guest for several seasons at the Harbor View, East Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Distler of Baltimore motored on from Baltimore via the Catskills, Adirondacks, and into Canada and down New England to Annisquam, where they are the guests of Mrs. Distler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Wise Wood, at their home, "Sheeprocks," on the crest of the Annisquam ridge.

Mrs. F. B. Whittemore of New York City has arrived at her Cambridge avenue cottage.

Miss Cora E. Vawter has returned from Michigan and is again at her Chester square cottage.

Miss Geraldine Smith entertained the officers of the Constitution at dinner at the club house Saturday evening, afterwards attending the theatricals at Rockport.

EMBROIDERY SALE

Greek embroideries, made by the women of Athens, will be on exhibition and sale at the F. C. Poole Shops, Sawyer homestead, Freshwater Cove, next week, August 3, 4, 5 and 6. The sale is under the auspices of the Near East Relief and Miss Priscilla Capps.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

Peggy awoke the next morning with that vague feeling, familiar to most all of us that something important had happened or was about to happen. Gradually the sleepy stupor was replaced by a confused jumble of anticipated events. Those beautiful pieces of upholstered furniture that she had ordered from Poole's would be coming today, those custom-made lovely wing-back chairs and arm chairs so perfect in appearance and so luxuriously, surprisingly comfortable. The men from the Gloucester Electric Co. with those new fixtures for the living room might come today, too. And she had seen Pattillo about the draperies—the beautiful tapestries she had decided on finally, wasn't it, or had it been the damask? Oh well, it was nice to lie here and not worry about anything. And yet, was she forgetting something? The vague uneasiness remained, and suddenly she was wide awake and sitting bolt upright in bed. Bud! Peggy jumped up and slipped into the new negligee of blue brocaded satin that she had recently bought at Manahan's and ran to the window. It was a cold wet day, and Peggy was thankful for the obscure albatross lining in the negligee as she perched on the edge of the bed and called Anne on the phone for further news of Bud. Although Anne was as completely in the dark as Peggy, she readily consented to come over and discuss the matter over Peggy's breakfast table (if Peggy didn't mind if she had a dip first). Peggy didn't mind, but thought she was crazy and said so when Anne arrived, dripping wet from rain and ocean and "protected" from the storm by a beautiful, delicate, exquisitely designed coolie coat from the Beach Plum and Bayberry Candle Shop in Rockport.

"You're not only crazy but you're an extravagant, wasteful thing," announced Peggy in dismayed tones, viewing the coolie coat. "That bathing suit will run all over the coat and ruin it and the coat will ruin the bathing suit, and you'll have pneumonia and—"

But Anne was in the kitchen sniffing around the Glenwood Range from the Gloucester Gas Light. "Kybo coffee from the First National Stores," she murmured. "How long before it's done?"

"Anne, I've been talking to you," said Peggy, crossly. "Are you ignoring me by any chance?"

"I am. You know very well that the Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company does every bit of my cleansing work for me. You know their work yourself, and yet you stand there telling me that things are being ruined. For shame! Ooh, does that coffee smell good! And as for pneumonia, do you suppose I haven't been summering at Gloucester for fifty years or more without realizing the efficiency of its drug stores? Trowbridge's, Barker's or Wetherell's would soon take care of me. Peggy, are you planning to starve me to death?"

Peggy laughed and poured the coffee. "Well, weren't you surprised last night?" she exclaimed.

"To tell the truth, Peg, I didn't quite get the thing straight, but I hated to keep asking questions and embarrass Marcia and Phil. That's why I wanted to see you."

"Well, I gathered that Bud was left an orphan when she was about seven years old and was adopted by those two aunts of Jack's as a sort of charge to pay her board by running errands and things like that, and then when she grew older and began to realize her position, she was made to feel more and more like a servant by those two old maids, and being Bud, probably ate her heart out in loneliness and offended pride. Then Jack, you see, used to come down to visit and he naturally was made to think that Bud was a regular servant, and probably treated her as such. That must have killed her. Then when the old women died and Bud was left alone again, Phil's mother, who had always been a friend of Bud's mother and who had always resented the guardians' attitude toward Bud, knowing her for the true aristocrat that she is, could step in and do what she had always wanted to do, take Bud to her own home. So Bud's lived there ever since and was just beginning to be thoroughly happy and accustomed to being a Hastings when bing, she

FOR BRIGHTER BREAKFASTS!

Englishware set for two in "Garden Walk" pattern. 23 pieces, $17.50. Tray $3.

OVINGTON'S is abloom with lovely breakfast sets. In colors gay as country gardens—in china that enhances the fame of the finest potters—these delightful sets brighten the matutinal repast while their prices never, never disturb the serenity of country days. Complete services from $6.50 to $75.

OVINGTON'S

LEXINGTON AVENUE, MAGNOLIA, MASS.
437 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

meets Jack again and feels as though she's been deceiving all of us and all that. As though we'd think any the less of her if she had always been a servant. Bud's Bud, and any one would love her."

"But how about Jack?" Anne wanted to know. "Didn't he know that she had been adopted by Phil's mother?"

"Jack was in Europe, and shortly after the adoption, the entire Hastings family moved to Louisiana."

"It's a good story, but you've missed the point," announced Anne.

"Missed the point?" queried Peggy, slightly disconcerted.

"Of course," said Anne, "every one has. But she'll come back, I hope," she added. Then, changing the subject, "Now let's leave this to Phil and Marcia and get Chubby and Gay and Jimmie to go over to Magnolia this morning."

Peggy was sorry, she had to attend to a lot of things at home.

"Now Peg, you know you're dying to go, and you're just being a little stuffy because I won't tell you what I mean, and I don't blame you. If you decide to go, we'll be starting in about an hour," she added.

Needless to say, Peggy gave in and in an hour they were all on their way to Magnolia.

"The first place I want to go is to Mrs. Paige's at the Public Library Art Gallery," announced Gay. "Mother told me that she was opening her shop there this year and thrilled me to death telling me the stories connected with some of the articles she has there on display."

The entire group was completely captivated by the extraordinary collection of fine old things, beautiful needlework, exquisite in its detail and intricacy of design; priceless old real laces, old brass pieces, fine old silver, everything to delight the heart of connoisseur and layman alike. Peggy was entranced by an old paisley shawl, a beautifully rich thing. "It's exactly like one that my grandmother gave to mother as a wedding present," she exclaimed.

Gay was fascinated by a gorgeous shawl of white crepe of the most delicate texture imaginable, which Mrs. Paige told her had been brought from China by a sea captain.

They finally tore themselves away from the fascinating exhibition and went to the Grande Maison de Blanc. Here Peggy was inspired with the idea of presenting Phil and Marcia with something for their anticipated trip to the mountains.

"Not very smart," announced Anne. "They won't be likely to go without Bud."

"But, maybe by that time, Bud will be back," suggested Peggy, not very convincingly.

"That's all right, I think it would be a good idea, Peg," from Chubby. "I'd like one of these motor robes, whether I was going away very soon or not."

And they were lovely. There were robes of all descriptions. Heavy silks and light wools in dull, soft shades for summer, and heavy, soft, luxurious ones for the colder weather. Then there were tric little moire bags containing taffeta pillows for travelling.

"Anyhow, it would be nice to bring something home to them," conceded Anne. "Come on, Peg, pick something out."

So Peggy was happy again and chose a soft light wool of a rich shade of deep red, and the party departed for Manahan's.

"I want to look at negligees like your's, Peg," announced Anne. "And pick a fight with myself for not buying one before you did."

But the display proved to be so wide and varied that it was quite unnecessary for Anne to be the slightest bit envious. Anne pounced on one stunning model in an unusual and gorgeous combination of pink satin, lined with apricot, which was simply cut with a lapelled collar. Another more feminine and more elaborate and dainty negligee was one of apricot crepe de chine with

(Continued on page 20)

"THE TROUSSEAU HOUSE OF AMERICA"

Grande Maison de Blanc

538-540 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

MAGNOLIA, MASS.

Table Damask
Fancy Table Linen
Lace Dinner Cloths
Bed Linen and Spreads
Blankets and Comforters
Bath Towels and Rugs
Towelings

Handkerchiefs and Neckwear
Lingerie and Negligees
Infants' and Children's Wear
Blouse and Top Dresses
Sport Coats and Sweaters
Purses and Bags
Motor Rugs

It is understood by our patrons that our Magnolia Prices are identical with those in our New York Shop

Patrons will receive the personal attention of

Mr. RAYMOND BROWN

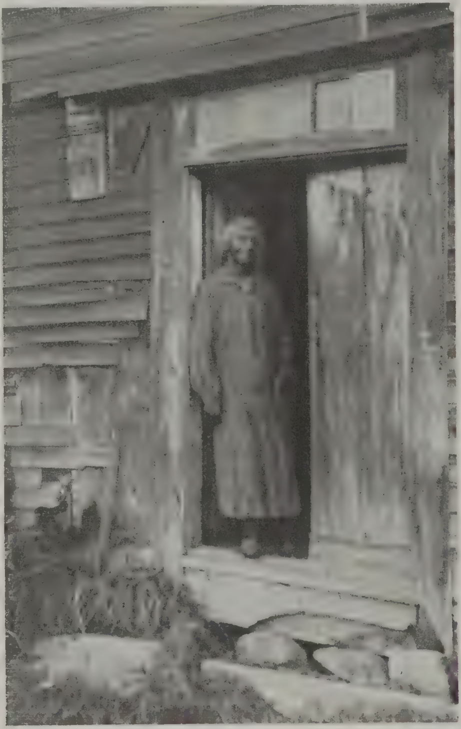
Resident Manager

Telephone 459 Magnolia

LAST OF HER RACE ON CAPE ANN

(Continued from page 10)

isode drop. So this money became presanctified in the second and third generation. But the truth is that this business founded the fortune of more than one Colonial family—that and the sale of New England rum.



Hattie Johnson, last of the Colonial colored people on Cape Ann. Died recently aged 81. Photo taken for The Shore last year in doorway of old Freeman house (about 1700) at West Parish.

Well, these blacks throve during the pre-Revolutionary period and it was their habit to make merry once a year in the Pine Tree Tavern located just this side the Cut Bridge near the Stacy esplanade. Just after the Revolution they disappeared rapidly the last of the colony being the Freemans.

This family came from an energetic member of their race named Robin. He accumulated enough money to buy his freedom and in the purchase deed it is stated "and Robin is a free man," hence the family name. In just such a manner came many of the Anglo-Saxon names of the present.

Hattie Johnson was the grandaughter of Charles Freeman, her mother marrying Horace Johnson, a Maine black of Colonial times. Hattie was well known and well thought of. She imbibed many of the characteristics of Yankee stock acquired by environment, her conversation and viewpoint being of that order. In fact, one listening to her with eyes shut might well think her a woman of Yankee stock with more than ordinary intelligence and range of reading. And so will vanish from the coming generation the last vestige and reminder of the era of black vassalage on Cape Ann. The oncoming generation will know of it only by reading local history—if indeed the generation of the new comers peopling the New England locality care to take the trouble or are interested in such matters.

All the old families concerned in this business petered out in the second or third generation, some coming to want.

"Vengeance is mine," saith the Lord, "I will repay."

GOOD HARBOR BEACH

Late arrivals at Good Harbor Beach Inn are: Mrs. Helene Margolis, Mrs. Floyd Brown, Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Beni, Mrs. Ruth Hochman, William Russell Hochman, Lenore Hochman, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Noyes, New York City; S. L. Russell, E. K. Stevens, Clinton; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Morey, Margaret Morey, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Anderson, Ruth Anderson, Millbrook, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. George S. Jamison, Doris, Donald and Graham Jamison, Glens Falls, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Powers, Helen and Virginia Powers, Mrs. Helen M. Burdick, Gladys A. Burdick, Newton; Sallie Darling, Grace Darling, Bernice Clark, Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Hovey, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Bridgeman, Chicopee; Mrs. H. R. Durant, Granby, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Les Dowker, York, Penn.; Mrs. Florence Wheaton, Mildred Wheaton, Leominster; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Longvall, Ruth Longvall, Mrs. D. E. Fox, Mrs. E. L. Bliss, Mrs. M. A. Ackley, B. A. Ackley, Worcester; Isabel G. Lorimer, Lowell; Sally L. Waterhouse, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Santer, Frances E. Santer, Margery Santer, Amsterdam, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Florence A. McLay, Betty McLay, Bethlehem, Penn.; W. C. Mills, Leslie W. Mills, Mrs. W. C. Mills, Putnam, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Evers, Mable Rose Evers, Hollis, L. Isl.; Mrs. Herman Evers, Short Hills, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Carter, Richard and John Carter, Waban; Lady Watson and chauffeur, Fannie L. Imrie, Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Waugh, William Waugh, Montreal; Mrs. D. F. MacKinnon, Boston; Yilka Dziadosz, Lawrence; Frances and Margaret Pratt, Master James Pratt, Sterling.

OCEANSIDE THEATRE MAGNOLIA MASSACHUSETTS
MR. W. ROSING
By arrangement with ROSS THOMPSON
PRESENTS A SEASON OF
DRAMA AND INTIMATE OPERA
Opening JULY 20th for One Week with
PAULINE LORD in "EFFIE GALLOWS"
A new play by Claire Spencer

JULY 27-28-29-30-31, AUGUST 1
GEORGE HOUSTON in
"SECOND MAN"
by S. N. Behrman
(Permission of The Theatre Guild)
AUGUST 4-6-7
"FAUST"
Opera by Gounod (sung in English)
AUGUST 10-11-12-13-14-15
CORA WITHERSPOON in
"THE NOTORIOUS LADY"
A new play by John Entenza

AUGUST 19-20-21
ANNA DUNCAN in a
DANCE PROGRAM and CHARLES HEDLEY
in "PAGLIACCI"
Opera by Leoncavallo (sung in English)
AUGUST 24-25-26-27-28-29
FIRST PRODUCTION IN AMERICA of
"SIMOON"
Famous French play by H. R. Lenormand
With a Distinguished Cast

Tickets may be secured from MISS EDITH ATWATER, Oceanside Hotel
Single seats .... $ 2.50
All six performances 12.00
Five performances $10.50
Four performances 8.75
Three performances $7.00
MRS. EVANS R. DICK, JR., Managing Director

LANESVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cameron of Arlington are season's guests at the Butler cottage, Lanesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Markland of Colorado have returned to the Markland home in Lanesville, where they will spend the summer.

Miss Margaret Towle of Brookline is entertaining Miss Eva Whelen of Brookline at her home in Cambridge avenue.

Miss Ruth Allen of Manchester, N. H., is the guest of Mrs. William Wallace in Chester square.

Richard Davis and family of Arlington have the Spalton cottage at Lanesville for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Alanson D. Yeaton and two children of Arlington have the O'Brien cottage at Lanesville this season.

Mr. and Mrs. George Senseney and two sons of Holyoke have taken an apartment in the Seaside house, Lanesville, for a stay into August.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller and three children of Medford are spending the summer months with Mrs. Mary E. Lane of Lanesville.

Mrs. Russo Ello and children of East Boston have the Ronka camp at Lanesville during the heated term.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hung of Boston have been recent guests here. Mrs. Hung is a Lanesville girl, born Johnson.

Mrs. Emil Robertson and family and Mrs. Walter Roberts of Arlington have a cottage in Woodbury street which they are occupying for the season.

Mrs. Walter Mason of West Hartford has taken a cottage for the season on Adams Hill road, Annisquam, and has for her guest Mrs. Josephine Carter of Magnolia.

Mrs. Charles E. Hodgkins of Lincoln has taken a cottage on the Barberry shore.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Sloan of Belmont have taken the Nikola cottage at Lanesville for a stay into August.

Mrs. Frank Haines and Edith, Gertrude and Etta Haines are guests of Mrs. Thomas Wishart at Lanesville.

Mrs. Thomas Robie of Fall River and Barbara Gourville of Everett are guests of Mrs. Amos Glover at Lanesville.

Sojourners at Mt. Locust place include Mr. and Mrs. George Delano, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nilson, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. George Delano, Mr. and Mrs. Octave Bourdon, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln G. Elwell, Malden.

Hornblower & Weeks

ESTABLISHED 1888

Members New York, Boston and Chicago Stock Exchanges

Investment Securities

60 CONGRESS STREET,
BOSTON

42 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK

Chicago Detroit Cleveland Providence Portland Pittsburgh

You are cordially invited
to an
Exhibition and Sale

Needlework, Lingerie, Embroideries from Foreign Lands (Florentine a Specialty), Commerced and finished pieces also Embroidery Materials, Canvas, etc. Some fine old Silver. Among the Brass Pieces are several Old Church Candlesticks with Bells, Medals, Curios, Antiques, Jewel Cases, One Confederation Medal. Priceless Old Real Laces. Shawls, Scotch, Turkish, Paisley, Tissue and White Crepe. Counterpanes. Hand Woven Rugs. One Fine Old Prayer Rug for Wall Hanging. South Sea Island and Mexican Drawn Work. Tea and Bridge Sets and Doilies. Sofa Pillows, Jewelry and Bric-a-Brac, Bed Quilts and Quilt Patterns, Linen Sheets, Pillow Cases, Table Cloths, Towels, etc.

Free Embroidery Lessons

at the
Public Library Art Gallery
Magnolia, Mass.

NEW YORK, 8 East 48th St.
WASHINGTON, 1211 Conn. Ave.
NEWPORT, R. I.

BOSTON, 587 Boylston St.
LOS ANGELES, CAL.
PASADENA, CAL.

A. Schmidt & Son, Inc. IMPORTERS OF

Silver and Sheffield Plate ❧ Fine Porcelains

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA
Telephone Magnolia 408
Fine Wedding Presents a Specialty
Christmas Gifts held for December Delivery

TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE PRACTICAL
RIGHT VALUES AND COMPLETE VARIETY ARE TO BE FOUND IN THE SHOPS OF
GLOUCESTER
ENJOY THE PASSING HOUR AND
THE CAPE ANN BREEZE

CORINTHIAN Y. C. TRIO WINS JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP OF NORTH SHORE

F. Stanton Deland, Jr., W. Gardner Barker, 2d, and James F. Hunnewell, Jr., trio of youths representing the Corinthian Yacht Club of Marblehead, won the North Shore junior sailing championship by a narrow margin of two points over the Annisquam Yacht Club team, Capt. Horace Bent, Donald Gleason and Benjamin Smith.

The two final races were sailed off Eastern Point Thursday of last week. Max Talbot's Kitmer II led in both, the Pleon crew having that boat in the forenoon, while in the afternoon, Miss Catherine Tappan, Eastern skipper, led in an exciting finish with Corinthian 12 seconds astern and a second ahead of the Sandy Bay crew, which had led the fleet to the weather mark.

The crew of the Eastern Point Club comprised Hastings Gamage, Capt. William G. Brown, 3d, and William J. Little, Jr. The Sandy Bay trio were Myron W. Brenn, Capt. Miss Laura Cooney and John Clark.

JACOB D. COX, JR.'S TERN EASTERN POINT WINNER

Eastern Point, July 22—Jacob D. Cox, Jr.'s Tern won today's midweek race of the Eastern Point Yacht Club, sailed in a moderate northwester which flunked out at the finish. Tern led Mrs. Frances Carter's Skeezix by 33 seconds.

In the Triangle class, Bluebill, fifth at the leeward turn, crossed the four leaders on the first hitch on the windward leg. Reaching home, Capt. Bent's Annisquam entry was closely pressed by Black Bess and Injun. Lawrence Brown's Touareg won the Cape Cod class by a wide margin. The summary:

SONDER CLASS

Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 53 48
Skeezix, Mrs. Frances Carter	1 54 16
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 55 41
Tid III, Mrs. Carleton Swift	1 56 18
Demon, Isaac Patch, Jr.	1 56 42
Hevella, Mrs. J. S. Raymond	1 58 17
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 59 58

TRIANGLE CLASS

Bluebill, Horace Bent	2 15 52
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	2 16 28
Injun, Hastings Gamage	2 16 38
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	2 21 47
Scalene, Paul Woodbury	2 22 23
Cursor, William G. Brown, Jr.	2 24 45
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	2 26 00
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot	2 31 06
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	2 52 10
Idol, Donald Gleason	2 53 32
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	2 55 05
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	2 57 07

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS

Touareg, Lawrence Brown	1 07 57
Old Ironsides, Jock Raymond	1 10 46
Maryland, Meredith Boyce	1 10 57
Sylph, Cunningham Brothers	1 12 21
Swan, Torrence Baker	1 13 03
Bemo, Alexander Bratenahl	1 13 07
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	1 14 03
Fontana, Millicent Raymond	1 14 50
Arethusa, Gordon Ellis	1 19 44
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	1 20 08

TAJA WINS IN CLASS R IN EASTERN POINT RACE

Eastern Point, July 25—The Eastern Point fleet sailed this afternoon in a light southerly breeze, stiffening somewhat shortly after the start, then becoming fluky with soft spots on the water.

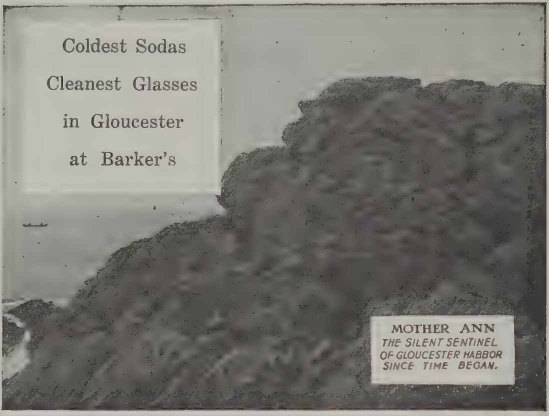
The course was windward-leeward. Two boats comprised the field in the R class and on the thrashout Taja bested Bonnie Prince two minutes and 35 seconds, but on the run home this margin was shaved down to 21 seconds.

The Sonders got into a merry mixup at the start and had to do it all over again. When they got away, Skeezix had the edge, making a long hitch eastward. Most of the boats worked short tacks in the middle of the route, Hevella going off to westward. Tid IV got to the weather mark 30 seconds ahead of Hevella, which had profited going west, Skeezix being sixth to round. On the beat home Skeezix made up for lost time.

Injun got away to a fine start in the Triangles and rounded the weather mark 32 seconds ahead of Black Bess. There was no change in place coming down home. Most of the Cape Codders ran into a calm pocket on the last of the homeward leg, and Touareg, hindmost boat, bringing up a slant from astern, breezed over the line nearly seven minutes to the good. The summary:

CLASS R

Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 35 11
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	1 35 52



Barker's Soda Fountain has such a wide reputation for the richness and quality of its Ice-Cream Sodas, Frozen Whipped Cream, College Ices and Specialities, that people come for miles around to get sodas at this fountain.
BARKER'S DRUG STORE, 134 Main Street

Summer Residents of Cape Ann
We Carry the Finest and Best Selected of Summer Footwear in This Locality
SPORT, GOLF, TENNIS and BEACH SHOES
Exclusive Agent for Arch Preserver—Queen Quality Shoes—Imported Deauville Sandals for women and children—Florsheim Shoes for Men—Buster Brown Shoes for boys and girls (Prices reasonable and to your liking). Warner's "Society Maid" Silk Hose 99c to $1.69.
DR. SHOLL FOOT APPLIANCES
Armstrong's Busy Corner
106 Main, Corner Center Street
ESTABLISHED 33 YEARS. TEL. CONN.

CHECKING ACCOUNTS
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS
We Act as Trustee, Executor or Administrator.
We Solicit Your Patronage.
Cape Ann National Bank
"THE SERVICE BANK"
154 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER, MASS.

SONDER CLASS

Skeezix, Richard Woodbury	1 32 58
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 33 19
Hevella, Jonathan S. Raymond	1 34 35
Lady Two, Wm. V. MacDonald	1 37 25
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 35 09
Demon, Isaac Patch, Jr.	1 39 36
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 40 25
Vim, Miss Elizabeth Stewart	1 43 30
Tid III, Mrs. Carleton Swift	1 46 22

TRIANGLE CLASS

Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 56 45
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 58 35
Sprite, Miss Margaret Farrell	1 59 18
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 59 48
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	2 04 28
Triton, Dr. R. P. Cummins	2 05 05
Cursor, Wm. G. Brown, 3d	2 05 17
Kitmer Two, M. L. Talbot	2 07 31
Wheenaw, Francis Brewer	2 09 26
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	2 13 25

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS

Touareg, Lawrence Brown	1 44 55
Old Ironsides, Jock Raymond	1 51 18
Maryland, Meredith Boyce	1 52 03
Bemo, Charles Bratenahl	2 19 30
Swan, Torrence Baker	2 25 10
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	2 28 00
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	2 30 05
Sylph, Cunningham Brothers	2 33 17
Arethusa, Gordon Ellis	2 34 00
Fontana, Millicent Raymond, did not finish.

SKEEZIX AND TRIDENT WIN RACES AT EASTERN POINT

EASTERN POINT, July 26—There was nothing exciting about the race at Eastern Point this afternoon. A light, listless air which died away to a calm and revived at times gave little chance for any worthwhile sailing. What wind there was ranged from south to southeast. The Sonders and the Triangles were sent to the southern mark and return.

The Sonders got away very evenly and Skeezix immediately stepped out in front and led over the route. In the Triangles Trident repeated the performance of Skeezix in the Sonders. The summary:

SONDER CLASS

Skeezix, Harry Wheeler	1 13 41
Lady II, Wm. V. MacDonald	1 15 45
Hevella, Jonathan S. Raymond	1 16 34
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 17 11
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 17 36
Demon, Isaac Patch, Jr.	1 18 19
Tid III, Mrs. Carleton Swift	1 19 51
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 20 43
Vim, John Lewis	1 23 22
Bandit, John Meade	1 23 50

TRIANGLE CLASS

Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	1 28 45
Cursor, Wm. G. Brown, Jr.	1 29 27
Flirt, William D. Elwell	1 29 47
Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 30 10
Sprite, Miss Margaret Farrell	1 33 10
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 33 20
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot	1 33 34
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 34 12
Wheenaw, F. A. Brewster, Jr.	1 47 40

COMMODORE WIGGIN ANNISQUAM WINNER

Gleason's Idol Leads the Triangles Home

ANNISQUAM, July 25—A moderate southerly breeze, strengthening toward the close, gave fine sailing conditions at Annisquam today.

Commodore Wiggin evened up the score of last Saturday in the 15's, landing a winner, although threatened at the end by Hoorah. Tabasco was first on the reaches to the outer mark. Coming on the wind the breeze began to freshen, the Hoorah pulling close up. Yosan, standing over to Essex, seemed to be in the running, crossing Hoorah's bow, but the advantage was lost, Hoorah retrieving second place.

Francis Gleason won first prize in the Triangles when the odds seemed against him. Sayhia led on both reaches, with Idol astern about a minute.

Coming on the wind, after a few preliminary tacks, the first four stood to starboard, headed for the Lanesville shore. Idol went on her own to the westward toward Essex. At this point the wind stiffened, hauled more to the southwest and lifted Idol right up to windward in a commanding position, which was retained to the end.

John White in the Kittiwake and Ben Smith in the Caterpillar sailed an interesting duel in the Cat division. On the reaches to Plum Cove and across to the inner mark the advantage was with the Caterpillar by a minute and this was retained on the beat home until the first can buoy on the end of the bar was reached. Just off the lighthouse the pair split, Caterpillar going over to port toward the beach under the bar with Kittiwake taking the Squam side. Therein young White was wise, as the tide was setting in and he got its current, being pulled along while the Caterpillar was in still water and lacked this impetus. This advantage netted the Kittiwake nearly two minutes coming down the home stretch in the river, a winner. The summary:

TRIANGLES

Idol, Francis Gleason	1 45 39
Goblin, Dr. Hector R. Carveth	1 47 30
Scalene, Henry E. Worcester, Jr.	1 48 12
Bluebill, Horace Bent	1 48 19
Sayhia, Brooks Stevens	1 48 55

FIFTEEN FOOTERS

Tabasco, Jr., H. H. Wiggin	1 46 17
Hoorah, H. Sherbourne Wiggin	1 45 58
Yosan, Paul Woodbury	1 51 58
Nisan, D. H. Woodbury	1 52 30

CAT BOATS

Kittiwake, John W. White	1 13 33
Caterpillar, Ben Smith	1 15 06
Scat, Francis Jeffery	1 15 21
Catling, A. Marshall	1 15 42
Puss in Boots, J. Mecham	1 17 28
Katchup, Nicholas Friedman	1 18 55
Catspaw, W. B. Steven	1 19 05

BIRD BOATS

Avis, Norman Olsen	1 13 21

FISH BOATS

Sail Fish, C. Hill	1 22 07
Perch, Harry Griffin	1 24 42
Flying Fish, Albert Hale	1 25 07
Malolo, Mary Bradley	1 26 15
Blackfish, Roscoe Philbrick	1 26 31
Goldfish, J. H. Bloombergh	1 27 11
Pollywog, J. Mechem	1 27 26
Dab, David Dennison	1 30 30
Sea Horse, B. Mechem	1 32 00
Navarra, L. Crawford	1 33 43
Shark, C. A. Hamilton	1 34 13
Barracuda, Jr., J. D. Worcester	1 35 52

BLUE BILL CAPTURES RACE AT GLOUCESTER

ANNISQUAM, July 26—A moderate southeasterly wind, irregular and streaky, a smooth sea, with Lady Luck taking a hand in the game, were the conditions at Annisquam this afternoon.

The Triangles sailed the long course to Ipswich, then to the outer mark, thence home a broad

(Continued on page 25)

SERVE THE BEST
at no additional cost

YOU cannot afford to compromise with the quality of the food you serve in your summer menus. Near your home you will find a First National Store, specializing in quality foods. Come in and give us the opportunity of assisting you in the selection of the best for your table.

COMBINATION MARKETS AT

147 Main St., Gloucester
37 Main St., Rockport

First National Stores, Inc.

Where New England Buys Its Food.

A. P. STODDART & CO.
Established 1876
ENGINEERS AND MACHINISTS
Engine Repairing and Installing
FULLY EQUIPPED MACHINE SHOP
236 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER, MASS.

INSURANCE
ALL KINDS
STRONGEST COMPANIES
JOHN A. JOHNSON
Gloucester National Bank Bldg.
Telephones 16 and 17
Just off Custom House Square

Pringle's History of Gloucester, 1892
The Gloucester Tercentenary Book
ALSO FOUR LOG BOOKS OF DEEP SEA VOYAGES
FOR SALE AT
BLANCHARD'S
125 MAIN STREET -:- GLOUCESTER

FERNWOOD

Mrs. Edward E. Friend and her daughter, Miss Georgia S. Friend, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Shepard, who are at their cottage at Fernwood for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Millet of Gloucester are at their cottage in Fernwood for the summer months. With them are their daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thelton Anderson and son, A. Thelton.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Anderson are spending the summer at Woodward Avenue. Their home is in Everett.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Babson and children, Edith and Dana Parsons, from Arlington, N. J., are again at the Pine Cove Cabin, Fernwood, for the summer.

Mrs. Albert P. Babson of Boston, is at Presson Point again this season. With Mrs. Babson is her daughter, Mrs. Frank Friend and granddaughter, Betsy, from Cambridge.

At the Pine Cone again this season are the Misses Rosella, Merriam, Mabel, and Ethel Bishop from Roxbury. With them is their niece, Miss Edith Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Felch Coy, and children, Lee Felch, Jr., Winston French, Janice Grace, and Willard from Hyde Park, are at Fernwood again this summer.

Judge and Mrs. Frederick W. Fosdick from Medford, are at "The Dykemore" for the summer.

At Wingaersheek Beach, Mr. and Mrs. James Russell Hawkes and daughter, Anne from Detroit, are spending the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Tarr of Gloucester are at their Fernwood cottage again this season. With them are their son and daughter and grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Alan G. Hill and Alan G., Jr., from Somerville, and their son, C. Lovel, who graduated this past June from Dartmouth College.

At the White Pines, are Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hunt of Everett.

At the "Katola" again this season are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur S. Locke of Winchester and Miss Flora W. Locke.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford H. Marchant and son, Rutherford H., Jr., from Gloucester are at Camp Restawhile in Fernwood again this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Morton of Malden are at the Wigwam again this summer with their daughter, Gwendolyn Talbot.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe H. Oakes of Gloucester are again spending the summer at Camp Welcome on Woodman Street.

At the Robinwood, Dr. and Mrs. Herman A. Osgood of Boston with their enjoying another summer.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Presson of Gloucester are enjoying another summer at West Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shepard from Dorchester are at the "Pagoda" for another season with their daughter, Katheryn and granddaughter, Norma.

Mrs. Mary Smith of Brookline is spending another season at Fernwood with her daughter, Miss Ethel Smith. Both are from Brookline.

At the Log Cabin, Mr. and Mrs. A. Myron Tarr of Gloucester are enjoying another summer with their child, Alden Myron.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Thurston from Somerville are at the Hillside cottage in Fernwood again this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hadley Watkins and son, Charles Malcolm, from Winchester are again at the Sweetbriar cottage for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Watters of Winchester are at their Fernwood summer home again this season. With them are their daughters, the Misses Barbara, Georgianna, and Ida F., and their son, John N. Watters.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Woodside of Malden have returned to Fernwood for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lowe of Gloucester with their son, David, are at the Edgemarsh cottage for the summer months.

Mrs. Lillian Harriman of Gloucester is at her Fernwood cottage for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thurston of Gloucester have arrived at their cottage in Fernwood for another season. With Mr. and Mrs. Thurston are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newman and daughter, Miss Grace of Somerville.

The Misses E. Mabel and Lena Smith are spending another season at their Fernwood cottage.

Thomas J. Callahan and family of Charlestown are at the Chipmunk for the summer months.

At Woodside cottage are Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Woodside of Malden.

YOUNG VOSBURG AT COWES

The American yachts which competed in the recently completed 3,000-mile race across the North Atlantic from Newport, R. I., sailed Tuesday from Plymouth, England, to Cowes, where several of them will take part in the race from Cowes to South Ireland and back to Plymouth.

The eight American yachts in the ocean race were Landfall, Highland Light, Mistress, Lismore, Amber Jack II, Skal, Dorade, and Water Gypsy. Peter Vosburg of East Gloucester is one of the crew of the Skal.

THE ZONING ORDINANCES!!

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Gloucester have been printed in their entirety and are now ready for distribution at the office of the City Clerk, Allen F. Grant, City Hall. Copies will be mailed on application.

In a general way, all the summer resort areas have been made residential sections only. Six types of districts have been designated, namely: 1, single residence districts; 2, general residence districts; 3, apartment house districts; 4, business districts; 5, light industrial districts; 6, heavy industrial districts.

The ordinances specify in detail the requirements, restrictions, area, regulations, yards and courts, nonconforming uses, district boundaries, accessory uses, automobile services, methods of procedure to obtain building permits, changes, variations, appeals, etc. They are of especial interest to summer resident realty owners.

ALLEN F. GRANT, City Clerk.

Gloucester, July 1, 1931.

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

(Continued from page 11)

dents from Boston; Mrs. J. Lester Ganburgh and daughter Bernice, Rochester, N. Y.; Edna and Dorothy Taggert, Glencove; Mrs. Anna J. Heckler and daughters, Dora and Helen, Ambler; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Harvey, Jr., Asheville; Miss Helen Cramer; Mr. and Mrs. Rouden, Montreal; Walter K. Belknap, Louisville.

At the Edward Jane Stempke entertained at dinner Mrs. Sands and daughter from Boston. Mrs. Marion Gates was hostess at a dinner party on Tuesday for Mrs. Atwood and a party of friends from Los Angeles. On Saturday, Miss Louise Gray entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reading of Winchester for dinner.

A delightful bridge and tea was held in the lounge of the Edward on Friday. Among those present were: Mrs. Marion Gates, Louise Gray, Mrs. Reading and her daughter Doris, Mrs. W. T. Dunmore, Mrs. J. Lester Ganburgh and her daughter Bernice, Mrs. Anna Heckler, Helen P. Cramer, Mrs. Stuart McGee, all guests at the Edward. The high score prizes were won by Louise Gray and Mrs. W. T. Dunmoore.

Recent arrivals at the Manning House include: Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cheney, Mrs. William H. Weeks, Auburndale; A. F. Smith, Worcester; Mildred McLean, Mollie Van Cott, Troy; Laura Reeve, Josephine Reeve, Eleanor Wright, Washington; J. McLellan Laughlin, St. Louis.

At Rockmere Manor, recent arrivals include Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Coleman and daughter, Dorothea E. Coleman, Dorchester.

At the Glen Acre recent arrivals include: Elizabeth L. Burnett, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Davenport, Medford; Mrs. Harriet Scully, Rochester; Mary F. M. McDonough, Roslindale; Emily C. Bryant, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. John Foley, Nashua; Mrs. G. M. Lewis, Vernon; Mrs. E. E. Pingree, Dr. and Mrs. Amos Harrington, Hartford; Mrs. Charles P. Gaugh, Utica; Elizabeth Weigel, Syracuse; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Schneider, White Plains; Mrs. L. Westfall, Avon; M. Josephine Weston, Boone; Dr. Senter and family, Mrs. Alfred Senter, Cleveland.

Following is the extra list who will also act as hostesses for the first "Open House" of the season of the Sandy Bay Historical Society next Sunday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock: Miss Florence Bigelow, Miss Gertrude Bigelow, Mrs. Reynolds Beal, Mrs. Oliver Williams, Mrs. William A. Pew, Mrs. Marion Sloan, Mrs. Chester Davis, Mrs. Sidney Savage. Among the articles which have been recently contributed is a collection from the late Captain Cooney.

The latest acquisition to the Sandy Bay Yacht Club quarters is a weather vane, designed by Max Kuehne, of three gulls. The vane is of aluminum and is painted black. It has been placed on the cupola of the club.

Guests at Hale Homestead are: Emma Keyes, Jennie M. Keyes of Somerville; A. V. Paasche, I. B. Paasche, M. A. Ashworth, Frances Clark, Chelmsford; the Misses Noyes of Ashton; Anna T. Whitney, Hartford; Mrs. Joseph M. Smith, Mrs. A. H. Waite, Wollaston.

Rev. Isaiah W. Sneath and Mrs. Sneath of Wollaston are at Kendall cottage.

Miss Mary Baird of Boston is guest of Mrs. Charles Williams.

Mrs. Frank Smith and daughter, Miss Bertha and son Franklin Smith of Cambridge are occupying the Log Cabin house at the corner of Atlantic avenue and Mt. Pleasant street for the season. Miss Smith is editor of the Writer's Magazine.

(Continued on page 21)

Mortons'

BOOKS, STATIONERY, OFFICE SUPPLIES, GREETING CARDS, GIFTS
and
LENDING LIBRARY
6 PLEASANT ST.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

(Next to Main Street Waiting Room)

Service With a Smile

"The Tea-room with an atmosphere"
Tempting Salads, Sandwiches and Luncheon Specials
AT OUR FOUNTAIN
REFRESHING DRINKS AND ICES
Home-made Candies and Fresh Salted Nut Meats prepared on the premises every day
Ice-Cream Packed with DRY ICE will keep four to five hours without ice or salt.
A Delightful Place to Eat.

RANSELLEAR TOWLE
118 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER

WE OFFER SPECIAL LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING SERVICE FOR SUMMER VISITORS

Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co.

PHONE 524 NOW

Offices and Plants:
8 PARKER ST., - GLOUCESTER

L. E. ANDREWS & CO.

Plumbing and Heating

Kitchen Furnishings, Garden Tools, Prepared Paints, Hardware of all descriptions. Vessel work, Yachting Hardware, Garden Hose, etc.

'Phones 645 and 646

121 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER
(Opposite Waiting Station)

Silent Automatic Oil Furnaces.

EARL O. PHILLIPS
Smart Shop for Men
Smart Clothes for Summer Comfort

A. G. SPALDING BROS.'
BATHING SUITS
GOLF BALLS
TENNIS HOSE

HICKOK BELTS
DELPERK PAJAMAS
SUMMER NECKWEAR

ARROW SHIRTS

SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES

ROBER REIS
UNDERWEAR
BATHING SUITS
SWEATERS
GOLF HOSE

EARL O. PHILLIPS, Inc. Smart Shop for Men
PERSONAL SERVICE
131 Main Street, Cor. Hancock, Gloucester, Opposite Barker's Drug Store

For Sixty Years

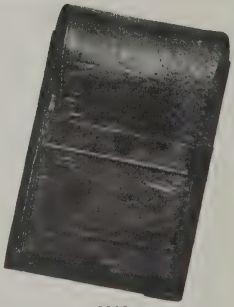
THIS PHARMACY has been dispensing Reliable

Drugs and Medicines

to the people of Cape Ann. Have you ever given us an opportunity to prove to you our capabilities along the lines of EFFICIENCY and REAL SERVICE? We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage this present season.

The Wetherell Pharmacy

P. O. SQUARE



8909
Cigarette Case
$3.75

Memories
of
Gloucester

TRUE SOUVENIRS of the sea—Bill Folds, Cigarette Cases, and all manner of articles fashioned of tough

TANNED CODFISH SKINS

Unlike any other Souvenir, they serve as a constant reminder of this famous fishing town.

$1.00 to $10.00

W. E. BLANCHARD,
Jeweler
125 Main Street, Gloucester, Mass.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

(Continued from page 13)

flared sleeves and front bordered with wide bands of delicate Alencon lace which enchanted Gay, who convinced Jimmie, who bought it. Peggy, meanwhile, was going into raptures over yellow figured crepe de chine pajamas to be worn with the smart matching bolero for lounging or informal wear and without for formal evening wear.

Ovington's was the next stop, and here the new display of pewter was attracting much attention. There was everything one could ever want in pewter. A tea set of a design copied from a very old pattern attracted Peggy's eye, and it was Gay's turn to draw Jimmie away from a very sturdy and handsome cocktail set. Graceful little open dishes for broccoli or asparagus with a depression for a matching sauce-container had practically won over Chubby until suddenly Peggy showed him some silver plate on another table, some very small vegetable dishes which could be converted from one covered dish to two distinct, very nice for serving scrambled eggs or two distinct vegetables for one or two people. Delicately designed silver trays, and a complete set of sterling silver match boxes and individual ash trays for the dinner table had Chubby in a whirl of indecision, until Peggy pointed out that the tiny vegetable dishes were the most unusual, and he had better get them before some one else did.

"What time is it?" asked Chubby as they were leaving Ovington's. "I have some errands in Gloucester before lunch."

"Just 11.30," announced Jimmie. "And that's correct time. Blanchard just repaired my watch for me last week and it runs like a charm. I thought it was ruined. You remember, Gay, I dropped it."

"That day Hagstrom & Company were doing the work on our driveway? I should say I do. By the way, Peggy, they certainly did a wonderful job on your yard and driveway, too, didn't they?"

"I swear by them," announced Peggy. "My yard looks like a different place. That's what made me have so much more done on the interior. And I'm getting some new Heywood-Wakefield Reed Furniture from the North Shore Furniture for my porch, and I'm going to get some of that unpainted furniture from the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company and paint it for the terrace."

"Lovely!" sighed Gay. "It's funny, if you have one thing done you have to have everything to match it. Jimmie's afraid that if we have Swinson Brothers put in that new tennis court I'll be wanting a new house to go with it."

Jimmie laughed. "I'll probably want one myself if the court looks anything like the one they finished for Chubby last year. What a beauty!"

By this time the group had arrived back in Gloucester, and decided to go right to W. G. Brown's for a sandwich and some coffee before doing whatever errands they had to do. Peggy wanted to get a bob, and Anne and Gay decided to have a manicure while they were waiting for her in Brown's charming beauty parlor.

Chubby and Jimmie both had several errands to do. Chubby, resplendent in dazzling white flannels from Earle O. Phillips' Smart Shop, and Jimmie in white linen knickers and matching sweater and golf hose from the same establishment, left the girls at W. G. Brown's, departing for the Cape Ann National Bank.

"Oh," cried Gay. "I know that husband of mine will forget to get some shoes. Wait just a minute here for me, he might go somewhere else but to Armstrong's!" She rushed out after

East Gloucester
Miniature Golf Course

116 EAST MAIN STREET
18 of the Largest Fairways in New England
NEWEST, MOST UP-TO-DATE
-:- OPENS -:-
Daily at 9 A.M. Sunday at 1 P.M.
FRANK POWLER, Inc.

THE L. E. SMITH COMPANY
Sole Cape Ann Agents for the
Frigidaire, Modern Sanitary Iceless Refrigerator

SILENT FLOW OIL BURNER FOR RANGES
Maytag Washing Machine
Chambers Fireless Gas Range
Plumbing, Heating, Hardware, Lawn Mowers, Garden Hose, Kitchen Furnishings, Etc.
221-223 Main St., 169 E. Main St.
GLOUCESTER

him, and returned in a few minutes laughing. "They were on their way to Armstrong's right then," she confessed. "Jimmie told me I ought to know by now that he never trades anywhere else for shoes. He doesn't think I give him credit for having any brains at all. This morning I asked him if he was sure that it was L. E. Andrews that he had seen about getting all our yachting hardware. He was furious! L. E. Andrews have just installed a Silent Automatic Oil Furnace, you know, and he thinks he knows them better than I do now."

"You're mean," laughed Peggy, from her perch up in the bobber's chair. "Say, by the way, have you seen Marcia's new Frigidaire from L. E. Smith's? The ice tray enables you to remove one cube at a time or the whole trayful, and the shelves are steel-rail. It's a beauty, too."

"That reminds me," said Gay, "I forgot to remind Jimmie to place an order with the Cape Pond Ice Company. Well, I know that's one thing he'll not get anywhere else, anyhow. Their ice is so nice and pure and clean. You have to be so careful about things like that."

"Let's play a few rounds of miniature golf before we go back, Gay," suggested Anne. "Yes, at the New Miniature Golf Course at East Gloucester," she nodded in answer to Gay's questioning look. "You should learn by now that none of us like to play anywhere else, either."

Gay laughed. "But you're all good," she began, and was suddenly interrupted by the peculiar expression of surprise that had come over Peggy's face. Peggy was facing the door, and Gay, turning around, saw Marcia beaming at them.

"We've found her," she smiled. "I had to find you and tell you. She went back to Mrs. Hastings. She just arrived this noon, and Phil's mother phoned at once, and she's bringing Bud back with her tomorrow. We thought we'd take her to the mountains with us right away in case she might feel strange and embarrassed at first. Jack's downstairs, too. He was up for the first time today and came over to our house. In all the excitement, no one thought to tell Jack about Bud's leaving and so it was quite a shock to him, although of course he understood the reason."

When the boys returned it was a happy and excited Clan that started for the East Gloucester Course. Even Gay enjoyed playing and had almost as low a score as Anne's, which was quite a lot for Gay, and the bright course seemed even brighter and fresher and prettier in the light of their relief.

"Let's celebrate tonight!" cried Gay. "We can do millions of things. Let's go back to Towle's for one of his special delicious suppers, then let's go to the North Shore, there's a perfect show, and it's continuous, so we can go as early as we like, then let's go over and wind up with a perfect time at Del Monte's, dancing to Ruby Newman's orchestra!"

"And the Gloucester National Bank suddenly closed its doors," sadly stated Chubby.

"I think I've been very moderate," pouted Gay. "There are a lot more things I could have suggested."

"If we only had the time," lamented Jimmie, winking at Chubby.

"No, I think it's a perfect idea, really, Gay, let's go!" said Phil, and they all enthusiastically agreed.

C. ANNE SHORE.

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

(Continued from page 19)

The Misses Ruth and Leah Babson are spending the summer at their cottage at Haven avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mason and daughters Elizabeth and Audrey, of Springfield, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mansfield of Granite street.

Miss Leila Usher who has been spending the winter at St. Augustine, Fla., has opened her studio on Union lane.

Miss Elizabeth Curtis of New York City and Miss Florence Choate are stopping with Mrs. Clyde Bathurst of Granite street. Miss Choate and Miss Curtis are writers and their recently published book, "Pinafore in Pantallettes" has been chosen as the book of the month by the Junior Literary Guild of New York.

Selectman Ralph T. Parker has requested the Bay State Dredging Company to put two of the old moorings which are of historical value on the piers instead of dumping them at sea. These moorings weigh between 10 and 15 tons and used to be used as moorings for the old Pinky boats.

Some of the leading Rockport citizens and summer guests are arranging for a twilight singing of hymns on Bearskin Neck next Sunday evening at 7.45 o'clock. The Negro Vesper Male Quartette will be there and give selections of negro spirituals. These students are professionals. If stormy, the concert will be held in the Congregational vestry.

CARILLONS, AUGUST 5

The program on the Carillon of the Church of Our Lady of the Good Voyage.

Memorial Program to Lost Fishermen

8.30 P.M.

1.	Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean	Bequet
2.	My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean	Folksong
3.	Abide With Me (Hymn)	Monk
4.	The Missing Boat	Old Welsh
5.	Noordzee (Northsea)	Hullebroeck
6.	Gondellied	Mendelssohn
7.	Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep	Folksong
8.	I Saw Three Ships Come Sailing In	Parker
9.	Duet from "The Perlfishers"	Bizet
10.	It's a Long, Long Trail

HAGSTROM CO., Inc.
GENERAL CONTRACTORS
Loam, Dressing, and other materials
for
Garden and Landscape Work
Gravel and Crushed Stone for
Driveway Surfacing
TEL. GLOUCESTER 617

BEAUTIFUL
COOLIE COATS
$2.95
AT THE BEACH PLUM
AND
BAYBERRY CANDLE PLACE
Dock Square, Rockport, Mass.

VISIT OF THE CONSTITUTION

(Continued from page 4)

single defeat. Now the youngest child of them will always carry this remembrance to his or her dying day when they were aboard this ship of glorious record than which there is no other ship in the world save Nelson's flagship Victory so renowned. It will, as Mayor Parker said, stimulate anew a waning and dim historic sense and revive patriotic evaluations. No emasculated pacifism for them.

Perhaps nowhere on the coast will such a significant welcome come to the craft as she enters any port as was vouchsafed when she entered the harbor, a week ago Thursday. From the embrasures of Stage Fort, the oldest in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, a going concern for the time, restored last year by the D. A. R., belched forth a salute in true naval and military style. It was a sight that thrilled many and will never be forgotten. Napoleon told his troops when he had reached the base of the pyramids in his abortive Egyptian campaign, "Forty centuries look down on you." Not quite as long a time as that, but more than three centuries from the old fort saluted the oldest century old ship of the American navy. Pity a moving picture man could not have preserved this scene.

Too bad some one did not think to get out a small pamphlet and pass it around, containing a brief history of the craft. For there was a tale. The youngsters have read of pirates and sea fights from "Cooper, Kingston and Ballyntine the brave." Now they were on the historic craft that brought the proud Dey of Algiers and the Tripolitan pirates to book, the ship where men bared to the waist, had for hours maneuvered for the weather gauge of battle and never tasted the bitter dregs of defeat.

Well, Gloucester has seen them all. The historic Kearsarge, the immortal Gloucester at Santiago, and to complete the trinity, the Constitution.

A parting word: It's a proud title now to be called a Gloucesterman. No one rates it save he who by ancestry or performance in blue water in the merchant service or on the fishing banks has earned the title, and has not been found wanting in the crises. They may be found aplenty at the Master Mariners' or the Fisherman's Institute. The name has not been lightly earned. It should not be lightly bestowed.

ZONING! !

(Continued from page 4)

The latest effort was to extend the business district at Lexington avenue south of Hesperus avenue to the sea. The district had previously been zoned as a shop keeping place as far as this avenue. Beyond, some of the finest estates on the North Shore have been built. For the past three years and especially during last winter, several hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in improving these, the owners relying on the good faith of the Municipal Council to uphold the zoning laws. Despite a strong effort to break down the law and extend the district, the council refused. Had it not done so, it is the unanimous opinion of those who know that it would have meant the beginning of the end of Magnolia as a desirable summer residence locality. Almost as a whole, the permanent as well as the summer element opposed it. That it was unnecessary is evidenced from the fact that the avenue is already over-shopped with stores unrented, and the best interest of those business houses already established there demands that the present barriers be maintained. Converting desirable summer residences into business establishments has not proved profitable at Magnolia the past twenty-five years. The forced removal of fifty wealthy families, very desirable clients of local tradespeople, has not been profitable financially for the people of the district.

These attempts have not been confined to any one locality. Bass Rocks, Eastern Point, West Gloucester, and other sections have been shining marks at which to shoot, and remain so. If the various summer resort protective associations should amalgamate into one big association, especially to combat these raids, a powerful agency would be brought into play to checkmate such efforts. All for one and one for all.

Quiouhamenec Farm
(Pronounced Ke-ham-e-nec)
SWINSON BROS.
LANDSCAPE GARDENERS
Road and Lawn Tennis Court Construction
Local Agents for Sheep Manure and Fertilizer
Blue Stone for Walks, Driveways and Lawn Tennis Purposes
Telephone 873 Estimates of Cost
EXPERT LAND DRAINING EXCAVATING, GRADING
114 Mt. Pleasant St. EAST GLOUCESTER

TASTE—
FLAVOR—
ENJOYMENT—
Served at our New Frigidaire Soda Fountain with Special Ice Cream and Cooling Drinks
Specials on Saturday and Sundays.
TROWBRIDGE, The Druggist
THE NEW DRUG STORE
159 MAIN STREET Tel. 2040 GLOUCESTER

PURE ICE
Frozen Naturally in the Purest Ponds in New England
Nothing to get out of order. The Perfect Refrigerant. To keep food juicy in a Refrigerator requires some moisture. No mechanical-chemical devices yet developed by man, regardless of how costly or intricate, equals ice as a safe, reliable, silent and economical cold maker.
CAPE POND ICE CO.
Telephone 180 GLOUCESTER

McKEAN'S OH YEAH WINS YACHT RACE AT MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER, July 28 — The fourth in the series of Tuesday races in competition for the Forbes Cup, offered by Mrs. William Hooper, was sailed today by nine of the boats in the 15-foot class of the Manchester Yacht Club. Oh Yeah was the winner, beating the Arlin by a minute and 42 seconds.

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

European director and playwright. "The Public Defender."

He is a man of deep mystery, a public avenger, sworn to right wrong no matter what the cost.

The innocent have cause to admire him because he is a modern impersonation of Robin Hood—romantically mysterious—the thief and absconder hate him murderously; and the police, jealous of his activities, are after him.

This is the novel characterization portrayed by Richard Dix in his new starring vehicle, "The Public Defender," at the North Shore Theatre, Thursday, Friday, Saturday.

The film is based on the supposition that there are two kinds of laws, one for the poor man and another for the rich.

To equalize this law and to prevent rich swindlers from mulcting the public, Dix assumes the character of a private enforcer of the basic law which declares all men equal under the Constitution.

A beautiful romance has been woven through the story in which Dix rescues a girl from the shame of her father who has been accused of a bank crime which he did not commit.

Others in the cast are Shirley Grey, Purnell Pratt, Alan Roscoe, Nella Walker, Ruth Weston, Boris Karloff, Paul Horst and Edmund Breese.

THE LITTLE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

Martin Jurow, who played Samuel Sibley, showed sympathy and talent in his interpretation. Eleanor Herbert as Gertrude Rhead showed great ability in her presentation.

Next week the little Theatre puts on "Mr. Prim Passes By," filmed by J. A. Milne.

ROCKPORT ART ASSOCIATION

The Rockport Art Association is creating quite a sensation this summer with its unusual amount of activity and social life. Through its entertainment committee, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Mary Thayer, the association is presenting a program in the gallery that has been unequalled in past years. Every Saturday night under the direction of Mrs. Hal Ross Perrigard, a delightful dance is held in the gallery. On July 23, a charming bridge party was held by the association at which a dainty light lunch was served. Those who attended will be pleased to hear that another identical bridge will occur on August 17. For August 2, an "Evening of Music with Mrs. Charles J. Rosenbault" of New York has been scheduled, which event all lovers of music are awaiting.

The weekly tours held by the association are proving to be the greatest success of the season. Each tour takes place on two set dates during the summer, and those who missed the opportunity of taking in each tour during July have a chance to make up for it in August. Rockport citizens as well as summer guests have been more than generous in opening up their homes and assisting the association in every possible way in this interesting and praiseworthy project.

OCEANSIDE THEATRE

On Wednesday, July 22, North Shore society witnessed the very successful "premiere soiree" of Effie Gallows by Claire Spencer which inaugurated the opening of the charming Oceanside Theatre at Magnolia.

The cast, several members of which are experienced and well-known actors fresh from successful winter seasons on Broadway, all showed obviously their experience in their interpretations and presentations, and the story itself was a masterpiece. Strongly reminiscent of a Hardy novel with its unforeseen and depressing combination of overwhelming circumstances, it gripped the audience from start to finish. Miss Pauline Lord as Effie Gallows had of course much to do with convinc-

THE ROCKAWAY
AND COTTAGES
At ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
Right on the Water
Commanding a Superb View of the Ocean
Accommodates 400.
W. A. PUBLICOVER, Proprietor

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS
-:- EXHIBITIONS -:-
2nd—July 25th to Aug. 18th
3rd—August 22nd to Sept. 14th
ANNUAL FAKIRS BALL at Hawthorne Inn Casino, Thursday, Aug. 13th
Gallery, Eastern Point Rd. E. Gloucester
Hours Weekdays 10-6; Sundays 2-6
Oscar Anderson, President Alida C. Anderson, Secretary
GALLERY PHONE 3842-W

Tel. 452 Established Here 1890
North Shore Dyeing and Cleansing Shop
Cleansing, Dyeing, Pressing and Repairing
Work called for and delivered
245 Main St. Gloucester, Mass.

Samuel Bloomfield
SUMMER REAL ESTATE
specializing in
BASS ROCKS REALTY
Office:
53 Bass Ave., E. Gloucester
Tel. 1886

J. A. NUNES : Art Store
Artist Materials and Picture Framing
Oil Paintings and Frames Restored
Hand Carved Frames in Stock and Made to Order
Painting and Decorating
6 Center Street, Gloucester, Mass.
Tel. 298-R Branch at Rocky Neck

Cape Ann Old Book Shop
35 High Street,
ROCKPORT, -:- MASS.
Rare, Interesting and Out of Print Books, Including First Editions.
For the Collector and Reader.

JOHN J. MacDONALD
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
15 Washington St.,
Gloucester : : Mass.
Phone 473-W Res. 473-R

The Moorland
BASS ROCKS
EDWARD D. PARSONS, Prop.
Right on the Ocean
Accommodates 500

GOOD HARBOR BEACH INN
Briar Neck, Gloucester, Mass.
Ocean View and within one hundred feet of one of the best Bathing Beaches on the New England Coast.
Edwin C. McIntire,
Managing Proprietor

The Tavern
Directly on water at end of State Highway, Gloucester
Lobster, Fish and Steak Dinners
W. H. SMITH, Prop.
Telephone 1715-W

FISHING TACKLE
Motor Boat Supplies, Life Preservers, Oars, Fire Extinguishers, Lights, Hooks, Lines, Rowlocks
LOTHROP'S PATENT FOG HORN
L. D. LOTHROP & SON
70 Duncan St., Gloucester

Everett A. Flye, Opt. D.
Registered Optometrist
Established 1902
156 Main Street, Gloucester

ingly conveying the impression of keen and poignant tragedy to her audience, and much praise is due to Mr. Stewart Cheney for the skillful scenic effects which were greatly appreciated by the spectators and contributed in a very large measure to the success of the play.

Among those present were Mrs. Evans Dick, Jr., who is managing director of the new theatre and who greeted arrivals at the door looking very charming in soft figured tan chiffon; Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Buswell, Mrs. Dunbar Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. Durward Grinstead, Mrs. William Emerson, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Senator David I. Walsh, Mrs. Richard D. Sears, Jr., Mrs. John L. Saltonstall, Miss Priscilla Saltonstall, Samuel Auchmuty Tucker, Mrs. Charles Taintor, Mr. and Mrs. Yan Dedons de Pierrefeu, Mrs. George E. Cabot, Mrs. Paul Moore and daughters, the Misses Fanny and Pauline Moore, Mrs. Roger S. Warner and daughter, Miss Rachael Warner, Mrs. Samuel A. Welldon and daughter, Miss May Welldon, Mr. and Mrs. Pierpont L. Stackpole, Mrs. John Phillips and daughter, Miss Madelyn Phillips, Mrs. Samuel D. Warren, Miss Helen Warren, Miss Catherine Olney, Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Crane, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William H. Coolidge, Mrs. Robert Herrick, Jr., Miss Louise Fessenden, Mrs. Gardiner M. Lane, Miss Katherine Lane, Mrs. Robert Livermore, Miss Cecily Livermore, Miss Agnes Boardman, Miss Laura Dupee, Miss Mary Post, Miss Madeline Post, Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Misses Mary and Lydia Fuller, Miss Pauline Danforth, Mr. and Mrs. George Dunklee, and Miss Gertrude Sands.

The two children, Harrison and Patricia, of Mrs. O. Harrison Smith, known to the literary world as Claire Spencer, and her husband, O. Harrison Smith, were among the spectators on the opening night.

The second production of the Oceanside Theatre was greeted with much enthusiasm by the distinguished audience. "Second Man," by S. N. Behrman, is a sophisticated comedy done in a sophisticated manner by a sophisticated cast. George Houston as Clark Story, enacted to perfection the part of a third rate writer, superficial in character but captivating and clever, and with whom the young debutante, Monica Grey (played charmingly by Leone Sousa) falls desperately in love. Robert Henderson, as Austin Lowe, a young scientist infatuated with the indifferent Monica, shows skill and ingenuity in his interpretation. Harriet Eels as the wealthy Mrs. Kendall Frayne, consistent winner-out in the Story affections, displays again her versatility and ability in an admirable bit of characterization.

The story is clever, quick moving, and modern, and the lines are equally so. The four characters are excellently cast, the play skillfully produced, and much credit is due to Stewart Cheney, scenic director, for the superbly done setting of the studio apartment of Clark Story, situated on the East Side.

Among those present in the distinguished audience on Monday night were: Mrs. William H. Moore, Mrs. John F. Hill, Mrs. D. M. Binney, Mrs. Russell Codmen, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Woods, Mrs. F. J. Bradley, Mrs. C. D. Sias, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Buswell, Mrs. John C. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Tucker, Mrs. Gardener M. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Alley, Mrs. John C. Howe, Mrs. H. H. Barton, Jr., Mrs. P. L. Stackpole, Mrs. Wadsworth Busk, Mrs. T. B. Beal.

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS

The opening of the second exhibition of the season of the Gloucester Society of Artists was inaugurated with a tea on Saturday, July 25, at the Gallery on Eastern Point Road. This exhibition created quite a sensation by its size as compared with those of other years. The first showing was much larger than any ever held previously but this, which will be open on weekdays from seven to six and on Sundays from two to six, contains sixty-four more numbers than the last. It was necessary to enlarge the galleries by having screens made to accommodate the increased number of pictures, and the show is the largest and at the same time the most tastefully arranged that has occurred since the founding of the society in 1922.

On Thursday, August 13, The Gloucester Society of Artists will hold their annual Fakirs' Ball at the Hawthorne Inn Casino, East Gloucester, all in costume assembling first in the gallery at 7.30. Prizes are to be given for costumes appropriate to the theme, two for ladies and two for gentlemen, the first prize being for the most artistic, the second for the most humorous costume. Many tickets have already been sold and many more are promised, fairly good evidence that this year as always, the ball will be a great success.

The Gloucester Society of Artists held a meeting on Tuesday evening, July 21, and elected a hanging committee for the second exhibition of the season, which opened Monday, continuing through August 18, with a reception from 2 to 6 o'clock Monday afternoon. The following members were elected to the hanging committee: Louis F. Berneker, chairman; Gordon Payne, Charles Allan Winter, Elsa Anshutz-Zieg, John J. Barry, Benjamin Cratz, A. W. Schwartz, Helen S. Davis, Nell Van Hook and Gertrude C. Fosdick.

The committee for the annual Fakirs' Ball was also elected at the meeting and includes: Marion T. MacIntosh, chairman; Charles Allan Winter, Mrs. William Jay Little, Maud F. Berneker, Virginia Gruppe, Hildegarde Mueller, Carl H. Nordstrom, Lester A. Gillette, Gordon Payne, Ronan J. Prybot, Wilhelmina T. Weyand, J. Eliot Enneking, Charles P. Gruppe, Louis F. Berenker, Juliet Burdoin, Helen S. Davis and Nell Van Hook.

The date for the Fakirs' Ball was set for August 13.

The subject title or theme of the ball this year is to be "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and the costumes are supposed to be in keeping with the subject, at least to suggest the sea and its creatures.

SIGHT-SEEING SAILS DAILY
Volunteer Toreador Club Conductors Explain Points of Interest on Cape Ann
Make Reservations in Advance at Y. M. C. A. (470)

BELMONT SHOE REPAIRING
SHOE REBUILDING
Best Quality, Lowest Prices
Main St., Gloucester, Opp. Center St.

Dry Cleaning and Pressing
STRAND DYE HOUSE
Louis Kramer, Prop.
Odorless Cleansing and Pressing
Dyeing, Altering and Relining
We call for and deliver
45 Main St., Gloucester, Mass.
Phone 2563 Open Evenings

ROCKPORT DYE HOUSE
First Class Cleansers
Wearing Apparel Called For and Delivered Any Place on Cape Ann
MAIN STREET, ROCKPORT. Tel. Conn.

SALE AND FAIR
AT THE ROCKAWAY HOTEL
Tuesday, August 4, 1931
Under the Auspices of The Woman's Alliance of the First Parish (Unitarian) Church.
A variety of useful and fancy articles will be displayed.

THE GLOUCESTER SCHOOL OF THE LITTLE THEATRE
ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
"MISS LULU BETT"
A Comedy in Three Acts by Zona Gale
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, JULY 31 AND AUGUST 1
Reserved Seats, on Sale at the School, $1.25
One-Act Play Friday Mornings at 11.30
Puppet Performances Saturday Mornings at 11.30
Friday and Saturday, August 8 and 9 "MR. PRIM PASSES BY" Filmed by J A. Milne

Beach, Piazza and Cottage Furnishings

The Most Complete assortment on the North Shore. New Stock of Heywood-Wakefield Reed and Fiber Furniture. Radios of Leading Makes.
NORTH SHORE FURNITURE CO.
161-163 Main St., Cor. Parsons
Tel. 94

Prizes will be given for the costumes, those that best express the spirit of the sea in some form and are the most artistic creations to be considered eligible for the prizes.

The jury of awards will consist of members of the executive committee.

The entertainment committee, Mildred Turner Copperman, chairman, announced that on July 30, at 8.30 P.M., a puppet show will be given by Ralph Geddes, who made an extensive tour through the United States last winter and who is a protege of Jean de Gros. The program for the show is to be: "The Little Mermaid," by Hans Christian Andersen with music by Debussy, and "The Comical Tragedy of Punch and Judy."

Those who will pour at the tea Saturday included Mrs. Frances Storrs, Miss Alethea Platt, Miss Elizabeth Grandin, and Miss Lillian Giffen, assisting the chairman of the house committee, Mrs. Antoinette Inglis, who will preside.

THE PHOEBE

A certain little restaurant on Bearskin Neck, Rockport, has a swinging sign which first attracts the eye and then the attention of the passerby. It is an oil painting of a clam against a dramatic background of various sea-suggesting greens. Not being without some curiosity ourselves, we asked the manager about it and this was his story.

"A young and promising artist residing in the neighborhood conceived the idea, and desired a perfect clam for a model. Now a perfect clam like a perfect ruby can be told by its imperfections and after sorting over sixteen to twenty bushels of clams he finally found Phoebe. Phoebe was rather fresh at first and stood up well although the artist was rather exacting."

To make a long story short the sudden transition from an ordinary clam flat to the luxuries of an artist's studio must have spoiled Phoebe for she had to be thrown in the discard after a few days but not before the artist had captured for posterity what a clam-digger would call a "spittin' image." And so she can be seen, swinging to the gentle breezes that waft up and down Bearskin Neck.

YACHTING

BLUE BILL CAPTURES RACE AT GLOUCESTER

(Continued from page 17)

reach beam, reach and a beat. The other classes sailed the inshore course, a run to Plum Cove, a reach to the inner mark and a beat home.

When the boats got out of the river, the Triangles Blue Bill and Goblin hit a vagrant puff which enabled them to open up a commanding lead, Scalene and Idol being out of the path of the wind. In consequence the two leaders got to Essex nearly five minutes ahead of the others. On the reach to the outer mark, Goblin passed into the leadership.

On the beat back, Goblin and Blue Bill stood over toward the Essex shore and here streaky wind played favorites with them. Blue Bill's skipper paid off and succeeded in slipping under Goblin's lee, footing faster than his competitor. After several minutes, a shift in the wind jacked Blue Bill to weather and when they came about to starboard Blue Bill was well to the good, which advantage she maintained.

John White of Reading and Annisquam and Ben Smith again had it out in the Cat class and the sailor from the hinterlands again proved himself a competent helmsman. It was a pretty even thing in the reaches to Plum Cove and to the inner mark, with Caterpillar a half-boat length to the good, but on facing the wind, Kittiwake began to go strong and opened up a 2½ minute margin.

Charles Hill in the Sailfish added another win in the Fishboat flotilla. The summary:

TRIANGLES

Bluebill, Horace Bent	1 46 34
Goblin, Dr. H. W. Carveth	1 47 08
Scalene, H. E. Worcester, Jr.	1 50 07
Idol, Francis Gleason	1 55 14

BIRD BOATS

Sailfish, C. Hill	1 31 08
Malolo, Mary Bradley	1 32 08
Goldfish, J. H. Bloombergh	1 33 37
Perch, Harry Griffin	1 36 15
Sea Horse, B. Mecham	1 40 47
Flying Fish, Albert Hale	1 42 20
Dab, David Dennison	1 42 43
Blackfish, R. Philbrick	1 43 36
Navarra, L. Crawford	1 43 52
Barracuda, J. D. Worcester	1 46 08
Shark, C. H. Hamilton	1 50 16
Avis, Norman Olsen	2 12 32
Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	2 33 12

CAT BOATS

Kittiwake, J. W. White	1 30 48
Caterpillar, Ben Smith	1 35 15
Catling, Andrew Marshall	1 37 42
Scat, Francis Jeffery	1 38 23
Puss in Boots, W. Bangs	1 39 55
Katchup, Friedman	1 41 18

ONWARD AND SAN SOUCI EASILY WIN OFF ROCKPORT

ROCKPORT, July 25—At Rockport this afternoon, the wind at the startoff in the Sandy Bay race was a trifle east of south, and light, but hauled to southwest later, with more force.

It was just a run-around in the Pilot class for Laura Cooney in the Onward. The San Souci also was always out of danger in the Stars.

There was stiffer competition in the Sandy Bay class, Myrtie B and Mamie leading on the first and second legs up to the last hitch windward work. Then Bobeno, third boat, made her try and pulled out 46 seconds a winner. The summary:

STAR CLASS, 9¾ MILES

San Souci, Homer Clark	1 57 02
Ibex, Max Kuehne	1 58 47
Star of India, Wendell & Hale	2 00 18
Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 04 10
Altair, Pierce Grover	2 05 03
*Vega, H. C. Evans	2 07 50
Comet, Frank Pierce	2 12 42

*Disqualified for fouling mark.

SANDY BAY 15-FOOTERS, 9¾ MILES

Bobeno, Benton C. Story	2 01 38
Myrtle A., Lindley I. Dean	2 02 14
Mandie, Gifford Beal	2 02 52
Mamie, J. Cianciola	2 14 45

PILOT CLASS, 8½ MILES

Onward, Laura Cooney	1 25 00
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 38 18
Shirlidee, Johnson Bros.	withdrew

BIRD CLASS, 9¾ MILES

Bobolink, W. Dolger	2 10 40
Peewee, Charles Pierce	2 13 56
Ibis, Donald Frost	2 34 26

FISH CLASS, 8½ MILES

Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 27 36
Snail, Donald Phillips	1 32 06
Judy, Roy H. Lane	1 35 21
Darter, Gibb Brothers	1 35 59
Shiner, G. C. Grace	1 36 40
Skipjack, Chester W. Davis	1 40 28

MIXED CLASS, 8½ MILES

Saratoga, Ben Knudson	1 18 38
Celeritas 2d, Reynolds Beal	1 30 06
Awk, Beal Brothers	1 33 21

MYRTICE A. HOME FIRST IN CLASS AT ROCKPORT

ROCKPORT, July 26—A light and fluky southerly was the sailing condition at Sandy Bay this afternoon. The first leg to Straitsmouth was a close reach, the second to Andrews Point a run and the third a beat, twice around. In the Sandy Bay class, Myrtice A. had the wind well in hand all the time. In the Star division, Ibex was leading boat until the third leg, when she was displaced by San Souci. The summary:

SANDY BAY 15-FOOTERS

Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	2 14 48
Maidie, Gifford Beal	2 16 28
Bobeno, Benton C. Story	2 19 50
Mamie, John Cianciola	2 26 12

INTERNATIONAL CLASS

San Souci, Homer Clark	1 54 28
Ibex, Max Kuehne	1 55 44
Star of India, Ralph Hale	1 57 11
Eclipse, Guy Hale	1 58 36
Altair, Pierce and Grover	2 07 23
Vega, Herbert Evans	2 09 44

BIRD CLASS

Peewee, Charles Pierce	2 34 44
Ibis, Donald Frost	withdrew

PILOT CLASS

Shirlidee, Johnson Brothers	1 39 44
Onward, Laura Cooney	1 42 12
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	2 00 38

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 42 31
Snail, Donald Phillips	1 46 19
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	1 56 40
Darter, Thomas Gibb	1 56 43
Shiner, G. S. Grace	1 57 40
Judy, Roy H. Lane	2 03 44

MIXED CLASS

Saratog, Ben Knudson	1 31 45
Celeritas II, Reynolds Beal	1 48 28

GOLF AT ROCKPORT

ROCKPORT, July 25—State Senator Joe Monahan of Sandy Burr topped a field of 160 golfers in the two-day Rockport medal play open, concluded today, scoring a 74 to win gross honors by a stroke. Behind him, in a tie for second, were Norman Kellenberger, of Winthrop, and George Sargent, of the home club, with 75s.

Prize winners in Class B, given over to players handicapped at 12 strokes and over, were E. D. Chapman of North Shore and H. B. Wilkinson of Rockport. Chapman led both net and gross scoring with his card of 80—16—64, but on the single prize waiver rule, Wilkinson was awarded the net with 87—25—65.

The long-driving competition, held for the entertainment of the veranda spectators at the first hole, resulted in keen competition with Monahan setting the flag Friday with a wallop of 255 yards, only to have it nudged up 10 more by Jack Healey of Longmeadow today. Chick Grasse, another healthy-hitting Lowell shooter, was in the field today, but couldn't keep close enough to the fairway to take a shot at it.

Monahan's victory was founded on a remarkable stretch of par holes, no less than 14 in the round. He was twice over, taking three from the edge of the fourth and

ALICE M. AMBLER, A. B.
(VASSAR)
PRIVATE TUTOR
French, German, Latin, English, Spanish, Algebra, Etc.
16 Highland Street, E. Gloucester
Tel. 3125-W

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR
For Your Child, ages 10 to 16
Competent Young Instructor
Tutoring at Your Own Home
Write P. O. Box No. 316, Gloucester

Office Open Day and Night.
Tel. Con.
WILLARD S. PIKE
Funeral Director
and Embalmer
Shipping, Transfer and Crematory Work
75 Washington Street
Gloucester Mass.

AWNINGS
And Yacht Equipment
UNITED SAIL LOFT CO., Inc.
Foot of Pearce St.
71 Wharf St. Tel. Conn.

NORTH SHORE INN
Magnolia-by-the-Sea
Massachusetts
Charming Homelike Atmosphere
[Booklet on request]
Good Food--Reasonable Rates
Tune in Wednesday morning, 9-10 WHDH

SUPERIOR DYE HOUSE
12 MAIN ST.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Work Called For and Delivered Anywhere on Cape Ann
Cleaning, Pressing, and Alterations.
Telephone 2644
Satisfaction Guaranteed

missing a four-footer at the 14th, but he was twice under it, so his score balanced with the card at the finish. Here it is:

Out ..4 4 5 5 3 4 5 3 4—37
In ....4 4 5 4 4 3 5 4 4—37—74

The summary:

CLASS A (SCRATCH TO 12)

Joe Monahan, Sandy Burr	74	7	67
N. E. Kellenberger, Winthrop	75	7	68
A. W. Gasperoni, United Shoe	79	11	68
H. D. Schmidt, Charles River	78	9	69
F. O. Cooney, Scarboro	77	7	70
G. P. Sargent, Rockport	75	4	71
W. H. Cooledge, Arlmont	78	7	71
W. P. Shine, Waltham	83	11	72
D. A. Mower, Sharon	84	12	72
M. F. Heath, Jr., Brae Burn	79	7	72
Walter Cole, Rockport	78	6	72
L. T. Harriman, Sharon	82	9	73
W. A. Whitcomb, Albemarle	78	5	73
Dan Riordan, Rockport	77	4	73
W. H. Donnelly, Jr., Woodland	80	6	74
H. F. Taylor, Bear Hill	81	7	74
F. Carter, United Shoe	86	12	74
C. R. Hies, United Shoe	83	9	74
R. B. Sweitzler, Com'wealth	84	10	74
E. C. Childs, Lexington	80	5	75
J. J. Fay, Wachusett	82	7	75
John Thoren, Paul Revere	82	7	75
D. Campbell, Essex	84	9	75
W. D. McGregor, Rockport	86	10	76
P. S. Birch, Marlboro	87	11	76
C. N. Stiles, Bellevue	88	11	77
D. Braithwaite, Brae Burn	87	10	77
A. E. Collins, Bear Hill	87	9	78
D. D. Ellis, Haverhill	87	9	78
E. E. Babb, Jr., Rockport	87	9	78
E. F. Sherman, Bass Rocks	91	9	83
Sam Malone, unattached	93	0	93

CLASS B (13 to 24)

E. D. Chapman, North Shore	80	16	64
H. B. Wilkinson, Rockport	87	22	65
H. Parker, United Shoe	86	20	66
H. A. Witcher, Rockport	87	20	67
M. M. Cox, Bellevue	84	17	67
G. D. Hall, Rockport	82	14	68
Roger Winship, Bellevue	85	17	68
Paul Oakley, Rockport	88	19	69
H. W. Pierce, Salem	91	21	70
O. C. Stiles, Rockport	93	23	70
J. W. F. Hobbs, Belmont	85	15	70
John Dooley, North Shore	89	19	70
J. A. Hunter, Agawam	84	14	70
F. S. McKenzie, Rockport	89	19	70
H. P. Hood, Tedesco	85	14	71
C. E. Stratton, Rockport	93	22	71
H. P. Foley, United Shoe	90	19	71
C. J. Holmes, Bellevue	87	15	72
Henry Halm, United Shoe	85	13	72
T. D. Howe, Bass Rocks	85	13	72
R. C. Milton, Bass Rocks	88	16	72
R. E. Howse, Lexington	89	17	72
R. V. Roberts, Waltham	91	17	72
F. R. Tarr, Jr., Rockport	90	17	73
C. W. Chamberlain, Oakley	87	14	73
C. L. Safford, Bass Rocks	86	13	73
J. B. Glass, Rockport	92	19	73
S. H. Schofield, Mt. Pleasant	91	17	74
George Fiske, Rockport	88	14	74
W. A. Grimes, Albemarlo	88	13	75
J. P. Norris, Bear Hill	99	24	75
H. L. Swasey, Stoney Brae	96	20	76
W. N. Kenyon, Stoney Brae	92	16	76
E. C. Caldwell, Winthrop	93	17	76
L. A. Rogers, Rockport	95	19	76
I. S. Hall, Charles River	92	16	76
L. A. Rogers, Rockport	95	19	76
J. F. Watson, Arlmont	101	24	77
Fred Higgins, Stoney Brae	92	15	77
Telford Frazier, Tedesco	96	19	77
H. T. Claus, Bellevue	90	18	77
J. A. Lyons, Rockport	93	15	78
N. L. Jackson, Runaway Brook	95	18	78
F. E. Smith, Rockport	91	13	78
H. P. Fleming, Bellevue	99	19	80
G. V. Uniacke, Scarboro	94	14	80
D. W. Goodell, Long Meadow	98	18	80

MRS. WILLS-MOODY WINS FINAL SINGLES

MANCHESTER, July 25 — Mrs. Fred S. Moody, Jr., of San Francisco experienced no difficulty in defeating Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper of Oakland, Calif., in the final singles match of the Essex County Club tennis tournament, this afternoon. The non-ranked queen of the courts allowed the No. 1 ranking player of the country but one game, winning 6—0, 6—1, in 30 minutes of play. It was a disappointing match as Mrs. Harper did not offer the former Helen Wills anything equal to the opposition expected of one who had reached the last round of such a tournament.

While the singles were not interesting, the final of the women's doubles was a very exciting match, Miss Virginia Hilleary of Philadelphia and Miss Dorothy Audrus of Stamford, Conn., winning from Mrs. John A. Van Ryn, formerly Miss Marjorie Gladman of Philadelphia, and Miss Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Calif., 4—6, 11—9, 6—0. In the mixed doubles, Miss Marjorie Morrill and Dr. G. Colket Caner of Manchester won a three-set match from Miss Margaret Blake of Lenox, and Richard Harte of Nahant, 4—6, 6—2, 6—1.

PARKING REGULATIONS

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Attention is called to the following extracts from an ordinance governing automobile traffic passed June 6, 1930.

Section One. During the months of June, July, August and September the following traffic regulations shall be effective for vehicles:

Parking Prohibited at All Times

Pleasant street, between Main and Warren streets, Short street.

Easterly side of Centre street.

Pearce street, from Rogers to Main street.

Westerly side of Water street from Main to Rogers street.

Within 15 feet of any hydrant on any street.

Westerly side of Elm street from Main to Prospect street; easterly side from Main street to the southern end of the Recreation Alleys.

Easterly side of School street from Middle street to Mason street, and on School street from Proctor street to Middle street after 11 P.M.

Northerly side of Middle street from Pleasant street to Washington street.

Northerly side of Main street, from a point opposite the westerly side of Porter street to Washington street.

Easterly side of Chestnut street.

All protected crossings.

Easterly side of Hancock street from Middle to Rogers street or on such portions of westerly side as are designated by white traffic lines.

Restricted Parking

Main street, from Washington to Vincent street, 30 minutes between 6 A.M. and 6 P.M., except on Saturday when the restricted parking extends to 10 P.M.

Center street, westerly side but only within a distance of 30 feet from Main street and 30 feet from Middle street.

Middle street, southerly side, from Pleasant to Washington street, for a period not exceeding one hour.

Dale avenue, westerly side only, in a diagonal position with the left rear wheel or right front wheel against the curb.

One Way Streets

Southerly side of Western avenue, from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for east bound traffic.

Northerly side of Western avenue from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for west bound traffic.

Federal street, travel only in an easterly direction, from Pleasant street to Elm street, no parking on either side.

Short street, one way north from Main street.

Hancock street, from Middle street to Main street, one way south.

Nautilus road, one way south between Bass avenue and Bass Rocks road.

Duncan street, one way south from Main street to Rogers street, parking on westerly side only.

Arlington street, Annisquam, one way in a southeasterly direction.

Chestnut street, one way south, parking only on westerly side.

Middle street, from Dale avenue to Pleasant street, one way east.

Warren street, one way west, parking on both sides.

Protected Crossings

Across Prospect street at Union hill; across Spring street at the westerly side of Union hill; across Main street at the North Shore Theatre; across Main street at the Olympia Theatre; across Main street at the Postoffice and Trust Company; at the Gloucester National Bank; from the Masonic Block to W. G. Brown & Company's store; from the A. & P. store to Herricks' fruit store; across Pleasant street, at the Postoffice; across Duncan street on Main street; across Hancock street on both sides the street.

Porter street, one way south, parking only western side.

Traffic lights in operation Main street, foot of Commercial, P. O. Square; Prospect street, near M. E. Church.

DANIEL M. CASEY,
City Marshal.

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE

No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st except by written permission of the Chief of the Fire Department or the Fire Warden.

Persons wishing to burn rubbish, grass, etc., in the business or residential sections of the city, i. e. within the limits established by the Eastern avenue School on Eastern avenue and the cut bridge on Western avenue and the Green on Washington street, should apply to the Chief of the Fire Department. Those wishing to burn rubbish, brush, grass, etc., in the outlying portions of the city, that is outside of the limits as here set forth, whose fire would be on or near any wood, brush or grasslands, should apply to the Fire Warden.

Readers of this notice are cautioned to be extremely careful of matches, cigars and cigarettes while in or near any wood or brushland to prevent forest fires.

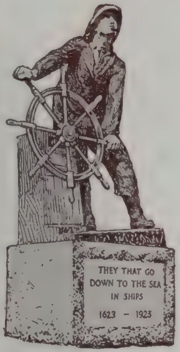
HOMER R. MARCHANT,
Chief of the Fire Department.
ALBERT C. LA BELLE,
Fire Warden.

Magnolia Real Estate
SEA SHORE ESTATES
Cottages, Bungalows, Shops
JONATHAN MAY
Shore Road, Magnolia, Mass. Tel. Magnolia 426-R.

Gloucester Auto Bus Co.
Exclusive Street Passenger Transportation on Cape Ann, Gloucester and East Gloucester, Annisquam, Lanesville, Pigeon Cove, Rockport, West Gloucester, Essex, Magnolia, Manchester.
Starter's Office 114 Main Street
Information Telephone 2195 Telephone 1675

THE PATTILLO STORE
THE FINEST LINE OF SUMMER FURNITURE, SCREENS, MATTRESSES, RUGS, ETC., ON THE NORTH SHORE. UPHOLSTERING DONE BY SKILLED WORKMAN
A·MANTON PATTILLO

Fine Assortment of Vudor Shades for the Piazza
C. F. TOMPKINS CO.
67 MIDDLE STREET GLOUCESTER



Rooted Deep

"As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm,
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."
—GOLDSMITH.

- Commercial Banking
- Savings Accounts
- Club Accounts
- Safe Deposit Boxes
- Storage Vault
- Foreign Exchange
- Travellers Cheques
- Bond Department
- Travel Service

A Bank that started 132 years ago and is the oldest Bank in the State must be deep rooted. A Bank that has withstood all the hard times and financial and industrial changes down from Washington's time must have a certain inherent strength.

We offer you strength; a background of tradition, efficient service, and friendly co-operation.

The Oldest Bank in the State, the Seventh Oldest in the United States; a depository for City, County, State and U. S. Funds, and favored with an account from hundreds of firms and individuals on the Cape.

◆

May We be Favored With Your Gloucester Business?

GLOUCESTER NATIONAL BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE CITY

OLDEST BANK IN MASSACHUSETTS

One of the steps in the preparation of codfish for the market. Drying and curing whole codfish at the Gorton-Pew Fisheries

You Are Cordially Invited—

OUR door is always open. And we are always glad to show visitors the fascinating processes employed in our plant. See how we take fish fresh from the ocean and prepare them for the tables of America's discriminating housewives. There is no more interesting sight in all of quaint old Gloucester.

If it were only possible to transport some of the charm of Gloucester back home—its romantic harbor, its curious old streets and homes, its atmosphere of the sea. Although this is impossible you may have a reminder of pleasant Gloucester days in sending to your home some of our delicious fish products. For this purpose we put up a special combination box. It is an attractive carton containing a popular assortment of Gorton's Sea Foods. Neatly packed ready for shipment. These tasty and popular sea foods will introduce you to new delights in fish eating.

The same offer is extended to all-year-round and summer-time residents. Visit us and see for yourselves how one of America's oldest and most interesting industries operates. You are cordially invited.

Gorton's
Sea Food Family

GORTON'S CODFISH
GORTON'S READY-TO-FRY COD FISH CAKES
GORTON'S FRESH MACKEREL IN CANS
GORTON' SALAD FISH
GORTON'S DEEP SEA ROE
GORTON'S CODFISH IN CANS
GORTON'S FINNAN HADDIE
GORTON'S FLAKED FISH
GORTON'S MANHATTAN CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S DOWN EAST CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S HADDOCK CHOWDER

Gorton-Pew Fisheries
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Founded in 1849

1885 - 1931

THE BOSTON STORE

WILLIAM G. BROWN COMPANY, Gloucester, Mass.

The Largest Store of the North Shore Covering a City Block from PLEASANT, MAIN and ELM STREETS
29 Departments. Largest Dry Goods Floor Space East of Boston. POST OFFICE SQUARE

The Department Store of Service where Summer Shopping is made pleasant.

In Gloucester on the North Shore you will find this store a well appointed, pleasant store in which to do your shopping on a warm summer's day.

It will be a pleasure and also afford you great satisfaction in knowing that you can come here and select quality merchandise at lowest possible prices.

Trade in Gloucester at the Big Store of the North Shore

One of the North Shore's Finest
BEAUTY SHOPS

4 Booths — 2 Bobber Chairs
2 Manicure Tables

Marcel Waving
Shampooing
Manicuring
Facials
French Curling
Hair Dyeing
Hair Tinting
Permanent Waving
Hair Dressing
Hair Bobbing and Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting by Experts.

Atwater Kent, Majestic,
Victor and Radiola
Radios

Largest Line on Cape Ann
Expert Installation

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

New Soda Fountain
and Luncheonette
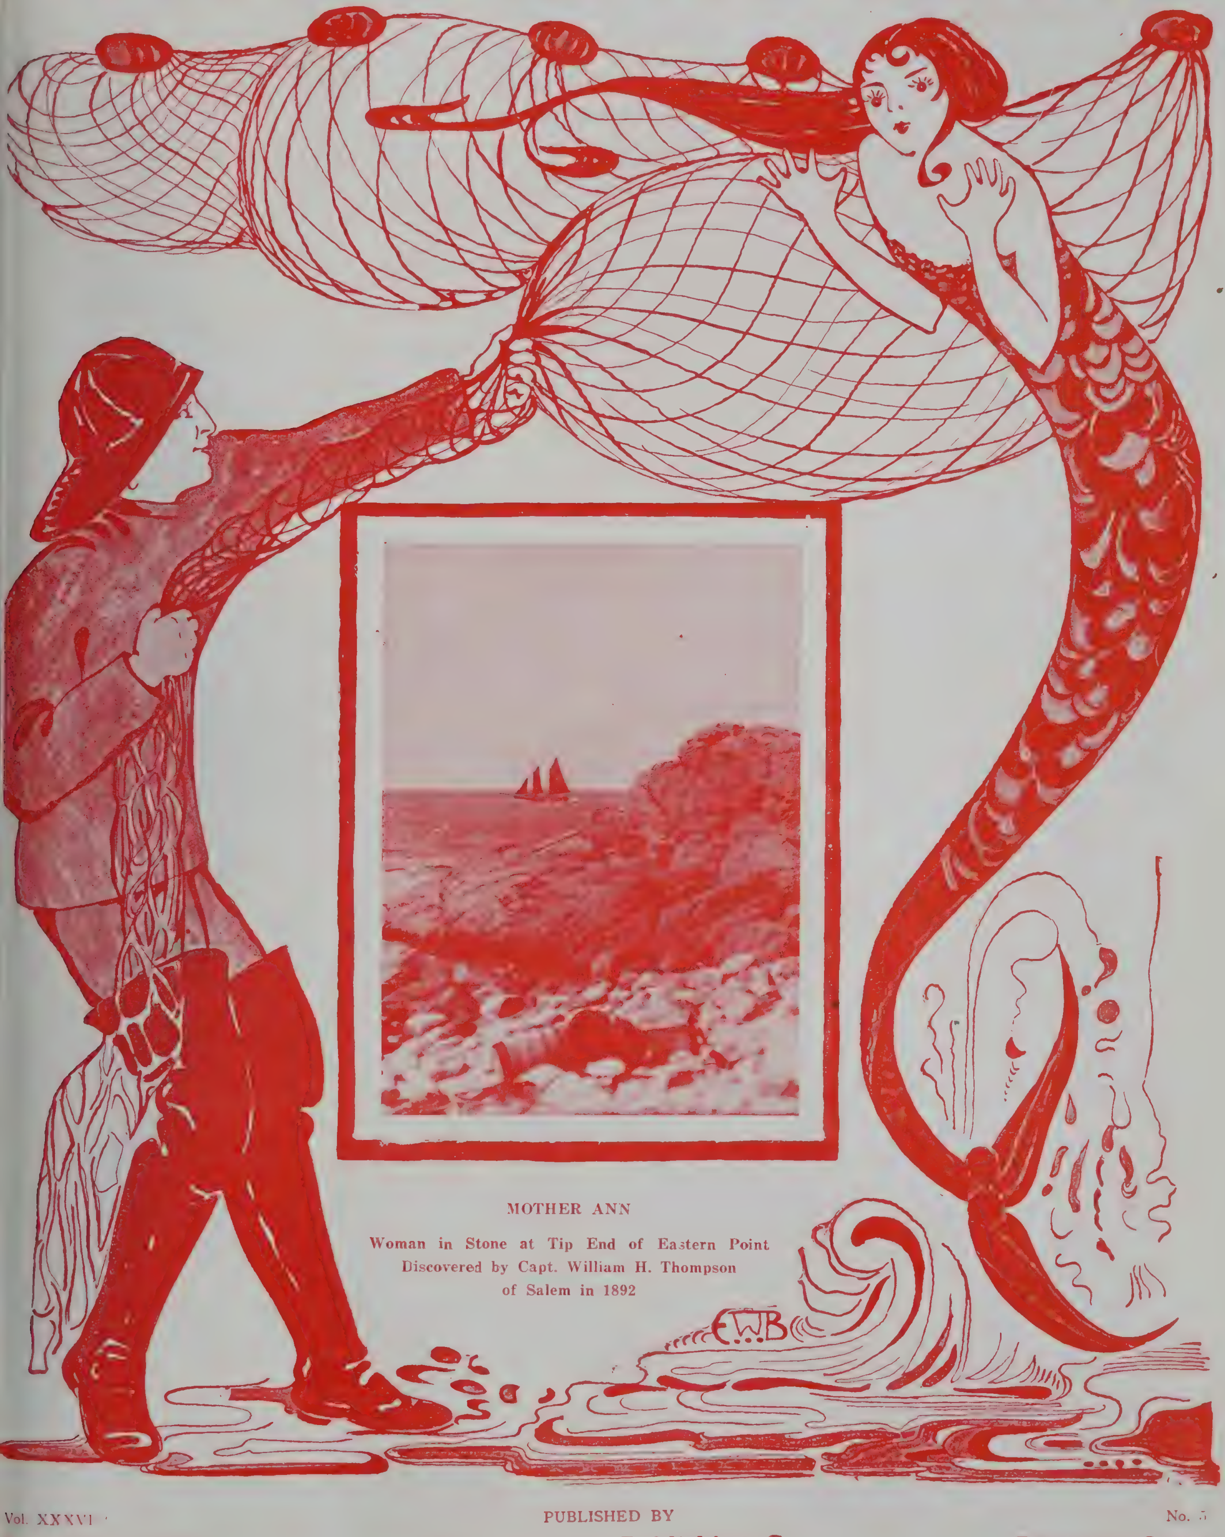
(MAIN FLOOR)
Best Food and Service
Afternoon Tea

CAPE ANN SHORE



MOTHER ANN

Woman in Stone at Tip End of Eastern Point Discovered by Capt. William H. Thompson of Salem in 1892

Vol. XXXVI

August 8, 1931

PUBLISHED BY
The Cape Ann Publishing Co.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

No. 5

Price 10 Cents

C. S. NAUSS (Established 1837) L. H. NAUSS

L. B. Nauss & Sons

"NAUSS LUMBER"

LUMBER

LIME

CEMENT

BUILDING SUPPLIES

"Everything to Build Anything"

Telephones 195-196-197

RAILROAD AVE.,

GLOUCESTER, MASS.

They add a subtle touch of distinction to hospitality

Resplendent, efficient electric appliances make entertaining so satisfying and convenient

Drop into our store and see these wonderful aids to entertaining — electric percolator, electric coffee urn, electric waffle iron, electric toaster. We're glad to show them—whether you buy or not.

GLOUCESTER ELECTRIC COMPANY

Telephone 1250 Telephone 1250

The F. C. POOLE SHOPS

Bond's Hill, Gloucester

BRANCH SHOPS

359 Western Ave. And House Opposite

ANTIQUES—We have a fine collection of Early American and English pieces at our show rooms on Western Avenue and on Bond's Hill.

REPRODUCTIONS—As fine as we can make them, true copies of the originals. Our craftsmen can create for you any piece that you may have in mind.

UPHOLSTERED PIECES—Made in our own work shop on Bond's Hill. We specialize in comfortable davenports, sofas, chairs, chaise longues—or anything that you may wish made to order.

DRAPERIES — Our selection of chintzes, linens, drapery and upholstery materials is worthy of your consideration.

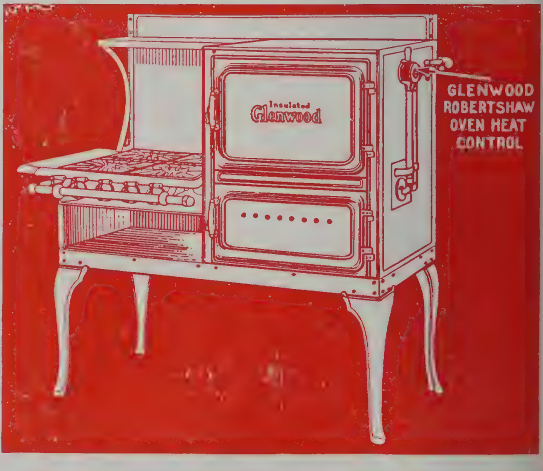
UPHOLSTERED SPRINGS AND MATTRESSES—Made to order of the best quality materials and very comfortable.

We know you will enjoy a visit to our shops.

EFFIE POOLE KEFFER, Proprietor

ENJOY YOUR SUMMER WITH A

New Glenwood Insulated Range



Insulated Glenwood
GLENWOOD ROBERTSHAW OVEN HEAT CONTROL

"You can do it better with Gas"

GLOUCESTER GAS LIGHT CO.

96 MAIN STREET Telephone 570

1896—OLDEST ESTABLISHED SUMMER RESORT PUBLICATION ON THE NORTH SHORE—1931

THE CAPE ANN SHORE

THIRTY-SIXTH SEASON

Gloucester, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks,
Long Beach, Briar Neck.

Land's End, Rockport, Pigeon Cove, Annisquam and River Territory, Fernwood, Magnolia, Manchester and Essex County.

Published Weekly, 8 times during July and August by the CAPE ANN PUBLISHING CO., James R. Pringle, Conductor, 95 Main Street, Gloucester. 75 cents the season on Cape Ann; elsewhere, $1.00. Tels. 412-W, 412-R.

"Entered as second-class matter July 16, 1920, at post office, Gloucester, Mass., under Act of March 3, 1879."

Special Contents, August 8, 1931

EDITORIALS:
- Politics
- Rockport Champlain Campanile
- Foolish Facts

POEM:
- Gloucester
  By Elizabeth Stuart Phelps-Ward

ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS
"Gloucester's Severest Critic and Best Friend"

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING
By C. Anne Shore

ART AND DRAMATIC
Being a Review of Theatrical Topics and the Artist Colony

NEWS OF THE SUMMER COLONY
Manchester, Magnolia, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Briar Neck, Land's End, Rockport Center, Pigeon Cove, The Annisquam Region, The Cape Ann Countyside

THE WEEK'S YACHTING

A HOUSE OF SERVICE

GLOUCESTER COAL AND LUMBER COMPANY

For twenty-five years the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company have endeavored to give to the residents of Cape Ann all that there is in the way of service.

Starting as a coal yard in 1906 the company has steadily increased its services until now it is capable of merchandizing literally anything from thumb tacks to a home complete, from planning to financing.

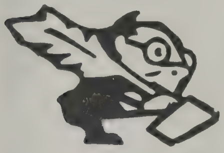
At the present time the company occupies two large wharves in Gloucester harbor, receiving the majority of its coal and lumber by water. The finished lumber and flooring is brought in by rail and stored in a heat regulated warehouse. The heating plant in this building is arranged to provide a constant temperature with a low rate of humidity thus assuring all lumber of being perfectly dry and free from shrinkage.

Included in the five acres of floor space are four large warehouses, a fully equipped mill, a garage and machine shop, a cement shed, and the coal pockets. In addition the company has this year added a new paint and hardware store carrying a full line of painters' supplies, carpenters' tools and hardware for the home and builder.

The Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company maintain offices in Gloucester, Rockport, Manchester, and Magnolia; free estimation service for any type of building as well as a planning and financing department. The company is also exclusive agent on the North Shore for the electric furnace man.

GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO., -:- 43 Duncan Street

Telephones 3060—3061—3062



POLITICS

Outlook Bright for Hoover's Re-election—Country Always Level Headed in a Crisis—Democratic Pre-Convention Conference at Manchester-by-the-Sea

Last year The Shore stated that in its opinion, President Hoover would be renominated and re-elected nearly as easily as three years ago. It still retains that opinion, now crystallized to a conviction. The state of weltpolitik demands that there be at the helm both of the American and English governments, high-purposed, level-headed men not influenced by popular clamor who will direct their respective ships of state and with it those of other nations following in their wake, through the shoals and quicksands and off the lee shore in which it now finds itself. It is unthinkable that in this hour tremendous, with the fate of the world in jeopardy, such direction be left to the demagogue or the unfit.

For that reason we believe that the common sense of the people of this country, which in an emergency has always arisen to such an occasion, will assert itself in an emphatic manner next year.

And we believe that the Republican dynasty will carry on just so long as the Tammany section of the Democratic party continues to dominate its policy. When the true leaders of the Democracy, men with the orientation of the South and West arise, then, and not till then, will the Democracy have a look in. Think of an administration tinctured with the New York police brand of justice, "framing" innocent women, blackmail to the nth degree, transferred to the White House!

For his one stand against the adoption of the dole, which is nothing but communism at its worst, Hoover deserves an emphatic endorsement. Do we want American citizenry emasculated of its self-respect and lowered to the depths of the English masses? God save the mark!

At the same time, we believe that the leaven is working in the Republican party and that after Hoover has served his second term, his successor will be a man of the Pinchot-La Follette-Borah type.

(Continued on page 21)

A season for simple living with the kindly sun and the blue sky. Days of keen delight in little things, of joyous questing after beauty. Days for the making of true friends by being a true friend to others. Days that may teach us to live nobly.—Anon.

ROCKPORT CHAMPLAIN CAMPANILE

Suggested Opportunity for Marine Memorial Utilizing the Proposed Water Tower on Pigeon Hill

Down at Rockport the artists of that town, and there are a number fully competent to deal with the matter, it seems to The Shore, have a great opportunity to make an outstanding memorial or what they please, which will become a national landmark, equally prominent as the memorial campanile at Provincetown.

The town has recently appropriated $30,000 for a water tower to be placed on the top of Pigeon Hill. The material specified, we believe, is steel. Pigeon Hill is one of the finest specimens of the drumlin to be found in any locality. It seems as if the Grand Architect and Landscape Gardener took especial pains and pleasure in rounding out its contour in symmetrical form and then carefully brushing aside the rocks and bowlders brought down by the three glacial periods. Fortunately it has been preserved for all time as a public reservation.

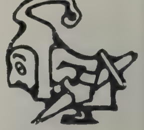
Shipping coming from sea note it almost as the first landfall—its green hills cool, inviting, restful, beckoning and welcoming the mariner to his native heath.

Now here's the idea—which does not involve much expenditure in its consummation: Just the slightest bit of chaste and appropriate ornamentation near the top—no gingerbread work—and at night this to be lighted with a distinctive electric lamp—red to differentiate from Thacher's—which may be seen far at sea and down the Maine coast. The government, generally so prodigal in these matters, might be induced to furnish the lighting. A grand beacon for mariners coming from the eastward.

At the entrance of many communities is the trite and familiar device: "You are now entering So and So," etc. But Rockport could say it from the sea not in so many words, but self-interpretive and impressive, in the light itself.

We pass along the idea for consideration first because of its moral, sentimental and practical appeal, and sec-

(Continued on page 21)



"FOOLISH FACTS"

"Foolish Facts" (with apologies to Julia Sanderson and Frank Crumit).

"Figure It Out for Yourself," Radio Fan.

"That's My Desire" to "Let a Little Pleasure Interfere with Business."

"Lover, Come Back to Me" but "Don't Bring Lulu."

"Supposing" you were "Reaching For The Moon," and only get some "Star-Dust!"

"Love Sends A Little Gift of Roses" to put "Among My Souvenirs."

"A Million-Dollar Baby" only knows "The Bottle Song."

"Farewell, Blues," "Here Comes The Sun."

"I've Got Five Dollars," but "I Can't Give You Anything But Love."

"Sweetest Story Ever Told" is "When I Take My Sugar To Tea."

"The Woman In The Shoe" should have had "Noah's Ark."

"Figure It Out For Yourself" that "One Little Raindrop Doesn't Make a Shower."

"Oh, Hum, Spring Is Here" and "Here Am I."

"Walking My Baby Back Home" because we lost "The Sleepy Town Express."

"My Melody of Love" is "Three Little Words."

"You Forgot Your Gloves"—next time "Tie A Little String Around Your Finger."

"Old Man River" went to "Baby's Birthday Party."

"It Looks Like Susie" "On The Beach With You."

"Why Shouldn't I" give you "A Cheerful Little Earful" "Under Your Window Tonight?"

"Once Upon A Time" you gave me "A Little Kiss Each Morning."

"Look in the Looking-Glass" and get "Reflections of You."

"Got the Bench, Got the Park," now I want "Just A Blue-eyed Blonde."

"Naughty Marietta" goes with "King Cotton" to see "The King's Horses."

"Time Flies" and I'm "Gwine to Run All Night."

"Cross Your Fingers" for "Lady Luck."

"Toodle-oo, So Long, Good-bye."
"Faithfully Yours,"
Louise D. Chamberline.

GLOUCESTER

Written For and Read on Occasion of Dedication of Tablet at Stage Fort in August, 1907

By Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps-Ward

Afoam her head, her eye afire;
Fair as her youth her age shall be,
All mother and all siren too,
She sits beside the curbing sea.
Honored of years and wet with tears
Her name we take from history.

Maker of men when men are worth
The highest price the time can hoard
She tosses heroes on the deep
As hands toss dice across a board.

Her crews like halliards snap and fall;
The lad goes gaily singing where
The master wind shall flog him down
And choke his last curse into prayer.

He hurls upon the brutal gale
The spirit of his pioneer .
There is no alphabet in him
That halts to spell the pale word, fear.

To run the trawl, to fight the storm
To flee no peril though he can,
To rate his life like frozen bait;
He asks no more—our fisherman.

Mother of Sons, Thy daughters asked
The one thing more and had it not;
They asked of life a little love—
Mid-seas their dead sway, unforgot.

In wars of winds as wars of states,
Forever theirs the sadder part,—
There sighs in every ebbing tide
A lonely woman's breaking heart.

Across the Point like furling fog
The ghosts come deaf-mute, sweeping by,
Upon the downs the long glass stares
And trembles, blurring to the eye.

Sea-driven, land locked, still, each to each,
The hearts of man and woman call;
It may be death; it might be life
That builds between them its mist wall.

We turn from our lighter mood
That laughs upon the summer bay
And kneel before the cliff's rough feet
And lift our lifeless hands and pray—

"Give us the sailor-soul that dares
Nor counts the cost whate'er it be.
Give us the patience of the coast
That weeps—a woman—by the sea."

For granite-fast, tide true we feel
The Gloucester glamour holds the shore.
Who loveth her and wins her once
Shall love and seek her ever more.

Afoam her head, her eyes afire,
Fairer than youth her age shall be,
All mother and all siren still
She bids and beckons to her knee.
Honored of years and salt with tears
Her name we give to History.

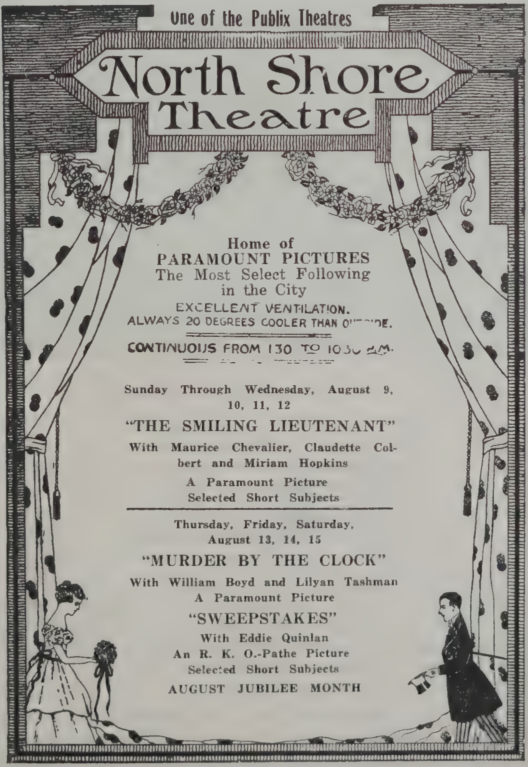
Art and Dramatic

LITTLE THEATRE

The Gloucester School of the Little Theatre captivated its patrons last Friday and Saturday nights with its excellent presentation of "Miss Lulu Bett" by Zona Gale. This very human story was presented by these young people with an understanding and interpretation that was unusual in its completeness. Dorothy Coleman who played the difficult lead showed talent in her presentation, and is to be complimented on her excellent poise and ability in portraying so vividly a complicated character. Beatrice Griffith as the sister of Lulu Bett and the mistress of the house showed understanding of her part, while Martin Jurow as the master of the house, Dwight Deacon, did an excellent and talented piece of work. Charles Edgecomb as the brother of Dwight Deacon and the hero of the tale who finally rescues Lulu from her life as a drudge in the household of her sister's family, gave a highly creditable performance.

The play was a difficult one to "put across" and these young people are to be highly complimented on the success they made of it. One forgets they are young and inexperienced as they become not

(Continued on page 26)



One of the Publix Theatres
North Shore Theatre
Home of
PARAMOUNT PICTURES
The Most Select Following
in the City
EXCELLENT VENTILATION.
ALWAYS 20 DEGREES COOLER THAN OUTSIDE.
CONTINUOUS FROM 130 TO 1030 P.M.

Sunday Through Wednesday, August 9, 10, 11, 12
"THE SMILING LIEUTENANT"
With Maurice Chevalier, Claudette Colbert and Miriam Hopkins
A Paramount Picture
Selected Short Subjects

Thursday, Friday, Saturday, August 13, 14, 15
"MURDER BY THE CLOCK"
With William Boyd and Lilyan Tashman
A Paramount Picture
"SWEEPSTAKES"
With Eddie Quinlan
An R. K. O.-Pathe Picture
Selected Short Subjects
AUGUST JUBILEE MONTH

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

"Murder by the Clock," Paramount's new mystery thriller designed to send chills up and down your spine, features a character actor who is building an enviable screen reputation for himself. The actor is Irving Pichel, who in "Murder by the Clock" creates the role of a half-crazed giant who does the bidding of an unscrupulous, scheming woman. It is an unusual role, a characterization of uncanny power and strength which Pichel interprets with amazing skill.

Pichel, you will recall, created the memorable role of Caleb Evans in the Ruth Chatterton picture, "The Right to Love." And very soon Pichel will be seen in the role of the prosecuting attorney in Paramount's widely heralded production of Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy." Incidentally, Pichel's performance in "Murder by the Clock" has won for him a long term contract with Paramount.

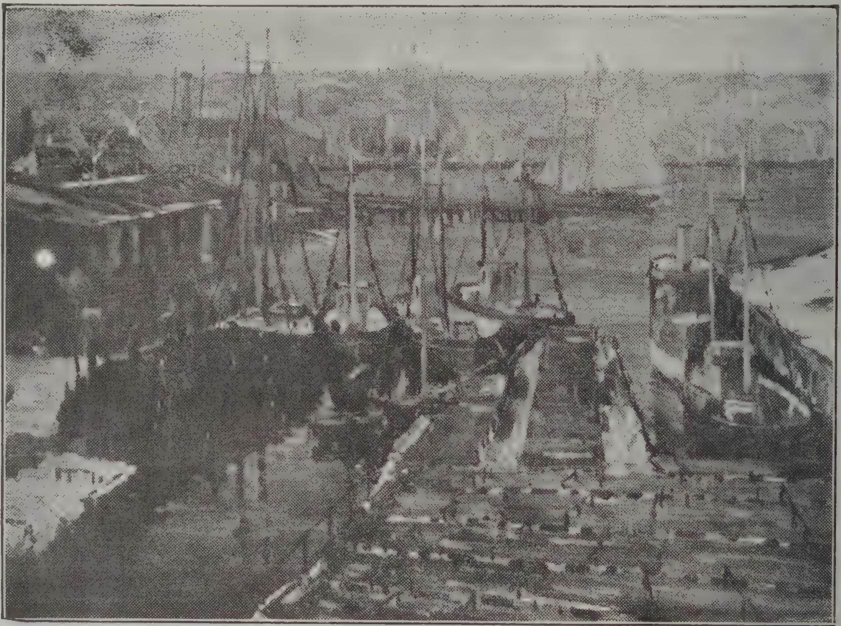
Also prominently cast in "Murder by the Clock" is a cast of established players including Lilyan Tashman, William "Stage" Boyd, Regis Toomey and Sally O'Neil.

"Murder by the Clock" will be presented at the North Shore Theatre for three days beginning Thursday, August 13th.

(Continued on page 26)

ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS

"Gloucester's Severest Critic and Best Friend"—The Tremendous Power of Her Books in Popularizing Gloucester as a Summer Resort—A Memorial to Her Memory?



Gloucester from the East Gloucester Side—From a Painting by Oscar Anderson. "The fairest face of all the New England coast—the Eastern side of Gloucester Harbor," Mrs. Phelps-Ward.

(Note: Another in the occasional series of sketches on "Summer Residents I Have Known."—J. R. P.)

IN OUR ISSUE OF JULY 25, The Shore characterized Gen. Benjamin F. Butler as Gloucester's greatest industrial benefactor. This week we write of Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mrs. Ward, the one above all others, man or woman, who did most to proclaim and advertise (I dislike the application of the word in this instance) Gloucester's surpassing beauties to the world.

Way back in the 70's, Miss Phelps, then a young woman in the beginning of her career, "discovered," as she writes, Gloucester. That was hardly a decade after the Civil War. Prior to that there were comparatively few of great wealth in this country; these were principally the Southern planters, New York and Boston merchants. The Civil War, as did the World War in greater measure, made substantial fortunes for many.

These people, suddenly enriched, sought to live up to their money. They patronized the resorts heretofore exclusively frequented by the old aristocracy. From that time came the rise of the summer hotel, "caravanseries," the writers of the time dubbed them. Saratoga was the outstanding national playground. Thither came the financially elect of the nation, including the grandees of the Grant administration. The trotting park—horse trotting was then the popular outdoor sport—with Goldsmith Maid, Joe Patchen, and a similar stable sponsored by Commodore Vanderbilt, Jim Fisk, and others of equal prominence, was the great magnet, and Budd Doble, premier reinsman, was the popular idol.

Gradually the increasing number of the wealthy spread farther eastward to mountain and seashore and took root at East Gloucester, where women of the Wonson family, all enterprising, endowed with Yankee acumen, sensing the opportunity, began to take "summer boarders." The demand out-running their accommodations, the smaller hotel succeeded by the larger edifice came into being. First at Bass Rocks, the Pebbly Beach House, favorite summer home of Robert G. Ingersoll and family, was erected, then the Bass Rocks House, with F. H. Nunns as major domo. Both of these hotels burned a few years later.

Very soon the summer cottage succeeded the tent of the camper, perhaps a five hundred dollar or less affair of matched boards with filigree adornment on the front. Such were the beginnings of the Bass Rocks colony. "Holy Row" was of this description—the seashore home of a group of New England clergymen, hence the name, reverent or irreverent, as you will.

Elizabeth Stuart Phelps was, perhaps, as much as George Eliot, the outstanding literary woman of her time, in America at least. She had won fame while young. Her book, "Gates Ajar," gained international reputation and her subsequent productions were received with equal favor. They have the saving salt of literary ability and are much read today.

Like Gen. Butler, Miss Phelps was never fully appreciated for what she did for this city. At that time Gloucester was in the golden age of the fisheries. Some four hundred large fishing schooners sailed from this port, attracting from the seven seas the most adventurous of the mariners of the white world. Money was plentiful. Saloons, brothels and gambling houses flourished on every hand. Everything characteristic of the early Western mining camp was present except the gun play. Brawls were frequent.

This atmosphere she depicted in "Jack the Fisherman" and "A Singular Life," with the town as the locus. She painted as she saw and did not overdraw. This is on the authority of a chiel who was then around town taking notes for the newspapers.

Perhaps the thing that provoked the ire of the feminine population, was her book, "The Madonna of the Tubs," in which she made certain observations of the gossips of the locality. Many of the sex took umbrage and passed on their adverse and envenomed verdict which was taken up with equal animus by those who never read nor fully comprehended the import of what was written.

She wrote with a purpose, with an idea of reform, to eradicate abuses in the manner Dickens employed so effectively to arouse the national conscience. In the cottage which she built, she invited some of the representative women of the locality whose opinions she valued, to listen to various passages of her manuscript. This group included the Misses Renton, Mrs. Montgomery and others, whose judgment and criticism for revision she invited, which plainly shows her animus and good intention. That much about which she wrote and decried has disappeared is her own vindication. She was one of those brave souls who had the courage of her dissent. And singularly enough, her protest was always against the abuse of the woman. She was the champion of the oppressed of her sex. What Harriet Beecher Stowe was in the fight against slavery, so was Miss Phelps against the abuse of the rum traffic.

However, at this point let us introduce excerpts from her autobiography, "Passages From a Life," which illuminate her purpose and understanding. Miss Phelps believed, as all well informed believe, in heredity. She was conscious of her forbears and of what she owed to them. For genius or talent or what you will, is the product of careful selectivity of ancestral mating. So she writes:

> "The lives of some literary persons begin a good while after they are born. Others begin before. Of this latter kind is mine. For whatever measure of what is called success has fallen to my lot I ask no credit. I find myself in the chastening position of one whose literary attributes belong to one's ancestors."

Just what attracted her attention to Gloucester she does not clearly state. Perhaps the coming of the Brook Farm colony of intellectuals a generation before had stimulated her curiosity. It appears that she had no particular spot in view and so we find her at the first on the northern side of the Cape. But let her tell it—extracts from "A Life:"

> "We engaged rooms on the far side of Cape Ann known as the Pacific Ocean, near Ipswich Bay, and I bore it for a week and then started out on an exploring expedition. When we had become tired of our journey, we reined our pony to a halt and drew the breath of unexpected and unredeemed delight. We had discovered Eastern Point."
>
> "Out of the salty dust of the narrow, scorching streets and by fish flakes and fish teams we came upon the fairest face of all the New England coast, the eastern side of Gloucester harbor. The traveled American who has seen the world tells me that here is one of the most beautiful scenes upon the whole round of it, which I am not authorized by experience to dispute, but my private convictions are that it would not be easy to find a lovelier bit of coast anywhere in this country."
>
> "In a nook known as Wonson's, a sheltered, peaceful spot, scarcely devastated by the summer boarder, a cottage with its feet in the water and its eyes on the harbor received me and, where mast and mainsail cut brown and sharp against the sky beyond Ten Pound Island and the towers of Old Gloucester loom, I spent the preliminary summers which made me a slave to 'old Gloucester' for all my life. The result was the chalet known as the Old Maid's Paradise. This I built and there I lived from May to November———"

And later on:

> "Perhaps every line in this page may cost me a friend in Gloucester. Yet I mean only gracious things by the dear old place in which I lived and loved for twenty years. I devoutly believe and firmly proclaim that Gloucester harbor is the most adorable place in this part of the world and he who has never known her Junes and Septembers, her stone strewn downs, said to be the only specimens of the real things along our coast, the warm heart of her fisher folk—the color of her waves—misses something out of life which the next will remind him what he lacks———I am aware this is a strong statement and beyond it I cannot go."

Evidently she sensed what she had written might be misunderstood or misconstrued and this was her apologia—her plea in vindication.

In such superlatives wrote the woman, author of the best sellers of her time, whose productions were eagerly solicited by publishers, whose editions went into the hundreds of thousands, read by the wealthy and most discriminating of the land, those most apt to be influenced by such verbal propaganda. And from that time on down to today summer visitors flock to this promised land, the "old maid's paradise," whose cottage became one of the literary shrines of the day and it is significant that while other sections show a marked decline in summer patronage, East Gloucester expands and flourishes, Those who know the East Gloucester of forty years ago and Pigeon Cove and the Magnolia may make the comparisons. Then a comparatively small hamlet, the place has developed into one of magnificent residences, paying large tribute to municipal coffers and giving a livelihood to thousands who otherwise might be unemployed or seek work elsewhere.

I know of none other who may be compared with her in this direction. True, Longfellow's "Wreck of the Hesperus" on "the reef of Norman's Woe," is classic wherever English is understood, but to many Norman's Woe denotes just some place vaguely visualized anywhere on the New England coast. Perhaps Kipling comes in second in his race in his "Captains Courageous." He, too, was captivated by East Gloucester and spent several happy seasons hard by the Phelps cottage.

In the late nineties Miss Phelps removed from the seashore a half mile

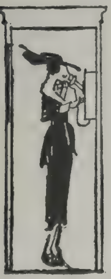
(Continued on page 19)

Del Monte's
ON THE NORTH SHORE
Magnolia,
Mass.

New Casino Opposite Norman's Woe. Commanding the Finest View on the North Atlantic—Ample Parking Space.

DANCING EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
With DEL MONTE'S FAMOUS ORCHESTRA

For Reservations of Tables—Phone Magnolia 500
A la carte J. P. Del Monte, Proprietor and Manager



TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE DISTINCTIVE

MAGNOLIA

MAGNOLIA

THE SHORE EXCLUSIVELY published in one of its earlier issues this season the announcement that negotiations, in progress between representatives of the present ownership of the Oceanside and the projected Kettle Cove Golf Links Association for a transfer of the rights of the latter to the former, had reached a stage where an offer of the stockholders had been accepted by the Oceanside parties.

This offer, we are now able to state, was very liberal, almost a gift. All the common stock is to be wiped off the slate. As an outlay of nearly $150,000 had already been made on the property, this was extremely liberal. The stockholders simply crossed their contributions off their slates in red ink. The sum to be received for the transfer of the terrain was equally liberal—practically nominal.

But there is this proviso: As a quid pro quo, purchasers must go ahead and complete the project as a going concern. Competent judges tell The Shore that this will entail an expenditure of $300,000, but it is stated experts called in by the interested parties say the job can be done for less. At any rate it is agreed that it will involve quite a bunch of money before it is completed. Now every one, whether he plays golf or what not, wants to see the work completed and so good luck to the new proponents of the enterprise, and may they raise the money.

A. Burton Fisher, assistant manager of the Hotel St. Regis, New York, is spending a vacation period with his father at their Essex avenue home.

North Shore Inn

Recent arrivals at the North Shore Inn include: Robert E. Lee Keeling, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hamilton, New York City; Leroy H. Dreher, Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Jacobson, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Burt, Canada; Mrs. Estelle Pfaff, Wyoming.

Last week-end the inn attracted to its doors: Helen Benson, Norwood; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Plumber, Rye; Mr. and Mrs. Iva Evans, Newark; Mrs. Martha Mahady and friend, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crehan, Summit; Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Munson, Chattanooga.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. MacLaughlin had as a week-end guest Mrs. Annette Hennessy and were hosts on Saturday night at dinner to the Misses Helena and Alice Tierney from Swampscott. On Sunday evening the MacLaughlins entertained at supper the Misses Keefe and Shearns from Boston and during the evening Grover Fitzgerald motored over from his summer home at Rockport.

Bridge and tea parties seem to predominate at the inn for entertainment and many are availing themselves of the opportunity offered by Mrs. Cora Fickling, instructor of auction and contract bridge.

The puppeteer review held at the inn during the past week was a great success, and the entertainment scheduled for the latter part of this week includes a bridge sponsored by Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge and a dance program to be presented by Misses Miriam Catheron and Virginia Miller.

Miss Alice Tinkham received as callers this week-end, Charles Warren from Washington; Mrs. Winslow Warren from Dedham with her sister, Miss Margaret Warren, and the Minton family from Boston.

At Hesperus Villa recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. McKerman, and daughter, Helen, Plainfield; Miss Fairfield, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Lasher, Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Harrison, Pittsburg.

Del Monte's

Ruby Newman and his orchestra have presided during the winter seasons at many social affairs given by the elite of Boston and vicinity. Rarely indeed, however, has he entertained at one time so large a group of celebrities as gathered at Del Monte's last Saturday evening. North Shore society apparently chooses for an evening of relaxation, freedom from care, and thorough enjoyment, this beautiful casino overlooking the most excellent view on the coast. Isolated, and yet conveniently accessible, its Moorish beauty enhances and blends with rather than detracts from the New England shore line. That indefinable atmosphere of quiet dignity vibrating with potential gayety, characteristic usually of only foreign and long established casinos, has been captured and retained here, and attracts each afternoon and evening large groups of those epicurean in their choice of pleasure.

On Saturday night those entertaining at Del Monte's included: Mrs. J. Harrington Walker, with a party of six; Senator David I. Walsh, with a party of six including Mrs. Harry Brown, E. H. Brainard, Mrs. Jacob L. Loose; Standish Van Voorhis, Jr., of Manchester, party of six; Louise Fessenden of Coolidge Point, party of sixteen; Mrs. W. G. Rueter of Magnolia, party of ten; Mrs. William Phillips of Beverly, party of four; E. B. Kitfield of Magnolia, party of six; Misses Fanny and Pauline Moore of Beverly Farms, party of twelve; Barbara Wendell of Hamilton, party of eight; Clifford Smith, party of four; Robert Hallowell, party of four; John Royce of Bass Rocks, party of ten; Emily Stewart of Bass Rocks, party of eight; Mrs. F. Wadsworth Busk of Magnolia, party of ten; Charlotte Sherburne of Marblehead, party of twelve; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kauffman of Bass Rocks, party of fourteen; Mr. and Mrs. George Schank of Magnolia, party of eight; Walter Houston of Magnolia, party of six; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Shuman of Marblehead, party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. George Vaughan, Jr., of Hamilton; Mrs. I. A. Ratchesky of Swampscott, party of fourteen; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vaughan Pugh of Eastern Point; Charles Safford of Bass Rocks; Henry Dodge of Bass Rocks; Kitty Talbot of Eastern Point, party of six; Mrs. Ovid Butler Jamesen of Bass Rocks, party of eight.

Magnolia Beach Club

Excitement reigns at the Magnolia Beach Club this week. The Tennis Tournament involving large numbers of guests from all over the North Shore and numerous swimming parties composed of these young people make a gala week at this attractive spot.

Notice to Water Takers

THE EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS imposed on the use of water last season on account of scarcity are removed. The usual rules are now in force.

The Water Board is pleased to announce that the Alewife Brook Water Basin, begun last summer, was completed in January and was filled to capacity within two months. While there is ample supply in storage in the four water basins, the Board wishes to caution against needless waste.

The Board takes this opportunity to express its thanks to the summer residents and citizens for their very general response to their request for economy in the use of water. This co-operation materially helped a very serious situation.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS OF CITY OF GLOUCESTER.

Among those recently entertained at the club are: Eleanor Shaw from Wareham, who is the guest of Catharine Richardson; Frederick Morse, New York, guest of Elinor Rowe; Warren MacPherson, Cambridge, guest of Paul Gring; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fair, Cambridge, guest of Paul Gring; Bobby MacPherson, Cambridge, guest of Paul Gring; John Fuller, Gleasondale, guest of J. J. Phelan; Martha Turner, Cambridge, guest of Barnet Gring; Rosamond Best, Malden, guest of Mrs. H. W. Farnum; Jackson Kent, West Newton, guest of William R. Esson; Elizabeth Warren, New York City, guest of Mrs. George E. Schanck; L. Alexander Lovett, Houston, guest of O. W. Richardson; Oliver Simpkins, Beverly Farms, guest of Mrs. Mathew Bartlett; W. P. Hall, Wellesley, guest of Mrs. Mathew Bartlett; E. G. Barry, Boston, guest of Arthur Jones; J. P. Stevens, Pittsburg, guest of Arthur Jones; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ely, Scarsdale, guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rueter; Martha Ely, Scarsdale, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rueter; Madame Olga Avierine, Boston, guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rueter; Marianne Morril, Eastern Point, guest of Anne Grinstead; Warren Winslow, Boston, guest of Mrs. M. Bartlett; Ethel Parker, Franklyn, guest of Mrs. W. B. Williams; Anne Ford, Brookline, guest of Mrs. J. J. Phelan; Cynthia Nichols, New York City, guest of Virginia Shields; Faith Potter, Boston, guest of Virginia Shields; Mary Otis Dudley, New York City, guest of Helen Bunce; Mrs. F. S. Henry, New York City, guest of Mrs. H. W. Farnum; H. Bigelow, Boston, guest of Mrs. H. W. Farnum; J. L. Bigelow, New York City, guest of Mrs. H. W. Farnum; Mrs. Alfred B. Scott, New York City, guest of Eugene G. Foster; William Schmidt, Chestnut Hill, guest of Priscilla Phelan; Harrison Robothom, Brookline, and Mary DuPrey, Bass Rocks, guests of Priscilla Phelan.

Recent arrivals at the Oceanside include: Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Beal, Brookline; Mrs. Henry Simonds, Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Morell, Greenwich; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Goldsmith and family, Forest Hills; Cora Witherspoon, Mrs. R. Bashford, Mrs. George MacCracken, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Drisler, Mrs. W. A. Purrington, Allan Burt, Anna Duncan, Mrs. R. Purvis, New York City; William H. Brown, Jr., T. Stockton Gaines, Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Newton Chaplin, Pittsburg; Elsie Morley, Chester; Mrs. George Wood, R. W. Wilkes, Wawa; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Volrath, Donald C. Volrath, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Leopold, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cardoza, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith, Cleveland; Elizabeth Earhart, Ann Arbor.

At the Oceanside this week are several guests worthy of note. William H. Brown, who is a guest here has recently been appointed to the diplomatic service of the French Exposition, and is sailing on the sixteenth of this month for Paris.

Mr. Allan Burt of New York City and famous for his vocal ability has recently arrived at the Oceanside for a several weeks' visit.

Miss Cora Witherspoon is staying at the Oceanside and will play the lead in the Notorious Lady to be presented by the Oceanside Theatre Company on August 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15. Miss Witherspoon, famous for her recent performances on Broadway in "Philip Goes Forth," "Waterloo Bridge," "Grounds for Divorce" in which she played with Ina Claire, "The Constant Wife," in which she played with Ethel Barrymore, and in Guild Players All Star review of "Way of the World," is welcomed by theatre enthusiasts who eagerly await her appearance in this first production of the Notorious Lady by John Entenza, in which she will play the lead.

Anna Duncan, favorite pupil of the six Duncan girls, adopted by Isadora Duncan, and who is famous for her dancing performance recently in the New York Stadium and in countless productions on Broadway, is a guest at the Oceanside for a short time. She will take part in a dance program which will be given together with Pagliacci on August 19, 20, and 21, by the Oceanside Theatre Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hedley are two more famous individuals who have arrived this week at the Oceanside. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hedley are from the American Opera Company, and Mr. Hedley will be remembered by patrons of the New York stage for his excellent performance as the lead in "Three Little Girls."

ROGER W. BABSON DENOUNCES "DESECRATION" OF STAGE FORT PARK

Roger W. Babson, a native of this city and a summer resident, keenly interested in everything pertaining to its interests and especially in the preservation of its historical places, recently visited the restored Stage Fort. As one of the guests on the ship entrance of the frigate Constitution into the harbor, he was deeply impressed as were others at the sight of the salute from the embrasures of this oldest fort in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, and after his visit sent the sponsor of the restoration a check for $50 which will be used toward payment of a memorial tablet designed by Mrs. Harriet Hyatt Mayor of Seven Acres, Annisquam, to be placed at the entrance of the fort.

The evidences of vandalism on the park by the abuse of a three weeks' carnival show aroused his utmost indignation. The following letter from him is self-explanatory:

July 28, 1931.

Dear Mrs. Pringle—Have visited the fort. It is splendid. But please don't let it be desecrated again by cheap "shows" such as were there the past two weeks. Enclosed please find remittance.

Sincerely, Roger W. Babson.

FOLLY COVE

Miss Sally Vissher of Mt. Lakes, N. J., was recently a house guest at the "Rooftree." Misses Jane and Catherine Allen from Allston were recent guests of Mrs. C. F. Carpenter.

EAST GLOUCESTER

The first half of the summer is gone. But ahead, a still fairer half extends, and guests are rapidly arriving to make use of all the opportunities for excitement, entertainment, and activity which are always offered by East Gloucester during the month of August. The number of new arrivals for August is greater than that which marked July.

At the Pilgrim recent arrivals include: Mrs. R. Langdon, Mrs. W. Vett, Beatrice M. Spracklin, Brighton; Anna MacIntosh, West Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stevens, Andover; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rasche, New York City; Felix B. Weinberg.

Recent arrivals at the Rockaway include: Dr. Harry M. Ostrander, H. F. Bradford, Alice Donnelly, Mrs. E. F. Donnelly, M. I. Garraghan, Elizabeth A. Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Morrill, Boston; Mildred Lowell, Cambridge; Mrs. Francis Graham, Wellesley Hills; Paul Menzel, Dorchester; Olivia Myers, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Myers, E. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Smith, G. P. Myers, Inez F. Davis, Amos P. Clarkson, E. F. Jones, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shelby, Andover; Mr. and Mrs. N. Kinsman, Waban; Mrs. E. M. Chapman, Holyoke; Vera E. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent R. Geraldine, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Wood, Concord; Mr. and Mrs. William Philo Wood, Providence; Marjorie Felt, Wapping; Julia H. Recker, Grace M. Smith, Elma K. Graul, Hartford; Helen R. Cooper, Bridgeton; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McManus, Troy; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Goff, Katonak, N. Y.; Edward Jones, Florence B. Putnam, Mrs. Albert Cromwell, Paul Desirens, Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stahl, Hera S. Gallegher, Jeane H. Champlin, Mrs. E. G. Eckerson, Mr. and Mrs. Creighton S. Andrews, New York City; Eugenie A. Young, Eleanor White, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith, Brooklyn; Mrs. R. R. Benedict, James Helsingren, Earle Horten, Mrs. A. B. Jackson, E. M. and A. D. Wells, Miss Eidel, Mrs. E. R. Eidel, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Young, Philadelphia; Gertrude A. Pickens, Helen B. Pickens, West Philadelphia; Mrs. J. D. Target, Beatrice M. Target, John J. Target, Bywood; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lombard, Truro; Gertrude Morse, Oak Park; Mrs. A. L. Strout, Germantown; Mrs. M. A. Custis, R. H. Heiser, Washington; Genevieve Herbert, St. Louis; Edward H. Phillips, Ida Brushausen, Thelma Guckenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Guckenberger, Cincinnati; Eva M. Oakes, Oberlin; Mrs. Grace Bathrick, Battle Creek; Francis S. Bawner, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Bawner, Mrs. G. G. Davis, Hattie Gates, Woonsocket; C. N. Anderson, Detroit.

Recent arrivals at the Hawthorne Inn include: Elizabeth Putnam, Mary Barnes, Cambridge; Mrs. G. E. Cook, Elsie Winsor, Mrs. John B. Bird, Brookline; Kathleen Ahearn, Westville; Mr. and Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, Newton Center; John Stewart, Dorothy Stewart, Mrs. John H. Coes, Worcester; Mrs. Leroy L. Camerson, Hartford; Dr. Millard Knowlton, Hartford; Heaton R. Robertson, New Haven; Helen C. Cooper, Norwich; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mills, Mrs. Jane Mills, Scarsdale; E. K. Ryerson, Ethel Zabriskie, F. E. Weir, Anna M. Young, Mrs. W. R. Waugh,

(Continued on page 15)

EASTERN POINT

ALL THE YOUNG FOLKS have been absent this week at the races at Marblehead, and the place has been quiet in consequence, not that it has ever been noisy. Next week they will return and sail in home waters until the end of the season.

Vice-President Charles H. Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Gann arrived today from Washington for a stay until Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, "Sea Rocks," at Eastern Point. Monday Mrs. Loose will give a reception at which a number of the prominent North Shore colonists will be present. Tuesday there will be a dinner given in honor of the guests and Mrs. Loose has arranged for other entertainment during their stay. These will mainly include old friends of Mrs. Loose from that part of the Middle West.

Miss Priscilla and Master Joe Woods of Hamilton are the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. A. Wilder Pollard, at her Eastern Point summer home.

Alexander C. Tener is cruising along the Maine and New Brunswick coast in the yacht Tyrone with a party of college friends, and was last heard from at St. Andrews, N. B.

Mr. Thorpe Nesbit arrived today and joined Mrs. Nesbit who is a guest of Mrs. George Evans Tener.

Miss Cornelia Osborne of St. James, Long Island, N. Y., is also a guest of Mrs. Tener.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillworth Beggs of Haverford, Penn., are week-end guests at Mrs. Tener's.

Miss Emma Raymond of Cleveland is the guest of Mrs. S. A. Raymond at The Ramparts.

Miss Laura Brenant of Framingham is a guest at The Ramparts.

The Fakir's Ball, the annual midsummer grotesquerie of the Gloucester Society of Artists, this year seeks as an original motif Jules Verne's "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." Old Neptune, mermaids and McGinty in his best suit of clothes will be among those present.

BASS ROCKS

WITH ITS CUSTOMARY RUSH of activity, the Bass Rocks Golf Club begins its second crowded summer month. August, admittedly the busiest month for the Cape, is particularly so at this popular place of recreation at Bass Rocks.

Mrs. C. Edmund Delbos, who is at her summer home on Paige street, held a delightful bridge and tea at the club on Thursday.

On Friday, a charming luncheon was given at the club by Mrs. Albert Stahl, wife of Commodore Stahl of Washington.

On Monday the usual Monday bridge held by the club attracted an unusually large number of players.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Van Ness of Baltimore, who is spending the season at the Moorland, held an unusually large bridge and tea at the club.

Mrs. H. D. Mason, who is from Syracuse and a summer guest at the Moorland, entertained a group of friends at a luncheon bridge at the club on Wednesday.

On Friday evening Mrs. Emil Schill held a delightful bridge at the club.

A charming luncheon was held on Tuesday by the club for the lady golfers.

Mrs. W. H. P. Fife of Park avenue, New York, and sons Pinkney and Churchill have taken the Fitzwilliam Sargent house at Bass Rocks for the rest of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Hyde of Overbrook, Philadelphia, are occupying their Bass Rocks cottage for the twenty-fifth season. Their grandson, Edward Hyde Cox, who is travelling in Europe with his tutor companion, will return in September to be their guest.

Recent arrivals at the Moorland include: Molly F. Leary, Caroline E. Leary, Mrs. John Corcoran, Boston; Mrs. James C. McConnell, Brookline; Mrs. Ralph P. Alden, Beatrice Alden, Springfield; Mrs. F. J. Kingsbury, Jr., New Haven; A. Louise Brainerd, Hartford; Effie Leoth Hopkins, Hartford; Miss Treplar, Brooklyn; Elizabeth J. McCormick, Miss M.

(Continued on page 11)

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

AUGUST IS HERE. With its arrival comes as always the largest influx of summer visitors to the Cape. Particularly is this felt in Rockport, as a glance at the hotel registers will obviously prove.

At Turk's Head Inn recent arrivals include: M. Clark, M. Cleverly, Alice T. Parsons, Gertrude E. Maloney, Boston; James Schener, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. H. Von Erffa, Cambridge; Margaret V. Spear, Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wilson, Beverly; H. M. Pope, Old Greenwich; B. MacDonald, Brooklyn; Mrs. Charles J. Trilby, Albert C. Davis, Mrs. A. M. Moody, New Rochelle; George H. Bourquard, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Harris, B. Pilkington, Capt. A. R. Pilkington, Achmed Abdullah, New York City; Miss G. Haber, East Orange; Ruth M. Thomas, Kew Gardens; Mr. and Mrs. H. Moffett, Washington; Miss Grace E. Beattie, Mary E. Joss, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. George H. Wright, Chicago; Frederick D. Blanchard, St. Louis; Patricia Conroy, Montreal.

Mrs. Clifford Jones, whose stage name is Isabel Carson, is a guest at the Inn, and on Friday night rendered a group of selections in the lobby, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Childs.

Recent arrivals at Straitsmouth Inn include: M. L. Litchfield, H. L. Rodden, Mr. and Mrs. H. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Church, Boston; Rebekah Wood, Newton Highlands; Mrs. P. A. McKettuck, E. McKettuck, Fitchburg; E. L. Martin, Lowell; P. B. Evans, Wakefield; Arthur H. Emery, Dr. Edward S. Emery, Kate L. Adams, Brookline; Helen M. Farwell, Natick; Constance Lane, Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Olsen, Milton; Margaret Eveleth, Concord; Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Riggs, Cambridge; Mrs. Joseph Pynchon, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bolz, Everett; Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Gordon, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Agry, Rye; Mr. and Mrs. Ruell F. Shancker, Larchmont; Miss M. Shepherd, Nashua; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Platts, Keene; Ann Agry, Master Warren Agry, Rye, N. Y.; Mrs. C. W. Woodall, Frederick Woodall, Mrs. Frederick C. Rand, Schenectady; Mr. and Mrs. George V. Bates, Mamaroneck; Mrs. G. B. Bissell, Marion B. King, New York City; Mrs. J. C. Baxter; C. Davies, D. Davies, Washington; Louise Biart, Mrs. George C. Miller, Norwalk; Mrs. C. L. Woodyatt, M. E. Hope, Evanston; Sallie W. Barbour, Margaret M. Day, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davidson, Indianapolis; Dorothy V. Buck, Lincoln, Nebraska.

At the Manning House: Miss A. B. Chapman, Boston; C. F. Bustin, Watertown;

The House of MANAHAN

MAGNOLIA
BRANCH SHOP

SUMMER FASHIONS

FEATURE

Silk Play Frocks
Beach Togs
and Swim Suits
Chiffon Afternoon
and Evening Dresses
Coats
Hats

280 BOYLSTON STREET
BOSTON

Elizabeth M. Shine, Cambridge; Eva L. Graves, Easthampton; H. Parker Savage, Pittsfield; Mathew L. Weisloch, Lenox; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Fiske, Cleveland.

At the Granite Shore Inn: Mrs. Baer and daughter, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Hennigan, Anne M. Hennigan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Haynes, Ira Haynes, Mary Haynes, Mrs. Niddrie, Richard Niddrie, Robert Niddrie, Timothy Haynes, Mrs. Anna C. Haynes, Francis Haynes, Claire Haynes, Betty Haynes, Paul Haynes, Worcester; Marie Epps, Contoocook; Marion M. Thornton, Danbury; Mr. and Mrs. William H. West, Dunmoor; Alfred Newark, Grassmere; Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Parker, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Junkurtt, Jr., Germantown; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kutte, Champaign.

Walter Belknap, who is a guest at the Edward, was host last Saturday evening to a dinner party which he gave to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Turner of Louisville, Mrs. Anna L. Shyston, Pittsfield; C. C. Harper, Syracuse, and Mrs. Catherine Melville, New York City. Mrs. Catherine Melville is the niece of Herman Melville, author of "Moby Dick."

Miss Louise Gray gave on Saturday night a dinner for a group of friends, among whom were: Mrs. Redding, Miss Doris Redding, and Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Redding of Brookline.

Recent arrivals at the Edward include: Mrs. A. C. Newcomb, Brookline; Dr. William T. Hopkins, Lynn; Mr. and Mrs. Alton T. Wheeler, Wellesley Hills; Mrs. Edward I. Sawyer, Framingham; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Campbell, Patchogue; Mrs. Albert Hein, Norwalk; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hodge, Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cape, F. Mathews, Richard Coyne and guest, Alice and Agnes O'Connor, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn H. Parnell, Philadelphia; Ethelyn B. Chase, E. Davis, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Gault and son Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Roos, Chicago.

At Rockmere Manor the class of 1904 of Rockport High School recently held a reunion banquet at which there were about twenty present.

Recent arrivals at the Manor include: William F. Gray, Mrs. Gray, Philadelphia; F. J. Humphrey, Mrs. H. E. Potter, Pollyanna Potter, Lucille Potter, Fort Barrington.

At Glen Acre: Myrtie D. Davenport, Mrs. John L. Davenport, Medford; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hall, Plymouth, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Stone and children, Harrisburg; Jane and Josephine Norval, St. Paul.

BASS ROCKS

(Continued from page 10)

S. Geopper, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hutchinson, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Levis, Bronxville; Mr. and Mrs. Halsey Tichenor, Mrs. Cleveland Watrous, Miss Cicily Watrous, Montclair; Elizabeth M. Shriver, Elizabeth B. Shriver, Baltimore; Dr. and Mrs. B. M. Macdonald, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Welch, Jr., Milwaukee, and mother, Mrs. H. B. Welch from New York City; Mrs. Herbert Shaffer and son, Herbert, Jr., Cincinnati; Mrs. John Winslow, Cincinnati.

Bass Rocks Golf Club

Under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Wilson, a committee has been organized of the women members of the Bass Rocks Golf Club having for its purpose the enlargement and beautification of this place of recreation. The first event planned for the benefit fund, which is attracting much comment and enthusiasm, is the "Cape Ann Follies." About forty-five young people from Bass Rocks, Magnolia, Annisquam, and Rockport will take part in the entertainment which will be given at the Moorland Hotel Casino on Wednesday and Thursday, August 12 and 13. The program will consist of one-act skits, attractive choruses, and dance and specialty performances, and has been arranged by Marsh Irwin of New York City. Miss Emily Stewart will organize and rehearse the young performers.

Members of the committee include: Mrs. Charles Wilson, chairman; Mrs. John L. Newall, secretary; Mrs. F. H. Singleton, treasurer; Miss Emily McGuckin, special treasurer for "Follies;" Mrs. F. A. Brewer, Mrs. C. Braxton Dallam, Miss Kate Ellis, Mrs. William Elwell, Miss Amelia Jarvie, Miss Irene McKinney, Mrs. E. Tucker Sayward, Mrs. Arthur Safford, Mrs. James L. Stuart, Mrs. E. B. Sargent, Mrs. Max Talbot, Mrs. H. H. Walker, Mrs. Edward C. Wilson, Mrs. Samuel H. Pillsbury.

PIGEON COVE

Miss Leah Babson from Chelsea is at her summer home on Haven avenue for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wells Brigham and daughter Barbara of Cambridge are at the "Windyside" on Long Branch avenue for the summer. With them is Mrs. Margaret Sears King and son Jerry.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Chamberlain are enjoying another season at Pigeon Hill. The Chamberlains live during the winter in Lexington where Mr. Chamberlain is a writer and journalist and Mrs. Chamberlain a painter.

Mrs. W. F. Clerk is at the "Monaltrie" again this season.

Mrs. Frank E. and Miss Rosmary Cutter from Concord are at their summer home on Linwood avenue for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindley I. Dean are at the "New Oakdean' for another season.

Professor William Coan from Lexington, Virginia, is spending another season at the Cove. With him is his mother, Mrs. L. B. Detamore, also from Virginia.

Lloyd C. Douglas is at the Cove this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Emery with their children, Miss Elizabeth, Stephen A., and William T. Emery, from Brookline are spending another summer at their cottage on Gale avenue.

At the Taft cottage are Mr. and Mrs. William Gaylord from Worcester, for the summer.

At the "Whispering Pines" cottage are Mrs. Fred P. Heydrick, Mr. Christopher, and the Misses Josephine and Louise Heydrick from Franklin, Penn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ingle from Baltimore are at their cottage on Andrews Point for the summer months. With them are their three daughters, the Misses Margaret Page, Julia Pechin, and Eliza Ingle.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Hovey of Lowell are again at their summer home on Long Branch avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lamb and daughter, Harriet Farley Lamb, are enjoying another season at the Cove. The Lambs are from Cambridge and have with them Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Enright and Miss Frances Enright.

Mrs. Donald McFayden of St. Louis is enjoying another season at the Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. McNulty of Charlestown are at their summer home on Phillips avenue for the season.

Miss Annie G. Merrill of Jamaica Plain is spending an enjoyable season at her Phillips avenue summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Mosley of

(Continued on page 14)

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

"Becalmed!" announced Chubby dramatically, as he and Jimmie, dripping with perspiration and covered with oil from head to foot, appeared on deck again after a thorough investigation of the engine.

The little group on the deck of the beautiful yacht burst into a series of questions.

"I guess he's right," said Jimmie, looking very forlorn. "I can't do a thing with the engine. I don't know what's the matter."

"Well, I'm glad it's early. Much as I like your yacht, Jimmie, I'd hate to spend the night out here," said Anne.

"We probably will, however," added Peggy, encouragingly. "I hope it doesn't rain."

"Cheerful," remarked Anne. "Anyhow, I'd rather be stranded on this than a lot of yachts I've seen if I had to be stranded."

"Right, again, Pollyanna," offered Chubby. "It's a rare craft all right, Jimmie, even if it is stationary. Who painted it?"

"At Phil Hastings' suggestion, we got some of that Devoe paint down at L. E. Andrews'," said Gay. "It's wonderful. I think the boat looks brand new, don't you?"

"—as idle as a painted ship upon a painted ocean," chanted Chubby absently, and dodged the pillow flung by Peggy.

The little group, adapting themselves to the situation, made themselves comfortable and prepared for an indefinite stay.

"Jimmie, those flannels are ruined," sighed Gay, "and you just bought them at Earle O. Phillips', yesterday, didn't you?"

"You certainly wouldn't recognize them for the shining example they were yesterday of that famous Smart Shop," admitted Jimmie, ruefully surveying the soiled expanse of trouser legs.

"Don't worry about that," said Chubby. "There are things of much more importance to be discussed. All you have to do is send them to the Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleansing tomorrow and forget them. They'll come back looking just like new."

"Happy thought!" said Gay. "Of course! They're the ones that did that wonderful job on Marcia's upholstered furniture."

"Speaking of Marcia, I suppose they're having a wonderful trip. Has any one heard from them?"

"I had a letter," said Anne, "on the cutest stationery I ever saw!"

"I know just what it was like!" interrupted Peggy. "I suppose you thought she bought it at some remote place, but I happened to be with her."

"Little dog in the corner?" asked Anne.

"Yes, they call it Mutsy stationery, and up in the left hand corner it has a little dog designed by Morgan Dennis, that has fallen plump on his back with little stars and things around him, and it says right beneath, 'arrived safely.'"

"That's it," said Anne. "Wherever did she get it?"

"W. G. Brown's, of course," remarked Gay. "I saw some in there myself. They have the largest array of stationery you could imagine. All kinds, shapes and sizes. The boxes are so attractive—all kinds from the most elaborate to the simplest suitable for travelling and lovely linings in the envelopes. Speaking of Marcia and Phil, though, we saw them off you know. They looked lovely. Both Marcia and Bud had the most beautiful coats they bought at Manahan's for the trip."

"Oh," said Peggy, "from that beautiful display we looked at in Manahan's that day, Anne. What ones did they get, Gay? Remember that gorgeous parchment colored one with the cross fox collar, and the lovely more matronly model—that soft, soft, gray with the grey fox reverse collar?"

"No," said Gay, "Marcia's was a lovely rich tan tweed with beige fox, and Bud's was green tweed, the smartest shade and cut, and lovely for Bud, with a beautiful red fox collar. They were so smart. And warm, too, just right for the mountains."

"Why didn't Jack come today?" Jimmie wanted to know. "I was so busy painting that furniture from the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Co. for the porch that I didn't realize who was going until we got started."

KEEP COOL with CRYSTAL

CRYSTAL clear and cut crystal, crystal to bear the cooling thirst quenchers of summer, crystal in a new array of inviting shapes and sizes and prices—is gathered at Ovington's summer shop. Representatives are pictured. The engraved crystal pitcher holds 2 quarts and costs $6. (The silver plated swizzler is $3.) Highball glasses, $11 a dozen. Cocktail glasses, $10.

OVINGTON'S

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA, MASS.
FIFTH AVE. at 39th STREET, NEW YORK

"He had to go to Gloucester. Had some business at the Gloucester National Bank, and the Cape Pond Ice Company, I think," furnished Peggy. "How is the furniture coming, Jimmie, don't you think it's cute?"

"Oh, smart! And thanks for the tip. I'm doing it with speed enamel that I bought at L. E. Andrews'. It looks perfect and will be dry when we get home."

"When we do," yawned Anne. "It's beginning to be warm. Is there anything in the way of refreshment on this boat?"

"Oh yes," cried Peggy, jumping to her feet. "I almost forgot. We brought food in case we wanted to spend a long time sailing around," she glared in the direction of the engine. "There's chicken and cold drinks, and—"

"We're off," shouted Chubby, making for the companionway.

"Nothing subtle about that lad," remarked Anne with a laugh, as she started after him.

In a little while they were all fast forgetting the discomfort of their situation in their ravenous enjoyment of the delicious lunch. Even hot toast and coffee was made possible by the recent installation by the Gloucester Electric Company of an electricity generator, providing for all the convenient electrical appliances.

"The coffee is from the First National, and so is the enormous case of bottled drinks. Right?" asked Peggy.

"Right," agreed Gay. "I never trade anywhere else." Then, "Jimmie," she added, "of course you're sure there's nothing more you can do for that engine?"

Jimmie was positive, but feeling refreshed after the excellent lunch, he and Chubby departed for the engine again, with hopes of some unforeseen miracle happening.

Noon-day arrived with no sign of a boat, no results from the stubborn engine, and suddenly the warm summer sky was dark with threatening clouds.

The fresh breeze took on an ominous sound and the rain began in a whirl around them. Jimmie, who always found a laugh in everything, looked unnaturally white and serious as he shouted for them all to go below. In dripping white flannels and soaked shirts, he and Chubby watched on deck for any possible appearance of a boat, and finally, tired, cold, and frightened, they heard the whir of a speed boat. Shouts and signals eventually brought it to the side of the dizzily rocking helpless craft.

"It's Jack!" cried Chubby, and sure enough, for the second time that summer, Jack was the rescuer.

With the coming of the storm and the failure of the Clan to return, Jack had started out to find them, fearing for their safety.

At home again, they were all gathered in Peggy's living room.

"It seems just like a dream, now," sighed Gay, stretching luxuriously. "In this comfortable room, with the storm outside and all. But what a dream!" she shuddered.

Jimmie said nothing. He was still white.

Jack laughed. "Well, let's change the subject," he said. "Peggy, when did this tremendous change come over your living room? I haven't been around, and it's completely transformed."

"Oh, do you like it?" Peggy was happy and proud of her new acquisitions. "I had it redecorated, and then I had to get a lot of new furniture to go with the marvelous job. The North Shore Furniture Company is responsible for those two reed and fibre Heywood-Wakefield chairs. They're having the most stupendous August sale. Then I'm going to have my porch enlarged. I ordered the materials from L. B. Nauss yesterday, and I notice that Swinson Brothers have been here putting in some evergreens in my garden. I didn't even have to stay around while they worked. Tomorrow morning they're coming again to put in some perennials for the fall. I'm so proud of the place now. You were sweet, Jack, to bring up the subject."

(Continued on page 20)

"THE TROUSSEAU HOUSE OF AMERICA"

Grande Maison de Blanc

538-540 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

MAGNOLIA, MASS.

Table Damask
Fancy Table Linen
Lace Dinner Cloths
Bed Linen and Spreads
Blankets and Comforters
Bath Towels and Rugs
Towelings
Handkerchiefs and Neckwear
Lingerie and Negligees
Infants' and Children's Wear
Blouse and Top Dresses
Sport Coats and Sweaters
Purses and Bags
Motor Rugs

It is understood by our patrons that our Magnolia Prices are identical with those in our New York Shop

Patrons will receive the personal attention of

Mr. RAYMOND BROWN
Resident Manager
Telephone 459 Magnolia

PIGEON COVE

(Continued from page 11)

Westfield are again at their summer home, "The Lantern Shop," for the summer months. With them is James Mather Mosley of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams Neill are again at the "Keewaydin" for the summer. The Neills are from Chestnut Hill. With them is Miss Mary Brewer Nash.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Nelson from Lowell are again at the Cove this season. With them at "Linwood Cottage" is Miss Mildred Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley L. Page, at the Page cottage, are enjoying another summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren M. Persons from New York City are at their Phillips avenue summer home for the season. With them is Miss Margaret J. Persons.

Mrs. Arthur Howe Pingree has returned to the Cove again this summer and is staying at her cottage on Phillips avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Roewer are at the "Sunset" bungalow again this summer. The Roewers are from Cambridge. With them are their children, George Erich, Louis Prang, and Horace Whitman.

Miss Katherine Churchill Smith from Jamaica Plain has returned to her summer home on Phillips avenue for another season.

Rev. and Mrs. H. Robert Smith from Malden are at the Cove this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Southworth and son Edwin, Jr., from Boston, are spending an enjoyable season at the Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Stenman of Cambridge are at the Paper House again this season.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Stube of East Orange, N. J., and their son, Edwin Brownell, are at their Phillips avenue summer home, "Meadowcliffe," for another summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver E. Williams from Boston are enjoying the summer months at the "Witch House" at the Cove again this summer. With them is Thomas Williams.

Judson B. Witherby of New York City is enjoying another season at his summer residence, "Cedar Lodge," on Linwood and Vine avenues.

WOLF HILL—FERRY HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Addison G. Brooks and family of Gloucester are spending the summer at Wolf Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Bergengren of Wenham are summering at Ferry Hill.

Joseph K. Skillings and family of Melrose are numbered among the cottagers at Wolf Hill this season.

Frank B. Sloane and family are occupying a cottage at Wolf Hill again this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester R. Crowe and daughter of Gloucester are summering at their cottage, the Ingleside, in this section.

Frank A. Marston and family of Quincy have taken a cottage at Wolf Hill for the summer months.

Mrs. Fred L. Davis, with Miss Agnes Davis of Gloucester, have returned to their summer home at Windy Top in the Wolf Hill district for another season.

Arthur W. Moore and family are summer residents of Wolf Hill again this season.

Arthur H. Handy and family of Brookline are spending the summer months in the Wolf Hill section.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hammond have returned to their Wolf Hill home for the current season.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter M. Friend of Brooklyn are spending the summer in their cottage at Wolf Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shute and daughter Barbara have returned to their cottage at Wolf Hill for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. MacCauley from Winchester are at the Calpin cottage this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Heberle and son, Charles, Jr., are at Cove Acre, Wolf Hill, for the season.

Archer D. Friend and family of Brookline are spending the summer at Wolf Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Phillips of Gloucester are again at Wolf Hill for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Phillips and children Jean and Nathan are at their cottage at Wolf Hill again this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Shurtleff of Boston are again summering at Wolf Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Proctor of Gloucester are at Wolf Hill again this season.

Walter L. Rowe and daughter Amanda are again at Wolf Hill for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Lillian R. Whittemore of Cambridge have returned again this season to Wolf Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Smith of Gloucester are again among the season's cottagers in this section.

Alfred H. Burlen and family of Malden are numbered among the season's residents at Wolf Hill.

Mrs. Martha A. Crowe of Gloucester is spending another season at her cottage in Ferry Hill.

Mrs. Frank M. Dunn is spending another season at Wolf Hill.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Cunningham of Gloucester are at the Fisher cottage at Wolf Hill.

Mrs. George Merritt with her mother, Mrs. William Parsons, and niece, Pauline Lloyd from Bogota, N. J., is at the Richard Fisher cottage this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Roswell H. Houghton and daughter, Jeanette, from Newton are back at their cottage at Ferry Hill for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Kerr and daughters, Margaret Ann and Clarissa, of Gloucester, are at the Steele cottage at Wolf Hill for the season.

OCEANSIDE THEATRE MAGNOLIA MASSACHUSETTS

MR. W. ROSING

By arrangement with ROSS THOMPSON

PRESENTS

August 10-11-12-13-14-15
CORA WITHERSPOON in
"THE NOTORIOUS LADY"
A new play by John Entenza

August 19-20-21
ANNA DUNCAN in a
DANCE PROGRAM
and CHARLES HEDLEY in
"PAGLIACCI"
Opera by Leoncavallo (sung in English)

August 24-25-26-27-28-29
FIRST PRODUCTION IN AMERICA
of
"SIMOON"
Famous French play by
H. R. Lenormand
With a Distinguished Cast

Tickets may be secured from MISS EDITH ATWATER, Oceanside Hotel

Single Seats, $2.50 -:- Three Performances, $7.00

MRS. EVANS R. DICK, JR., Managing Director

Mrs. L. W. Miller of Cleveland is again spending the season at Wolf Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Smith and son, James S., Jr., of Gloucester are at their cottage at Wolf Hill for another summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Sutcliffe from Somerville are among the cottagers at Wolf Hill again this season. With them is Lawrence Sutcliffe.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour A. Walen of East Gloucester are at their cottage at Wolf Hill again this summer.

EAST GLOUCESTER

(Continued from page 9)

New York City; Mr. and Mrs. C. Villa, Barbizon Plaza, New York; Mrs. George W. Hewitt, Annie H. Pugh, Burlington, N. J.; Mrs. George W. Honsell, Haverford; Mrs. H. Harriss, Newburg; Mary E. B. Williams, Pittsburg; Mrs. John B. Hamill, Mary E. Hamill, John Hamill, Jr., Mrs. W. B. Saunders, Mrs. Henry O. Hastings, Philadelphia; Mrs. R. G. Curry, Beulah Armstrong, Erma L. Stokes, Ethel M. Miller, Baltimore; Mrs. J. N. Cobb, Mrs. Charles E. Claggett, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. Haile, St. Louis; Mrs. and Miss Smithers, Montreal; Mrs. R. E. Kimball, E. J. Graham, Cleveland; Sally B. Miles, Mrs. L. D. Kennard, New Orleans.

Sunday night "Oberammergau" will be given in colored moving pictures at the casino.

Under the auspices of Alice Fisher Harcourt of New York City, there will be a subscription concert in the casino on Saturday night.

Mr. William Fosdick is holding open house in his Reed Studios to which all desiring to view his paintings are cordially invited.

At the Rudder Tea-room, Kathleen Kline was recently hostess to a group of eighteen of her friends at a supper party. The decorations were very charmingly carried out in a unique desert idea. The favors were tiny imitation cactus plants. Mrs. Kline is a guest at the inn.

At the Delphine recent arrivals include: Mrs. George Clements Newell, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Malcom W. Jackson, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. Bodine Wallace, Louise B. Wallace, Emily D. Wallace, Chestnut Hill; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Webster, Springfield; Mrs. Charles D. Kerr, Augusta; Mrs. R. Rosenberg, Mrs. F. W. Iredell, Frank W. Iredell, New York City; C. Penelope Collins, Brooklyn; Dr. James S. Williamson, Hartsdale; Mrs. Charles S. Dorrells, and son, Weston, Southbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cory, Morristown; Mrs. Emily Longenheim, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Young, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tutweiler, Philadelphia; Professor and Mrs. Fournon, Indianapolis.

Merrill Hall guests are: Mrs. E. Jenkins, F. S. Jenkins, B. E. Jenkins, Lewis L. Jenkins, Lloyd S. Jenkins, Worcester; Mrs. William L. Campbell, Munson Campbell, Stamford; Harriette Root, Greenwich; Juanita Donahoe, Ruth B. Corwin, Maybell B. Starr, Joan C.

(Continued on page 18)

Hornblower & Weeks

ESTABLISHED 1888

Members New York, Boston and Chicago Stock Exchanges

Investment Securities

60 CONGRESS STREET,
BOSTON

42 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK

Chicago Detroit Cleveland Providence Portland Pittsburgh

You are cordially invited
to an
Exhibition and Sale

Needlework, Lingerie, Embroideries from Foreign Lands (Florentine a Specialty), Commerced and finished pieces also Embroidery Materials, Canvas, etc. Some fine old Silver. Among the Brass Pieces are several Old Church Candlesticks with Bells, Medals, Curios, Antiques, Jewel Cases, One Confederation Medal. Priceless Old Real Laces. Shawls, Scotch, Turkish, Paisley, Tissue and White Crepe. Counterpanes. Hand Woven Rugs. One Fine Old Prayer Rug for Wall Hanging. South Sea Island and Mexican Drawn Work. Tea and Bridge Sets and Doilies. Sofa Pillows, Jewelry and Bric-a-Brac, Bed Quilts and Quilt Patterns, Linen Sheets, Pillow Cases, Table Cloths, Towels, etc.

Free Embroidery Lessons

at the
Public Library Art Gallery
Magnolia, Mass.

NEW YORK, 8 East 48th St.
WASHINGTON, 1211 Conn. Ave.
NEWPORT, R. I.

BOSTON, 587 Boylston St.
LOS ANGELES, CAL.
PASADENA, CAL.

A. Schmidt & Son, Inc. IMPORTERS OF

Silver and Sheffield Plate & Fine Porcelains

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA Telephone Magnolia 408
Fine Wedding Presents a Specialty Christmas Gifts held for December Delivery

TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE PRACTICAL
RIGHT VALUES AND COMPLETE VARIETY ARE TO BE FOUND IN THE SHOPS OF
GLOUCESTER
ENJOY THE PASSING HOUR AND
THE CAPE ANN BREEZE

J. RAYMOND WINS JUNIORS

EASTERN POINT, July 29—Jock Raymond with his Old Ironsides, won the second race in the Eastern Point Yacht Club's junior championship series for captains and crews under 17, in the Cape Cod Knockabout class. The youthful skipper brought Old Ironsides to the fore right from the start, and after sailing the harbor course in light southwest wind, had a lead of almost six minutes on Torrence Baker's Swan.

The summary:

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUT CLASS

Junior Championship Series

Old Ironsides, Jock Raymond	1 29 09
Swan, Torrence Baker	1 35 04
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	1 36 26
Maryland, Frederick Boyce	1 37 00
Fontana, Millicent Raymond	1 38 11
Arethusa, Leonard Ellis	1 43 47
Bemo, Charles Bratenahl	1 44 17
Sylph, Cunningham Bros.	1 44 33
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	1 45 33

EASTERN POINT CRAFT RACE TO MARBLEHEAD

GLOUCESTER, August 1 — The Eastern Point Sonders, Triangles and Cape Cod Knockabouts had a race from Gloucester to Marblehead this morning on their way to the week's racing there. A moderate northerly breeze gave them a leading wind up the shore in smooth water. Tid IV in the Sonders, Injun in the Triangles, and Touareg in the Cape Codders, had a walk-away in their respective classes. The summary:

SONDERS

Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 40 32
Skeezix, Mrs. Frances Carter	1 59 03
Lady II, Wm. V. MacDonald	2 00 00
Tid III, Mrs. Carleton Swift	2 00 50
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	2 18 10
Demon, Isaac Patch, Jr.	time not taken
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	did not finish

TRIANGLES

Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 54 13
Bluebill, Horace Bent	2 05 07
Dart, Paul Comins	2 06 00
Cursor, Wm G. Brown, 3d	2 06 10
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot	2 06 22
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	2 06 50
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	2 07 05
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	2 07 50
Idol, Francis Gleason	2 10 00
Scalene, Henry E. Worcester, Jr.	2 15 10

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS

Touareg, Lawrence Brown	2 07 40
Maryland, Kate Boyce	2 09 10
Fontana, Millicent Raymond	2 09 35
Old Ironsides, Jock Raymond	2 11 55
Bemot, Alexander Bratenahl	2 11 57
Arethusa, Leonard Ellis	2 13 27
Swan, Torrence Baker	2 16 00
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	2 19 30
Sylph, Sylvester Cunningham	2 20 20

MARBLEHEAD, August 1—Eastern Point, Annisquam and Sandy Bay were represented in the week's racing at Marblehead which began today. A fair northwesterly breeze prevailed. The summary:

TRIANGLE CLASS, 6¾ MILES

(Annisquam, Eastern Point and Marblehead.)

Periwinkle, F. P. Copeland, M.	1 46 50
Bluebill, Horace Bent, A.	1 50 00
Tamala, Edith P. Graves, M.	1 52 11
Ann, S. Ralph Cross, M.	1 52 16
Teaser IV, R. R. Smith, A.	1 52 17
Vagus, W. T. Haley, M.	1 53 29
Pronto, E. A. Onthank, M.	1 53 40
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot, E. P.	1 53 42
Dart, A. K. Comins, E. P.	2 53 50
Injun, W. T. Gamage, E. P.	2 54 40
Alito, H. W. Brown, M.	2 54 43
Black Bess, J. H. Sleeper, E. P.	2 56 10
Scalene, H. E. Worcester, A.	2 56 45
Marianette, R. S. Bushnell, M.	2 57 37
Quail, E. W. Merchant, E. P.	2 58 40
Sprite, Margaret Farrell, E. P.	2 59 10
Cursor, W. G. Brown, E. P.	2 59 31
Goblin, H. P. Caveth, A.	2 59 51

FISH CATBOATS, 4¼ MILES

(Annisquam and Nahant)

Serpent, Susan J. Binney, N.	1 12 34
Flying Fish, Albert Hale, A.	1 12 38
Goldfish, J. Bloombergh, A.	1 12 54
Mac, Hobbs Sisters, N.	1 13 33
Frog, Robert Binney, N.	1 13 35
Swordfish, Helen Macomber, A.	1 16 01
Dab, D. Dennison, A.	1 16 29
Malola, M. Braley, A.	1 17 50
No. 27	1 18 22
Perch, Harry Griffith, A.	1 19 12
Shark, C. Hamilton, A.	1 21 07
Polliwog II, J. S. Mecham, A.	1 21 40
Blue Herring, Billings and Fallon, N.	1 24 58
Catnip, Priscilla Hall, N.	1 25 57
Aloha, Hope Blanchard, N.	1 30 45

ANNISQUAM CATBOATS, 4¼ MILES

Kittiwake, J. W. White	1 18 15
Caterpillar II, B. A. Smith	1 20 07
Scat, Frances Jeffrey	1 28 57
Puss-in-Boots, W. Bangs	1 30 17
Katchup, J. V. Friedman	1 30 19

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS, 4¼ MILES

Widgeon III, H. Johnson, Jr.	1 12 04
Old Ironsides, J. S. Raymond, Jr.	1 12 43
Maryland, Meredith Boyce	1 14 37
Bemo, Bratenahl Bros.	1 15 15
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	1 17 01
Swan, Torrance Baker	1 22 37
Fontana, Emma Raymond	1 24 32
Sylph, G. Cunningham	1 25 24
Arethusa, Leonard and Gordon Ellis	1 25 28
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	1 25 48

CLASS K, SONDERS, 6¾ MILES

Tern, J. D. Cox	1 40 38
Skeezix, Mrs. F. M. Carter	1 41 11
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 43 08
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 43 30
Hevella, J. S. Raymond	1 43 31
Lady II, W. V. MacDonald	1 43 35
Tid II, Mrs. Carlton Swift	1 43 37

SANDY BAY 15-FOOTERS, 9¼ MILES

Maidie, Gifford Beal	2 48 35
Myrtice A., L. I. Dean	3 03 52
Bobeno, B. C. Story	3 04 20
Mamie, John Cianciola	3 05 12

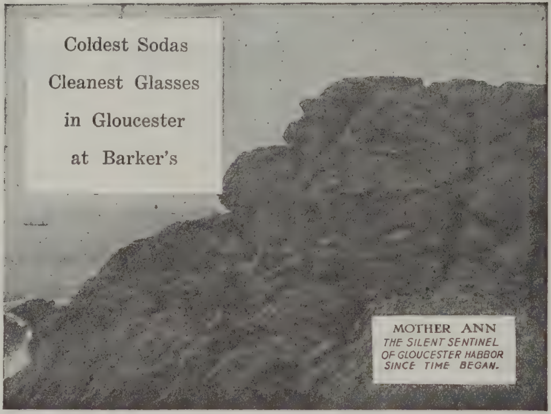
ANNISQUAM BIRDS, 4¾ MILES

Flamingo, Paul Woodbury	1 25 47
Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	1 26 24
Avis, Norman Olson	1 29 12
Canvasback, D. Muzzy	1 35 12

STAR CLASS, 9¼ MILES

(Nahant and Sandy Bay)

Meteor, Warren Motley, N.	2 27 18
No. 680	2 28 46
Eclipse, Guy Hall, S. B.	2 33 53
Slipper, Perry & Hall, N.	2 34 25
Northern Light, Louis Curtis, Jr., N.	2 38 43
Blue Streak, Laurence Curtis, 2d, N.	2 40 48
Caprice, Nelson Whitney, N.	2 42 57



Barker's Soda Fountain has such a wide reputation for the richness and quality of its Ice-Cream Sodas, Frozen Whipped Cream, College Ices and Specialities, that people come for miles around to get sodas at this fountain.

BARKER'S DRUG STORE, 134 Main Street

Summer Residents of Cape Ann

We Carry the Finest and Best Selected of Summer Footwear in This Locality

SPORT, GOLF, TENNIS and BEACH SHOES

Exclusive Agent for Arch Preserver—Queen Quality Shoes—Imported Deauville Sandals for women and children—Florsheim Shoes for Men—Buster Brown Shoes for boys and girls (Prices reasonable and to your liking). Warner's "Society Maid" Silk Hose 99c to $1.69.

DR. SHOLL FOOT APPLIANCES

Armstrong's Busy Corner

106 Main, Corner Center Street

ESTABLISHED 33 YEARS. TEL. CONN.

CHECKING ACCOUNTS
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS

We Act as Trustee, Executor or Administrator.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

Cape Ann National Bank

"THE SERVICE BANK"

154 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER, MASS.

MARBLEHEAD, August 3—Second race results Eastern Yacht Club. Light southwest breeze.

The summary:

TRIANGLE CLASS, 5 MILES
(Annisquam, Eastern Point and Marblehead)

Black Bess, J. H. Sleeper, E. P.	1 29 43
Teaser IV, R. R. Smith, A	1 32 31
Periwinkle, F. P. Copeland, M.	1 32 33
Scalene, H. E. Worcester, A.	1 32 47
Alito, H. W. Brown, M.	1 35 06
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot, E. P.	1 35 14
Injun, W. T. Gamage, E. P.	1 36 19
Idol, C. B. Gleason, A.	1 37 30
Pronto, E. A. Onthank, M.	1 37 36
Dart, A. K. Comins, E. P.	1 39 20
Cursor, W. G. Brown, E. P.	1 40 10
Bluebill, Horace Bent, A.	1 40 16
Ann, S. Ralph Cross, M.	1 41 37
Tantala, Edith P. Graves, M.	1 42 14
Quail, E. W. Merchant, E. P.	1 44 11
Vagus, W. T. Haley, M.	1 44 19
Sprite, Margaret Farrell, E. P.	1 53 44

FISH CATBOATS, 4½ MILES
(Annisquam and Nahant)

Flying Fish, Albert Hale, A.	1 24 53
Goldfish, J. Bloombergh, A.	1 25 05
Mac, Hobbs Sisters, N.	1 27 05
Sea Horse, C. Mechan, A.	1 27 11
No. 32	1 27 52
Serpent, Susan J. Binney, N.	1 28 06
Frog, Robert Binney, N.	1 28 37
Malolo, Rue E. French, A.	1 28 39
Perch, Harry Griffin, A.	1 29 07
Polliwog, J. S. Mecham, A.	1 29 41
Dab, D. Dennison, A.	1 31 47
Aloha, Hope Blanchard, N.	1 39 06

ANNISQUAM CATBOAS, 4¼ MILES

Caterpillar II, B. A. Smith	1 23 57
Kittiwake, J. W. White	1 25 10
Puss-in-Boots, W. Bangs	1 30 10
Katchup, J. V. Friedman	1 36 25

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS, 4¼ MILES

Maryland, Meredith Boyce	1 20 37
Old Ironsides, J. S. Raymond, Jr.	1 22 47
Arethusa, Ellis Brothers	1 24 05
Bemo, Bratenahl Brothers	1 27 35
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	1 27 45
Sylph, G. Cunningham	1 28 24
Fontana, Emma Raymond	1 30 16
Swan, Torrance Baker	1 30 25
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	1 32 12

CLASS K, SONDERS, 5 MILES

Tern, J. D. Cox, Jr.	1 26 29
Skeezix, Mrs. F. M. Carter	1 28 30
Hevella, J. S. Raymond	1 33 38
Tid III, Mrs. Carlton Swift	1 33 53
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 33 59
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 35 33
Lady II, W. V. Macdonald	1 38 42

CLASS R, 20-RATING, 8 MILES

Tabasco V, H. H. Wigign	2 02 04
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	2 12 19
Gefion, F. J. Leviseur	2 14 09
Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	2 17 13

STAR CLASS, 8¾ MILES
(Nahant and Sandy Bay)

Slipper, Perry and Hall, N.	2 08 50
Meteor, Warren Motley, N.	2 09 41
San Souci, Homer Clark, S. B.	2 10 24
Caprice, Nelson Whitney, N.	2 13 25
Tip, Abigail Bishop, N.	2 21 50

ANNISQUAM BIRDS, 5¾ MILES

Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	1 30 10
Avis, Norman Olson	1 32 02
Canvasback, D. Muzzy	1 35 04

MARBLEHEAD, August 4 — Concluding race of Eastern Yacht Club. Wind very light northwest.

TRIANGLE CLASS, 6¾ MILES
(Annisquam, Eastern Point and Marblehead)

Scalene, H. E. Worcester, A.	1 48 39
Injun, W T. Gamage, A.	1 57 27
Idol, C. B. Gleason, A.	1 58 58
Bluebill, Horace Bent, A.	1 59 22
Sprite, Margaret Farrell, E. P.	2 00 00
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot, E. P.	2 01 06
Periwinkle, F. K. Copeland, M.	2 01 22
Vagus, W. T. Haley, M.	2 01 23
Black Bess, J. H. Sleeper, E. P.	2 02 29
Tantala, E. P. Graves, M.	2 03 28
Pronto, E. A. Onthank, M.	2 04 13
Cursor, W. G. Brown, E. P.	2 05 43
Alito, H. W. Brown, M.	2 05 47
Dart, A. K. Comins, E. P.	2 07 95
Ann, S. Ralph Cross, M.	2 07 23
Quail, E. W. Merchant, E. P., Disqualified

STAR CLASS, 8¾ MILES
(Nahant and Sandy Bay)

Meteor, Warren Motley, N.	2 41 53
Aurica, J. O. Bangs, N.	2 42 03
Northern Light, L. Curtis, Jr., N.	3 09 44
Blue Streak, L. Curtis, 2d, N.	3 10 41
Sans Souci, Homer Clark, S. B.	3 11 47
Slipper, Parry and Hall, N.	3 13 34
Caprice, Nelson Whitney, N.	3 14 08
Ibex, Max Kuehne, S. B.	3 24 55
Tip, Abigail Bishop, N.	3 27 32

CLASS O, 15-FOOTERS, 4¾ MILES

Comet, Ernestine and Edwin Hills	1 24 33
Rikki-Tikki, T. M. Prudden	1 29 36
Tern, Flora and Betty Mitchell	1 38 45
Ful' o' Pep, G. E. Michaud	1 40 42
Hull Pirate, Olsen and Douglas	1 46 52
Little Urchin, Tufts and Perry	1 48 22
Barb, W. H. Sturgis, Jr.	1 48 38
Pol Pol, R. W. Partridge	1 48 47

ANNISQUAM BIRDS, 4¾ MILES

Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	1 29 20
Flamingo, Paul Woodbury	1 33 47
Avis, Norman Olson	1 37 30
Canvasback, D. Muzzy	1 53 07

CLASS R, RATING, 6¾ MILES

Tabasco V, H. H. Wiggin	1 34 11
Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 34 35
Gefion, F. J. Leviseur	1 35 18
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	1 41 12

FISH CATBOATS, 2¼ MILES
(Annisquam and Nahant)

Goldfish, J. Bloombergh, A.	0 39 15
Frog, Robert Binney, N.	0 39 22
Dab, David Dennison, A.	0 40 04
Perch, H. Griffin, A.	0 40 30
Mac, Hobb Sisters, N.	0 41 43
Seahorse, Robert Mechem, A.	0 42 06
Serpent, Susan J. Binney, N.	0 42 15
Polliwog II, J. S. Mechem, A.	0 43 00
Blackfish, R. Philbrick, A.	0 43 30
Flying Fish, A. G. Hall, A.	0 43 34
Blue Herring, Billings & Fallon, N.	0 46 38
Malolo, Mary Bradley, A.	0 46 38
Navarra, Lydon Crawford, A	0 52 31
Minnow, Edwin P Crosby	0 55 00

ANNISQUAM CATBOATS, 2¼ MILES

Caterpillar II, B. A. Smith	0 39 04
Kittiwake, J. W. White	0 42 23
Katchup, J. V. Friedman	0 49 25
Puss-in-Boots, W. Bangs	0 49 39
Scat, Frances Jeffrey	0 55 20

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS, 2¼ MILES

Old Ironsides, J. S. Raymond, Jr.	0 35 56
Touareg, L. A. Brown, Jr.	0 36 35
Arethusa, Ellis Brothers	0 38 06
Maryland, Meredith Boyce	0 38 52
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	0 44 25
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	0 46 38
Bemo, Bratenahl Brothers	0 47 02
Fontana, Emma Raymond	0 47 40
Sylph, G. Cunningham	0 50 38
Swan, Torrance Baker	0 51 25

This race completes the Eastern's share of Marblehead Race Week and the trophy winners are as follows:

Eight-Meter Class—Robert A. Leeson's Amethyst. Seawanahaka Schooners—Edward J. Poor's Marian. Class X, 30 Sq. Meters—Jesse P. Morton's Bacchant. Class T—Alden V. Haskell's Sinbad. Brutal Beasts, Second Division—Virginia Morss's Zebra. Fourth Division — Ann Coulson's Fun. Class R—Harry H. Wiggin's Tabasco V. Class I—Leslie Rawding's Nipper. Class K—J. D. Cox, Jr.,'s Tern. Handicap Class—Coburn Smith's Cockatoo. Star Class—Warren Motley's Meteor. Class O—Ernestine and Edwin Hills' Comet. Annisquam Birds—Evelyn Woodbury's Oloof. Manchester 15-Footers—Beatrice A. Patton's Dunt Esk. Annisquam Cats—Benjamin A. Smith's Caterpillar II.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT BEACH CLUB UNDER WAY

MAGNOLIA, August 3—The Beach Club tennis tournament started today with singles matches. The match in which Bunny Jones met John Erhard was closely contested, Jones winning, 6—2, 2—6, 6—2. The summary:

JUNIOR GIRLS' SINGLES

First Round—M. Tippit defeated D. Potter, 6—2, 6—0; R. Smithwick defeated M. Gerary, 6—3, 6—1; V. Shields defeated O. Ames by default; L. Stevens defeated L. Dick, 8—6, 6—1; C. Warren defeated E. Smithwick, 8—6, 6—2; P. Morrill defeated C. O'Connell, 6—0, 6—0.

JUNIOR BOYS' SINGLES

First Round—A. Burnham defeated C. Burnett, 6—2, 6—2; J. Zinsser defeated A. Bartlett by default; R. Potter defeated W. Winslow, 6—2, 4—6, 7—5; P. Richardson defeated B. Bradlee, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3; Mac Bundy defeated A. Shields, 6—0, 6—0.

SENIOR GIRLS' SINGLES

First Round—A. Howard defeated M. Palmer, 6—0, 6—1; S. Bartlett defeated M. Esson, 6—1, 6—1; P. Phelan defeated S. Rushmore, 6—2, 2—6, 6—2; B. Stevens defeated A. Burnett, 6—0, 6—1; L. Collins defeated H. Boyd, 6—2, 6—1; A. Burnett defeated F. Whedon, 6—2, 6—1; A. Richardson defeated L. Warren, 6—3, 6—4; A. Ellsworth defeated A. Howard, 8—6, 7—5.

Second Round—S. Bartlett defeated V. Phelan, 6—4, 6—0.

SENIOR BOYS' SINGLES

First Round—R. Sargent defeated H. Thompson, 6—4, 6—1; P. Covel defeated H. Thorndike, 8—6, 6—0; W. Brewer defeated B. Blossom, 6—4, 6—2; H. Rowbotham defeated W. Dow by default; R. W. Knowles defeated P. Emerson, 6—2, 6—0; J. Hurst defeated P. Erhard, 6—4, 6—2; L. Jones defeated J. Erhard, 6—3, 2—6, 6—3; A. Sheldon defeated E. White by default; S. Culbertson defeated T. Sampson, 6—0, 6—1.

Second Round—R. Sargent defeated E, Groetsinger, 6—0, 6—2.

SERVE THE BEST
at no additional cost

YOU cannot afford to compromise with the quality of the food you serve in your summer menus. Near your home you will find a First National Store, specializing in quality foods. Come in and give us the opportunity of assisting you in the selection of the best for your table.

COMBINATION MARKETS AT
147 Main St., Gloucester
37 Main St., Rockport

First National Stores, Inc.
Where New England Buys Its Food.

A. P. STODDART & CO.
Established 1876
ENGINEERS AND MACHINISTS
Engine Repairing and Installing
FULLY EQUIPPED MACHINE SHOP
236 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER, MASS.

INSURANCE
ALL KINDS
STRONGEST COMPANIES
JOHN A. JOHNSON
Gloucester National Bank Bldg.
Telephones 16 and 17
Just off Custom House Square

Pringle's History of Gloucester, 1892
The Gloucester Tercentenary Book
ALSO FOUR LOG BOOKS OF DEEP SEA VOYAGES
FOR SALE AT
BLANCHARD'S
125 MAIN STREET -:- GLOUCESTER

EAST GLOUCESTER

(Continued from page 15)

Starr, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weigh, Mt. Vernon; Mrs. J. M. Burns, Jessie E. Fuller, Pittsfield; Grace B. Corwin, Mathilde Low, Newark; Mrs. Schuyler Quackenbush, Ethel Quackenbush, M. Quackenbush, Englewood; Angels De B. Didier, Claudia B. Didier, Baltimore; Harriet C. Parks, Louson, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dalaney, Louisville; H. Hilliard, Mr. and Mrs. W. Winter and son, Montreal; Reverend Henry W. McGuire, Helena M. McGuire, Chicago; Helen Spencer, San Diego.

At Cove Villa recent arrivals include: John E. Leide, Cambridge; Mrs. R. S. Wyner and son, Robert, Mrs. Clifford Smith, Brookline; Marcia Hain, Reading; Mr. and Mrs. Milton W. Holmes, Rochester; Mrs. Robert Harrison, New York; Louise E. Larson, Helen M. O'Shaughnessey, Mrs. John H. O'Shaughnessey, Scarsdale; Anna Bier, Kitt Townsend, Mrs. Bier, John Engleken, Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Sydney H. Weiler, Elknor Park, Pa.; Berenice Blodgett, Minneapolis.

OSCAR ANDERSON, ARTIST

His studio is entirely in keeping with his beautiful adjacent home. Perched high on the top of Banner Hill, surrounded by hollyhocks, spacious neatly trimmed lawns, attractive flagstone paths, and overlooking Gloucester harbor and its eternally passing ships, both house and studio are appropriate environment indeed for the great New England painter.

Oscar Anderson has often been called a landscape painter, and the correctness of the term depends upon the interpretation of the word. The collection of paintings done by Oscar Anderson cover every phase, every angle, every aspect of sea and land. The quality, quantity, and above all, the variety of his works are breathtaking.

The uncle and brother of Mr. Anderson were decorators and painters in Hartford, when the seventeen-year-old Swedish boy who could say no more than "yes" and "no" in English, landed in New York City. He proceeded directly to Hartford where he worked for these relatives as a painter and decorator himself. But the sensitive mind of the Swedish lad, pregnant with boyhood impressions of the fields, woods, birds, and sea which had made up his atmosphere on the island of Gothland, craved more than the mechanical outlet offered by this vocation. Under the supervision of Charles Noel Flagg in the art classes of the Connecticut League of Art Students, he began to feel the first stirrings of creative impulse, the hunger for self expression on canvas, and the hopes of satisfaction.

In 1905, a group of young enthusiastic artists arrived in Gloucester. There were six or eight of them and Oscar Anderson shook his head and chuckled reminiscently as he mentioned the fun and work they enjoyed together. They lived before the pier was built at what is now the Fort and made great friends with all the fishermen round about, incidentally absorbing an invaluable amount of knowledge of the sea, its habits, and the life of those who lived upon it. The atmosphere of the sea became unconsciously a part of themselves. "The harbor was much more picturesque in those days," regretted Mr. Anderson. "No steam, nothing to sail by except the wind. I've seen the harbor filled with ships waiting and trying all day to sail out."

The boy became a man and the point was reached where everything else must be given up for his art. In 1907. he departed for Sweden to see his family, returning in the spring and moving to Gloucester. The first year he spent alone in a studio consisting of forty feet in one of the lofts where the Breckenridge School is now at Rocky Neck. Walter Dean was the only other artist living there. Today there are over one hundred and twenty-five. The second year Mr. Anderson was joined by Mrs. Anderson and their little girl. For twenty years Oscar Anderson studied, learned, and painted Gloucester harbor. The winter of 1907 and '08 was continuously severe with the harbor frozen solid for three weeks, and every day throughout the winter, Oscar Anderson could be seen tramping across the ice to some point where he would sit and paint the whole day through. Hour on hour, day after day, mist blowing in and freezing on his face, clothes and canvas, still he worked. The price he paid for fame was not a low one. Mr. Anderson shook his head remembering. "I never knew such cold. Ever since, difficulties, inconveniences, troubles, discomforts, all have seemed trivial. It was the most wearing and at the same time the most beneficial experience I have ever had." At this time he painted about two hundred and fifty paintings that no one has ever seen, paintings, some of which were done on the back of cigar boxes found along the shore, and paintings surrounded by memories and associations that formed an invaluable background for the work he does today.

In 1913 he returned again to Europe, with pallet and brushes this time, and spent a year painting the Cornish coast. His love for Rubens drew him again to Antwerp but the majority of his leisure time was spent in the Turner wing of the great Tate Galleries, where he sat day after day hungrily absorbing the works of the great master. "And I saw the tourists pass through there in a few minutes," he sighed. "And come out ready to write home and say that they had seen the Turner collection!"

The influence of Turner is responsible perhaps for the fondness of this great modern painter for mists. "Not dreary mists," he explained, "but golden, shimmering ones." And by way of illustration, he showed me the most exquisite array of misty seas and ships and beautifully familiar aspects of a tranquil, foggy Gloucester harbor.

The life story of Oscar Anderson is not the fairy tale of luck and happiness. Today he is one of the most prominent of New England painters, but this goal is not an end,

(Continued on page 23)

THE ZONING ORDINANCES!!

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Gloucester have been printed in their entirety and are now ready for distribution at the office of the City Clerk, Allen F. Grant, City Hall. Copies will be mailed on application.

In a general way, all the summer resort areas have been made residential sections only. Six types of districts have been designated, namely: 1, single residence districts; 2, general residence districts; 3, apartment house districts; 4, business districts; 5, light industrial districts; 6, heavy industrial districts.

The ordinances specify in detail the requirements, restrictions, area, regulations, yards and courts, nonconforming uses, district boundaries, accessory uses, automobile services, methods of procedure to obtain building permits, changes, variations, appeals, etc. They are of especial interest to summer resident realty owners.

ALLEN F. GRANT, City Clerk.

Gloucester, July 1, 1931.

ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS

(Continued from page 7)

back on the high moorlands. The curiosity seekers had become too inquisitive. These moorlands at the time were comparatively unbuilt upon and here she sought the seclusion that her own fame and effort had deprived her.

It was at this cottage that occurred at a period rather past middle life, her marriage to a young clergyman and literary man, Rev. Herbert D. Ward, with whom she had collaborated in several works. The writer of this article was assigned to "do" the marriage for metropolitan newspapers. It was shortly after dark on the wedding day that the visit was made. A kerosene lamp lighted the room of the cottage. The curtains were raised, making the interior visible. The newly married and four of the wedding party sat engaged in conversation. If ever there was a time when one was entitled to privacy, above all immunity from journalistic interrogation it was then. So thought the newspaper man who was accompanied by a fellow worker in the vineyard. "Let's let 'em alone," quoth he. So getting the bare facts, officiating clergyman, and something vague as to what the bride wore, a vivid imagination supplied to a waiting world the details of the marriage ceremony of the greatest American woman writer of her time—details avidly awaited by the public.

In appearance she was tall, of slight build, in later life somewhat stouter. As the years passed she became more retiring, shrinking from the public gaze. All literary or creative natures are essentially introspective. They must be, for their work is the children of their brain, best developed in seclusion and quiet. Her noble poem, "Gloucester," written for the dedication of the memorial tablet dedication at Stage Fort Park in 1907, is a classic and a fitting tribute to the stalwart men—the fishermen—and the women too, of this old town she loved so well. It will endure. In it I have thought could be detected passages which may have been wrung from her own experience. For in some respect the element of the minor if not of the tragic entered her life. It is the fate of the great to be misunderstood at a time when they crave at least popular approval and in a measure strive for it. So it happened in the case of Elizabeth Stuart Phelps.

Elizabeth Phelps was of that finest type and flower of civilization, the New England woman with its background of intellectuality, simple living and high thinking, of which Harriet Beecher Stowe, Lucy Larcom, Celia Thaxter and others are exemplars. They are of the refined gold of the pioneer mothers who braved the dangers of the forests and the savage for conscience sake, whose daughters carry on in succeeding generations, regardless of popular obloquy or censure for that which the dictates of their conscience approves and upholds.

Perhaps there may arise some time hereabout a local organization which may erect a tablet, well deserved, to her name—"Here lived and wrought Elizabeth Stuart Phelps—A Friend of Gloucester.

"Lord, keep her memory green."

Mortons'
BOOKS, STATIONERY, OFFICE SUPPLIES, GREETING CARDS, GIFTS
and
LENDING LIBRARY
6 PLEASANT ST.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

(Next to Main Street Waiting Room)
Service With a Smile
"The Tea-room with an atmosphere"
Tempting Salads, Sandwiches and Luncheon Specials
AT OUR FOUNTAIN
REFRESHING DRINKS AND ICES
Home-made Candies and Fresh Salted Nut Meats prepared on the premises every day
Ice-Cream Packed with DRY ICE will keep four to five hours without ice or salt.
A Delightful Place to Eat.
RANSELLEAR TOWLE
118 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER

WE OFFER SPECIAL LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING SERVICE FOR SUMMER VISITORS
Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co.
PHONE 524 NOW
Offices and Plants:
8 PARKER ST., - GLOUCESTER

L. E. ANDREWS & CO.
Plumbing and Heating
Kitchen Furnishings, Garden Tools, Prepared Paints, Hardware of all descriptions. Vessel work, Yachting Hardware, Garden Hose, etc.
'Phones 645 and 646
121 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER
(Opposite Waiting Station)
Silent Automatic Oil Furnaces.

EARL O. PHILLIPS
Smart Shop for Men
Smart Clothes for Summer Comfort
A. G. SPALDING BROS.'
BATHING SUITS
GOLF BALLS
TENNIS HOSE
HICKOK BELTS
DELPERK PAJAMAS
SUMMER NECKWEAR
ARROW SHIRTS
SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES
ROBER REIS
UNDERWEAR
BATHING SUITS
SWEATERS
GOLF HOSE
EARL O. PHILLIPS, Inc. Smart Shop for Men
PERSONAL SERVICE
131 Main Street, Cor. Hancock, Gloucester, Opposite Barker's Drug Store

For Sixty Years

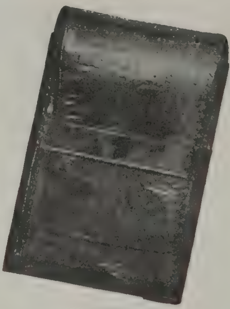
THIS PHARMACY has been dispensing Reliable

Drugs and Medicines

to the people of Cape Ann. Have you ever given us an opportunity to prove to you our capabilities along the lines of EFFICIENCY and REAL SERVICE? We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage this present season.

The Wetherell Pharmacy

P. O. SQUARE



8909
Cigarette Case
$3.75

Memories
of
Gloucester

TRUE SOUVENIRS of the sea—Bill Folds, Cigarette Cases, and all manner of articles fashioned of tough

TANNED CODFISH SKINS

Unlike any other Souvenir, they serve as a constant reminder of this famous fishing town.

$1.00 to $10.00

W. E. BLANCHARD,
Jeweler
125 Main Street, Gloucester, Mass.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

(Continued from page 13)

"Swinson Brothers will have an engagement with me directly," furnished Jack. "I noticed those evergreens when I came in. They certainly got a lot done on them, didn't they?"

"What I want to know," admired Anne, "is where you bought those lovely hand-braided rugs Gay and I have been admiring upstairs."

"Pattillo's, I'll bet my hat," guessed Chubby, correctly. "And those glazed chintz curtains with the ruffles, I'll bet are from the same place. I was in there myself looking around the other day."

"Look," remarked Jack, "the storm's about over, I guess." And sure enough a little stray sunbeam had made its way through the window.

"Now I think it's my turn to brush away any gloom that may still be felt. I remember once we all went to the East Gloucester Miniature Golf Links as a cure-all. Who's with me?"

They all were, and soon sea, storm, and rescue were a thing of the past as they laughed at Gay for her ineffectual attempts to overcome the hazards, and admired Jack for his adeptness on the charming course.

"Well, Jack, you should have been a doctor," laughed Jimmie, as he climbed into his car. "Suppose you suggest the rest of the afternoon's program."

"Well, magnanimous chap that I am—" began Jack.

"I know it!" cried Gay, "I just know he's going to let us go to Magnolia. You perfect boy! And we can stop at the marvelous sale at Poole's Antique Ship. Greek embroideries," she exulted to Peggy and Anne, "made by the women of Athens, and things that you could never pick up anywhere else!"

Jimmie groaned. "Jack! and I thought you were a pal," he reproached.

At Magnolia, the first stop was the Grande Maison de Blanc where they were all captivated by the extraordinary display of bed furnishings. Everything of every kind and color for the discriminating could be found here. There were blankets for winter and summer both, in delicate sleepy-soft wools, in white and beautiful pastel colors; there were the most beautiful and comforting of comforters in taffeta, moire and satin, scalloped and matching the shades of the blankets; there were exquisite silk and lace blanket covers; and there were luxuriously rich spreads to match any shade predominating in any bedroom.

At Ovington's, china was the outstanding attraction. An interesting set carrying hunt scenes, with each sized plate and each cup and saucer having a different scene. The service plate was particularly attractive with a scene of an interior. The inn where the hunters had stopped for refreshment with its table and inevitable peacefully sleeping dog, the servant girl, the whole thing complete like a page from a book There were in contrast to this vivid set many beautifully conservative ones one of which was very lovely in a complete dead white and having a raised grape design as a border. There were sets of very fine English bone china and one outstanding set, the Washington-Wakefield, concerning which they learned this interesting story. While engaged in excavating amid the ashes and charred debris of the Washington homestead at Wakefield, where George Washington was born and spent his youth, the workmen came upon the fragments of a beautiful salt-glaze platter, and Lenox has produced in this set at Ovington's an exact duplicate of the one which was so completely destroyed so many years ago.

As they left Ovington's, Peggy, who had been vaguely protesting since they had arrived at Magnolia, deliberately

East Gloucester
Miniature Golf Course

116 EAST MAIN STREET
18 of the Largest Fairways in New England
NEWEST, MOST UP-TO-DATE

-:- OPENS -:-
Daily at 9 A.M. Sunday at 1 P.M.
FRANK POWLER, Inc.

THE L. E. SMITH COMPANY
Sole Cape Ann Agents for the
Frigidaire, Modern Sanitary Iceless Refrigerator

SILENT FLOW OIL BURNER FOR RANGES

Maytag Washing Machine
Chambers Fireless Gas Range

Plumbing, Heating, Hardware, Lawn Mowers, Garden Hose, Kitchen Furnishings, Etc.

221-223 Main St., 169 E. Main St.
GLOUCESTER

turned away and started down the avenue.

"And where are you going, my pretty maid," called Anne after her.

"To Mrs. Paige's, of course," she flung back over her shoulder.

"Oh, of course. Wait, Peggy!" shouted Gay, and she and Anne rushed after her.

"Well, you wouldn't go there first," said Peggy. "I kept telling you to come."

"But there's so much to see," argued Anne. "Wouldn't you rather wait until last so that you could spend all the time you want looking at everything?"

"Just think," mused Gay, as they climbed the stairs to the attractive gallery. "Mother used to buy from Mrs. Paige when she had the shop that DePinna has now. It was years ago."

Mrs. Paige herself greeted them and showed them all around, telling a little story about many of the various fascinating articles.

"That darling cat!" cried Peggy, pointing to a black and white true to life looking kitty sitting on a brightly colored cushion, the whole thing done in exquisite needle-point.

Mrs. Paige explained that she had painted the cat first (it was her sister's pet) and had then conceived the idea of doing it in needle-point. Even the boys were fascinated by the exceptional array of articles.

They finally tore themselves away and Chubby cried, "It's twenty of six. Let's rush back to town, get a supper at Towle's and go to the North Shore. On the way we could stop at the new water basin. Our friend Hagstrom is doing the landscape work and has made wonderful progress, I hear."

"All of which is an excuse for two things," said Anne. "First, Chubby has been announcing what time it is all day so that some one will please notice that he bought a new watch at Blanchard's yesterday, and second, Chubby, strange as it may seem, is hungry."

But Chubby was justified in his remark, that if they weren't hungry, he'd hate to see them all when they were. At Towle's the delicious special luncheons that they all ordered, disappeared with amazing alacrity. Peggy had a cheese dream sandwich with bacon and tomato, coffee, and ice-cream, and Anne, after consuming soup and a chopped ham sandwich, decided that the fresh crab-meat sandwich that Jack was finishing looked much too delicious to resist, and ordered one for herself. Jack and Jimmie and Gay found great satisfaction in fresh lobster salad and delectable crispy English muffins.

"I can't get over," said Jimmie, as he settled back in the comfortable booth with that satisfied and completely contented feeling that most of us are guilty of feeling after an excellent meal, "I can't get over how nice and warm and restful your house was today, Peggy, after the cold and wet outside."

"It's that Silent Glow Oil Burner that was responsible. I bought it at L. E. Smith's. No atmosphere is complete without it," sighed Peggy. "I've never been so thankful for anything as I've been that I had L. E. Smith put that in."

"Speaking of heat," remarked Jack, "I forgot to see the Gloucester Gas Light Company today. I'm getting a new Glenwood range. My old stove is about done, I'm sick of fussing with it."

"Well—'" began Chubby.

"Horrors, he's going to show his watch again," cried Anne, then laughing, "No, Chubby, really I don't blame you for being proud of it, any one would know you bought it at Blanchard's. It's a knockout."

"And it is late," added Jimmie, "and we might as well start for the North Shore. Maybe we will get out in time to sneak in a few dances over at Del Monte's if we hurry."

"Great idea!" said Jack, rising. "If you'll excuse me, I'll rush out now and meet you at the movies. I have to send a wire."

"And I don't suppose," remarked Anne, after he had left, "I don't suppose that any of you have the faintest idea where he is sending that wire."

C. ANNE SHORE.

ROCKPORT CHAMPLAIN CAMPANILE

(Continued from page 4)

ondly because it is within the financial possibilities.

Another thought: Champlain, the gallant mariner, came ashore on this part of the Cape in 1605. Gloucester has its LeBeauport. Why not Rockport the Champlain campanile?

POLITICS

(Continued from page 4)

Nevertheless, while we admire the splendid and altruistic spirit behind it, we believe that the movement to mix in the German financial mess ill advised. The Germans are a dominant and proud people, leaders in war, arts and sciences, and conquerors from the time of Arminius or Herman, as Cæsar found out, and they retain their pristine virility. The idea of paying tribute to France or any other nation is abhorrent to them. The Germans are financially all right. They fought the war on the soil of Belgium and France and fed on those countries. Belgium and France, the slaughter-house and shambles, which bore the brunt, have come out prosperous. Let Germany alone and she will do the same. Beware of foreign financial entanglements.

This so-called depression was bound to come, whether Hoover or Smith was elected—as it came in Europe after all great wars—as it came in America as a ten-year aftermath of the Civil War. It was an inevitable economic reac-

HAGSTROM CO., Inc.
GENERAL CONTRACTORS
Loam, Dressing, and other materials
for
Garden and Landscape Work

Gravel and Crushed Stone for
Driveway Surfacing
TEL. GLOUCESTER 617

IN ROCKPORT
near the head of noted Bearskin Neck with its docks, fish houses, boat builders, and artist colony is
THE BEACH PLUM
AND
BAYBERRY CANDLE PLACE
Dock Square, Rockport, Mass.

Here you may find the Wild Beach Plum Jelly with the tang of the dunes and sea.

Here are dipped by hand in the real old-fashioned way Pure Bayberry Candles from the pure wax of the coast bayberries, the little gray berries which furnished lights for the earliest settlers of the New England coast.

It is an attractive place, and well worth a visit.

tion, a hangover from the Coolidge administration staved off and passed on to his successor. Hoover has met the situation as a statesman, courageously declining to play the demagogue squandering public money and adding to the public debt. This convalescent world, sick to the death of moral and financial debauchery of war, has still a long road to go before the valley of depression is left behind and the mountain top envisioning the promised land of prosperity is reached.

Now to turn to the Democracy. A round table conference of about a dozen men was held a month or more ago at Manchester-by-the-Sea at the house of Edward M. House of Texas and the North Shore—principally the latter.

This conference was of an extraordinary character, from the unusual statements broadcast by the press. Gov. Roosevelt of New York, who aspires to the Democratic nomination, was there, receptive to all that was said. He shared with Mr. House the limelight of the occasion.

The next day the press proclaimed Mr. House as the Moses who was to lead the Democracy to the promised land or in more modern vernacular, "the Warwick of the Democratic party," the "one man who more than any other made Woodrow Wilson," and to whose sole guidance and strategy Wilson owed his elevation to the highest office in the land. Sic?

As a Democrat from Cleveland's time, the writer, and more of his way of thinking politically, may venture to question the accuracy of this claim. Nothing can be farther from the fact, for if any man was the architect of his own political destiny, that man was Woodrow Wilson.

House, as was stated in an article in The Shore last year, appeared on the North Shore at Magnolia some 35 years ago. At the same time, Woodrow Wilson, an obscure college professor at Princeton, was a guest at an East Gloucester hostelry.

Some years passed. Wilson became involved in a controversy regarding the democratization of the college clubs. He lost and he won. The mass of the people, recognizing his sincerity, arose and nominated him for governor. No politician helped him; rather many tried to block his path. He made such an outstanding executive that his fame became nation-wide. There came a popular acclaim for his nomination to the presidency. Tammany opposed him, tooth and nail. Then, if ever, Wilson needed a friend. He found him in William Jennings Bryan who with rare self-renunciation, entered the Baltimore convention as Wilson's champion and literally ripped the tongue, with the heart attached, of the Tammany tiger from its vitals, and put Wilson over. Wilson was elected, championed by Bryan, who alone of all the politicians, big or little, whether from Texas or wherever, came to his aid. As far as the Southern tier of states, Woodrow Wilson, the Virginian, didn't need anybody's sponsorship in the South, for was he not one of their own flesh and blood?

It was only after he was elected president that many jumped onto his band wagon. Wilson, accepting some a their own valuation, sent some to Europe as unofficial ambassadors, the upshot being that disappointed in thei failure to secure results, he washed hi hands of the whole lot—and died broken hearted man. Now this is to familiar to need repetition. But thi Warwick stuff is being overworked.

As for Roosevelt—not a chance. Occupying an under-secretaryship in th Wilson cabinet, he was appraised o mediocre caliber. Nor has his governorship of New York added luster to hi fame. Does he compare with Grove Cleveland in this respect? Cleveland like Tilden, had no use nor commerc with Tammany and openly repudiate them. Roosevelt, when he had th chance in the recent house-cleaning o provenly unfit New York judges, wa not particularly impressive. Any candidate with open or secret affiliation with Tammany is doomed as far a presidential aspirations are concerned

One thing — and important — th keenest sting, the dart that still rankles in the soul of Al Smith is that hi own New York state repudiated him i the presidential election, while Roosevelt was elected. Tammany never forgets and, note this—if Roosevelt secures the Democratic nomination, he i

Quiouhamenec Farm
(Pronounced Ke-ham-e-nec)
SWINSON BROS.
LANDSCAPE GARDENERS
Road and Lawn Tennis Court Construction
Local Agents for Sheep Manure and Fertilizer
Blue Stone for Walks, Driveways and Lawn Tennis Purposes
Telephone 873 Estimates of Cost
EXPERT LAND DRAINING EXCAVATING, GRADING
114 Mt. Pleasant St. EAST GLOUCESTER

TASTE—
FLAVOR—
ENJOYMENT—
Served at our New Frigidaire Soda Fountain with Special Ice Cream and Cooling Drinks
Specials on Saturday and Sundays.
TROWBRIDGE, The Druggist
THE NEW DRUG STORE
159 MAIN STREET Tel. 2040 GLOUCESTER

PURE ICE
Frozen Naturally in the Purest Ponds in New England
Nothing to get out of order. The Perfect Refrigerant. To keep food juicy in a Refrigerator requires some moisture. No mechanical-chemical devices yet developed by man, regardless of how costly or intricate, equals ice as a safe, reliable, silent and economical cold maker.
CAPE POND ICE CO.
Telephone 180 GLOUCESTER

in for one wholesale slaughtering at the polls south of the Bronx and in the other big cities of the state.

Jim Reed of Missouri, Robinson of Arkansas, Carter Glass or some other might have a running chance, but not Roosevelt.

Logically, the man who has prior claim on the nomination is Al Smith, or at least a word to say regarding the nominee, conspicuous, very much so, by his absence at this conference at Manchester-by-the-Sea.

OSCAR ANDERSON, ARTIST

(Continued from page 18)

and even this goal was not reached by luck and "breaks." The story is one which might be well taken as a moral by all of us. Hardships, privations, sacrifices, lined the path to his present day success. And he still has one regret. "I'm sorry," he said a little ruefully, "that I couldn't have come just ten years earlier to Gloucester. So that I could have had ten more years of the beauty that the harbor here offered before the invention of steam power. I'd like to have had a longer time to absorb that sight. It's unequalled anywhere, anywhere."

FERNWOOD DRAMATICS

The amateur dramatics which have become an annual institution in Fernwood took place at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Watkins of Winchester. Two one-act plays, written and directed by Mrs. Watkins, were presented.

The first, "A Match for the Matchmakers," was produced in Fernwood two years ago, with a slightly different cast.

"Her Bridal Night" was written for the Fernwood Players this season. It is a comedy, depicting the trials of a bride and groom on their honeymoon at sea. The setting represents Suite 13 on the S. S. Frantic. The parts were taken by Edith Parsons as the bride; Malcolm Watkins, the seasick groom; Ethel Smith, the troublesome mother-in-law; Gwendolyn Morton, the opera singer; Arthur Bearse, the mysterious Russian who stole the diamonds, and Richard Marchant, the steward. Miss Morton, who has a high soprano voice of fine quality and power, appeared especially to advantage in her character of the diva, and she was applauded for her incidental solo.

The Casts

"A MATCH FOR THE MATCHMAKERS"

Mrs. Hunter .... Emeline Morton
Miss Chatterton .. Lura Watkins
Egbert Hunter ... Arthur Bearse
Mr. Twitchell .. Malcolm Watkins
Molly Twitchell Gwendolyn Morton
Pete .... Richard Marchant

"HER BRIDAL NIGHT"

Hazel Green, the bride Edith Parsons
C. Green, the bridegroom Malcolm Watkins
Mrs. Bangs Buckley, his mother-in-law .... Ethel Smith
Mme. Helena Garutski Gwendolyn Morton
X, the mystery man Arthur Bearse
The steward .. Richard Marchant

The entire program was repeated on Monday evening to a second enthusiastic audience.

WILLIAM McNULTY AND ANNE BROCKMAN

Just four years ago a budding genius in the world of etchings, got the greatest thrill and surprise that he will probably ever receive. In a non-jury display he had hung his print, "Junk Shop," side by side with the works of masters from all over the world. In a newspaper write-up that was classed by New York critics, with those same internationally known masters.

From that time on, Mr. McNulty's fame and reputation spread until he ranks among the best. In 1930 at the Art Center, New York, under the direction of the American Institute of Graphic Arts, fifty best prints were selected from nine hundred and sixty-four prints by two hundred and sixty-eight artists which were submitted.

Today the etchings by Mr. McNulty hang in the Public Library

THE ROCKAWAY
AND COTTAGES
At ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
Right on the Water
Commanding a Superb View of the Ocean
Accommodates 400.
W. A. PUBLICOVER, Proprietor

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS
-:- EXHIBITIONS -:-
2nd—July 25th to Aug. 18th
3rd—August 22nd to Sept. 14th
ANNUAL FAKIRS BALL at Hawthorne Inn Casino, Postponed to Aug. 23
Gallery, Eastern Point Rd. E. Gloucester
Hours Weekdays 10-6; Sundays 2-6
Oscar Anderson, President Alida C. Anderson, Secretary
GALLERY PHONE 3842-W

Tel. 452 Established Here 1890
North Shore Dyeing and Cleansing Shop
Cleansing, Dyeing, Pressing and Repairing
Work called for and delivered
245 Main St. Gloucester, Mass.

Samuel Bloomfield
SUMMER REAL ESTATE
specializing in
BASS ROCKS REALTY
Office:
53 Bass Ave., E. Gloucester
Tel. 1886

JOHN J. MacDONALD
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
15 Washington St.,
Gloucester : : Mass.
Phone 473-W Res. 473-R

The Moorland
BASS ROCKS
EDWARD D. PARSONS, Prop.
Right on the Ocean
Accommodates 500

J. A. NUNES : Art Store
Artist Materials and Picture Framing
Oil Paintings and Frames Restored
Hand Carved Frames in Stock and Made to Order
Painting and Decorating
6 Center Street, Gloucester, Mass.
Tel. 298-R Branch at Rocky Neck

Cape Ann Old Book Shop
35 High Street,
ROCKPORT, -:- MASS.
Rare, Interesting and Out of Print Books, Including First Editions.
For the Collector and Reader.

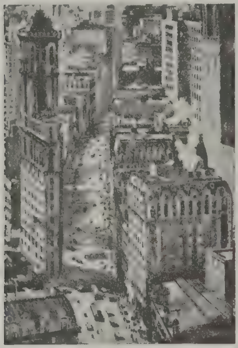
GOOD HARBOR BEACH INN
Briar Neck, Gloucester, Mass.
Ocean View and within one hundred feet of one of the best Bathing Beaches on the New England Coast.
Edwin C. McIntire, Managing Proprietor

The Tavern
Directly on water at end of State Highway, Gloucester
Lobster, Fish and Steak Dinners
W. H. SMITH, Prop.
Telephone 1715-W

FISHING TACKLE
Motor Boat Supplies, Life Preservers, Oars, Fire Extinguishers, Lights, Hooks, Lines, Rowlocks
LOTHROP'S PATENT FOG HORN
L. D. LOTHROP & SON
70 Duncan St., Gloucester

Everett A. Flye, Opt. D.
Registered Optometrist
Established 1902
156 Main Street, Gloucester

in New York, the Detroit Museum, and other places of note. Formerly a magazine illustrator, he received much of his training through this and newspaper work. He spent some time in the Art Students League in New York, as well, but he feels that Mr. Gifford Beal, world famous painter, is mostly responsible for his success. Rockport gave him the inspiration, and Mr. Beal influenced him to confine his work to etching. Since his start in Rockport, however, he has turned more and more to New York for subject matter, and today the majority of his work is of that city where he is an instructor in the Art Students League.



Times Sq. Etching by Wm. McNulty

Mrs. McNulty or Anne Brockman as she is more widely known, is one of the promising young artists of the day. Her exhibits in New York have attracted much comment and praise. She studied at the Pennsylvania Academy, and at the Art Students League, and, like her husband attributes much of her rapid progress to Gifford Beal as well as to John Sloane. She has contributed to the Downtown Gallery and the Detroit Museum. Much of her success is due to her ability to capture with skill and understanding the fleeting expression on a human face. Her faces of children and adults are filled with a natural beauty of reality, whether whimsical, enigmatic, mischievous, joyful or sad.

This charming couple, living in their studio at the Neck are ideal in their common interests, as fascinating personalities. Rockport is fortunate in having them among their artists' colony.

NORTH SHORE PRIZE AWARDS

Prize awards at the North Shore Arts Association for this season's exhibition, have been announced as follows:

$150 for the best painting in oil, given by Capt. and Mrs. Horace S. Bean, the former president of the association, to Aldro T. Hibbard, for his painting, "March Wind."

$100 for the best still life, given by Mrs. M. F. R. Clay, to Dudley Murphy for "Rhododendrons."

$50 for the best landscape, the Milton S. Davis prize, given by Albert M. Davis, to Carl Peters for "Little Village."

$50 for the best portrait painting, to Maurice Compris for "The Marguerite."

$100 marine prize, given by Mrs. I. N. McHenry to Parker Perkins for "Turn of the Tide."

$25, etching prize, given by Epes W. Merchant to William Meyerowitz for "Madonna."

OCEANSIDE THEATRE

If Mephistopheles had visited the Oceanside Theatre on Tuesday night, he would have returned to his dark abode with a strong inferiority complex. George Houston exceeded the devil himself in his magnificent characterization. A spell-bound audience, completely fascinated by the excellence of his acting watched in complete, awed silence and then at the close of each small scene broke into thunderous applause.

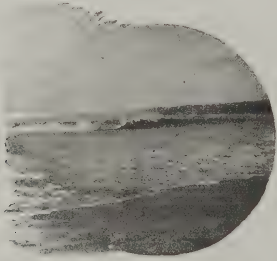
Congratulations of the highest order are due to Mr. W. Rosing, his cast, and his scenic artists, for their superb presentation of the exceedingly difficult and stupendous tragedy of "Faust." Sung in English, it became, because of the ability of the cast, equal to the German opera. The scenes were faultless, each exceeded in beauty and detail its predecessor. As the curtain rose for the first time revealing the study of Faust, the moment of suspense was followed by a murmur of appreciation, then bursts of deep-felt applause. The scene of Marguerite's garden, and the street scene, beggar description in their general impression and finesse of detail, while the church interior and that of the prison were awe-inspiring. To Stewart Cheney young talented graduate of the "Baker Workshop" at Yale, goes much commendation for his excellent work as setting designer.

As Faust, the philosopher, Nathaniel Cuthright, promising young operatic tenor, created a lasting impression in a comparatively short time, while Charles Hedley as Faust the youth obviously showed his experience as leading tenor of the American Opera Company and his experience of past seasons throughout this country and in Canada where he has appeared in all the major operatic roles. Eleanor Lewis, who played Marguerite in a manner which was unforgettable, is a lyric soprano who has distinguished herself as a concert singer touring the key cities of the country, and has played many operatic roles. Miss Harriet Eels again proves her versatile ability in her skillful protrayal of the character part of Martha, and she and Alan Burt as Valentin show by their ability their past experience as opera stars in many productions.

The lighting effects of the lyric drama were nothing short of magnificent and played an important part in achieving the flawless, harmonious smooth effect of the entire production.

Next week W. Rosing presents Miss Cora Witherspoon in "The Notorious Lady," by John Enteza, a new play which experiences its first presentation at the capable hands of the Oceanside Theatre Company. This play promises to be very intriguing, being a satirical comedy on Park Avenue society. The cast includes: Cora Witherspoon, Miss Harriet Eels, Doris Rich, Leone Sousa, Margaret Adams, William Williams, George Houston, Robert Henderson, Raymond O'Brien.

Miss Edith Atwater, looking very cool and attractive in soft flowered chiffon, and Mrs. Evans



BELMONT SHOE REPAIRING
SHOE REBUILDING
Best Quality, Lowest Prices
Main St., Gloucester, Opp. Center St.

ROCKPORT DYE HOUSE
First Class Cleansers
Wearing Apparel Called For and
Delivered Any Place on Cape Ann
MAIN STREET, ROCKPORT. Tel. Conn.

Dry Cleaning and Pressing
STRAND DYE HOUSE
Louis Kramer, Prop.
Odorless Cleansing and Pressing
Dyeing, Altering and Relining
We call for and deliver
45 Main St., Gloucester, Mass.
Phone 2563 Open Evenings

SIGHT-SEEING SAILS DAILY
Volunteer Toreador Club Conductors Explain Points of Interest on Cape Ann
Make Reservations in Advance at Y. M. C. A. (470)

THE GLOUCESTER SCHOOL OF THE LITTLE THEATRE
ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
"MR. PIM PASSES BY"
By A. A. MILNE
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, AUGUST 7 AND 8
Reserved Seats, on Sale at the School, $1.25. Tel. 3485
One-Act Play Friday Mornings at 11.30
Puppet Performances Saturday Mornings at 11.30. Admission 50c
Friday and Saturday, August 14 and 15 "MELLONEY HOTSPUR" By John Masefield

Beach, Piazza and Cottage Furnishings

The Most Complete assortment on the North Shore. New Stock of Heywood-Wakefield Reed and Fiber Furniture. Radios of Leading Makes.
NORTH SHORE
FURNITURE CO.
161-163 Main St.,
Cor. Parsons
Tel. 94

R. Dick, Jr., very charming in a smartly cut, simply striking white evening gown, greeted the guests at the door. Among those present were: Mrs. Edward Thaw, Milton and East Gloucester; the R. T. Crane, Jr.'s, of Ipswich; Mrs. Charles Warren, Mrs. John L. Saltonstall, Mrs. Robert Bradley, Prides Crossing; M. W. Jacobus, Eastern Point; Mrs. George Von L. Meyer, Jr., Hamilton; Mrs. Samuel Usher, Annisquam; Edgar Anthony, Manchester; Mrs. F. M. Estes, Manchester; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Buswell, ex-Governor and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Helen Semple, Eastern Point; Mrs. Jacob L. Loose, Eastern Point; Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Davis, Annisquam; Mr. and Mrs. James A. Green, Magnolia; Mrs. Edith M. Binney, Magnolia; Mrs. H. H. Barton, Jr., Magnolia; Mrs. W. A. Ramsey, Magnolia; Mrs. W. P. Tams, Magnolia; Mrs. James C. Dunn, Wenham; Mrs. Frank D. Stranaham, Bass Rocks.

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS

With sixty-four more numbers than were shown in the last display, the Gloucester Society of Artists is holding from July 25 to August 18 the largest exhibition of paintings, etchings, and sculpture it has held since its founding in 1922. One of the best features, according to Oscar Anderson, competent president of the organization, is the fact that it is non-jury. Because of this, those whose work may seem to them obviously inferior to those hung perhaps right beside it are spurred to greater effort, and each display becomes therefore better in quality than its predecessor.

There is much that is of interest to layman and artist alike to be seen in this large gallery on Eastern Point road. Screens have been provided in the large central room to take care of the extra large number of exhibits. The large room is devoted almost entirely to oils, the rear room is hung with water colors and small oils, the other small room with pencil drawings, etchings, woodcuts and charcoal sketches.

Among the oils, "An Island Haven," by Marion T. MacIntosh, is a subtle thing in its light and shade effects, idealistic in treatment. Antoinette Inglis again brightens the gallery with some charming groups of children. "On the Beach" and "Summer" are delightful in coloring, expression, and treatment. The "Mantel Mirror" by Lillian Giffon is an exquisite symphony of tone and color. Margaret Fitzhugh Brown adds to her laurels as a portrait painter with "Phyllis," an excellently done little girl in hat and coat, carrying a satchel. The Ahl family have contributed generously to the field of art, with the father and mother and son all painters, and a beautiful thing called simply "Flowers," by Mrs. Eleanor Curtis Ahl, is filled with character and life. Roman J. Prybot's "First Snow" is a thing of realistic beauty. The sear browns of fall lightly covered by a typical first snow storm are enhanced by the excellent ariel perspective that Mr. Prybot has achieved. Emile Gruppe's "Sunday Afternoon" is an excellently done oil, vivid in coloring. Charles P. Gruppe contributes again one of his superior wharf scenes in "St. Peter's Day, Drying Sails," while Virginia Gruppe, the third member of this talented family, contributes "The Wharf" and "Bass Rocks," both well worthy of mention. Louis F. Berneker, who is an associate member of the National Academy of Design, displays an excellent portrait, "Miss Susan E. Barnett," very complete in detail, very finished, and finely done expression and coloring. "Tranquility" by Elsa Anshutz-Zeig is an unusual treatment of a light snow fall, showing the flakes themselves very obviously, and is quite decorative and attractive, although not purely realistic.

"An Arrangement," by Maud F. Berneker is an exquisite grouping of dahlias. True character and coloring of the flowers have been captured by the artist. Henry Curtis Ahl presents a beautiful and interesting thing in his "Near the Sea." An unusual subject for a large oil is that chosen by Benjamin Kratz of "Cruiser Yacht Race." Mr. Kratz has treated the subject with his usual talent and skill and presented a very interesting and excellently done colorful painting. Charles Allen Winter in his "Portrait Study" has brought out a warmth and luminosity of face against a dark background that is a masterpiece. Without being conspicuous, this picture with its skillful light and shadow and warm and cold tones, is radiant and captures the eye from anywhere in the room. "The Home Fleet" by Oscar Anderson with its wharves, boats, sea and fog, reflects the deep understanding and knowledge of the sea possessed by the artist. A charming "Lane in Provincetown" with its skillfully arranged light and shadow, and the realistic tone of the quaint houses is a delightful piece. Charles E. Dennison in his "Echo Lake in Early April," creates an atmosphere of exquisite tranquil beauty. Laz Sea shows another phase of the versatility of F. L. Stoddard with its opalescent, delicate shadings of sea and sky. Alice Beach Winter adds to her reputation as a children's portrait painter with several replicas of child life. "Summer," a picture of a little girl trying to catch a butterfly that has perched on one of the many hollyhocks in the foreground, is a picture that one does not forget. The warmth and sunlight and softness of a summer day, the living real face of a child, have all been captured and skillfully expressed by the talented artist. The "Portrait of Virginia Higginson" is another that is well worthy of mention. How this young lady all of nine months old, was ever kept still long enough for an artist to capture so realistically and in such detail her entire pink rosebud of a self, is a mystery that will never be solved. An interesting flower grouping is one by Irma Rene Koen, "Day Lilies and Delphinium," having a background of glittering gold, and being very detailed in outline. A portrait of "Dr. Harvey Towle," by Jean Nutting Oliver, shows an exceptionally good character portrayal in the interesting face, while Eben F. Comings provides more evidence of his ability at likenesses with a portrait of "Robert Callahan." A portrait sketch of "Prince Mataafa Malietoa," by Omer Lassond is very individual in the quality of color used. "Flowers," by Priscilla Phinney is an interesting group of canterbury bells and foxglove that are excellently done in color and detail of character. "On a Yesteryear," by Mae Bennet Brown is outstanding for the light effects through a curtain which forms the background. Cross lights, light from within and the light from out of doors shining in, is a difficult and skillfully done effect. A very pleasing and restful landscape is one by Courtland Butler, architect and painter, of "Old Connecticut Rope Mill." Charles A. Murphy has contributed another landscape similar to that which won first place in the voting held by the children who visited the first exhibit. Purple mountains and deep green foliage make an attractive landscape scene. John C. E. Taylor in a still life, "Primroses," secures by light and shade and detailed work an excellent effect in the cloth covering the stand, in the metal vase, and in the flowers themselves. Rather hard in treatment but complete in its effect, this small piece is very interesting. John Cook, whose work needs no description, contributes two excellent pieces, "The Taggart House, Eastern Point," and "Gloucester Fishing Craft."

Among the black and whites, "Wharf Scene" by Anthony Thieme, and "Wayside Inn" by the same man, are excellently done. "Building the Ship" and "The Killer," by H. Boylston Dummer are interesting in their completeness of effect in a unique manner of treatment. Althea Platt's "An English Garden" shows clever treatment, while "The Lone Pine" by Love Porter is an exquisitely delicate thing. John M. Buckley contributes two very interesting pieces, "Viano" and "Annie and Olga."

In the array of sculpture, Olympio Brindesi exhibits three very interesting examples of his work. "Baby with Fish," is an original and intricate work, and "Swimming" and "Beaver" are also well worthy of mention. Helen S. Davis with her "Alone" has attracted much comment and praise, the subject being a very forlorn appearing and dejected, droopy hound. "Reflection" by Gertrude Fosdick, shows great talent as does "Portrait of Mrs. B." a bas relief and exceedingly well done.

Altogether, the collection is one exceptional in its quantity, quality, and variety, and the opportunity to see it offered from 10 to 6 on week days and from 2 to 6 on Sundays is one which should not be missed.

ALICE M. AMBLER, A. B.
(VASSAR)
PRIVATE TUTOR
French. German. Latin, English.
Spanish. Algebra. Etc.
16 Highland Street, E. Gloucester
Tel. 3125-W

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR
For Your Child, ages 10 to 16
Competent Young Instructor
Tutoring at Your Own Home
Write P. O. Box No. 316, Gloucester

Office Open Day and Night.
Tel. Con.
WILLARD S. PIKE
Funeral Director
and Embalmer
Shipping, Transfer and Crematory Work
75 Washington Street
Gloucester Mass.

AWNINGS
And Yacht Equipment
UNITED SAIL LOFT CO., Inc.
Foot of Pearce St.
71 Wharf St. Tel. Conn.

NORTH SHORE INN
Magnolia-by-the-Sea
Massachusetts
Charming Homelike Atmosphere
[Booklet on request]
Good Food--Reasonable Rates
Tune in Wednesday morning, 9-10
WHDH

SUPERIOR DYE HOUSE
12 MAIN ST.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Work Called For and Delivered
Anywhere on Cape Ann
Cleaning, Pressing, and Alterations.
Telephone 2644
Satisfaction Guaranteed

LITTLE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

actors but the characters themselves which they portray, and sweep their audience along with them. The scenic artists have been exceptionally clever throughout the season in securing excellent effects in all their plays, and Miss Lulu Bett was no exception. The interior of the Deacon home attracted much praise and the exterior quite equalled it.

Patrons regretfully realize that the season is drawing to a close, and all will be glad to hear that there is a rumor of there being at the end, a repertory week during which the school plans to put on two plays. As yet those plays selected are but tentative and perhaps we are presuming in mentioning them. But those who would like to see Anna Christie again or those who missed it, will be happy to learn that this is one of the plays under serious consideration. The second may be Torchbearers," a farce that is unequalled for laughs and action and excitement.

This week the Little Theatre presents: "Mr. Pim Passes By" by A. A. Milne, and next week's performance will be: "Melloney Hotspur" by Masefield.

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

On the same bill at the North Shore Theatre, starting Thursday, August 13th for three days, is "Sweepstakes," another excellent picture.

A story of the race track with the usual plot of this type of picture — the misfortunes and final reinstatement of a dethroned jockey. It is saved from mediocrity by the easy performance of James Gleason, who played the part of the trainer, and by the boyishness of the star. (Stars: Eddie Quillan, James Gleason and Marion Nixon. Sound.)

Ernst Lubitsch, conceded by many to be the foremost director of motion pictures, has turned out another fast-paced, buoyant entertainment, "The Smiling Lieutenant," starring the inimitable Frenchman, Maurice Chevalier.

"The Smiling Lieutenant" is a typical Lubitsch production. Its humor is sly, sophisticated and, at times, boisterously robust. From the story of a gay and carefree military officer who loves one girl and is forced to marry another, a princess of royal blood, he has fashioned a romantic comedy of indescribable charm which critics and audiences throughout the country have labeled his most entertaining picture since the advent of talking pictures.

In addition to Chevalier, who, incidentally, sings any number of gay, intimate songs, this Paramount-Lubitsch production features two comely and talented leading ladies, Claudette Colbert and Miriam Hopkins, not to forget Charlie Ruggles and George Barbier cast in perfectly grand comedy roles.

"The Smiling Lieutenant" will be shown at the North Shore Theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, August 9, 10, 11, 12.

PARKING REGULATIONS

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Attention is called to the following extracts from an ordinance governing automobile traffic passed June 6, 1930.

Section One. During the months of June, July, August and September the following traffic regulations shall be effective for vehicles:

Parking Prohibited at All Times

Pleasant street, between Main and Warren streets, Short street.

Easterly side of Centre street.

Pearce street, from Rogers to Main street.

Westerly side of Water street from Main to Rogers street.

Within 15 feet of any hydrant on any street.

Westerly side of Elm street from Main to Prospect street; easterly side from Main street to the southern end of the Recreation Alleys.

Easterly side of School street from Middle street to Mason street, and on School street from Proctor street to Middle street after 11 P.M.

Northerly side of Middle street from Pleasant street to Washington street.

Northerly side of Main street, from a point opposite the westerly side of Porter street to Washington street.

Easterly side of Chestnut street.

All protected crossings.

Easterly side of Hancock street from Middle to Rogers street or on such portions of westerly side as are designated by white traffic lines.

Restricted Parking

Main street, from Washington to Vincent street, 30 minutes between 6 A.M. and 6 P.M., except on Saturday when the restricted parking extends to 10 P.M.

Center street, westerly side but only within a distance of 30 feet from Main street and 30 feet from Middle street.

Middle street, southerly side, from Pleasant to Washington street, for a period not exceeding one hour.

Dale avenue, westerly side only, in a diagonal position with the left rear wheel or right front wheel against the curb.

One Way Streets

Southerly side of Western avenue, from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for east bound traffic.

Northerly side of Western avenue from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for west bound traffic.

Federal street, travel only in an easterly direction, from Pleasant street to Elm street, no parking on either side.

Short street, one way north from Main street.

Hancock street, from Middle street to Main street, one way south.

Nautilus road, one way south between Bass avenue and Bass Rocks road.

Duncan street, one way south from Main street to Rogers street parking on westerly side only.

Arlington street, Annisquam one way in a southeasterly direction.

Chestnut street, one way south, parking only on westerly side.

Middle street, from Dale avenue to Pleasant street, one way east.

Warren street, one way west, parking on both sides.

Protected Crossings

Across Prospect street at Union hill; across Spring street at the westerly side of Union hill; across Main street at the North Shore Theatre; across Main street at the Olympia Theatre; across Main street at the Postoffice and Trust Company; at the Gloucester National Bank; from the Masonic Block to W. G. Brown & Company's store; from the A. & P. store to Herricks' fruit store; across Pleasant street, at the Postoffice; across Duncan street on Main street; across Hancock street on both sides the street.

Porter street, one way south, parking only western side.

Traffic lights in operation Main street, foot of Commercial, P. O. Square; Prospect street, near M. E. Church.

DANIEL M. CASEY,
City Marshal.

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE

No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st except by written permission of the Chief of the Fire Department or the Fire Warden.

Persons wishing to burn rubbish, grass, etc., in the business or residential sections of the city, i. e. within the limits established by the Eastern avenue School on Eastern avenue and the cut bridge on Western avenue and the Green on Washington street, should apply to the Chief of the Fire Department. Those wishing to burn rubbish, brush, grass, etc., in the outlying portions of the city, that is outside of the limits as here set forth, whose fire would be on or near any wood, brush or grasslands, should apply to the Fire Warden.

Readers of this notice are cautioned to be extremely careful of matches, cigars and cigarettes while in or near any wood or brushland to prevent forest fires.

HOMER R. MARCHANT,
Chief of the Fire Department.
ALBERT C. LA BELLE,
Fire Warden.

Magnolia Real Estate
SEA SHORE ESTATES
Cottages, Bungalows, Shops
JONATHAN MAY
Shore Road, Magnolia, Mass. Tel. Magnolia 426-R.

Gloucester Auto Bus Co.
Exclusive Street Passenger Transportation on Cape Ann, Gloucester and East Gloucester, Annisquam, Lanesville, Pigeon Cove, Rockport, West Gloucester, Essex, Magnolia, Manchester.
Starter's Office 114 Main Street
Information Telephone 2195 Telephone 1675

THE PATTILLO STORE
THE FINEST LINE OF SUMMER FURNITURE, SCREENS, MATTRESSES, RUGS, ETC., ON THE NORTH SHORE. UPHOLSTERING DONE BY SKILLED WORKMAN
A·MANTON PATTILLO
Fine Assortment of Vudor Shades for the Piazza
C. F. TOMPKINS CO.
67 MIDDLE STREET GLOUCESTER

THEY THAT GO DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS
1623 - 1923

Rooted Deep

"As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm,
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."
—GOLDSMITH.

- Commercial Banking
- Savings Accounts
- Club Accounts
- Safe Deposit Boxes
- Storage Vault
- Foreign Exchange
- Travellers Cheques
- Bond Department
- Travel Service

A Bank that started 132 years ago and is the oldest Bank in the State must be deep rooted. A Bank that has withstood all the hard times and financial and industrial changes down from Washington's time must have a certain inherent strength.

We offer you strength; a background of tradition, efficient service, and friendly co-operation.

The Oldest Bank in the State, the Seventh Oldest in the United States; a depository for City, County, State and U. S. Funds, and favored with an account from hundreds of firms and individuals on the Cape.

May We be Favored With Your Gloucester Business?

GLOUCESTER NATIONAL BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE CITY

OLDEST BANK IN MASSACHUSETTS

One of the steps in the preparation of codfish for the market. Drying and curing whole codfish at the Gorton-Pew Fisheries

You Are Cordially Invited—

OUR door is always open. And we are always glad to show visitors the fascinating processes employed in our plant. See how we take fish fresh from the ocean and prepare them for the tables of America's discriminating housewives. There is no more interesting sight in all of quaint old Gloucester.

If it were only possible to transport some of the charm of Gloucester back home—its romantic harbor, its curious old streets and homes, its atmosphere of the sea. Although this is impossible you may have a reminder of pleasant Gloucester days in sending to your home some of our delicious fish products. For this purpose we put up a special combination box. It is an attractive carton containing a popular assortment of Gorton's Sea Foods. Neatly packed ready for shipment. These tasty and popular sea foods will introduce you to new delights in fish eating.

The same offer is extended to all-year-round and summer-time residents. Visit us and see for yourselves how one of America's oldest and most interesting industries operates. You are cordially invited.

Gorton's Sea Food Family

GORTON'S CODFISH
GORTON'S READY-TO-FRY COD FISH CAKES
GORTON'S FRESH MACKEREL IN CANS
GORTON' SALAD FISH
GORTON'S DEEP SEA ROE
GORTON'S CODFISH IN CANS
GORTON'S FINNAN HADDIE
GORTON'S FLAKED FISH
GORTON'S MANHATTAN CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S DOWN EAST CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S HADDOCK CHOWDER

Gorton-Pew Fisheries
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Founded in 1849

1885 - 1931

THE BOSTON STORE

WILLIAM G. BROWN COMPANY, Gloucester, Mass.

The Largest Store of the North Shore Covering a City Block from PLEASANT, MAIN and ELM STREETS
29 Departments. Largest Dry Goods Floor Space East of Boston. POST OFFICE SQUARE

The Department Store of Service where Summer Shopping is made pleasant.

In Gloucester on the North Shore you will find this store a well appointed, pleasant store in which to do your shopping on a warm summer's day.

It will be a pleasure and also afford you great satisfaction in knowing that you can come here and select quality merchandise at lowest possible prices.

Trade in Gloucester at the Big Store of the North Shore

One of the North Shore's Finest
BEAUTY SHOPS

4 Booths—2 Bobber Chairs
2 Manicure Tables

Marcel Waving
Shampooing
Manicuring
Facials
French Curling
Hair Dyeing
Hair Tinting
Permanent Waving
Hair Dressing
Hair Bobbing and Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting by Experts.

Atwater Kent, Majestic, Victor and Radiola Radios

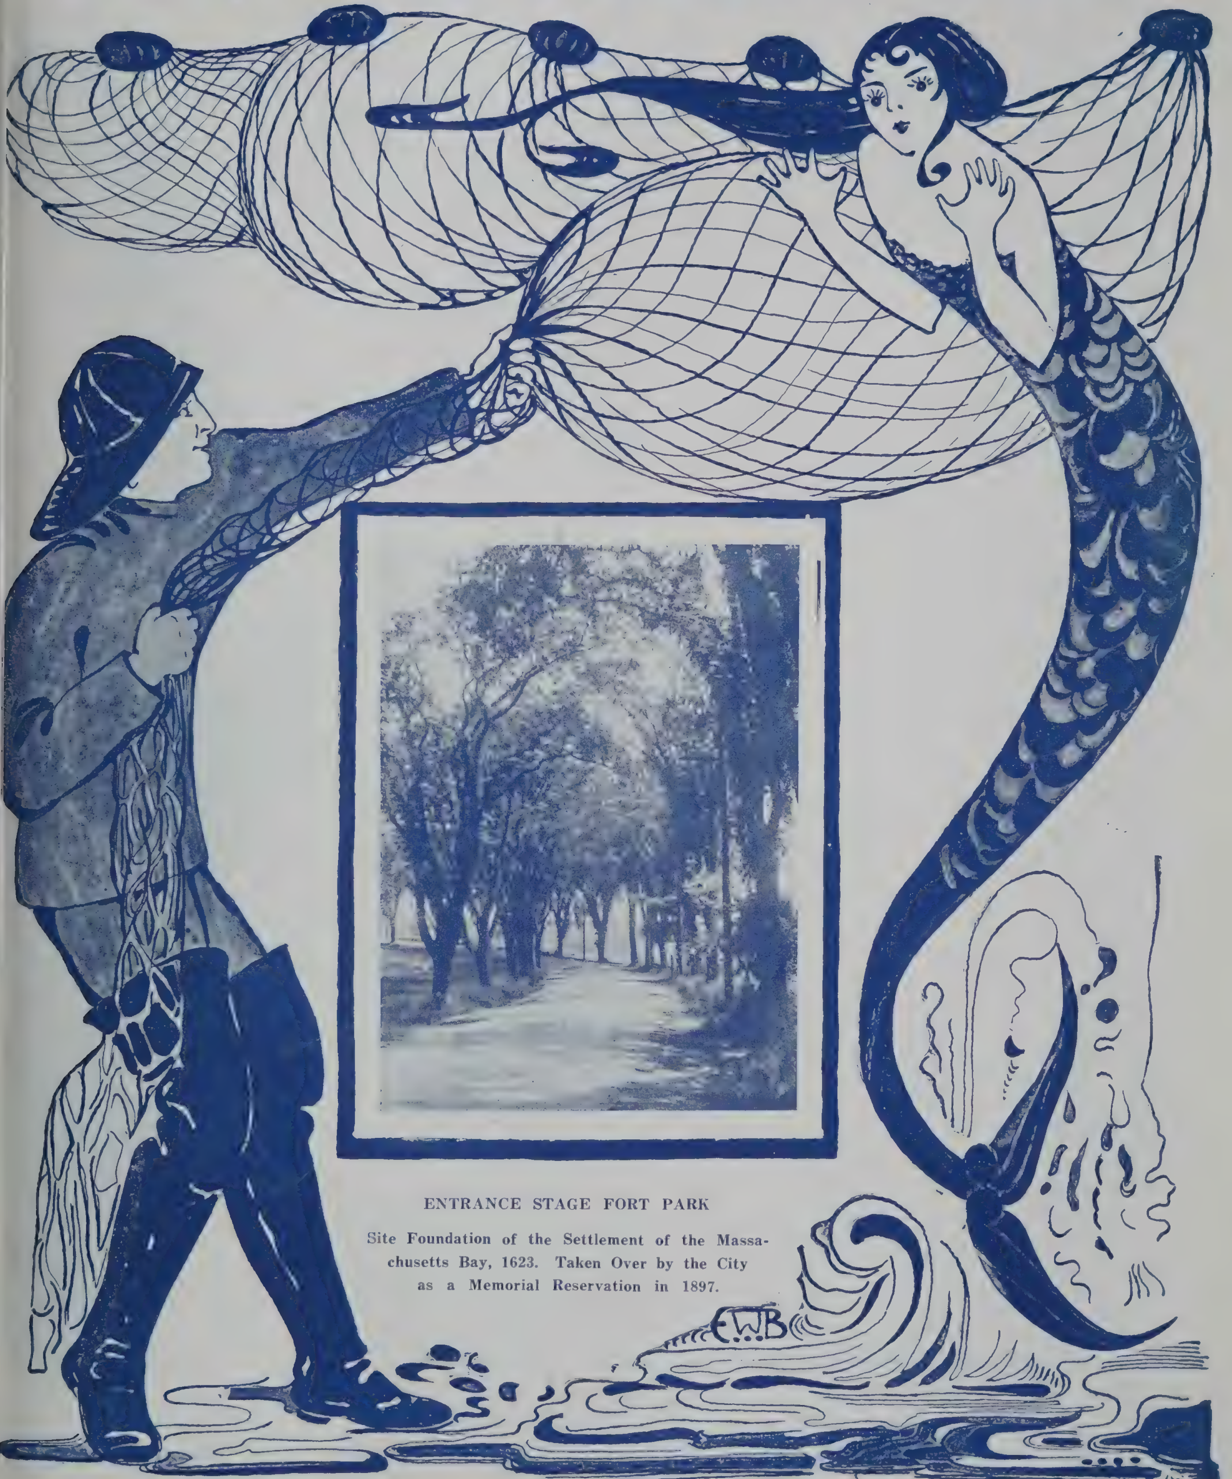
Largest Line on Cape Ann
Expert Installation

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

New Soda Fountain and Luncheonette
(MAIN FLOOR)
Best Food and Service
Afternoon Tea

Agnes Lee

CAPE ANN SHORE



ENTRANCE STAGE FORT PARK

Site Foundation of the Settlement of the Massachusetts Bay, 1623. Taken Over by the City as a Memorial Reservation in 1897.

Vol. XXXVI
August 15, 1931

PUBLISHED BY
The Cape Ann Publishing Co.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

No. 6
Price 10 Cents

C. S. NAUSS (Established 1837) L. H. NAUSS

L. B. Nauss & Sons

"NAUSS LUMBER"

LUMBER

LIME

CEMENT

BUILDING SUPPLIES

"Everything to Build Anything"

Telephones 195-196-197

RAILROAD AVE.,

GLOUCESTER, MASS.

They add a subtle touch of distinction to hospitality

Resplendent, efficient electric appliances make entertaining so satisfying and convenient

Drop into our store and see these wonderful aids to entertaining — electric percolator, electric coffee urn, electric waffle iron, electric toaster. We're glad to show them—whether you buy or not.

GLOUCESTER ELECTRIC COMPANY

Telephone 1250 Telephone 1250

The F. C. POOLE SHOPS

Bond's Hill, Gloucester

BRANCH SHOPS

359 Western Ave. And House Opposite

ANTIQUES—We have a fine collection of Early American and English pieces at our show rooms on Western Avenue and on Bond's Hill.

REPRODUCTIONS—As fine as we can make them, true copies of the originals. Our craftsmen can create for you any piece that you may have in mind.

UPHOLSTERED PIECES—Made in our own work shop on Bond's Hill. We specialize in comfortable davenports, sofas, chairs, chaise longues—anything that you may wish made to order.

DRAPERIES—Our selection of chintzes, linens, drapery and upholstery materials is worthy of your consideration.

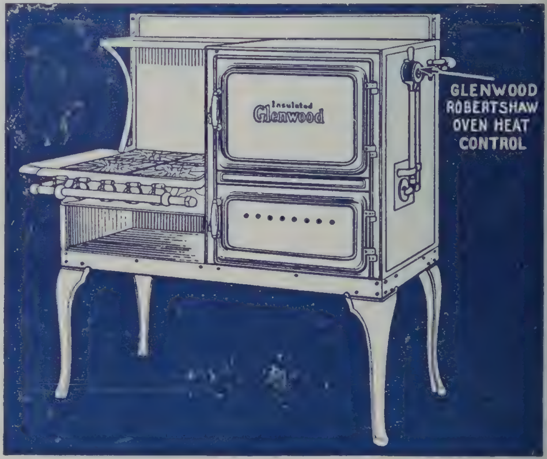
UPHOLSTERED SPRINGS AND MATTRESSES—Made to order of the best quality materials and very comfortable.

We know you will enjoy a visit to our shops.

EFFIE POOLE KEFFER, Proprietor

ENJOY YOUR SUMMER WITH A

New Glenwood Insulated Range



Insulated Glenwood
GLENWOOD ROBERTSHAW OVEN HEAT CONTROL

"You can do it better with Gas"

GLOUCESTER GAS LIGHT CO.

96 MAIN STREET Telephone 570

1896—OLDEST ESTABLISHED SUMMER RESORT PUBLICATION ON THE NORTH SHORE—1931

THE CAPE ANN SHORE

THIRTY-SIXTH SEASON

Gloucester, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Long Beach, Briar Neck.

Land's End, Rockport, Pigeon Cove, Annisquam and River Territory, Fernwood, Magnolia, Manchester and Essex County.

Published Weekly, 8 times during July and August by the CAPE ANN PUBLISHING CO., James R. Pringle, Conductor, 95 Main Street, Gloucester. 75 cents the season on Cape Ann; elsewhere, $1.00. Tels. 412-W, 412-R.

"Entered as second-class matter July 16, 1920, at post office, Gloucester, Mass., under Act of March 3, 1879."

Special Contents, August 15, 1931

EDITORIALS:
Good Harbor Beach Airport
Eastern Point a Public Reservation

TRIBUTE TO THE SEA AT PIGEON COVE
By Ralph Waldo Emerson

SEA SERPENT AT GLOUCESTER

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING
By C. Anne Shore

ART AND DRAMATIC
Being a Review of Theatrical Topics and the Artist Colony

NEWS OF THE SUMMER COLONY
Manchester, Magnolia, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Briar Neck, Land's End, Rockport Center, Pigeon Cove, The Annisquam Region, The Cape Ann Countyside

THE WEEK'S YACHTING

A HOUSE OF SERVICE

GLOUCESTER COAL AND LUMBER COMPANY

For twenty-five years the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company have endeavored to give to the residents of Cape Ann all that there is in the way of service.

Starting as a coal yard in 1906 the company has steadily increased its services until now it is capable of merchandizing literally anything from thumb tacks to a home complete, from planning to financing.

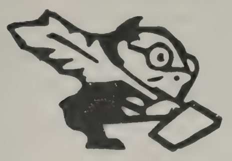
At the present time the company occupies two large wharves in Gloucester harbor, receiving the majority of its coal and lumber by water. The finished lumber and flooring is brought in by rail and stored in a heat regulated warehouse. The heating plant in this building is arranged to provide a constant temperature with a low rate of humidity thus assuring all lumber of being perfectly dry and free from shrinkage.

Included in the five acres of floor space are four large warehouses, a fully equipped mill, a garage and machine shop, a cement shed, and the coal pockets. In addition the company has this year added a new paint and hardware store carrying a full line of painters' supplies, carpenters' tools and hardware for the home and builder.

The Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company maintain offices in Gloucester, Rockport, Manchester, and Magnolia; free estimation service for any type of building as well as a planning and financing department. The company is also exclusive agent on the North Shore for the electric furnace man.

GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO., -:- 43 Duncan Street

Telephones 3060—3061—3062



Here's the year on the wane,
From the night-shrouded hill,
Comes the katydid's strain,
And the wind's whistle shrill.
But two hearts may contain
All the spring's music still
When the year's on the wane.—Anon.

GOOD HARBOR BEACH AIRPORT

Municipal Action in Granting Glider Privilege First Step to That End—Ground Always Common Property from Colonial Days

Action of importance and significance was taken this spring when the Municipal Council issued a permit to the Cape Ann Glider Club to use the upland of Little Good Harbor Beach for its flying grounds. The club had previously pre-empted a part of the area for such use.

There has been much discussion in regard to the locus of an airport during the past three years, but here, it seems, is the most indicated location on the Cape. It is central, borders the sea, low lying, smooth, with no obstructions, ideally situated for take off and approach by land and sea. Such occupancy as is being made of the premises by the Glider Club may prove to be the beginning of this larger use.

Furthermore, it marks an aggressive step in the assertion of the city to the title of the property. Some years ago other certain persons had asserted ownership to this upland. The city held that all the terrain from the creek on the western end eastward to Briar Neck and bounded on the north beyond the trestle was public property. The claimants contesting this, the matter went to the Land Court. The city appeared fully equipped to show its title. But the claimants defaulted; failed to appear. For some reason or other they declined to test the validity of their claims. So the judge dismissed the case "without prejudice" which means that the claimants may again assert proprietorship if so inclined. But no such inclination has been shown.

Perhaps no more interesting history of "shore acres" than this entire strip to Land's End may be told along the coast. A little history is necessary to get the perspective. Back in colonial times, Cape Ann was all Gloucester. The territory from the tip of Eastern Point almost to the Turk's Head Inn in Rockport was set off as common ground as a place where settlers of that locality might cut wood—it being thickly forested at the time. More than 275 years passed, the inhabitants of the locality were few and continued few, mainly engaged in the humble occupation of inshore fishing.

The land denuded of its wood was not considered of sufficient value to claim and pay taxes on. So it reverted to Noman's land. Some 35 years ago it began to assume value with the rise of Bass Rocks as a summer colony. The street railroad was continued along the trestle to Long Beach. Of a sudden people began to see the possibilities of Briar Neck for camping purposes. No one owned the place so it became a popular diversion to go down there and stake out a claim on which some crude shacks were built, mainly of dry goods cases, and shanty town sprang up in a short time. The writer has some snap shots of various of these edifices. Finally to get some sort of title, a shrewd individual sought out one of the lobster fishermen of the locality whose forbears had been born and reared there and offered to buy the land in order to get a semblance of a quitclaim title to work from. The consideration was a horse and buggy which the lobsterman had always had an ambition to drive and in that manner he achieved his desire before his demise. The claim was good enough, the only one presented to get valid title in the Land Court, the squatters being allowed to purchase their holdings at a nominal price. And that was the beginnings of the Briar Neck colony.

In 1840 the north side of the Cape was set off and the town called Rockport, the dividing line to the sea on the southward coming out just beyond Briar Neck on the western end of Long Beach. So this part of this common for wood cutting came into possession of Rockport with any town landings that might exist. The Rockport town fathers, in distinction to the Gloucester officials, didn't allow the property to get out of the town's grasp. No squatters or phony claims were put over on them. So that's why you will find just over the line that Rockport retains its corporate title to the Long Beach property and upland, the cottagers having a leasehold right from the town.

The entire stretch was common ground allowed to get out of the city's hands by incapacity or worse. But not so Rockport. And that's how the case stands.

(Continued on page 19)

EASTERN POINT A PUBLIC RESERVATION

Move to that End in Motion for Legislative Consideration — Populace of the Country to be Invited Here Ad Lib.

A bill has been drafted and it is stated will be presented to the incoming Legislature having for its object the taking by eminent domain of the private road on the southerly side of Gloucester harbor leading to the Eastern Point lighthouse as a public boulevard.

By its provisions, one-third of the cost is to be defrayed by state, county and city. If this is passed, and the bill has much to commend to the outside public, then the whole of Eastern Point will be virtually a public reservation, for although the bill, as we read it, does not include the back stretch by Brace's Cove, the probability is that will be the final step in the proposition.

This bill is being advanced by local interests. For whose benefits are we called upon to pay what will undoubtedly be large land damages? Not for the citizens of Gloucester, who by a convention which is a part of the city records are given access to the place, together with their summer hotel guests.

Does the public necessity and convenience of the citizens of Gloucester demand this? There are plenty of beaches, those at Stage Fort, Pavilion Beach, so-called, then coming down to Little Good Harbor and Long Beaches, the latter controlled by Rockport. On the north side of the Cape, the bank of the Annisquam is one continuous bathing beach, Plum and Folly Coves are other beaches of this character, and at West Gloucester the bathing beach at Farm Point left to Gloucester citizens by Mrs. Hawks. Then there are hundreds of swimming holes known to the boys. As a matter of fact, the crowds coming into town whom the proponents of this bill seem anxious to cater to will prefer any of these beaches to Niles. If there were no other beach than Niles on the Cape there might be some sort of an argument for the proposition.

Will the incoming of crowds at East-

(Continued on page 19)

Emerson's Tribute to the Sea at Pigeon Cove

(Note—In the '50s a group of "Intellectuals" from the Brook Farm Colony came down to Pigeon Cove for the summer. Among them were Ralph Waldo Emerson, Longfellow, Alcott, Thoreau, Margaret Fuller and others. Returning from one of these visits, Emerson wrote the following apostrophe. Summer residents of Pigeon Cove had it inscribed on a tablet and placed in a conspicuous position for some years. Tablet now in possession of Pigeon Cove Historical Society.)

Returned from Pigeon Cove where we have made acquaintance with the sea seven days. 'Tis a noble, friendly power and seemed to say to me, "Why so late and slow to come to me? Am I not always thy proper summer home? Is not my voice needful music, my breath thy healthful climate in the heat, my touch thy cure? Was ever couch so magnificent as mine? Lie down on my warm ledges and learn that a very little hut is all you need. I have made this architecture superfluous and it is paltry beside mine. Here are twenty Romes and Ninevehs and Karnaks in ruins together. Here they all are prostrate or half piled. And behold the sea, the opaline, the beautiful, strong, yet beautiful as the rose or the rainbow, full of food, nourishers of men, purgers of the world creating a sweet climate and in its unchangeable ebb and flow and in its beauty at a few furlongs giving a hint of that which changes not and is perfect."

Art and Dramatic

THE LITTLE THEATRE

The members of the Gloucester School of the Little Theatre outdid themselves on Friday and Saturday nights with their presentation of A. A. Milne's "Mr. Pim Passes By." A play vibrating with Milne humor, it lost nothing of its clever and smart comedy in the interpretation given by the excellent and well chosen cast. Arthur G. Sharp, Jr., as the conservative English country gentleman, George Marden, was nothing short of perfect and was greatly enjoyed by the audience. Katherine Raht as Olivia Marden, his wife (until Mr. Pim upsets everything by his quiet assertion that he knows Mrs. Marden's first husband, making them all think that he is not dead at all) is superb. She not only looks the part to perfection, but lives it and captivates her audience from the start. Russell Bailey's playing of the part of Mr. Pim could not have been improved upon. He never slipped out of character for a moment and equalled anything ever done by the best of professionals. The two young things whose romance was another motivating factor to the plot, done excellently by John Mann and Felice Leeds, were charmingly natural

(Continued on page 25)

One of the Publix Theatres

North Shore Theatre

Home of
PARAMOUNT PICTURES
The Most Select Following
in the City
EXCELLENT VENTILATION.
ALWAYS 20 DEGREES COOLER THAN OUTSIDE.
CONTINUOUS FROM 1.30 TO 10.30 P.M.

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
August 16, 17, 18 and 19
"POLITICS"
Marie Dressler and Polly Moran
A Metro Comedy Sensation

BIG DOUBLE FEATURE BILL
Thursday, Friday and Saturday
August 20, 21 and 22
"INDISCREET"
With Gloria Swanson
"FIFTY FATHOMS DEEP"
With Jack Holt
Also Selected Short Subjects

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

Picking a chicken may mean just housework to some women, but to Marie Dressler it meant her first act before a camera after her promotion to full-fledged stardom.

For this is how she first is disclosed in "Politics," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy in which she and Polly Moran romp through the mazes of a municipal election. The new picture will come Sunday to the North Shore Theatre.

Miss Dressler is a home-loving housewife who, when she becomes disgusted with political conditions in her town, turns into a swashbuckling candidate for mayoress, throws the gauntlet down to the political machine, rallies the women's vote, stages a "husband strike" to make the men fall into line—and rides to official triumph amid raids and recriminations, thrills and even a few heart-throbs.

Has Dramatic Angle

Essentially comedy, the story has its dramatic moments, giving Miss Dressler an opportunity for some of the character interpretation that marked her roles in "Anna Christie" or "Min and Bill," together with antics more suggesting "Caught Short" and "Reducing." Incidentally, the director of the latter two pictures, Charles

(Continued on page 25)

SEA SERPENT AT GLOUCESTER

One of the Six Instances His Appearance is Considered Proved—First Seen Here in 1639—"Lyons" Also About that Time—Then in 1817—Again in the Eighties.

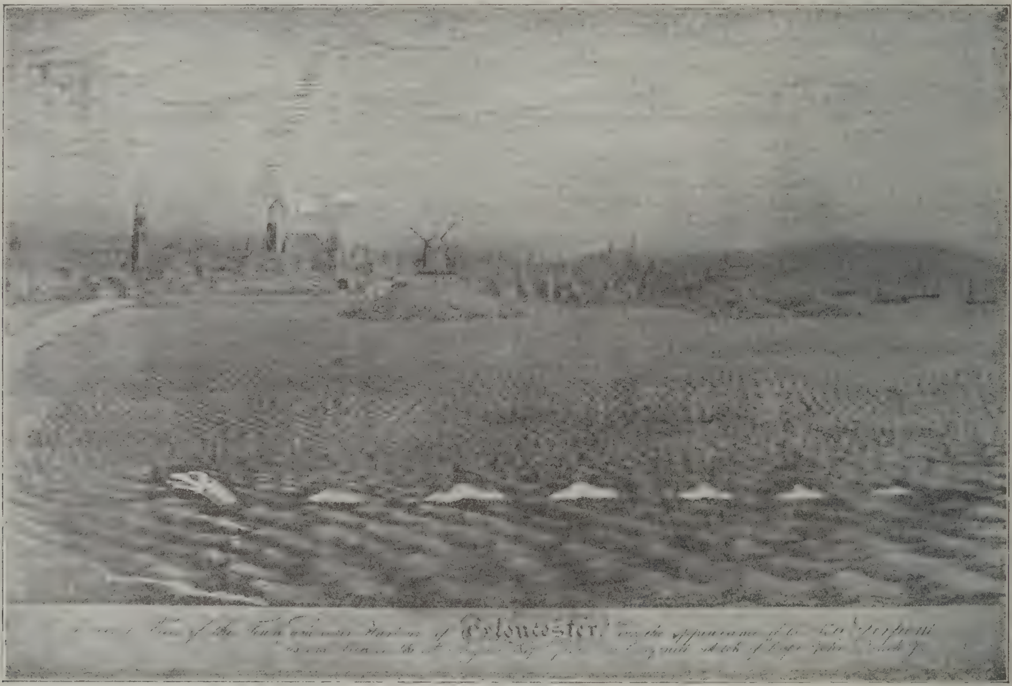
IN THE ILLUSTRATED London News of November 30 last appeared an illustrated article entitled, "The Case for the Sea Serpent," in which it was stated that there were six accredited instances recorded of the appearance of this sea-monster which appeared to demonstrate that there was such a denizen of the deep. The author of the article was Lieutenant-Commander R. T. Gould, R. N. (retired), who had evidently given much time and study to this matter.

Among the instances when such a monster was observed attested by credible witnesses was by the officers and crew of H. M. S. "Plumper," April 4, 1849; by the ship "Valhalla" off Brazil in 1906; by Captain Hazelfort, surveyor of the River Thames, who observed a long serpentine neck creature in The Wash in 1923 and of the other of the half dozen instances adduced, modern and not so modern, was that of the appearance of the monster in "the harbour at Gloucester, in New England in August, 1817."

Sea serpents were early observed in New England waters. According to Josselyn's account, see Massachusetts Historical Collection, Volume XXIII, page 228, a visitor to these shores was told (it appears he didn't see the animal) that a great sea serpent or snake laid coiled up like a cable upon a rock at Cape Ann. A boat passed by with Englishmen aboard with two Indians as pilots. The English, it is stated, would have shot the serpent but were dissuaded by the Indians "that if he were not killed outright all would be in danger of their lives." This tale seems somewhat reminiscent of something we ran across in our school days when poring into Grecian mythology.

It may be said that about this same time in the 1630's, veracious chroniclers wrote home to England of the wonders of the new country stating "that Lyons have been seen at Cape Anne" and that their roars could be heard. So there you are.

Well, it doesn't appear that this monster put in another appearance until some 114 years later when in August, 1817, he boldly stalked or swam into Gloucester Harbor where he was seen by about the entire populace hanging round for a couple of weeks. His appearance made a great sensation throughout the country and the New England Linnæan Society thought the matter was of sufficient warrant to demand a strict investigation.



View of Gloucester in 1817 on Appearance of the Sea-Serpent

Accordingly agents were sent down here and only the most reputable and reliable of the citizenry were examined under oath. Among these were Hon. Lonson Nash, the only and leading attorney of the town, who deposed that he saw the serpent at a distance of 250 yards. "It was so long," so runs his record, "that the two extremes were not visible with a telescope and he judged it to be a hundred feet in length. He perceived eight distinct prongs or bunches on its back.

The track of the big fish through the water was visible for a half mile and the progress of the animal over the surface was at the rate of a mile in four minutes, but when immersed it slowed down to two miles. His body was the size of a half-barrel, rough and of a dark color and in this latter particular all who saw him were agreed and all coincided with the general description.

A shipmaster and two of his men deposed that he approached this monster within 30 feet and when quite near the animal darted out its tongue—the extremity of which resembled a pronged harpoon — to the extent of two feet which he raised perpendicularly letting it rise and fall. When it raced through the water it attained a speed of 14 miles an hour.

Still another skipper saw the monster near at hand three times viewing it from a distance of 150 feet. He estimated the size at 80 or 90 feet, of the diameter of a half barrel. It turned "sharp and quick," the curves of its back resembling "the link of a chain," but when it appeared on the surface it disported itself in circles, the head paralleling the tail then shooting straight ahead.

Ten such depositions were taken, all agreeing in essentials. On August 14, "an experienced rifleman" lying in wait for the monster was rewarded by his appearance on the surface. The sharpshooter raised his trusty weapon and took careful aim. The account says that the period just before firing "were anxious moments." They were within 50 feet of him and if hit he might get riled and turn upon his pursuers. But "their fears were unfounded" and he sank immediately after the shot, passing directly under the boat coming up serenely "one hundred yards away."

Among those who made affidavit that he saw this monster was Col. T. H. Perkins, evidently sent here as an observer, the colonel deposing that he was within 250 yards of him. In the next month, September, a farmer near Little Good Harbor Beach killed a young sea-serpent with a pitchfork. He was exhibited a few days at the house of Capt. John Beach after which he was taken to Boston and examined by a committee of the Linnæan Society who pronounced it to belong to the same species as the sea serpent.

After that the serpent disappeared but was reported as being sighted in Long Island Sound. And that is the evidence on which Lieutenant-Commander Gould records the appearance of the serpent here as being vouched for beyond question as regards its authenticity. Testimony of citizens of the highest walks of life, the Linnæan Society of savants of Boston are not to be dismissed lightly.

A few weeks after a large fish of a strange species was washed ashore at Coffin's Beach and for a time was believed to be the sea serpent but was ultimately identified as a large horse mackerel.

But this was not all. Capt. John Beach, some time collector of the port, was "our special artist" and a view of the serpent was by him "taken on the spot" the locus being between Stage Head and what is now the Tavern. So great an interest did the account of this monster create throughout New England that an engraving of the drawing was made and circulated. In course of time all copies of these vanished. In August, 1892, just before the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of incorporation, a woman came to City Hall bearing a faint and age-discolored copy of this drawing. She asked and was paid $5 for it. It was reproduced by the writer and as far as known is the only copy in existence. We reprint the plate as it appeared in Pringle's History. There the serpent is shown plainly in the middle foreground. But the picture is valuable because as far as known it is the earliest picture of Gloucester from the outer harbor.

Where is now the Tavern was Windmill Hill on which was an octagonal windmill. Half way along the beach to the Cut Bridge on the upland was a ropewalk, the land now comprised in the eastern part of the Stacy esplanade. The church spire is that of the old First Parish Meeting House, demolished in 1828, for the present edifice. A golden cockerel greeted the morning sun and indicated the direction of the wind—prime information to sea-faring folk. What is now the fort was then Watch-house Neck with the fort dominating the hillock, approached through an avenue of pines. It is now the Italian quarter. A magnifying glass will assist the antiquarian in identifying other landmarks.

It will be noted that Capt. Beach, Capt. "Jack," as he was generally known, figured rather prominently in this matter. In addition to being Johnny on the spot with his pencil on this occasion, the infant sea-serpent, killed by the farmer at Little Good Harbor Beach, was also exhibited at his house.

The fame of Capt. "Jack" as a practical joker — of the very rough and ready brand of that period—has come down to modern times to him who runs through local annals and a suspicion has always haunted the writer that Capt. Jack knew more of this incident than he made known. Perhaps I do an injustice to that bon vivant, raconteur, hail fellow extraordinary, who brightened up the corner of the rather drab existence of a non-radio, newspaperless generation—the first newspaper did not appear in town until ten years later—by his quips and veracious recountings received with awe and astonishment by the habitues of the taverns as they quaffed their mugs of flip or Jamaicy with a slice of lemon or some other delectable condiment.

(Continued on page 22)

Del Monte's
ON THE NORTH SHORE
Magnolia,
Mass.

New Casino Opposite Norman's Woe, Commanding the Finest View on the North Atlantic—Ample Parking Space.

DANCING EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
With DEL MONTE'S FAMOUS ORCHESTRA

For Reservations of Tables—Phone Magnolia 590
A la carte J. P. Del Monte, Proprietor and Manager

TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE DISTINCTIVE MAGNOLIA

MAGNOLIA

THREE THOUSAND dollars is awaiting in the city treasury to the credit of the proposed extension of the parkway in the square. Some three years ago the Magnolia Improvement Society made a proposition to the city that if it would appropriate a similar amount, the association would contribute $3,000 toward the purchase of the jib piece of the land adjoining the square in order that it might not be bought and built upon to the detriment of the architectural dignity of the entrance to the village. The city accepted the offer and the money was appropriated. In the meantime, for some reason, it was stated at one time that the owner wanted a larger price—the Magnolia offer was withdrawn and the money returned to the subscribers. If the society ever changes its mind and renews the offer, the city's money stands appropriated. This addition, now that the new station at the end of the park is approaching completion, would materially tone up the appearance of this section.

City officials have always had their eye on a certain contingency which need not be named. It may or it may not happen. For that reason it maintains equipment second to none in the state—population considered—that it may be right on top of the event—should it occur—to nip it in the bud if possible. It did that on one occasion. In this one prime essential this service cannot be matched, population considered. In this important particular, the city has not been remiss.

Recent arrivals at the Oceanside include: Richard Malaby, E, J. Culhave, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnston, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Towne, Holyoke; George G. Wood, Frank H. Anthony, Providence; Mrs. M. E. Hewitt, J. Little, Mrs. M. Catherwood, Anne Boyd, Victor Roudin, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Griffin, Margaret Griffin, Peekskill, N. Y.; Madeline Odell, Bronxville; William H. Brown, Jr., F. Stockton, Pittsburgh; Mrs. A. Rex Flinn, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. K. Daingerfield, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Richard D. Wood, Selina R. Wood, Philadelphia; Mrs. E. H, Fetridge, Summit; Mrs. M, Packard, Baltimore; Lucy Greene, Mrs. E. B. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cunningham, Cleveland; P. W. Parsons, Cincinnati; George A. McCook, Pasadena.

At Hesperus Villa recent arrivals include: R. H. Tracy, Frances Burke, Brighton; Alice Egan, Margaret O'Donnell, Mrs. M. A. O'Donnell, Allston; Mr. and Mrs. G. Walter Lavins, Pittsfield; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. French, Sherborn; Richard W. Benjamin, Albany; Harriet C. Robinson, Schenectady; Elizabeth P. Robinson, New York; Helen E. Watlington, Bermuda.

Recent arrivals at the North Shore Inn include: N. E. Dwinell and niece, Ethel B. Svenson, Newton Centre; Mrs. John Bowering, Salem; Anna M. Conlan, Bradford; Mrs. William Deekes, New York City; Catherine A. Morgan, Providence; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Burt, Scarsdale; Mary E. McCoomb, Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Rogers, La Mesa, Calif.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. Sarah Taylor, who is stopping at the Inn entertained a group of friends at the sewing bee.

Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Burt, guests at the Inn, entertained at dinner Dr. Victor Carpenter and Mrs. H. H. Eames of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. McLaughlin of Chestnut Hill recently entertained at a dinner party on Saturday night seven members of his office staff from Boston.

Robert E. Lee Keeling of New York entertained on Saturday night at the Inn, Hamilton Campbell of Rockport, and on Sunday night, Mr. Ruess.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hamilton entertained at dinner on Sunday Mrs. E. J. Wellman of New York City.

C. M. Burt, who is stopping at the Inn, is chairman of the Trunk Lines in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Rogers, formerly of La Mesa, Calif., are stopping at the Inn and recently were the guests of their brother, Dudley P. Rogers, who is president of the Myopia Hunt Club and president and owner of the Hub Club, Commonwealth avenue, in Boston.

Magnolia Beach Club

Swimming parties, beach luncheons, and tennis, continue to lead the activities at the Magnolia Beach Club. Tennis and swimming lessons take up much of the young people's time, and there is continuous action and excitement prevailing around this attractive spot on the Magnolia shore.

Recent guests at the club include: Susan Plummer, Beverly Farms, guest of Mrs. Jas. Madison Todd; Prudence Wellman, Topsfield, guest of Mrs. J. M. Todd, Miss Marietta Withington, Brookline, guest of Pat Phelan; Philip and Richard K. Wick, Youngstown, guests of Mrs. Myron C. Wick; Constance Bradley, New Jersey, guest of H. Boyd; Barbara and Louise Seely, Boston, guest of J. E. McLaughlin; Frank J. Mitchell, Haverhill, and Edward H. Bonelli, Newton, guests of R. C. Duane.

Del Monte's

The Del Monte Casino continues to attract to its doors the elite of the North Shore, afternoons for bridge and tea dancing and evenings for dinner dancing. And small wonder when one considers its ideal location for dancing on summer nights. When oppressive heat makes the idea of dancing seem ridiculous, the cool and fresh breeze from the ocean is ever present and the Exhibition of Pastels, Drawings, Paintings, Water Colors

BY MARGARET SARGENT
At the F. C. POOLE SHOPS, Fresh Water Cove
Saturday, August 15 to Saturday, August 29

Notice to Water Takers

THE EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS imposed on the use of water last season on account of scarcity are removed. The usual rules are now in force.

The Water Board is pleased to announce that the Alewife Brook Water Basin, begun last summer, was completed in January and was filled to capacity within two months. While there is ample supply in storage in the four water basins, the Board wishes to caution against needless waste.

The Board takes this opportunity to express its thanks to the summer residents and citizens for their very general response to their request for economy in the use of water. This co-operation materially helped a very serious situation.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS OF CITY OF GLOUCESTER.

heat and depressing air of the city is soon forgotten in this enchanting atmosphere of refreshing relaxation and gaiety. In the space of a moment one may leave behind the scintillating assemblage of merry-makers and find himself standing on a grim New England coast line with a never-tiring ocean pounding at his feet.

On Saturday night those entertaining at Del Monte's included: Mr. and Mrs. William Bueling of Newton, party of eight; Charles Jopp of Boston, party of ten; Mrs. Shields of Magnolia, party of ten; Miss Eleanor Rowe of Magnolia, party of four; Miss Louise Fessenden, Magnolia, party of sixteen; E. B. Kitfield of Magnolia, party of six; Mrs. Grace Vickerman of Bass Rocks, party of fourteen; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Alderdice of Magnolia, party of ten; Mr. and Mrs. George Schenck of Magnolia, party of eight; Mrs. Harry Brown of Magnolia, party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brown of Bass Rocks, party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woods of Hamilton, party of eight; the Misses Fanny and Pauline Moore of Prides Crossing, party of ten; J. G. McNeil of Boston, party of fourteen; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Raphael of Marblehead, party of twelve; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Greiss of Hamilton, party of ten.

A charming birthday party occurred on Monday night given for Miss Elizabeth Gray of Briar Neck. Among those present were: Miss Mary Leigh Hodges of Philadelphia; Miss Ruth Bradlee of Manchester; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Gray, Brier Neck; Robert Callahan and Russell Spinney, Gloucester; Dr. Charles M. Gray, Brier Neck.

The Shore is enabled authoritatively to give the details of the Magnolia golf deal: The stockholders, mainly of Gloucester agree to wipe the common stock off the books and sell the land for $20,000. In return the Crewson interests engaged to construct in condition for play a nine-hole course.

At a meeting of the two contracting parties Friday night it was stated that a contractor had offered to build this nine-hole course for $45,000.

Thus on that basis the cost to the new holders will be about $65,000, plus. At the time of going to press the definite transfer which includes the money transfer had not been made.

ANNISQUAM

Miss Julianna Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Russell Smith, is the guest of Miss Marcia Fallon of Marblehead Neck.

Miss Ceci Cravath of Norwood's Heights has been the recent guest of Miss Henrietta Farnum, Augusta, Me.

Mrs. Greenfield Sluder of St. Louis has returned to the Pines on the Olga Lingard place at Annisquam for the econd season. With her is her mother, Mrs. Cochran. Her son John is on a yachting cruise along the coast down Long Island Sound to New York.

EAST GLOUCESTER

THE REMARK, "Well, the season is almost over," seems to be emphatically contradicted in the East Gloucester section of the shore. Judging from the number of arrivals during the past week, one should rather say that the climax of the season has just been reached. The influx of summer guests is larger than ever and the reservations at the hotels along the shore seem to be on the increase rather than the opposite.

At the Rockaway: C. E. Hanscour, F. F. Bradford, Boston; Alfred Cramer, Cambridge; M. A. Royses, E. E. Ironside, Alma A. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hartland, Worcester; Adelaide Renter, Mrs. Addie Renter, Norwood; Mrs. Harry F. Smith and son, Harry, Whitmarsh; Genevieve Foley, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bixby, Mrs. L. C. Watson, Utica; Mr. and Mrs. Randall LaBoeuf, Albany; Lawrence Wachs, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. George F. Thatcher, Maplewood; Louise Beery, Wilmington; Mrs. Grace Thorpe Gemberling, Mrs. Donald Cochran, Pa.; Meta E. Mencke, Madeline McW. Brown, Grace I. Frechater, Mrs. Anna M. Frechater, Philadelphia; Corinne B. Hardcastle, Germantown; Alice B. Doughten, Mrs. Isaac Doughten, Camden; Mrs. James C. Weaver, Mrs. Alfred Cramer, Jr., Moorestown; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Berrall, Bloomfield; Elizabeth J. Rendell, New Hartford, N. J.; Mrs. Reynolds Waystaff, Cordelia R. Groos, Mrs. W. L. Lee, James Benall, K. Benall, E. W. Benall, John F. Moore, C. B. Cooke, Washington; Mrs. Charles Trow, C. E. Mathews, Eva Hawley, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Traver, Marjorie Traver, Mrs. Walter J. Nisbet and son, Walter F., Detroit; G. F. Morton, Cincinnati.

The Beachcroft: G. F. Spaulding, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Maury, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. George Cragin, Isabelle Craigan, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lawton, Martha Ann Lawton, Hingham; F. A. Fernold, Melrose; Mr. and Mrs. P. Stone, Worcester; Isabel Howard, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Mahoney, Boston; Ann Lynch, Catherine E. Lynch, Jamaica Plain; Mr. and Mrs. H. Powers and child, Sanford, Me.; Andrew Lundell, Berwickley; Mr. and Mrs. James H. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Weltz, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Wickes, Mrs. H. L. Thomas, Estella L. Thomas, Julia R. Thomas, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Joanna E. Lavery, M. Kathleen Hickey, Concord, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nichols, Natick; F. Charlotte Lunden, Leonora Guain, Middletown; Mary M. Partridge, Anita Woodward, Grace Brooks, P. G. Merrow, R. Provan, H. E. Larefan, Dorothy B. Caird, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. Young, Stamford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Caird, Florence, Anna E. MacDonough, Mary F. McDonald, Dorchester; Mrs. Rie E. Presby, Boston; Katherine Crowley, K. A. Finley, B. M. Blake, Boston; Grace E. Miller, East Orange; Jean D. Shelley, L. M. Shelley, West Orange, N. J.; Ethel Hetherington, Jersey City; Mrs. A. Parks Smith and sons, Eastman and Rutherford; Mrs. M. D. Palson, S. W. Palson, Caldwell, N. J.; Frances A. Affeld, Marie R. Locher, Pauline F. Locher, Detroit; Mrs. Ethel Smith, Poughkeepsie; Mary Francis, Mrs. E. F. Singer, Carthage; Marjorie Lachmond, Yonkers; Hilda Kloenne, F. A. Sprague, N. Y.; Mary Lahiff, Providence; Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Leffel and Leffel children, Agnes, Lenton, Glencoe, Ill.

At Cove Villa: T. M. Forbes, C. B. Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Forbes, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Keene, Kimberly Roberts, Master Francis Keene, Westchester; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Moseley, Clarice Van Bergh, Josephine Stein, Katherine Stein, Gerald G. Blanchard, Mrs. A. H. Blanchard, New York; Emma V. Blandy, Virginia Robinson, Washington; Frank Bray, Nellie Home, Louisville; Mrs. Francis H. Hardy, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Richards, Montreal; Margaret Rehnstrand, Mrs. A. Rehnstrand, V. Rehnstrand, Jane Rehnstrand, Superior, Wis.; Mrs. Thomas L. Daniels, St. Paul.

At Hawthorne Inn: W. S. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. William Drummey, Masters Dick and John Drummey, J. Weston Allen, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Cainfield, Mrs. N. B. Repper, Charles Repper, Mary Waters, H. A. Dunn, Boston; Mrs. Irving Perry, Priscilla Perry, Mrs. Philip T. Johnson, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. L. Hardy Mitchell, Newton Center; Mrs. C. O'Donnell, Mrs. Edward Murphy, Fay Murphy, Dr. Edward M. Murphy, Mr. O'Donnell, Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. H. Stewart Stone and child, Walpole; L. H. Wakefield, Weston; Sarah T. Knox, Helen Knox, Betsey Mitchell, Manchester, N. H.; Frieda V. Weeks, Mary A. Wilson, East Canterbury, N. H.; Mrs. Frank Bechtel, John B. Bechtel, Claymore; Florence Dreyfours, Gertrude Dreyfours, Mr. and Mrs. Donald T. Carmian, H. L. Browning, Mr. and Mrs. Bostwick, H. M. Newport, Mrs. H. Thebaud, C. W. Brindley, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Whalen, Robert W. Lewis, Jr., Lávina N. Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Crosby, Mrs. C. D. Lowe, Mrs. Charles Walsh, H. W. Bean, New York; Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Townley, Miss Townley, Frances Townley, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Rile, Marjorie Ann Rile, Montclair; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Goff, Katonah; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morrill, Plainfield; Myrtle A. Ruby, Trenton; Charles Atherton, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Miller, S. S. Richards, Florence Burke, Mrs. J. D. Burke, Mrs. William McCawley, Philadelphia; Hilda Ann Hill, W. S. McGollam, Mrs. D. W. Gould, Washington; Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Randall, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Miller, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Kirke A. Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Reekie, Detroit; Edna B. Rowe, Edith V. Longfellow, Toledo; Mrs. Macdonald, Toronto.

Mrs. Violet Sawyer and daughter, Tessie of Chicago, are making an August stay at Rocky Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stoehrer of Haverhill have a cottage at Rocky Neck where they make their annual summer home and are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. John Mason of their home city.

Virginia Mason of Haverhill is the guest of Virginia Gruppe at her studio in East Main Street.

At the Delphine the regular weekly bridge was held on Friday. Six tables of contract, auction, mah jong and five hundred were in play. At each table

(Continued on page 11)

EASTERN POINT

THE YACHTSMEN having returned from Marblehead with the Cleghorn trophy in the Triangle class in their possession, matters once more will resume the even tenor of their way.

Miss Emma Raymond of the Ramparts is the guest of friends at Pocasset for a short period.

Peter Vosburgh, one of the crew of the ocean racer Skal, second boat in the race, arrived home this week on the "Baltic" for a stay with his parents at the "Studio-on-the-Rocks."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Winans and children Walter and Francis of Greenwich, Conn., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Groverman Ellis at their Eastern Point summer home near the lighthouse.

Miss Anna Welch of Boston is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Alonzo Wilder Pollard at her summer home, Barlevento.

Mrs. William D. Elwell of Arlington, whose summer home is at Eastern Point, gave an informal lunch Thursday with the members of the Garden Club of summer residents assisting, in honor of Mrs. H. Stanley Hyde of Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rawson Godfrey of Bangor, aviators who flew from the Maine city recently to Glouucester, are guests of Col. and Mrs. John W. Prentiss at "Blighty."

Mrs. William Sheafe of Boston, who annually makes her summer home at her cottage on the Point, is entertaining her son, William Sheafe, Jr., of Paris, who will return to that city at the end of his stay here.

Mrs. Edward Thaw of Pittsburgh has taken the Humphrey cottage in Ledge road for the balance of the season.

Louis A. Thebaud arrived last week at the Ryan house, Freshwater Cove, for the rest of the season. Mr. Thebaud was the sponsor in building of the racing schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud.

BASS ROCKS

THE "CAPE ANN FOLLIES," a musical review, was given under the auspices of the Bass Rocks Golf Club, Wednesday and Thursday at the Moorland Casino. About sixty members of the younger set participated. The production was staged and devised by Marsh Irvin of New York and Rocky Neck, settings and scenery by Wade Jolly of Philadelphia and Rocky Neck, assisted by Frederick Fuger of Detroit and Bass Rocks. The publicity was under the direction of the ladies' committee of the Bass Rocks Golf Club, Mrs. Charles Wilson, president.

Among the principals were Mr. Irvin and his partner Miss Virginia Butler of Providence, R. I., who appeared in several dance specialties. Mrs. Grace Vickerman of Philadelphia and William A. Adams of Sewickley, Pa., in a tap dance; Raymond Ferris, Jr., and Miss Marion Ferris of Akron, O., did a song and dance act and appeared in a number of the choruses. Miss Carolyn Royce of Brookline, accompanied by Mr. Paul Anderson of Boston, sang a number of songs; W. H. Schmidt of Chestnut Hill and Miss Natalie Farmer of New York did a song and dance specialty and Miss Farmer appeared with Miss Mary Duprey of Worcester in a tap routine. Miss Constance Brewer of Boston appeared in "The Flattering Word"—a one-act play. Others in the play were Tevis Reyburn of New York, Mrs. Margaret Hoggstrom of Rocky Neck, Marsh Irvin, and Sarah Ellen Glass of Gloucester. John Ralph Geddes entertained with his puppets. The Spanish dance was given by the Misses Muriel and Phoebe Hoyle of Wellesley Hills, Jane Sloan of Pittsburg, Mary Wade Moses of Washington, Kathleen Robertson of New York, Salina Strong of Croton-on-the-Hudson, Dorothy Wilson and Jacqueline McGrath.

(Continued on page 18)

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

THE SUCCESSFUL beginning of the month of August is followed by consistent activity which bids fair to continue at Rockport throughout the season well into the fall.

The Rockport Arts Association is responsible to a large extent for the prevalent excitement. Another successful tour was completed on Friday. These have been very enthusiastically received by the public, consisting as they do of unusual opportunities to visit the homes of many of the artists and other places of interest. There will be two more tours coming on the Fridays of the next two weeks.

Another event well worthy of mention is the "Gentleman's Night." "Low Jinks," as the evening's entertainment has been named, will be given by the men of the society, and after the success of the "Ladies' Night," which occurred on July 16, it is being anticipated with much enthusiasm.

Mrs. C. J. Rosebault, pianist from New York, rendered on August 2 an "Evening of Music" gratis for the benefit of the Society. A large rapt audience enjoyed the beauty of the program given by Mrs. Rosebault.

Parker S. Perkins, well known for his marine paintings, recently won the marine prize of one hundred dollars offered by Mrs. Henry C. Parsons. The jury consisted of the entire Society, who cast their ballots by number, being unaware of the identity of the artist. Mr. Perkins also won recently the marine prize offered by the North Shore Art Gallery.

At Turk's Head Inn recent arrivals include: Mrs. T. H. Wheeler, Brookline; Marion L. McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Partridge, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Chadwick, Elizabeth Chadwick, John Chadwick, Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. E. White, Melrose; James C. Ramsey, Newton; Donald B. Wheeler, Newton Centre; Alicia W. Gates, Worcester; Mary James, Concord; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Van Ness, Framingham; Heber L. Smith, Helen Smith, George H. Smith, Sara Baer, Reading; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Colburn and daughter, Mar-

(Continued on page 14)

The House of MANAHAN

MAGNOLIA
BRANCH SHOP

FIRST FALL
HATS

for women and misses featuring charming new felts
for immediate and early fall wear

280 BOYLSTON STREET
BOSTON

EAST GLOUCESTER

(Continued from page 9)

prizes were given and a delightful light lunch was served.

Recent arrivals at the Delphine include: Henry D. Minot and son, Henry D., Jr., Waterbury; and Mrs. Charles Reynolds Simons, Baltimore.

Recent arrivals at Merrill Hall include: O. Cobb and family, Adeline J. Leary, Marjorie McMahon, Boston; Anne M. Brandenberg, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Marston, Ann Marsten, Winchester; Mrs. Elizabeth Beahm, Haverford; Bertha A. and Grace E. Merrill, Lawrence; Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell J. Pearson, Brockton; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wright, Hilda Wright, Milford; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Finney, Charles H. Finney, Catherine R. Finney, Vineland; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Constantin, Woodbury; Isabel Hunter, Ashland; M. K. Hennessy, E. M. Walsh, Mrs. Samuel Parsons, Mabel Parsons, Jean Miller, Agnes Miller, New York; Mr. and Mrs. L. J. McCalley, Brooklyn; Mrs. Emiline B. Scull, Somerset; Mrs. E. A. Pope, Regina; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. William Sellers, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Gillingham, Philadelphia; Frank Barry, Washington; Kate McKenzie, Emily B. Baily, Baltimore; Marion E. Dunshee, Houston; Esther A. Dunshee, Chicago; Mrs. A. R. Jones and family, Kansas City; J. H. Potter, Ottawa.

At the Pilgrim: Anda MacIntosh, W. Somerville; Mrs. Thomas Macduff, Mrs. Ella G. Cafferty, Worcester; Eleanor Waterman, Providence; Mary C. Trask, Alice M. Belville, New York City; Joseph H. Higgins, Brooklyn; Edna Leiber, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Friess, Homer Spingarn, Hope Spingarn, Tronbleck, Armenia; Cynthia M. Peacock, Derby, Eng.

GLOUCESTER POLICE BALL

We want to thank our friends, the summer residents, for their contributions of last year. And we will also appreciate it if you will favor us again this year, no matter how small your contribution may be.

The association is formed for the mutual benefit of the members, for aid in sickness by a weekly allowance, and in case of death, a certain sum sufficient for burial expenses.

On Friday evening, August 28, 1931, the thirty-second annual ball of the Gloucester Police Association will be held at the State Armory on Prospect Street. Tickets one dollar.

We trust that this appeal will find you ready to make a small contribution to the association which will be gratefully acknowledged.

Please make your contribution to

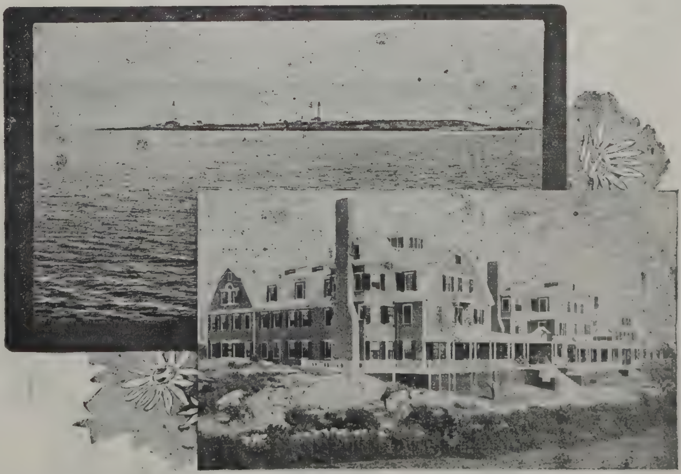
LEMUEL T. MacDONALD,
Treasurer.
Police Station, Gloucester, Mass.

"WHO'S WHO ALONG THE NORTH SHORE" IS OUT

"Who's Who Along the North Shore" which has just come from the publisher's hands, contains a register of the notable families making up the summer colony at places from Nahant to as far along the coast as the tip of Cape Ann, including Swampscott, and Phillips Beach, Beach Bluff, Clifton and Devereux, Marblehead and Marblehead Neck, Beverly, Beverly Cove and Montserrat, Prides Crossing and Beverly Farms, Manchester and West Manchester and Magnolia, and along to the Cape Ann shores, with Gloucester, East Gloucester and Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Brier Neck, Rockport, Pigeon Cove, Lanesville and Annisquam, also the Newburys, Ipswich, Hamilton, Wenham and Topsfield.

All names contained in the book are listed in alphabetical order, with the page showing in just what section the North Shore people may be found. A large map is of value, as it shows the many places making up this part of Massachusetts and the main roadways leading from one to another.

The book has been carefully compiled and little explanatory notes against some of the names add their value to the general information which the many pages contain. "Who's Who Along the North Shore" is published by the North Shore Press, Inc., at Manchester, Mass.



Thacher's Island and Turk's Head Inn. Picture taken about 25 years ago.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

"And what amuses me is," marvelled Peggy, "what amuses me is that none of us were smart enough to suspect it!"

"Except Anne," remarked Anne, raising an eloquent eyebrow and going on with her reading.

"Oh!" exclaimed Peggy. "That's what you've meant all the time with all your mysterious non-committal remarks about Jack and Bud!"

"—'And there was light.'" Anne finished the letter and stood up and stretched. "Of course. They've been in love ever since Bud worked for Jack's aunts. Any one would have seen that. Neither one thought that the other felt that way. And now it's all straight. I'm glad. They'll be a nice couple."

"Well, Chubby," remarked Peggy, "why so silent? I suppose you knew it all the time?"

"Suspected it," Chubby confessed, and then at Anne's knowing glance he colored and looked away. "Well, let's do something," he suggested.

"Yes. Now how about getting to work and figuring out some surprise for them before they get back." Peggy looked at her watch. "They'll be here at 6. Let's run over to Magnolia and find something for a nice wedding present."

Anne was silent, Perched on the porch rail and swinging her legs, she looked out over the ocean. There was a chance that they were all wrong. A slight, very slim chance. Maybe Jack and Bud weren't going to be married at all. Maybe Jack's going up there to the mountains had just been to see Marcia and Phil and Bud. Maybe he really had had business. But even as she thought these things, deep in her heart she felt only too sure that Jack had gone to the mountains to get Bud, to bring her home, to marry her. That Bud would be only too happy, and that the Clan had completely forgotten that she, Anne, and Jack had been, before Bud's arrival, well they had been together quite a bit. Bud was lovely. She told herself fiercely that she was glad that Bud could be happy now. That everything was straight. They all thought that she was such a sport. Such a good sport. Well, she was. And she would be a good loser.

"For goodness' sake, what a happy crowd," Peggy's voice brought her back to the piazza where she and Chubby and Peggy had received the letter from Marcia and Phil saying they would be back that night, that Jack had joined them, and that there would be a big surprise for them.

"Wake up, Anne," said Chubby. "Will you or will you not go to Magnolia with us?"

Anne laughed. "I get more absent-minded every day. Sure. Let's go."

And on the way over it was Anne whose enthusiasm was spread to the others in her many suggestions for wedding gifts.

The first stop was at Mrs. Paige's by mutual consent after Anne's exclamations and graphic descriptions concerning a counterpane to be found there. It was a beautifully delicate, rich Japanese silk, and Mrs. Paige told them a fascinating story of how it had come to her. A child of seventeen, marrying a man well over eighty at her parents' will, had been given by him every luxury she desired, including this counterpane coming from London where it had been sold on the Strand for four hundred dollars. Mrs. Paige had bought it from the child when her husband had died, leaving her unexpectedly penniless two years later. Mrs. Paige was offering the counterpane for one hundred dollars, and Peggy and Anne and Chubby looked at each other, looked at the counterpane, and suddenly could not resist it. The Japanese counterpane must go to Bud. Before they left the little gallery so filled with priceless treasures, Peggy had also given in to the temptation offered by a sale of exquisite linen sheets and pillow cases of linens, Irish and silk finish.

"Now, Chubby," said Peggy, "it's your turn."

And so they went to Ovington's and were immediately enchanted by the display of service plates that had just come in. There was a great number consisting of English bone china and being Royal Doulton, Worcester, Craeport, Minton and Wedgewood. A set which appealed to the girls particularly was one of Royal Worcester, having hand-painted centers and banded with

SERVICE PLATES FOR THE BRIDE

THE finest service plates in the world are to be seen at Ovington's. Service plates from the famous potters . . . service plates, distinctive in design, distinguished for their decoration and color . . . service plates that are aristocratic in mien yet ever so humbly priced. $25 a doz. up.

OVINGTON'S
LEXINGTON AVENUE, MAGNOLIA, MASS.
FIFTH AVENUE at 39th STREET, NEW YORK

apple green with a raised paste gold decoration. Square dessert plates there were too, each having a different picture of Shakepearean country signed by the artist. Some game plates fascinated Chubby, each plate carrying a different picture hand painted of a different kind of game. All the beautiful china was being offered at special reduced prices, all three were overwhelmed at the reasonable prices.

The next stop was Manahan's. Here Anne and Peggy went into ecstasies over the new fall displays of velvets and satins that were already in. There were beautiful dinner and afternoon velvets—black, clinging and exceptionally smart in the newest of fall styles combined with the fashionable white satin, and there were severe, chic black satins also for fall wear.

On the way back to Gloucester they decided to stop at Poole's Antique Shop and were surprised to see a familiar car outside.

"It's Gay and Jimmie," cried Peggy. "Poor Jimmie, he always ends up here."

Chubby laughed. "Even the Gloucester National Bank should be wary of creatures like Gay."

"Or even the Cape Ann National," added Peggy, as they all ran up the steps of the old Sawyer homestead.

"Hello!" called Gay. "We're just looking around. These old, old English and American pieces just fascinate me, I made Jimmie bring me over. He pretends not to like it, but he really enjoys it as much as I when he gets here."

Jimmie laughed. "She's right, I suppose. Come in here, Chubby and look what I discovered."

They finally decided that they would just have time for a few rounds of miniature golf at the East Gloucester Course if they hurried, before the others arrived from the mountains.

"Before we go," said Peggy as they were preparing to leave for Gloucester, "we'd better decide about supper. They'll all be starved, and we'd better decide on the evening's entertainment. We want to do something to celebrate."

"Oh, yes!" enthused Gay. "Let's go over to Del Monte's for dinner."

"Fine," agreed Chubby, thinking of good things to eat.

"Let's plan a big evening." Anne was starry-eyed. "Let's do as much as we can in one night."

"Well," said Jimmie, "there are plenty of things to do. 'Pagliacci' is at the Oceanside Theatre. The Little Theatre is putting on its usual perfect show. The North Shore Theatre is showing the world's best movie, we can swim, we can eat at my house, Gay bought out the First National Stores today, we—"

But Gay finally managed to silence him. "We'll never get to do a thing at this rate, my boy," she remarked. "Let's get over to the East Gloucester Miniature Golf Course and talk it over there."

"That's one thing you do well on a golf course, Gay, you're right," said Chubby, "talk things over."

"Mean!" cried Peggy. "We can't all be Bobby Joneses!"

Soon they were all at the beautiful little course, or rather big little course, being one of the eighteen largest miniature fairways in New England, and were busily engaged in the thrill of the game made so by clever hazards and variety of the course.

"Whew!" cried Anne, as they finished, "I'm thinking that a good cool drink would certainly hit the spot right now. Let's be off to Barker's for one of their peach ice-cream sodas."

No objections being offered, the Clan were all soon enjoying the creamy, delicately flavored peach drinks. The delighted silence was broken by Chubby.

"I have to run down to L. E. Smith's," he remarked. "Shall I meet you all here afterwards?"

"That's funny," said Jimmie, "I have an errand there myself. Have to get some garden hose. Swinson Brothers have just completed a wonderful job on our garden. Perennials and evergreens like Peggy's, and I find our old hose is

(Continued on page 20)

"THE TROUSSEAU HOUSE OF AMERICA"

Grande Maison de Blanc

538-540 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

MAGNOLIA, MASS.

Table Damask
Fancy Table Linen
Lace Dinner Cloths
Bed Linen and Spreads
Blankets and Comforters
Bath Towels and Rugs
Towelings
Handkerchiefs and Neckwear
Lingerie and Negligees
Infants' and Children's Wear
Blouse and Top Dresses
Sport Coats and Sweaters
Purses and Bags
Motor Rugs

It is understood by our patrons that our Magnolia Prices are identical with those in our New York Shop

Patrons will receive the personal attention of

Mr. RAYMOND BROWN
Resident Manager
Telephone 459 Magnolia

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

(Continued from page 10)

blehead; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Foley and family, Longmeadow; Mrs. Grace M. Maloney, Needham; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Alexander, Portland; Leonora B. Patten, Ridgewood; Mr. and Mrs. William A. Stickel, Master William R. Stickel, East Orange; Mrs. L. Lillibridge, H. H. Nichols, New York City; Dr. and Mrs. McClellan, Canandaigua; William Larzelere, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Shafner, Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dustin, Cleveland.

Guests at Turk's Head Inn recently enjoyed a delightful concert given in the lounge by Mrs. C. J. Rosebault on Wednesday evening.

At Straitsmouth Inn recent arrivals include: M. A. Mervin, Boston; Gladys S. Crane, Mrs. Herbert S. Kempton, Helen P. Kempton, Boston; Cora A. LaPlante, Cambridge; J. P. Basset, Ruth Russell, Brookline; Mrs. Herbert Clark, Belmont; Ruth Stone, Winchester; Dr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Edwards, Wellesley Hills; Dr. and Mrs. C. Kobb, Newton Highlands; Sarah H. Hamilton, Jamaica Plain; Sarah Anne Lyons, Dedham; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Manning, N. Beverly; Elsie Dwight Alling, Isabel S. Dodd, Marblehead; Miss White, Mrs. John W. Bond, Methuen; A. R. Kessinger, Rome; Mrs. Abbott Foster, L. C. Parmelee, Anna D. Hull, Danbury; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. French, Eleanor M. French, Alexandra MacInnis, Garden City; Elizabeth Holland, Albany; Rachel Freedman, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen Rhodes, Bertha F. Lock, Albany; Caroline H. L. Bournonville, Philadelphia; Lucy MacIntyre, Mamaroneck; Iola Moore, Mrs. J. B. Moore, Plainfield; Clara S. Clark, Pittsburgh; Mary L. Walsh, Wayne; E. B. Rhea, H. A. Rhea, F. M. Rhea, R. Steiger, Mercersburg; Mrs. Emma P. Dancer, St. Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Trumbell, Chicago; Flora Torrence, Anna Torrence, Indianapolis.

At the Granite Shore Inn recent arrivals include: Marguerite J. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cornell, Boston; C. E. Kendall, Haverhill; Mr. and Mrs. Epps, Belmont; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Webber, Melrose; Philip F. Porter, Dorchester; C. M. Donovan, Jamaica Plain; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stevens, Marberth; Mary A. Wilson, Frieda V. Weeks, E. Canterbury; Henry Wade White, Waterbury; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Mathews, Wilkes Barre; Mr. and Mrs. E. Seidermans, Mr. and Mrs. Zohler, Master Harold Levine, Lillian J. Soskin, Fred Lammen, New York City; A. Cornfield, Anne L. Lurgin, Brooklyn; Rose Ganeming, Sunnyside; Theresa Carter, Philadelphia.

At the Manning House: Celia Givner, Warner Hayes, Ann Cohen, Boston; Sally Anne Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murphy, Jr., Cora E. Fleming, Helen M. Fleming, G. E. Barney, Bessie M. McIntosh, Providence; Natalie Lederer, New York City.

At the Edward: Dorothy Delmar, Ethel Crane, New Rochelle, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dinkey, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Kraft, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Korn, Mildred Bickman, Helen Hecklar, Ambler; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lane, Milwaukee.

At Rockmere Manor: Mr. and Mrs. Julius Johnson, Worcester; Mrs. Mae E. Harding, Allston; George E. Coleman, Dorchester; Mary E. Hamant, Medfield; Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Boyton, Springfield; Helene Edwards, Franklin; Dr. and Mrs. Norman L. Jameson, Jane Jameson, Merion, Pa.

Miss Helene Edwards, who is a guest at the Rockmere is Dean of Women at Dean Academy, Franklin, Mass.

At Glen Acre recent arrivals include: Lucia H. Day, Mrs. V. E. Lowell, Worcester; Freda Wilson, Ruth Wilson, Viola Wolfe, Detroit.

Miss Frances Wintringham of New York, who has been in Paris for the past two years, is a guest at the Headlands this summer.

Hostesses at the dance of the Rockport Art Association Saturday night were Mrs. Albert Thayer, Mrs. John M. Buckley, Mrs. Hal Ross Perrigard, Mrs. Frederick L. King and Mrs. Richard A. Holberg.

Mrs. Alfred Baker Lewis of Cambridge and her sister, Mrs. Sarah Greenspan of Philadelphia, who have spent the first of the season at a cottage on the Headlands, sailed last week for a short trip to Bermuda.

Mrs. Agnes Barton Haskell of Holyoke, a summer resident and daughter of a former pastor of the Universalist Church, occupied that pulpit last Sunday and delivered a sermon pertinent to the occasion.

Rev. and Mrs. Ellison Hildreth of Cabot, Vt., are guests of Mrs. Leverett Lane on High Street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward, Mr. Woodward being a former principal of the High School, are making a stay here the guests of Mrs. Oscar A. Okerson in Broadway.

The second in the neighborhood visitations sponsored by the Rockport Art Association proved fully as enjoyable as the first, the homes of Galen F. Perrett, Judge Thomas F. MacAnarney, Richard H. Holberg, Charles R. Knapp, Nicola D'Ascenzio and Miss Ellen B. Laight the two latter at Folly Cove, being visited by an interested community group.

The family of William E. Presson of Newton are among the recent arrivals they having taken occupancy of their Pigeon Cove summer home for the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burke are August comers here and will remain over Labor Day.

The Misses Mary L. and S. C. Quinn of Pigeon Cove have as their guests for an August stay, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Connor of East Douglas and Margaret Morgan of Jamaica Plain.

Mrs. Baker and daughter of Lakewood, N. J., have the Story bungalow, Edgemere Road, Pigeon Cove, for the rest of the season.

Next Thursday afternoon at 4 the Sandy Bay Historical Society will formally dedicate a monumental cannon from the "Constitution," placed on the Community House grounds, Broadway. There will be an interesting program of exercises with remarks by Rev. John McKenna, chaplain of the day, addresses by G. Tucker Murgesen, Roger W. Babson, Rear Admiral Louis M. Nulton, U. S. N., Selectman John Henry Dennis, President Marshall Saville and others.

BRIAR NECK

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Allen of Worcester have come to "Rosemoor Lodge" for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Block of Mattapan and children are among the Briar Neck cottagers this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Bradlee are returning to their Briar Neck cottage.

OCEANSIDE THEATRE MAGNOLIA MASSACHUSETTS

MR. W. ROSING

By arrangement with ROSS THOMPSON

PRESENTS

August 10-11-12-13-14-15
CORA WITHERSPOON in
"THE NOTORIOUS LADY"
A new play by John Entenza

August 19-20-21
ANNA DUNCAN in a
DANCE PROGRAM
and CHARLES HEDLEY in
"PAGLIACCI"
Opera by Leoncavallo (sung in English)

August 24-25-26-27-28-29
FIRST PRODUCTION IN AMERICA
of
"SIMOON"
Famous French play by
H. R. Lenormand
With a Distinguished Cast

Tickets may be secured from MISS EDITH ATWATER, Oceanside Hotel

Single Seats, $2.50 -:- Three Performances, $7.00

MRS. EVANS R. DICK, JR., Managing Director

Their children are Ruth, Dudley and H. Gardner Bradlee.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Cardy of Belmont with Miss Henry and George J. Cardy are at their cottage for the summer's stay.

Rev. and Mrs. John E. Charlton of Maplewood are spending another season at their Briar Neck home. They have with them Misses Dorothy and Grace N. Charlton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Herbert Slack name their cottage "Wakefield" from their home town.

Mrs. Reginald Smith of Boston opened her house, "Edgemoor," early in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Redstone of Cambridge are enjoying a stay at the Morgan cottage.

Mrs. Loren E. Pullen of Lowell is passing the season at this resort.

A cottage on Warwick Road is the summer headquarters of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Pierce of Everett.

Frederick W. Perry of Watertown has returned to the neck for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamill and family of Watertown are as usual making their midsummer home at their cottage here.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Nichols of Greenfield are numbered among the cottage colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles White of Revere are established in their Cliff Road summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Thompson of Brookline are among the Briar Neck residents.

Charles A. Steele and family of Gloucester are the occupants of By-the-Sea cottage this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Stanwood of Reading are comprised within this summer's roster of residents.

"Isle View" continues to be the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton A. Snow and little daughter, Elizabeth of Winchester.

Others of the cottagers returning for the summer are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Smith of Andover.

George A. Gay and family of Hartford are enjoying midsummer months at their seashore house, "Salt Island Lodge," Cliff Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan of Arlington have come to their cottage for another season.

Among the colony returning to their home at the neck are Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Haker of Brookline.

"The Colonial" continues to be the

(Continued on page 18)

Hornblower & Weeks

ESTABLISHED 1888

Members New York, Boston and Chicago Stock Exchanges

Investment Securities

60 CONGRESS STREET,
BOSTON

42 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK

Chicago Detroit Cleveland Providence Portland Pittsburgh

You are cordially invited
to an
Exhibition and Sale

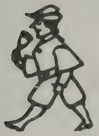
Needlework, Lingerie, Embroideries from Foreign Lands (Florentine a Specialty), Commenced and finished pieces also Embroidery Materials, Canvas, etc. Some fine old Silver. Among the Brass Pieces are several Old Church Candlesticks with Bells, Medals, Curios, Antiques, Jewel Cases, One Confederation Medal. Priceless Old Real Laces. Shawls, Scotch, Turkish, Paisley, Tissue and White Crepe. Counterpanes. Hand Woven Rugs. One Fine Old Prayer Rug for Wall Hanging. South Sea Island and Mexican Drawn Work. Tea and Bridge Sets and Doilies. Sofa Pillows, Jewelry and Bric-a-Brac, Bed Quilts and Quilt Patterns, Linen Sheets, Pillow Cases, Table Cloths, Towels, etc.

at the
Public Library Art Gallery
Magnolia, Mass.
M. E. W. PAIGE

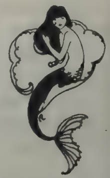
NEW YORK, 8 East 48th St.
WASHINGTON, 1211 Conn. Ave.
NEWPORT, R. I.

BOSTON, 587 Boylston St.
LOS ANGELES, CAL.
PASADENA, CAL.

A. Schmidt & Son, Inc. IMPORTERS OF
Silver and Sheffield Plate & Fine Porcelains
LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA Telephone Magnolia 408
Fine Wedding Presents a Specialty Christmas Gifts held for December Delivery



TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE PRACTICAL
RIGHT VALUES AND COMPLETE VARIETY ARE TO BE FOUND IN THE SHOPS OF
GLOUCESTER
ENJOY THE PASSING HOUR AND
THE CAPE ANN BREEZE



MARBLEHEAD WEEK

Cape Ann Yachtsmen Make Very Creditable Showing — Bring Home Cleghorn Cup in Triangle Class

Cape Ann yachtsmen acquitted themselves with credit at the Eastern and Corinthian open regatta for the week ending August 8. Especially was this the case in the Triangle class.

The trophy winners for the Eastern Yacht Club series included: Sonder class, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.'s Tern; Class R, Harry H. Wiggin's Tabasco V; handicap class, Coburn Smith's Cockatoo; Star class, Warren Motley's Meteor; Annisquam Birds, Evelyn Woodbury's Oloof; Annisquam Cats, Benjamin A. Smith's Caterpillar II.

Corinthian Series

The Corinthian series winners were:

R Class—Tabasco V, Harry H. Wiggin.

Sonder class—Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.

Sandy Bay—Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean.

Handicap class—Cockatoo, Coburn Smith.

Fish class—Flying Fish, Albert Hale.

Cat class — Kittiwake, John Wild.

Manchester 17-footers — Jinx, Davis Drinkwater.

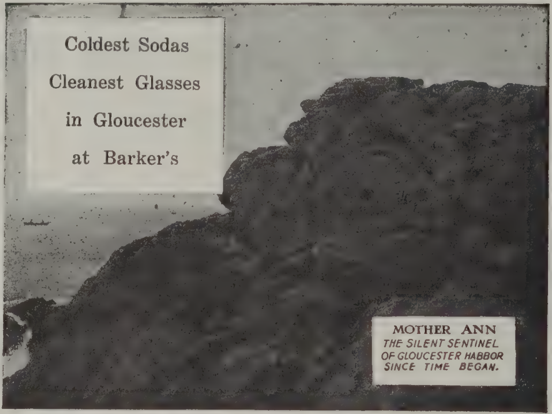
Manchester 15-footers—Skippy, Caleb Loring, Jr.

Henry Sleeper's Black Bess won the Triangle sail-off for the Eastern Yacht Club trophy while Touareg won in the Cape Cod Knockabouts from Old Ironsides and Maryland.

Eastern Point Wins

The quartette of yachts in the Triangle class, representing Eastern Point Yacht Club, won the Cleghorn cup in the team races against teams from the Corinthian and Annisquam Clubs in the series which was finished at Marblehead on Saturday forenoon. Final score was Eastern Point 87, Marblehead 80, Annisquam 66. The cup passes out of the custody of the Corinthian Club for the first time since it was offered some years ago and will be held at Eastern Point until 1932.

The Gloucester team comprised Hastings Gamage and Injun; Henry Sleeper with Black Bess; William G. Brown, 3d, with Cursor, and M. L. Talbot with Kitmer II.



Coldest Sodas
Cleanest Glasses
in Gloucester
at Barker's

MOTHER ANN
THE SILENT SENTINEL
OF GLOUCESTER HABBOR
SINCE TIME BEGAN.

Barker's Soda Fountain has such a wide reputation for the richness and quality of its Ice-Cream Sodas, Frozen Whipped Cream, College Ices and Specialities, that people come for miles around to get sodas at this fountain.

BARKER'S DRUG STORE, 134 Main Street

Summer Residents of Cape Ann

We Carry the Finest and Best Selected of Summer Footwear in This Locality

SPORT, GOLF, TENNIS and BEACH SHOES

Exclusive Agent for Arch Preserver—Queen Quality Shoes—Imported Deauville Sandals for women and children—Florsheim Shoes for Men—Buster Brown Shoes for boys and girls (Prices reasonable and to your liking). Warner's "Society Maid" Silk Hose 99c to $1.69.

DR. SHOLL FOOT APPLIANCES

Armstrong's Busy Corner

106 Main, Corner Center Street

ESTABLISHED 33 YEARS. TEL. CONN.

CHECKING ACCOUNTS
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS

We Act as Trustee, Executor or Administrator.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

Cape Ann National Bank

"THE SERVICE BANK"

154 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER, MASS.

CATERPILLAR AND PERCH VICTORS OFF ANNISQUAM

GLOUCESTER, August 9 — Three classes sailed off Annisquam this afternoon in a moderate southerly wind, Ben Smith's Caterpillar winning in the Cat class, Harry Griffin's Perch in the Fish and Evelyn Woodbury's Oloof in the Bird.

The course was a run to Essex, a beam reach to the inner mark and a beat home. The summary:

CAT BOATS

Caterpillar, Ben Smith	1 34 56
Kittiwake, J. W. White	1 37 30
Puss-in-Boots, W. Bangs	1 39 20
Katchup, N. Friedman	1 39 40
Scat, Frances Jeffrey	1 41 20

FISH BOATS

Perch, Harry Griffin	1 39 00
Sea Horse, B. Mechem	1 39 50
Malolo, Mary Bradley	1 39 56
Sailfish, C. Hill	1 40 00
Flying Fish, A. Hale	1 41 30
Black Fish, P. Philbrook	1 42 30
Pollywog, J. Mechem	1 42 38
Navara, Lyndon Crawford	1 45 55
Goldfish, J. H. Bloombergh	1 46 20
Barracuda, J. D. Worcester	1 48 20
Dab, David Dennison	1 49 10
Quinnat, S. Rushmore	1 53 55
Shark, C. A. Hamilton	Time not taken

BIRD BOATS

Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	1 31 45
Avis, Norman Olsen	1 32 55

PEEWEE AND MINNOW WIN TWICE IN ROCKPORT RACE

ROCKPORT, August 9—Two races were sailed off Rockport today, the first in a light southeast breeze with six classes contesting. The race was won in the first 15 minutes.

This afternoon the breeze was very light from the south, dying down when the fleet was about half over the course. Then rain fell for 10 minutes and the wind hauled southwest with a good punch. The summary:

MORNING RACE

SANDY BAY 15-FOOTERS

Bobeno, Benton C. Story	1 45 45
Maidie, Gifford Beal	1 46 04
Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	1 47 38
Mamie, John Cianciola	1 47 39

INTERNATIONAL STAR CLASS

Eclipse, Guy Hale	1 42 23
Star of India, Ralph Hale	1 48 08
Ibex, Max Kuehne	1 51 58
Vega, Herbert Evans	1 52 19
Altair, Pierce and Grover	1 55 48

BIRD CLASS

Peewee, Charles Pierce	1 28 58
Ibis, Donald Frost	1 30 02

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	1 14 00
Shirlidee, Johnson Brothers	1 22 35

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 18 37
Shiner, G. S. Grace	1 21 47
Snail, Donald Phillips	1 23 22
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	1 28 38
Judy, Roy H. Lane	1 29 48
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	Did not finish

MIXED CLASS

Rover, Alvin S. Brown	1 12 01
Saratog, Ben Knudsen	1 14 43
Celeritas II, Reynolds Beal	Did not finish
Auk, Beal Brothers	Did not finish

AFTERNOON RACE

SANDY BAY 15-FOOTERS

Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	2 06 17
Bobeno, Benton C. Story	2 08 23
Maidie, Gifford Beal	2 10 30
Mamie, John Cianciola	2 10 44

INTERNATIONAL STAR CLASS

Ibex, Max Kuehne	2 08 11
Altair, Pierce and Grover	2 12 03
Star of India, Ralph Hale	2 20 42
Eclipse, Guy Hale	Withdrew

PILOT CLASS

Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 37 52
Onward, Laura Cooney	1 39 25
Shirlidee, Johnson Brothers	1 39 25

BIRD CLASS

Peewee, Charles Pierce	1 47 24
Ibis, Donald Frost	1 57 00

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 33 35
Snail, Donald Phillips	1 39 46
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	1 39 52
Shiner, G. S. Grace	1 40 31
Judy, Roy H. Lane	1 44 23
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	1 48 54

MIXED CLASS

Saratog, Ben Knudsen	1 29 03
Celeritas II, Reynolds Beal	1 30 28
Mikki, Jerry Clark	Withdrew
Uncle Sam, Sam Tewksbury	Withdrew

ROCKPORT C. C. GOLF

Rockport, August 9 — Golf scores today:

MEDAL HANDICAP

Class A, Handicap 0 to 14—George P. Sargent, 76—62; Howard B. Lovell, 74—67; Dr. C. T. Sprague, 83—71; George A. Fiske, 88—74; J. B. Willing, 80—74; Walter Cole, 80—74; Dr. Lester C. Feener, 84—74; Frederick H. Tarr, Jr., 81—75.

Class B, Handicap 14 to 30—Loren A. Jacobs, 91—61; Earl P. Phillips, 87—63; Dr. Gilbert Pettingill, 85—64; Joel P. Glass, 86—67; J. P. Klous, 93—69; Paul B. Oakley, 89—70; T. T. Harwood, 97—70; Louis A. Rogers, 89—70; J. K. Collins, 87—70; John A. Macdonald, 92—71; Harry I. Wichter, 90—72; John A. Lyons, 88—73; O. C. Stiles, 92—74; I. S. Hall, 92—76; Frederick H. Tarr, Sr., 93—76; Henry L. Marshall, 100—76; J. Manuel Marshall, 95—79; E. A. Goodick, 117—87.

BEST SELECTED NINE

Class A—L. F. Coy, 37—29; Dr. C. T. Porter, 37—29; Robert M. Smith, 37—31; G. V. Norris, 41—31; A. J. Flynn, 39—31; J. B. Willing, 35—31; R. B. Lovell, 35—31; Frances E. Smith, 40—31; G. A. Fiske, 42—32; H. B. Lovell, 36—32; Frederick H. Tarr, Jr., 38—34.

Class B—Dr. Winchester, 46—23; Joseph Guinane, 47—24; J. E. Esson, Sr., 47—24; L. Kaufman, 48—25; C. E. Stratton, 42—25; I. P. Klous, 43—25; Paul B. Oakley, 39—25; S. G. Stackpole, 49—26; Frank S. McKenzie, 40—26; Mr. Jansen, 50—26; K. B. Wilkinson, 40—26; Louis A. Rogers, 47—27; Frederick H. Tarr, Sr., 40—27; Joseph T. Lockett, 42—28; Edward Hagstrom, 43—28; H. P. Wasgatt, 44—30; A. Grover Fitzgerald, 43—30; J. T. Day, Jr., 42—30; John A. Lyons, 41—30; C. S. Patten, 43—31; T. T. T. Harwood, 49—31; John A. Macdonald, 47—32; I. S. Hall, 45—33.

DIRECTOR'S CUP

Semifinal Round—Robert M. Smith defeated H. B. Lovell, 6 and 3; A. J. Flynn defeated C. T. Porter, 7 and 6.

NAVY CUP

Semifinal Round—Robert M. Smith defeated G. A. Fiske, 19 holes; Walter Cole defeated A. J. Flynn, 3 and 2.

CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP

First Round—George P. Sargent won from R. Bradlee by default; Dr. Lester Feener defeated I. S. Hall, 5 and 3; Dan Riordan defeated J. Manuel Marshall, 4 and 3; A. J. Flynn won from O. C. Stiles by default; Robert M. Smith defeated A. Grover Fitzgerald, 6 and 5; Dr. C. T. Porter defeated Walter Cole, 6 and 5.

SERVE THE BEST
at no additional cost

You cannot afford to compromise with the quality of the food you serve in your summer menus. Near your home you will find a First National Store, specializing in quality foods. Come in and give us the opportunity of assisting you in the selection of the best for your table.

COMBINATION MARKETS AT

147 Main St., Gloucester
37 Main St., Rockport

First National Stores, Inc.

Where New England Buys Its Food.

A. P. STODDART & CO.
Established 1876
ENGINEERS AND MACHINISTS
Engine Repairing and Installing
FULLY EQUIPPED MACHINE SHOP
236 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER, MASS.

INSURANCE
ALL KINDS
STRONGEST COMPANIES
JOHN A. JOHNSON
Gloucester National Bank Bldg.
Telephones 16 and 17
Just off Custom House Square

Pringle's History of Gloucester, 1892
The Gloucester Tercentenary Book
ALSO FOUR LOG BOOKS OF DEEP SEA VOYAGES
FOR SALE AT
BLANCHARD'S
125 MAIN STREET -:- GLOUCESTER

BUNDY, HOOPER WINNERS IN BEACH CLUB DOUBLES

The Beach Club tennis tournament at Magnolia went into final rounds in most of the events Thursday. One of the final matches was in the junior boys' doubles when Mac Bundy and R. Hooper defeated Bill Bundy and C. Burnett in three sets, 10—8, 4—6, 8—6. Bill Bundy defeated his brother, Mac, in the singles.

In the senior girls' singles, Miss Serita Bartlett defeated Miss Alice Ellsworth in three sets, 4—6, 6—4, 6—1.

The Summary:

SENIOR GIRLS' SINGLES

Serita Bartlett defeated Alice Ellsworth 4—6, 6—4, 6—1.

JUNIOR BOYS' SINGLES

Bill Bundy defeated Mac Bundy 6—4, 6—2.

JUNIOR GIRLS' SINGLES

Louise Stevens defeated Mary Ann Tippitt, 6—2, 6—3.

SENIOR BOYS' DOUBLES

Semifinal round—H. Thompson and S. Culbertson defeated W. Brewer and R. Knowles, 6—2, 3—6, 14—12.

Final Round—Harrison Rowbotham and Bob Sargent defeated Harry Thompson, Jr., and Sam Culbertson, 6—0, 6—0.

SENIOR GIRLS' DOUBLES

Alice Ellsworth and Serita Bartlett defeated Anne Richardson and Lucille Collins, 6—0, 6—2.

JUNIOR BOYS' DOUBLES

Robert Hooper and Mac Bundy defeated Charles Burnett and Bill Bundy, 10—8, 4—6, 8—6.

JUNIOR GIRLS' DOUBLES

Mary Ann Tippitt and C. Warren defeated Polly Morrill and Pat Phelan, 6—3, 8—6.

MIXED DOUBLES

Quarterfinal round—C. Richardson and R. Sargent defeated T. Stevens and A. Sheldon 6—3, 6—0.

BOYS' SINGLES WON BY SARGENT AT BEACH CLUB

The tennis tournament at the Magnolia Beach Club finished up Saturday afternoon with the finals in the senior boys' singles and mixed doubles. Rotan Sargent won the singles, defeating Whitten Brewer in a hard match, 7—5, 6—3. A. Ellsworth and G. Knowles won the mixed doubles.

The summary:

SENIOR BOYS' SINGLES

Final round—R. Sargent defeated W. Brewer, 7—5, 6—3.

MIXED DOUBLES

Semifinal round—A. Ellsworth and R. Knowles defeated C. Richardson and R. Sargent, 2—6, 6—3, 6—2.

Final round—A. Ellsworth and R. Knowles defeated B. Stevens and H. Rowbotham, 1—6, 7—5, 8—6.

BASS ROCKS

(Continued from page 10)

Other young ladies in the review were the Misses Barbara and Dorothy Duprey of Worcester, Elizabeth Sutphin of Cincinnati, Margaret Brainard of Pittsburg, Helen Groetzinger of New York, Laura Pierson of Waterbury. Eleanore Keyes of Oshkosh, Marjorie Hair of Chicago, Hannah Taylor of Baltimore, Hazel Bisset of Philadelphia, Mrs. Ira Brainard of Pittsburgh, and Miss Polly Powell of Cincinnati.

Additional gentlemen of the chorus included Edward Groetzinger, Lester Roberts of Gloucester, Louis Johnston of Atlanta, Ga.; John B. Royce, Stanley Banning of Cleveland, Dubois Brookings of Washington, Frank Brewer, William Harmar, Jr., and Robert Brookings.

William Wurrts Harmar of Philadelphia and East Gloucester was master of ceremonies.

A representative attendance from the North Shore Colony was in attendance each evening. All the participants acquitted themselves creditably and a substantial sum was netted for the improvement of the club house.

Mrs. J. H. Hallock of Worcester is the guest of her sister, Mrs. George H. Fuller at her Bass Rocks summer home, "Krossanes." Mr. and Mrs. William A. Fuller of Boylston are also the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller.

Recent arrivals at the Moorland include: C. D. Garret, Arlington; Ralph P. Alden, Springfield; J. L. Flede, Misses Lily and Helene Walker, Mrs. John H. Manning, Miss B. A. Manning, J. H. Service, Mrs. J. W. Fellows, New York; Mrs. E. H. Lovejoy, Ruth Hill, Bronxville; Paul W. Clough, Mildred C. Clough, Paul Clough, Jr., Baltimore; Herbert Shaffer, Cincinnati; Georges Pelletier, Montreal; Philip Picard, Quebec; Mrs. W. B. Bartlett and party, Florence, Italy.

Bass Rocks Golf Club

Between the rehearsals for the Cape Ann Follies held here at night, and the constantly increasing number of bridges, teas and luncheons held during the day, Bass Rocks Golf Club finds its time fairly well taken up of late. August as always is filled with reservations far ahead by those who choose this attractive spot to do their entertaining.

On Thursday, Mrs. E. M. Dyer, who is a guest at the Moorland, entertained a party of twelve of her friends at a luncheon bridge at the club.

Mrs. Charles S. Nauss gave another delightful luncheon bridge on Friday for a party of friends.

An exceptionally large evening bridge was given on Friday night by Mrs. Florence Kelly Schill at the club.

Miss Eliza Stewart of the Moorland gave on Tuesday a charming bridge and tea.

Another of the popular luncheon bridges was given on Thursday by Miss Pettet for a party of friends at the club.

Mrs. R. T. Guernsey and Mrs. R. W. Wigton held on Friday afternoon a bridge and tea for a large group of their mutual friends at the club.

THE ZONING ORDINANCES!!

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Gloucester have been printed in their entirety and are now ready for distribution at the office of the City Clerk, Allen F. Grant, City Hall. Copies will be mailed on application.

In a general way, all the summer resort areas have been made residential sections only. Six types of districts have been designated, namely: 1, single residence districts; 2, general residence districts; 3, apartment house districts; 4, business districts; 5, light industrial districts; 6, heavy industrial districts.

The ordinances specify in detail the requirements, restrictions, area, regulations, yards and courts, nonconforming uses, district boundaries, accessory uses, automobile services, methods of procedure to obtain building permits, changes, variations, appeals, etc. They are of especial interest to summer resident realty owners.

ALLEN F. GRANT, City Clerk.

Gloucester, July 1, 1931.

BRIAR NECK

(Continued from page 15)

summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Henkel of Wakefield.

The Misses Georgia, Helen, Jennie and Margaret Houston of Springfield are enjoying cottage life here.

"The Oceanview" on Salt Island Road is occupied this season by Mr. and Mrs. Robert List and children of Wellesley.

Mrs. David McTaggart and daughter, Martha S. of Worcester, are passing the summer at their cottage. Mrs. Dorothy McTaggart Miller is their guest.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell of Medford have taken occupancy for another season of "Bon Accord" cottage. Their children are Gladys, Evelyn and Dorothy.

Carl Bill and family of Wellesley have the W. A. B. Smith cottage, Salt Island Road.

Charles A. Kabley and family of Worcester, who last season had a cottage at Bass Rocks, have transferred to the Briar Neck section.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Russell Dana and children Jeannette and Paul of Winchester are again among the Briar Neck colonists.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES ALLAN WINTER

Their studio home vies with its occupants for charm. Situated on a rocky ledge left in all the beauty that is natural to the spot, and only improved upon by the artistic mind and hands of its owners, the house itself is entirely in line, and beautifully congruous in its style with the surroundings. The flagstone steps, the unfinished "altar to Apollo" (which, Mr. Winter confided to me would one day be a beautiful bench and sun dial) the subtle, careless, appearing arrangement of the bright and gorgeous flowers and shrubs are all marked evidence of the talent of this fascinating couple. Inside, the walls are hung with more evidence, this of a finer, more tangible sort. The breathtaking array, so varied in subject mat-

(Continued on page 23)

GOOD HARBOR BEACH AIRPORT

(Continued from page 4)

Some years ago the Supreme Court decided that a public way had always existed to Good Harbor Beach, just where, it did not define, but this has been assumed to be from Witham street southerly, so this road has been extended in that direction. It looks to us as if the efforts of private individuals to obtain title to this beach and upland within the bounds indicated in the first of this article went bust and the beach, one of the noblest along the coast, is the city's property. Its use, or a part of it for an airport will probably follow, gradually, the glider. The day of the privately owned air motor on a more general scale is not far away and here on Cape Ann will be situated accommodations for such purposes either by land or sea.

Mortons'

BOOKS, STATIONERY, OFFICE SUPPLIES, GREETING CARDS, GIFTS
and
LENDING LIBRARY
6 PLEASANT ST.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

EASTERN POINT A PUBLIC RESERVATION

(Continued from page 4)

ern Point on a public beach mean the death knell of the hotels with their present clientele as now conducted? Will it mean any taxable increase in the Eastern Point property which some twenty-five years ago was unbuilt upon? Will it bring in a more desirable class of people? Will they prove better patrons of the business men than the present occupants?

In The Shore of a previous date was outlined the plans to make headquarters at the Eastern Point Yacht Club of the New York and other southern yacht institutions which meant the bringing of hundreds of thousands of dollars to local tradespeople and the employment of Gloucester labor. We hardly think making Niles Beach a Revere Beach will conduce to that end. Perhaps there is an argument for the extension of Lighthouse road, but if that is to be done it is far better that it be as a city proposition rather than as a state and county partnership.

There is the object lesson of Stage Fort Park. The city expends nearly $10,000 annually on that ground. Then lets it for $75 per week to carnivals and circuses which totally destroy the work performed. Local people are driven off by outsiders. Perhaps we may yet see carnivals at Eastern Point.

Last week the cottagers at Long Beach appeared before the Selectmen of the town protesting in a body against the construction of a through road in the rear of the Long Beach settlement. They were assured that such was not the intention of the town authorities. They handle this matter understandingly in that town.

A FISHERMAN'S RACE

Tentative overtures have come from some of the members of the Nova Scotia committee of the International Fisherman's Race Committee looking for a match for the International Cup between the Gloucester schooner Gertrude L. Thebault and the Nova Scotia champion Bluenose, to be sailed off Halifax. It is said that this city is willing, the cost not to exceed $15,000. It is to be hoped that such a contest may be arranged.

(Next to Main Street Waiting Room)
Service With a Smile
"The Tea-room with an atmosphere"
Tempting Salads, Sandwiches and Luncheon Specials
AT OUR FOUNTAIN
REFRESHING DRINKS AND ICES
Home-made Candies and Fresh Salted Nut Meats prepared on the premises every day
Ice-Cream Packed with DRY ICE will keep four to five hours without ice or salt.
A Delightful Place to Eat.
RANSELLEAR TOWLE
118 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER

WE OFFER SPECIAL LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING SERVICE FOR SUMMER VISITORS
Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co.
PHONE 524 NOW
Offices and Plants:
8 PARKER ST., · GLOUCESTER

L. E. ANDREWS & CO.
Plumbing and Heating
Kitchen Furnishings, Garden Tools, Prepared Paints, Hardware of all descriptions. Vessel work, Yachting Hardware, Garden Hose, etc.
'Phones 645 and 646
121 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER
(Opposite Waiting Station)
Silent Automatic Oil Furnaces.

EARL O. PHILLIPS
Smart Shop for Men
Smart Clothes for Summer Comfort
A. G. SPALDING BROS.' BATHING SUITS
GOLF BALLS
TENNIS HOSE
HICKOK BELTS
DELPERK PAJAMAS
SUMMER NECKWEAR
ARROW SHIRTS
SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES
ROBER REIS UNDERWEAR
BATHING SUITS
SWEATERS
GOLF HOSE
EARL O. PHILLIPS, Inc. Smart Shop for Men
PERSONAL SERVICE
131 Main Street, Cor. Hancock, Gloucester, Opposite Barker's Drug Store

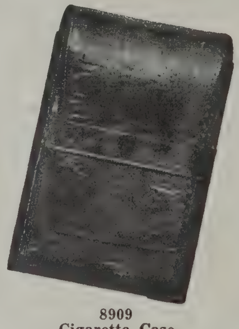
For Sixty Years

THIS PHARMACY has been dispensing Reliable

Drugs and Medicines

to the people of Cape Ann. Have you ever given us an opportunity to prove to you our capabilities along the lines of EFFICIENCY and REAL SERVICE? We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage this present season.

The Wetherell Pharmacy
P. O. SQUARE



8909
Cigarette Case
$3.75

Memories of Gloucester

TRUE SOUVENIRS of the sea—Bill Folds, Cigarette Cases, and all manner of articles fashioned of tough

TANNED CODFISH SKINS

Unlike any other Souvenir, they serve as a constant reminder of this famous fishing town.

$1.00 to $10.00

W. E. BLANCHARD,
Jeweler
125 Main Street, Gloucester, Mass.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

(Continued from page 13)

most unsatisfactory. I hate to risk losing any of the wonderful effect they've made."

"Oh, Jimmie, you can stop in and order some ice at the Cape Pond Ice Company, can't you, on the way back?" asked Gay.

"Any one have any more errands?" asked Chubby. "We can do them if you have."

"I did want some face powder and some more things like that, but I suppose I ought to get them myself," sighed Anne.

"What kind?" Gay wanted to know.

"Oh, I don't know. It's some new kind they are selling at Brown's and I don't want to get it wrong. That's why I'd better go myself, Gay."

"I know!" cried Peggy. "It's that new Gemey line that Hudnut is putting out. Made in France."

"That's it!" cried Anne. "Do you use it?"

"Well, make up your mind," from Chubby, "if we're going to get back in time to meet Marcia and Phil and the others."

"O. K., Energy," said Anne. "I want G-e-m-e-y, Gemey's face powder, perfume, cucumber lotion, dusting powder, talcum, brilliantine, rouge, lip-stick, toilet water, rouge—"

"Wait a minute! You said rouge once," remonstrated Chubby. "Now how am I supposed to remember all that?"

The girls were all laughing at Chubby's discomfiture. "Don't mind her, Chubby," consoled Gay. "Just tell the girl in W. G. Brown's that you want the entire Gemey line. She'll do the rest."

"And if it's too heavy," comforted Anne wickedly, "have it sent, dear boy."

Chubby left very red.

"You're brutal to him, Anne," laughed Gay, after Chubby and Jimmie had gone.

"Pooh," said Anne. "He loves it."

Peggy looked at Anne. "Loves you, maybe," she said very archly.

It was Anne's turn to laugh and she did. "Poor Peggy," and she laughed still harder.

"Let's do some window shopping," suggested Gay, pitying Peggy who adored Anne.

"Yes," said Peggy, "we can meet the boys out on the street just as well."

They stopped before the North Shore Furniture Company, amazed at the stupendous values in the window advertised as a result of the August sale.

"Speaking of furniture, how about that Hong Kong Wicker furniture of yours, Anne," asked Gay, "where did you get that?"

"Pattillo's," said Anne. "They have a wonderful supply of all kinds. You could get some now if you wanted to," she added.

"My heavens!" Gay stopped dead.

"What?" "What's the matter?" from Anne and Peggy at once.

"Oh, are we stupid! I just happened to think. You remember the day of the storm when we were all caught out on our yacht? Well, that night we were all in Peggy's, don't you remember, and Jack kept saying how he was going to have his house redecorated, and how he was going to have Hagstrom Company put in a new driveway and Swinson Brothers fix up the garden and everything?"

"Yes," said Anne.

"Well, for heaven's sake, why didn't we think right then that it was kind of strange. We might have known that he was thinking of getting married or something. You remember, Anne, even at Del Monte's that night he was talking about all that he was having done. How he even had bought all new kitchen furnishings at L. E. Andrews',

East Gloucester
Miniature Golf Course

116 EAST MAIN STREET
18 of the Largest Fairways in New England
NEWEST, MOST UP-TO-DATE

-:- OPENS -:-
Daily at 9 A.M. Sunday at 1 P.M.
FRANK POWLER, Inc.

THE L. E. SMITH COMPANY
Sole Cape Ann Agents for the
Frigidaire, Modern Sanitary Iceless Refrigerator

SILENT FLOW OIL BURNER FOR RANGES
Maytag Washing Machine
Chambers Fireless Gas Range
Plumbing, Heating, Hardware, Lawn Mowers, Garden Hose, Kitchen Furnishings, Etc.
221-223 Main St., 169 E. Main St.
GLOUCESTER

and had stocked up with a whole new supply of Gorton Seafoods. Remember? He said he was sending a lot away to some of his friends and bought a lot for himself at the same time. You were dancing with him most all evening. I'll bet you heard even more about it than we did."

"Yes," said Anne. She remembered it. She remembered the whole night. She remembered Jack. She remembered, too, thinking that all her conjectures concerning Bud and Jack were wrong. Being sure they were wrong. And then the next day he had left for the mountains and Bud.

"Oh, Anne knew it right along," Peggy's voice brought her back again. "She knew it and didn't tell us, or suspected it anyway. We certainly were unconscious."

They were in front of Earle D. Phillips' by this time. "Oh, cute sweaters!" exclaimed Gay. "Jimmie ought to get one. Isn't this window arranged attractively. Honestly, they have the smartest men's clothes here I've ever seen."

But Anne wasn't noticing. "Cute," she echoed absently.

They walked on, Peggy and Gay cheerfully discussing their stupidity at not realizing that Bud and Jack were in love, and unmindful of Anne's silence.

At Armstrong's they stopped, enchanted by the display of summer and fall shoes, and always popular Deauvilles. The windows were filled with shoes of all kinds and styles for men and women alike. As they turned back, Peggy tried to appear nonchalant as she suggested, "Let's go back to Trowbridge's. I'd love a sundae."

And in spite of their ridicule for the ever-hungry Peggy the two others managed to do away with one of the delicious heaping creations of cream and nuts and sauces.

As they left Trowbridge's they met Jimmie and Chubby just returning. Chubby looked at his watch. "It's twenty of six," he said. "We'll have to hurry to get back in time to meet them."

They were soon all gathered in Anne's living-room, waiting for the return of the prodigals.

The room was charming in its cozy attractiveness. Flickering candles burned on the mantelpiece lending an atmosphere of peaceful comfort. The curtains at the windows, beautiful and rich (looking quite new in their fresh appearance after a short visit to the Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleansing) caught and held deep shadows.

"Those candles," enthused Gay. "They're so lovely. Hand dipped, aren't they, Anne, and bayberry?"

"From my old standby, the Beach Plum and Bayberry Candle Place, at Dock Square, Rockport," furnished Anne. "They have the most delicious Wild Beach Plum Jelly there too. Mmm, it's marvelous. We'll have some later."

"This candy tastes fairly good to me," remarked Chubby, helping himself to another piece of Towle's home-made delicious candy. "It's Towle's isn't it?"

"That's right," smiled Anne. "And that's only a beginning, Chubby. There's cold chicken, and Kybo coffee from the First National and everything nice for later on in the evening."

"Oh," moaned Chubby, "Marcia, Phil, Bud, and Jack, please hurry home!" As though in answer to his plea there was suddenly the whir of a car as it came to a stop outside followed by shouts and cries of greeting.

"They're here!" cried Peggy, flying to the door, followed closely by the rest, and sure enough, before she could open it they all trooped in. Marcia and Phil, laughing and excited, followed closely by Bud and Jack.

Anne looked again. But was it Jack? Laughing, excited, confused. In the dim light it was hard to see. Cries of "Welcome the bride." Anne felt her cheeks burning as she suddenly realized that the boy whose arm Bud clutched, was not Jack. Was not Jack. No, Jack was behind him. Jack was alone.

C. ANNE SHORE.

Fishermen Playing Checkers at the Fisherman's Institute

HAGSTROM CO., Inc.
GENERAL CONTRACTORS
Loam, Dressing, and other materials
for
Garden and Landscape Work
Gravel and Crushed Stone for
Driveway Surfacing
TEL. GLOUCESTER 617

IN ROCKPORT
near the head of noted Bearskin Neck with its docks, fish houses, boat builders, and artist colony is
THE BEACH PLUM
AND
BAYBERRY CANDLE PLACE
Dock Square, Rockport, Mass.
Here you may find the Wild Beach Plum Jelly with the tang of the dunes and sea.
Here are dipped by hand in the real old-fashioned way Pure Bayberry Candles from the pure wax of the coast bayberries, the little gray berries which furnished lights for the earliest settlers of the New England coast.
It is an attractive place, and well worth a visit.

SEA SERPENT AT GLOUCESTER

(Continued from page 7)

As far as recorded the serpent steered clear of these shores until the latter part of the '80's, when he was seen disporting off the waters off Pigeon Cove. Several gentlemen of veracity and standing, among whom was the late Charles A. Russell, a well known member of the bar of this city, Granville B. Putnam, for many years headmaster of the Boston Latin School, who made his summer home at Pigeon Cove for nearly a half century and others of equal standing and credibility made affidavit to seeing just such a marine monstrosity as has heretofore been described. The creature cavorted around the waters of Sandy Bay fully a week before he disappeared.

This season too has brought forth a number of instances where fishermen and observers, not easily fooled, have sighted a marine curiosity which they say resembled published descriptions of the serpent.

But who shall say with finality that such a monster does not exist? It is known that many leagues under the sea odd specimens of the fishes of all kinds exist some having been brought to the surface by deep sea dredging. It may be that future researches of this nature may demonstrate that there is actually such a creature and that the specimens reported having been seen from time to time was one of these subterranean monsters that strayed off the reservation some ten thousand fathoms deep.

It was the deep sea voyage of H. M. S. "Challenge" on which Darwin was an observer that pulled up the evidence that man was descended from one of these odd fishes.

Next week—The man who lost his nerve and immortality.

FRESHWATER COVE

Mr. and Mrs. S. Warren Kimball of Brookline are occupying their fine seashore home at Mussel Point near Norman's Woe Cove.

Miss Florence Snelling of Boston, who has been in Europe is expected to return next week to her summer home in the old Master Moore cottage in Hesperus lane. Mrs. Channing Rust of Boston had previously opened the house.

Hon. John Thomas and wife, Mrs. Annie Webster Thomas, have come to "Pen-Craig," Freshwater Cove ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Woodworth and daughters Lucia and Linda of Arlington are again passing the midsummer term at their cottage in Mussel Point road.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones of Arlington, who have with them Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCann and family, are also at their Mussel Point cottage, which has been their summer home for many years.

Gustave A. Quiring and sisters, Misses Joanna and Julia C., are at their Hesperous lane home, the former Dillaway cottage.

DAVIS HILL—WEST PARISH

William B. Dennison and family of Winchester have come for the summer to the cottage in Kent road, purchased last year of Herbert F. Sawyer of Malden.

The Misses Mary and Helen Brick of Dorchester are passing the season at their cottage in this section.

Miss Fillebrown of Boston is again occupying the cottage "Grey Craigs," which she purchased several years ago.

Capt. Lemuel R. Firth and family of Boston came early in the season to their summer home on Davis Hill.

UNUSUAL GIFTS
Hand Decorated China
Studio of MRS. FRED A. WALLACE
Master Craftsman of Society Arts & Crafts, Boston
BEARSKIN NECK -:- -:- ROCKPORT
(Last House on the Right)
AUGUST 18-22
Order Now for Birthdays, Weddings, Christmas

Quiouhamenec Farm
(Pronounced Ke-ham-e-nec)
SWINSON BROS.
LANDSCAPE GARDENERS
Road and Lawn Tennis Court Construction
Local Agents for Sheep Manure and Fertilizer
Blue Stone for Walks, Driveways and Lawn Tennis Purposes
Telephone 873 Estimates of Cost
EXPERT LAND DRAINING EXCAVATING, GRADING
114 Mt. Pleasant St. EAST GLOUCESTER

TASTE—
FLAVOR—
ENJOYMENT—
Served at our New Frigidaire Soda Fountain with Special Ice Cream and Cooling Drinks
Specials on Saturday and Sundays.
TROWBRIDGE, The Druggist
THE NEW DRUG STORE
159 MAIN STREET Tel. 2040 GLOUCESTER

PURE ICE
Frozen Naturally in the Purest Ponds in New England
Nothing to get out of order. The Perfect Refrigerant. To keep food juicy in a Refrigerator requires some moisture. No mechanical-chemical devices yet developed by man, regardless of how costly or intricate, equals ice as a safe, reliable, silent and economical cold maker.
CAPE POND ICE CO.
Telephone 180 GLOUCESTER

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES ALLAN WINTER

(Continued from page 18)

ter and treatment, would take a volume to describe, and the personalities which created them would fill two more.

The Winters need no introduction. For some eighteen years they have been spending six months of each year in Gloucester and of late even longer. Their work has been recognized as superior by leading authorities everywhere, and where they are unknown as individuals they are well known as artists.

Alice Beach Winter was born in Green Ridge, a small town near Sidelia, Missouri, into a family consisting in the main of talented writers and actors. She began her studies in 1892 at the St. Louis School of Fine Art and graduated in 1898, by a strange coincidence the same year that Charles Winter entered the school as an instructor. In New York, shortly afterwards, she studied at the Art Students' League under such notables as John Twachtman, George DeForrest Brush and Joseph DeCamp. From the start she followed child life in most of her work, and upon graduation she began her career with the illustration of school books and magazines.

It was not long before such talent at depiction of child life was noticed and opportunities to do portrait work arrived with a rush. She began to paint as she does today, many children of prominent and distinguished people. Frederica Frye, daughter of John Frye, well-known New York artist, was among those first painted. The three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Oaks were painted by Mrs. Winter in innumerable poses and groupings, one of which hangs in the Atwater Gallery in New York City, and the daughter of one of these girls is Virginia Higginson, two portraits of whom have been recently exhibited by the Gloucester Society of Artists. Homer Croy, Jr., son of the famous author of "West of the Water Tower," and "They Had to See Paris," Sally Pillsbury, Mary Jane Mayhew, the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand Paradise of Kew Gardens, Katharine Hall, the daughter of Paul Tietjens, famous composer of the Wizard of Oz, Donald and Jean Duncan, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan, Dickie Hall, and innumerable other children of noteworthy parentage have been captured for posterity by Mrs. Winter's brushes and oils.

Beside the unbelievable amount of portrait painting which Mrs. Winter has done there has been much other work on the side. In 1922, the Girls' Service League used one poster in their struggle to raise one hundred thousand dollars, and the poster was designed and painted by Alice Beach Winter. The League raised the amount. Another interesting phase of her work has been that which she has done recently for the Congregational Publishing Company—poster work, illustrating forms of conduct for children. In 1922 she did a series of posters for the Tuberculosis League for the public schools, and many of the Ginn and Co. readers are illustrated by this very versatile artist. Magazine work is preferred by Mrs. Winter to the school book work as it offers more chance for artistic beauty, but today this has lost much of its artistic value, and with the exception of an occasional cover design, her work is confined mostly to poster work.

But above all, Mrs. Winter is a portrait painter of children. Few artists can create the effect that she does in one portrait. Her backgrounds are completely in harmony with the personality and individual make-up of the child, and her children are not of oil but of flesh and blood. Their smiles are genuine living smiles, their eyes are real actual eyes. Laughing or thoughtful, they are the mysterious and at the same time naive eyes of childhood, unfathomable—seeing things that we all seem to forget that we have ever seen. And yet, "Oh, well, it all comes with practice," she smiles. "Something you learn just like anything else." We politely agree but of course we know better, and after all, that is partly why we like her so much and we wouldn't have her change. Modest, unassuming, and yet definitely commanding, quietly fascinating, and subtly striking personality, Alice Beach Winter of, (and how proud we are to say it) of Gloucester.

THE ROCKAWAY
AND COTTAGES
At ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
Right on the Water
Commanding a Superb View of the Ocean
Accommodates 400.
W. A. PUBLICOVER, Proprietor

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS
-:- EXHIBITIONS -:-
2nd—July 25th to Aug. 18th 3rd – Aug. 22nd to Sept. 14th.
Gallery, Eastern Point Rd. E. Gloucester
Hours, Weekdays 10-6; Sundays 2-6 :: Gallery Phone 3842 W
THE NINTH ANNUAL FAKIRS' BALL
Twenty Thousand Legs Under the Sea
Four Prizes Given for Under-Sea Costumes.
Music by McEnErne's Dance Orchestra
HAWTHORNE INN CASINO, FRIDAY, AUG 21st, 8 P. M.
Those in costume will assemble at the Gallery at 7.30 P.M.
TICKETS TWO DOLLARS — ON SALE AT THE GALLERY

Tel. 452 Established Here 1890
North Shore Dyeing and Cleansing Shop
Cleansing, Dyeing, Pressing and Repairing
Work called for and delivered
245 Main St. Gloucester, Mass.

Samuel Bloomfield
SUMMER REAL ESTATE
specializing in
BASS ROCKS REALTY
Office:
53 Bass Ave., E. Gloucester
Tel. 1886

JOHN J. MacDONALD
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
15 Washington St.,
Gloucester : : Mass.
Phone 473-W Res. 473-R

The Moorland
BASS ROCKS
EDWARD D. PARSONS, Prop.
Right on the Ocean
Accommodates 500

J. A. NUNES : Art Store
Artist Materials and Picture Framing
Oil Paintings and Frames Restored
Hand Carved Frames in Stock and Made to Order
Painting and Decorating
6 Center Street, Gloucester, Mass.
Tel. 298-R Branch at Rocky Neck

Cape Ann Old Book Shop
35 High Street,
ROCKPORT, -:- MASS.
Rare, Interesting and Out of Print Books, Including First Editions.
For the Collector and Reader.

GOOD HARBOR BEACH INN
Briar Neck, Gloucester, Mass.
Ocean View and within one hundred feet of one of the best Bathing Beaches on the New England Coast.
Edwin C. McIntire,
Managing Proprietor

The Tavern
Directly on water at end of State Highway, Gloucester
Lobster, Fish and Steak Dinners
W. H. SMITH, Prop.
Telephone 1715-W

FISHING TACKLE
Motor Boat Supplies, Life Preservers, Oars, Fire Extinguishers, Lights, Hooks, Lines, Rowlocks
LOTHROP'S PATENT FOG HORN
L. D. LOTHROP & SON
70 Duncan St., Gloucester

Everett A. Flye, Opt. D.
Registered Optometrist
Established 1902
156 Main Street, Gloucester

And now to turn to the man of the house. Charles Allan Winter was born in Cincinnati and attended the Cincinnati Art Museum for several years where he won the foreign scholarship entitling him to three years in Paris. He remained there for four years studying at the Julian Academy under Collorossi and several other famous masters. He spent a year in Italy, and while there completed his famous "Fantasie Egyptienne," which was exhibited in the Salon in Paris and later in Chicago and after that travelled all over this country. The painting is that of an Egyptian Priestess with a sacred snake and is exquisitely beautiful in its symmetry, richness of expression and coloring and its unusual subject. For three years he taught a portrait class at the St. Louis School of Fine Arts, and then moved to New York City to the studio where he and Mrs. Winter have lived for thirty years. His work in New York City has consisted to a large extent in illustrating. Many of the popular periodicals contained at one time various essays by Elbert Hubbard, and many other contemporary thinkers and the allegorical and symbolic pictures used as single illustrations of an entire essay were thought out and painted by Charles Allen Winter. Many American bank notes, bonds, and Red Cross seals were also designed by this imaginative and constructive man. Collier's, the Cosmopolitan, and many other magazines, when in need of an illustration that signified wordlessly an entire complete idea, called on Mr. Winter. His reason for preferring the allegorical and symbolic to the realistic he explains simply and earnestly. There is more chance for invention, imagination, a wider field of creativeness. As might be gathered from this, Mr. Winter is an individualist. His theories are simple and direct. "All creatures are interested in something," he maintains. "And all creatures have some imagination. A person, to paint well, must paint what interests him. The conception must come first. A model is something to refer to for technical detail. But the inspiration, be it from a passing cloud, a film of smoke, a shattered glass, it hits you first, you suddenly see a certain arrangement of figures, perhaps it's only one sweep, or curve, but the idea is there to build on. And the mind should be trained to be awake and open to the ever present stimuli offered every second by life and objects." And one can readily believe that the curves and colors and swirls offered by nature are what have inspired this great artist as one regards his work. Complete, harmonious, perfectly proportioned, each painting is a masterpiece. Each painting is a story, and a story apart from the bustling world of today.

He works in his garden and house himself, does Charles Allan Winter, this painter of the things that dreams are made of, and when asked why, he chuckles and answers, "For the exercise, of course. Why should I go out and play golf?" he asks, "when I can spend the energy that I would be using in swearing to do something constructive. When I finish this kind of exercise I have something to show for it besides a black mark on my soul. It's just like painting, after all."

And it is. The house looks like a very much alive and beautiful painting and the man and woman who live there are the two artists who have created it. It is a masterpiece, and mostly because unconsciously they have put into it a part of themselves. It is a beautiful reflection of two beautiful personalities. And if you don't believe me, ask Miss Rosie Cockatoo who has watched from her swinging cage with her bright, bright eyes for fifteen years, Alice Beach Winter and Charles Allan Winter at their work.

E. F.

"MONUMENTAL" CONSTITUTION GUN DEDICATION AT ROCKPORT

Following is the program for the dedication of the "monumental gun" from the U. S. S. Constitution at Rockport next Thursday afternoon:

Program: 4 P.M.

Chairman, Dr. Marshall H. Saville

Opening Exercises—Rev. John McKenna, Chaplain of the Day

Recitation—"Old Ironsides" by Oliver Wendell Holmes—Mrs. Sidney Savage

Remarks—G. Tucker Margeson, Artist—Painter of "Old Ironsides"

Address—Roger W. Babson, Gloucester and Wellesley

Music by the Band

Address—Rear Admiral Louis M. Nulton, U. S. N., Commandant First Naval District and Boston Navy Yard

Presentation of Cannon to the Sandy Bay Historical Society

John Henry Dennis

Acceptance by President Marshall Saville

Unveiling the Monument

Alden Myron Tarr, Elaine Abbott Bennett

Ninth generation from Richard Tarr, founder of Rockport. Grandchildren of Henry A. Tarr, who secured the cannon.

Music by trumpeters

"Star Spangled Banner" by Band and audience

Benediction—Captain (Ch. C.—U. S. N.) Evan W. Scott, Chaplain of Charlestown Navy Yard

Note: Band concert 5 P.M. by American Legion Band, Gloucester.

Program: Annual meeting Sandy Bay Historical Society, Community House, 8 P.M.

Music—William A. Gaylord, Worcester

Historic Paper—Rev. Ebenezer Cleaveland, A Fighting Parson

By Mrs. Kitty Parsons Recchia

Remarks—Miss Mary Brooks, Gloucester

Music—William A. Gaylord

Annual Address—Dr. Marshall H. Saville, President of the Society

Report of the Secretary—Miss Alice F. York

Report of the Treasurer—Mrs. A. K. Rogers

Report of the Nominating Committee and Election of Officers

Music—William A. Gaylord

Social Hour

Note: The Museum will be open for visitors both afternoon and evening.

Sandy Bay Historical Society and Museum, Incorporated, 1926.

Officers: Honorary President, Judge Sumner D. York; President, Dr. Marshall H. Saville; Vice-Presidents, Frank W. Tarr and Grafton Butman; Secretary, Miss Alice F. York; Treasurer, Mrs. A. K. Rogers; Trustees, George W. Solley, Rev. Frank K. Sanders, Hon. Frederick H. Tarr, Lewis Poole, Frank Elwell.

Museum Committee: Foster H. Saville, George W. Solley, Mrs. Arthur M. Wheeler, Mrs. William W. Peck, Mrs. H. Boylston Dummer. Custodian, Foster H. Saville.

BELMONT SHOE REPAIRING
SHOE REBUILDING
Best Quality, Lowest Prices
Main St., Gloucester, Opp. Center St.

ROCKPORT DYE HOUSE
First Class Cleansers
Wearing Apparel Called For and Delivered Any Place on Cape Ann
MAIN STREET, ROCKPORT. Tel. Conn.

Dry Cleaning and Pressing
STRAND DYE HOUSE
Louis Kramer, Prop.
Odorless Cleansing and Pressing
Dyeing, Altering and Relining
We call for and deliver
45 Main St., Gloucester, Mass.
Phone 2563 Open Evenings

SIGHT-SEEING SAILS DAILY
Volunteer Toreador Club Conductors Explain Points of Interest on Cape Ann
Make Reservations in Advance at Y. M. C. A. (470)

THE GLOUCESTER SCHOOL OF THE LITTLE THEATRE
ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
"MELONEY HOLTSPUR"
By JOHN MASEFIELD
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, AUGUST 14 AND 15
Reserved Seats, on Sale at the School, $1.25. Tel. 3485
One-Act Play Friday Mornings at 11.30
Puppet Performances Saturday Mornings at 11.30. Admission 50c
Friday and Saturday, August 21 and 22 "THE THIRTEENTH CHAIR" By Bayard Veiller

Beach, Piazza and Cottage Furnishings

The Most Complete assortment on the North Shore. New Stock of Heywood-Wakefield Reed and Fiber Furniture. Radios of Leading Makes.
NORTH SHORE FURNITURE CO.
161-163 Main St.,
Cor. Parsons
Tel. 94

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

F. Reisner, filmed the new production.

A notable cast appears. William Bakewell and Karen Morley have the leading juvenile roles, and John Miljan, polished villain of the screen, plays the sinister gangster political ruler. Rosco Ates, stuttering comedian of "The Big House," is seen as Miss Moran's husband, and other important roles are played by Joan Marsh, Tom McGuire, Kane Richmond and Mary Alden.

Gloria Swanson in "Indiscreet," at the North Shore Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, finds a way to overcome that situation with a highly colorful dramatic performance providing good entertainment with a decided emphasis. The film brings to mind the star's earlier success, "The Trespasser," having a central character who risks her own happiness to save another from heartbreak.

The story was written especially for the star by De Sylva, Brown and Henderson, famous picture producers and composers, who with this production make their bow in the dramatic field. The two numbers written by them especially for Miss Swanson—"Come to Me" and "If You Haven't Got Love"—permit the star to demonstrate once again that she has one of the most engaging voices in pictures. A splendid supporting cast appears with Miss Swanson. It comprises handsome, debonair Ben Lyon, who turns in a fine performance opposite Miss Swanson; Monroe Owsley as the "menace"; Barbara Kent and Arthur Lake to whose lot falls the comedy-making, and Maude Eburne, Nella Walker and Henry Kolker.

Leo McCarey directed the star in her current offering. "Indiscreet" is fine entertainment and decidedly well worth seeing.

LITTLE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

and fascinating. Anne, the maid, was done exceedingly well by Kathleen Knox who completed the finished and harmonious cast. The story was clever, quick moving and original, and required the cast it had to retain its spice and wit.

Each production that the Little Theatre puts on seems to be better than its predecessor, and this speaks for itself for the work that is being done at the school. The productions are not those of amateurs. Any such impression that one may have had would be immediately contradicted by attendance at one of the performances. They are exceptional in their completeness and smoothness of production, and the Misses Florence Evans and Florence Cunningham as director of plays and acting, and executive director and producer, respectively, are to be congratulated.

This week on Friday and Saturday evenings, "Meloney Holtspur" by John Masefield will be given, and next week "The Thirteenth Chair" by Bayard Veiller. Both of these should attract large numbers of thrill seekers, the first being a haunting ghost play and the second a well-known mystery play. These will be respectively on August 14 and 15, and on August 21 and 22. Following these on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 25 and 26, a repeat performance of "Anna Christie" will be given, and the season will end on Friday and Saturday of that week with "Torch-Bearers," a rollicking satire.

FAKIRS' BALL—GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS

Extensive preparations are in progress for the Fakirs' Ball to be held next Friday evening, under the auspices of the Gloucester Society of Artists. Any evening at the gallery one may behold a peculiar sight indeed. Artists of all kinds and sizes may be found in the most undignified and unexpected positions sprawled full length upon the floor surrounded by the most weird sea creatures ever discovered. On closer scrutiny, of course, it's not nearly so bad as it's painted, because the sea creatures are the result of the work of those prostrated on the floor. They protest that they're taking it very seriously, this congenial crowd of artists, all the same, we think they're having fun at it themselves. The entire hall is not a hall at all but a region many fathoms under the sea, and even the lighting gives an effect of watery depths. A miraculous arrangement of fish suspended in "mid sea" carrying lights inside of them enables spectators to see without donning a swimming suit all the wonders of the deep. The opportunity should not be missed. At one end of the hall there is a coral sea reef with a jagged opening where the dancers will pose for the contest, and in and around this cave strange undersea fish, great sea-horses, and octopus greedily surveying a fish which he has caught, numerous fascinating mud puppies, and a Titian blonde mermaid who holds in one delicate hand a magnetic starfish and with the other endlessly scatters pearls behind her. There are spine sturgeons, red, green, and blue squids, sea anemones, eel shaped specimens with green eyes, and many weird creatures that look like plants and many peculiar plants that look like animals. (There are even fish with cauliflower ears.) All this and much more to be seen on and not before August 21, Friday night, at the Artists Fakirs' Ball, the one and only "One Thousand Legs Under the Sea." The orchestra is McEnernie's and the tickets are fast disappearing, as well they might with the evening of excitement and fun that is promised.

Specialty dances will be given by Miss Virginia Butler and Mr. Marsh ("Sonny") Irvin again this season, dances appropriate to the theme. Prizes will be given, the first two to the man and woman most artistically costumed, and the second two to the most humorous. The costumes must all four be, however, appropriate to the theme, "One Thousand Legs Under the Sea."

Members of the committee, who will also constitute the jury for the prizes include: Miss Marion T. McIntosh, Chairman; Charles Allan Winter, Mrs. Alice Beach Winter, Louis F. Berneker, Mrs. Maud F. Berneker, Charles P. Gruppe, Miss Virginia Gruppe, Lester A. Gillette, Mrs. Julia Burdoin, Miss Nell Van Hook, Mrs. Helen S. Davis, Mrs. Wilhemina Weyand, J. Elliot Ennekine, Roman J. Prybot, Carl Nordstrom, Mrs. J. W. Little, John J. Barry, Mrs. John J. Barry, Benjamin Cratz, Miss Margaret Fitzhugh Brown, Mrs. Antoinette Inglis, Oscar Anderson, Mrs. Alida C. Anderson, Miss Mildred Copperman, Mrs. Elsa Anshutz-Zeig.

THE OCEANSIDE THEATRE

The North Shore society that sat last week in rapt attention before the presentation of Faust by the Oceanside Theatre Company, found itself rocking with laughter on Monday evening at the opening performance for the week of one of the most delightful and clever comedies ever written. "The Notorious Lady" by John Entenza, experienced at its initial production a roaring success. Cora Witherspoon, famous for her performances on Broadway, was secured to play the difficult lead and as Julia Farr, the notorious lady herself, she won over the hearts and minds of her audience from the moment of her entrance.

The story was a quick-moving, smart, satirical comedy on Park Avenue life, and was superb in its completeness. Julia Farr with a past that is cleverly revealed to the audience in the first act by her three old acquaintances who decide to form a sort of defense committee for her, returns from her gay and exciting life abroad to take up her neglected duties as a mother to her daughter Lucy. She brings with her the romantic and fascinating Tulio as her secretary, which complicates her role as the doting mother considerably, and incidentally becomes an important motif to the plot. Charles, the brother of Emily Phipps, and an old and consistent admirer of Julia's, finally persuades Julia to dismiss Tulio, who at the end of the second act has for the first time confessed in a touching and tensely suppressed scene his love for the fascinating Julia. The surprise ending comes with the reason for Julia's near marriage to Charles being revealed as merely a means to secure Peter, Charles' nephew and Emily's son for her daughter rather than the Tommy with whom the conservative Lucy has believed herself to be in love. With the news of Peter and Lucy's elopement, Julia is herself again, and in triumphant possession of ALICE M. AMBLER, A. B.

(VASSAR)
PRIVATE TUTOR
French. German. Latin, English.
Spanish, Algebra, Etc.
16 Highland Street, E. Gloucester
Tel. 3125-W

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR
For Your Child, ages 10 to 16
Competent Young Instructor
Tutoring at Your Own Home
Write P. O. Box No. 316, Gloucester

Office Open Day and Night.
Tel. Con.
WILLARD S. PIKE
Funeral Director
and Embalmer
Shipping, Transfer and Crematory Work
75 Washington Street
Gloucester Mass.

AWNINGS
And Yacht Equipment
UNITED SAIL LOFT CO., Inc.
Foot of Pearce St.
71 Wharf St. Tel. Conn.

NORTH SHORE INN
Magnolia-by-the-Sea
Massachusetts
Charming Homelike Atmosphere
[Booklet on request]
Good Food--Reasonable Rates
Tune in Wednesday morning, 9-10
WHDH

SUPERIOR DYE HOUSE
12 MAIN ST.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Work Called For and Delivered
Anywhere on Cape Ann
Cleaning, Pressing, and Alterations.
Telephone 2644
Satisfaction Guaranteed

the tickets for the bridal suite intended by the completely bewildered Charles for himself and Julia, she bids an elated farewell to the conservatives she leaves behind.

The three friends were excellently done by Harriet Eels, Doris Rich and Leone Souza. Harriet Eels as Emily Phipps, sentimental, enjoying every bit of gossip, and with a heart of gold, was consistently excellent. Leone Souza created an entirely distinct personality as Elizabeth Parker, and was thoroughly in character throughout the play. Doris Rich provided the choicest laughs and sparkling wit of the evening and did it in the manner that only she could do it. As always, her personality reached across the footlights and captured the audience completely.

The part of Tulio was difficult in that it was the one very sentimental thing in a thoroughly sophisticated story, but Robert Henderson gave to it a completely touching and affecting pathos. The scene of his dismissal was one that in its dumbly appealing suppression of emotions became exquisitely heart rending. George Houston as Charles, had occasion to show yet another side of his versatility. Hopelessly ineffectual as far as the scintillating Julia was concerned, completely lacking in sense of humor, and dumb in his blind devotion, he sustained the character excellently. Margaret Adams as Lucy Farr gave a charming and complete characterization, and William Williams as the worldly wise young Peter created a delightful and refreshing personality. Raymond O'Brien again showed his ability, greatly appreciated by the audience, at portrayal of a character part as the hopelessly spoiled, unpretentious and gawky Tommy. Mata Roudin, as Harriet Wentworth, the straight-laced conscientious mother of Tommy, gave a highly creditable performance.

The scene, the drawing room of the Farrs, was beautifully natural and attractively luxurious.

Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Edith Atwater, secretary of the organization, and Mrs. Evans Dick, Jr., managing director.

Among those present were: Mrs. C. E. Cotting, Manchester; Mrs. A. H. Morse, Manchester; Mr. and Mrs. Durward Grinstead, Manchester; Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, Prides; Mrs. Arthur E. Davis, Eastern Point; Mrs. William H. Moore, Prides; Col. and Mrs. Edward M. House, Manchester; Mrs. Edward Thaw, Eastern Point; Mrs. Percy V. Hill, Magnolia; Mrs. Edward Sturgis, Manchester; Mrs. F. M. Stanwood, Manchester; Mrs. F. M. Estes, Miss Mary Chase, Mrs. P. Harrington Walker, Magnolia; Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Prides; Mr. Frank Jelleff, Annisquam; Mrs. Katherine Choate, Topsfield; Mr. and Mrs. John Charles Thomas, Mrs. George A. Dobyne, Beverly Farms; Mrs. Samuel Culbertson, Manchester; Mrs. F. B. Crowninshield, Marblehead; Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Crane, Jr., Ipswich; Mrs. H. H. Barton, Jr., Magnolia; Mrs. P. L. Stackpole, Manchester; E. M. Binney, Magnolia; Philip A. Davis, Annisquam.

PARKING REGULATIONS

1873

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Attention is called to the following extracts from an ordinance governing automobile traffic passed June 6, 1930.

Section One. During the months of June, July, August and September the following traffic regulations shall be effective for vehicles:

Parking Prohibited at All Times

Pleasant street, between Main and Warren streets, Short street.

Easterly side of Centre street.

Pearce street, from Rogers to Main street.

Westerly side of Water street from Main to Rogers street.

Within 15 feet of any hydrant on any street.

Westerly side of Elm street from Main to Prospect street; easterly side from Main street to the southern end of the Recreation Alleys.

Easterly side of School street from Middle street to Mason street, and on School street from Proctor street to Middle street after 11 P.M.

Northerly side of Middle street from Pleasant street to Washington street.

Northerly side of Main street, from a point opposite the westerly side of Porter street to Washington street.

Easterly side of Chestnut street.

All protected crossings.

Easterly side of Hancock street from Middle to Rogers street or on such portions of westerly side as are designated by white traffic lines.

Restricted Parking

Main street, from Washington to Vincent street, 30 minutes between 6 A.M. and 6 P.M., except on Saturday when the restricted parking extends to 10 P.M.

Center street, westerly side but only within a distance of 30 feet from Main street and 30 feet from Middle street.

Middle street, southerly side, from Pleasant to Washington street, for a period not exceeding one hour.

Dale avenue, westerly side only, in a diagonal position with the left rear wheel or right front wheel against the curb.

One Way Streets

Southerly side of Western avenue, from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for east bound traffic.

Northerly side of Western avenue from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for west bound traffic.

Federal street, travel only in an easterly direction, from Pleasant street to Elm street, no parking on either side.

Short street, one way north from Main street.

Hancock street, from Middle street to Main street, one way south.

Nautilus road, one way south between Bass avenue and Bass Rocks road.

Duncan street, one way south from Main street to Rogers street, parking on westerly side only.

Arlington street, Annisquam, one way in a southeasterly direction.

Chestnut street, one way south, parking only on westerly side.

Middle street, from Dale avenue to Pleasant street, one way east.

Warren street, one way west, parking on both sides.

Protected Crossings

Across Prospect street at Union hill; across Spring street at the westerly side of Union hill; across Main street at the North Shore Theatre; across Main street at the Olympia Theatre; across Main street at the Postoffice and Trust Company; at the Gloucester National Bank; from the Masonic Block to W. G. Brown & Company's store; from the A. & P. store to Herricks' fruit store; across Pleasant street, at the Postoffice; across Duncan street on Main street; across Hancock street on both sides the street.

Porter street, one way south, parking only western side.

Traffic lights in operation Main street, foot of Commercial, P. O. Square; Prospect street, near M. E. Church.

DANIEL M. CASEY,
City Marshal.

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE

No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st except by written permission of the Chief of the Fire Department or the Fire Warden.

Persons wishing to burn rubbish, grass, etc., in the business or residential sections of the city, i. e. within the limits established by the Eastern avenue School on Eastern avenue and the cut bridge on Western avenue and the Green on Washington street, should apply to the Chief of the Fire Department. Those wishing to burn rubbish, brush, grass, etc., in the outlying portions of the city, that is outside of the limits as here set forth, whose fire would be on or near any wood, brush or grasslands, should apply to the Fire Warden.

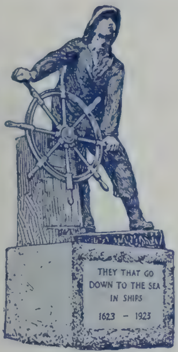
Readers of this notice are cautioned to be extremely careful of matches, cigars and cigarettes while in or near any wood or brushland to prevent forest fires.

HOMER R. MARCHANT,
Chief of the Fire Department.
ALBERT C. LA BELLE,
Fire Warden.

Magnolia Real Estate
SEA SHORE ESTATES
Cottages, Bungalows, Shops
JONATHAN MAY
Shore Road, Magnolia, Mass. Tel. Magnolia 426-R.

Gloucester Auto Bus Co.
Exclusive Street Passenger Transportation on Cape Ann, Gloucester and East Gloucester, Annisquam, Lanesville, Pigeon Cove, Rockport, West Gloucester, Essex, Magnolia, Manchester.
Starter's Office 114 Main Street
Information Telephone 2195 Telephone 1675

THE PATTILLO STORE
THE FINEST LINE OF SUMMER FURNITURE, SCREENS, MATTRESSES, RUGS, ETC., ON THE NORTH SHORE. UPHOLSTERING DONE BY SKILLED WORKMAN
A·MANTON PATTILLO
Fine Assortment of Vudor Shades for the Piazza
C. F. TOMPKINS CO.
67 MIDDLE STREET GLOUCESTER



THEY THAT GO DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS
1623 - 1923

Rooted Deep

"As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm,
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."
—GOLDSMITH.

Commercial Banking
Savings Accounts
Club Accounts
Safe Deposit Boxes
Storage Vault
Foreign Exchange
Travellers Cheques
Bond Department
Travel Service

A Bank that started 132 years ago and is the oldest Bank in the State must be deep rooted. A Bank that has withstood all the hard times and financial and industrial changes down from Washington's time must have a certain inherent strength.

We offer you strength; a background of tradition, efficient service, and friendly co-operation.

The Oldest Bank in the State, the Seventh Oldest in the United States; a depository for City, County, State and U. S. Funds, and favored with an account from hundreds of firms and individuals on the Cape.

May We be Favored With Your Gloucester Business?

GLOUCESTER NATIONAL BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE CITY

OLDEST BANK IN MASSACHUSETTS

One of the steps in the preparation of codfish for the market. Drying and curing whole codfish at the Gorton-Pew Fisheries

You Are Cordially Invited—

OUR door is always open. And we are always glad to show visitors the fascinating processes employed in our plant. See how we take fish fresh from the ocean and prepare them for the tables of America's discriminating housewives. There is no more interesting sight in all of quaint old Gloucester.

If it were only possible to transport some of the charm of Gloucester back home—its romantic harbor, its curious old streets and homes, its atmosphere of the sea. Although this is impossible you may have a reminder of pleasant Gloucester days in sending to your home some of our delicious fish products. For this purpose we put up a special combination box. It is an attractive carton containing a popular assortment of Gorton's Sea Foods. Neatly packed ready for shipment. These tasty and popular sea foods will introduce you to new delights in fish eating.

The same offer is extended to all-year-round and summer-time residents. Visit us and see for yourselves how one of America's oldest and most interesting industries operates. You are cordially invited.

Gorton's
Sea Food Family

GORTON'S CODFISH
GORTON'S READY-TO-FRY COD FISH CAKES
GORTON'S FRESH MACKEREL IN CANS
GORTON' SALAD FISH
GORTON'S DEEP SEA ROE
GORTON'S CODFISH IN CANS
GORTON'S FINNAN HADDIE
GORTON'S FLAKED FISH
GORTON'S MANHATTAN CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S DOWN EAST CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S HADDOCK CHOWDER

Gorton-Pew Fisheries
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Founded in 1849

1885 - 1931

THE BOSTON STORE

WILLIAM G. BROWN COMPANY, Gloucester, Mass.

The Largest Store of the North Shore Covering a City Block from PLEASANT, MAIN and ELM STREETS

29 Departments. Largest Dry Goods Floor Space East of Boston. POST OFFICE SQUARE

The Department Store of Service where Summer Shopping is made pleasant.

In Gloucester on the North Shore you will find this store a well appointed, pleasant store in which to do your shopping on a warm summer's day.

It will be a pleasure and also afford you great satisfaction in knowing that you can come here and select quality merchandise at lowest possible prices.

Trade in Gloucester at the Big Store of the North Shore

One of the North Shore's Finest
BEAUTY SHOPS

4 Booths—2 Bobber Chairs
2 Manicure Tables

Marcel Waving
Shampooing
Manicuring
Facials
French Curling
Hair Dyeing
Hair Tinting
Permanent Waving
Hair Dressing
Hair Bobbing and Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting by Experts.

Atwater Kent, Majestic, Victor and Radiola Radios

Largest Line on Cape Ann
Expert Installation

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

New Soda Fountain
and Luncheonette
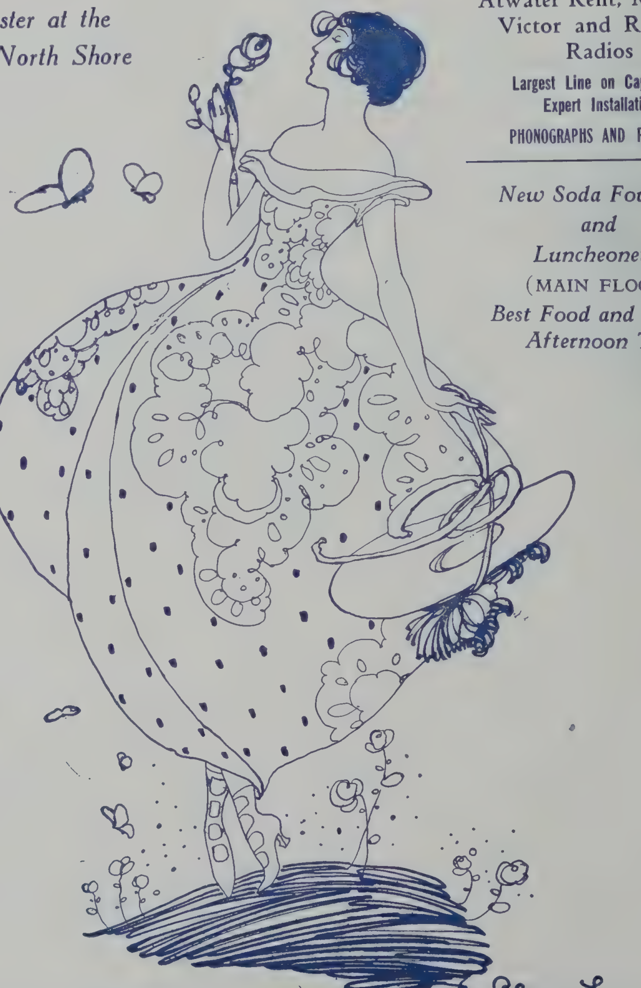
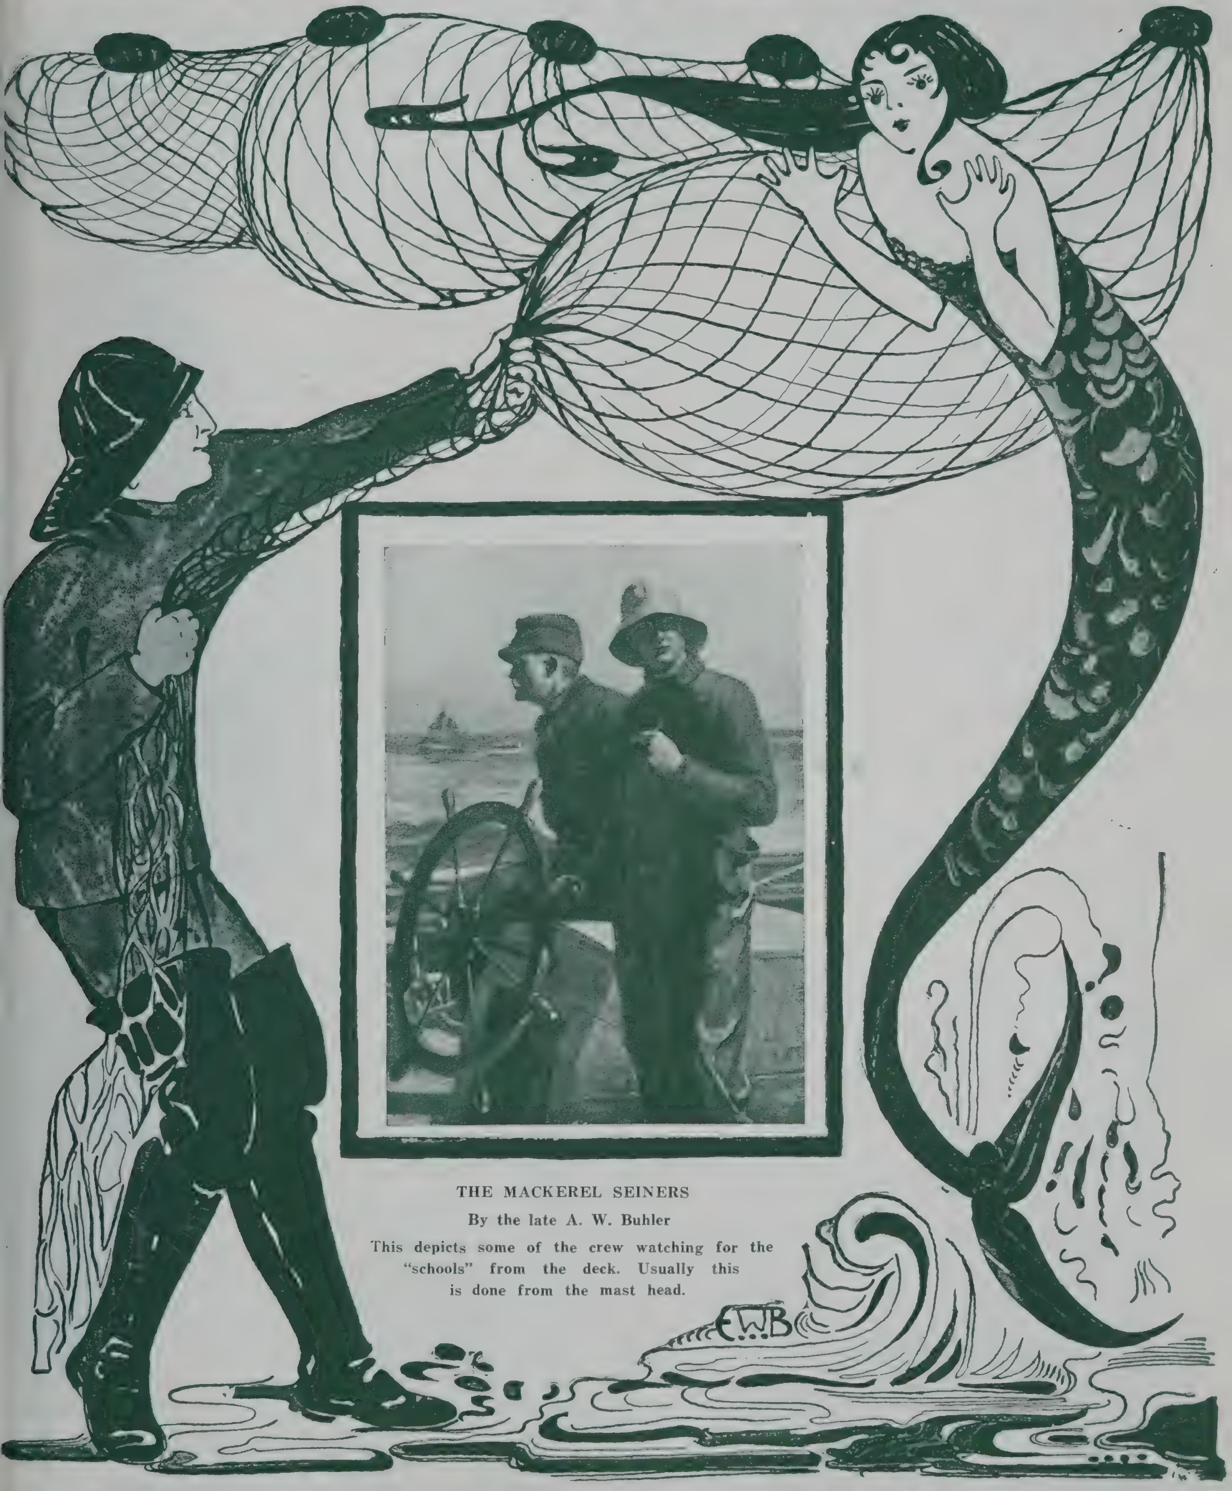
(MAIN FLOOR)
Best Food and Service
Afternoon Tea



CAPE ANN SHORE



THE MACKEREL SEINERS

By the late A. W. Buhler

This depicts some of the crew watching for the "schools" from the deck. Usually this is done from the mast head.

Vol. XXXVI
August 22, 1931

PUBLISHED BY
The Cape Ann Publishing Co.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

No. 7
Price 10 Cents

C. S. NAUSS (Established 1837) L. H. NAUSS

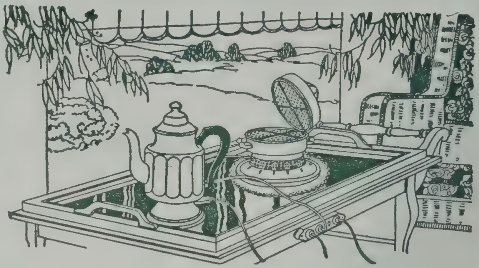
L. B. Nauss & Sons

"NAUSS LUMBER"

LUMBER
LIME
CEMENT
BUILDING SUPPLIES

"Everything to Build Anything"

Telephones 195-196-197
RAILROAD AVE.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.



They add a subtle touch of distinction to hospitality

Resplendent, efficient electric appliances make entertaining so satisfying and convenient

Drop into our store and see these wonderful aids to entertaining — electric percolator, electric coffee urn, electric waffle iron, electric toaster. We're glad to show them—whether you buy or not.

GLOUCESTER ELECTRIC COMPANY

Telephone 1250 Telephone 1250

EXHIBITION

Pastels
Drawings Paintings
Water Colors

Margarett Sargent
GLOUCESTER

AT

The C. F. Poole Shops
Fresh Water Cove

Saturday, August 15 --- Saturday, August 29

ENJOY YOUR SUMMER WITH A
New Glenwood Insulated Range

Insulated Glenwood
GLENWOOD ROBERTSHAW OVEN HEAT CONTROL

"You can do it better with Gas"

GLOUCESTER GAS LIGHT CO.

96 MAIN STREET Telephone 570

1896—OLDEST ESTABLISHED SUMMER RESORT PUBLICATION ON THE NORTH SHORE—1931

THE CAPE ANN SHORE

THIRTY-SIXTH SEASON

Gloucester, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Long Beach, Briar Neck.

Land's End, Rockport, Pigeon Cove, Annisquam and River Territory, Fernwood, Magnolia, Manchester and Essex County.

Published Weekly, 8 times during July and August by the CAPE ANN PUBLISHING CO., James R. Pringle, Conductor, 95 Main Street, Gloucester. 75 cents the season on Cape Ann; elsewhere, $1.00. Tels. 412-W, 412-R.

"Entered as second-class matter July 16, 1920, at post office, Gloucester, Mass., under Act of March 3, 1879."

Special Contents, August 22, 1931

EDITORIALS:
- When East Meets West
- A Truck Thoroughfare

POEMS:
- In Memory of Gloucester
- Crane Gardens

DR. FREDERICK W. COOK
- The Man Who Lost His Nerve

ART AND DRAMATIC
- Being a Review of Theatrical Topics and the Artist Colony

NEWS OF THE SUMMER COLONY
- Manchester, Magnolia, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Briar Neck, Land's End, Rockport Center, Pigeon Cove, The Annisquam Region, The Cape Ann Countyside

THE WEEK'S YACHTING

A HOUSE OF SERVICE

GLOUCESTER COAL AND LUMBER COMPANY

For twenty-five years the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company have endeavored to give to the residents of Cape Ann all that there is in the way of service.

Starting as a coal yard in 1906 the company has steadily increased its services until now it is capable of merchandizing literally anything from thumb tacks to a home complete, from planning to financing.

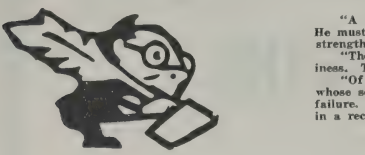
At the present time the company occupies two large wharves in Gloucester harbor, receiving the majority of its coal and lumber by water. The finished lumber and flooring is brought in by rail and stored in a heat regulated warehouse. The heating plant in this building is arranged to provide a constant temperature with a low rate of humidity thus assuring all lumber of being perfectly dry and free from shrinkage.

Included in the five acres of floor space are four large warehouses, a fully equipped mill, a garage and machine shop, a cement shed, and the coal pockets. In addition the company has this year added a new paint and hardware store carrying a full line of painters' supplies, carpenters' tools and hardware for the home and builder.

The Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company maintain offices in Gloucester, Rockport, Manchester, and Magnolia; free estimation service for any type of building as well as a planning and financing department. The company is also exclusive agent on the North Shore for the electric furnace man.

GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO., -:- 43 Duncan Street

Telephones 3060—3061—3062



"A man must know more than just enough to carry on his daily routine work. He must have reserve power to meet any emergency. He must have a reserve moral strength, a surplus to draw upon to meet the demands of reverses.

"There must be a margin of vital energy. Fatigue is not due to over weariness. The fatigue of moral fibre is due to a malnutrition of the soul.

"Of two men of equal capacity, one a man of prayer, and the other one in whose soul the light is extinguished, the former will be a success and the latter a failure. Thus, moral elements make for efficiency."—Rev. Dr. Edward T. Sullivan in a recent sermon at the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, Boston.

WHEN EAST MEETS WEST

Silently and Irresistibly the Tides of the Orient Challenge European Supremacy—and "All is Quiet on the Western Front"—the New Zealander on the Bridge

News of the highest significance was chronicled in the press of the late winter. While the padres of one of the old Spanish churches were engaged in their devotions a group of Mahometan students entered another section of the edifice. Soon the notes of a Moslem chant in the rich tones characteristic of these peoples was heard, majestic in its volume and rendition. Involuntarily all paused and listened.

The significant thing about this happening was that in hot-blooded Spain, no outburst of clergy or people occurred nor was protest afterwards made. The students departed as unharmed as they came.

Centuries ago the ancestors of these young Moslems, later expelled from Spain, wrought this temple as a Mahometan place of worship. Christians who ousted them had utilized the place for their religious purposes. No doubt the young Moslems, fired by zeal and remembrance of past glories, considered themselves no intruders at this shrine wrought by their ancestors and looked forward to the day when they should again come into what they considered their own.

Not so visionary? Today the enlightened East, mother of civilization and religions, meets the weakened West on a solid advanced forefront. Russia, more Oriental than western; India, which with a quick turn about has dictated terms to Britain; the new and alert Turkey than whom there are no more valient fighters, with the remembrance of Saladin, Solyman the Magnificent, and others who fought back the Crusaders even to the walls of Vienna and stopped them short in their tracks; Genghis Khan also in this lineup. In the South the Moroccan and Algerian Moors with the recollection of ancient expulsion—witness the recrudescence of the feeling after generations in the incident of the first paragraph—to wipe out and rectify.

Up to now Britain alone has been the bulwark and barrier which has breasted back these hordes from overrunning the western world. Now the slaves have turned on their masters. The East has acquired the education, especially in military matters, of the West and meets them on common ground. But now the British line has been broken and bent. Opposed is a crippled and white-bled Europe—its fighting morale spent.

Silently this advance army advances and consolidates. In its rear awakened China, Japan and lesser civilizations. What of a hundred years from now? Will East or West dominate? Something to ponder over.

The thoughtful leaders of Christianity foresee this and seek to consolidate. A few months ago the English Archbishop of Canterbury with the Orthodox Patriarch of Jerusalem, representatives of the Anglican and Russian churches, made solemn procession to the church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem, the first time such a rapprochement between the two churches had been recorded.

A significant symbol of the reunion of Christianity. Students of theological weltpolitik will recall the effort for union on the part of the two great churches just before the beginning of the Great War. Now apparently this attempt has been resumed and nearly consummated. The Russian church needs the support of the English and vice versa. Both have much in common. Through such a union on a basis of common faith, western civilization may expect much.

Since this was written in March has come the extraordinary and surprising news of the Spanish revolution and expulsion of the monarchy. That this is not a sporadic manifestation is demonstrated by the overwhelming victory of the republicans in the recent plebiscite after the populace had ample time to think over and consider the situation.

Thus Spain, the very rock and Gibraltar of the ancient order, casts off its old vestments and lines up with the modern trend. The Moors or what not may come back and worship and work as they please. A New Day has dawned. Verily the world has moved.

The West is no longer the master. The East has regained its ancient prestige. Ghandi today in India and the Egyptians defy Britain successfully.

(Continued on page 22)

A TRUCK THOROUGHFARE

To Eliminate the Noise Nuisance on the North Shore Highway—Should Locomotives and Rails be Junked on Branch Lines?

Last year we wrote something on the desirability of minimizing the noise nuisance as a measure for bettered summer resort conditions—the early morning tootings of the inshore fishing fleet mainly receiving consideration. Now the truck nuisance.

The motor and improved highway have brought the motor truck. For a stretch of 17 miles from the Cut bridge to the Lynn marshes up the thoroughfare of the North Shore with its millions of summer resort property these heavily laden trucks groan and moan in the late hours of the night and early morning, destroying the sleep of prince and pauper alike.

Now sleep is an essential to health and the law regards health considerations as a prime essential. So how shall this truck noise nuisance be abated, for it is recognized that it has its rights and may not be ruled off the road.

Trucking on the thoroughfares may be restricted to certain hours—not later than midnight nor before six in the morning, let us say. But another solution has been advanced. Why not build a road to be devoted entirely to trucking, the route to be somewhere from a point at West Gloucester through sparsely settled territory, coming out on the Lynn marshes? The surplus from the gasoline tax can defray the cost easily. The unemployment situation may be correspondingly alleviated in this construction—necessary and for a purpose—an improvement of permanence.

Or another solution. The motor truck and the improved highway have made the locomotive and the old railroad, particularly the branch lines, as for example from Rockport to Boston, archaic. Realize it or not, they've got to be scrapped and relegated to the junk heap as were the old stage coaches. In order to live—and they are being sunk by the coach, freight and passenger competition—the railroads have got to come to the one unit car thereby

(Continued on page 22)

IN MEMORY OF GLOUCESTER

By Helene Maxwell

I saw a jester's cap upon your hair,
Heard merry throngs proclaim the holiday
To fill your narrow streets with music gay
And bind your drying sails with garlands fair;
A breeze caressed your cheek, while jewels rare
Were spun by Neptune from the ocean's spray
To twine about your throat, carillons play
A love song to the mermaid free from care.

Tonight with bleeding heart you walk alone,
Your face is stained with tears, the mad sea cries,
Then hurls your children to eternity—
And empty streets resound your mournful groan;
On pleasure's throne the laughing mermaid dies—
A mother she becomes in agony.

CRANE GARDENS

By Henrietta A. Bassett, Annapolis, Md.

Near Ipswich dunes is a garden
Overhung by shadowy trees,
With rows of Roman goddesses
Atop brick walls, a-frieze.

There is Monkshood high of purple—
Delphiniums—flocks of white
With humming birds and bumble bees
Each taking his keen delight.

At the end a fountain tumbles
Straight from the garden wall,
Into a basin rainbowed
With the fairest blooms of all.

A little girl once entered
And stood by that fountain rare,
When all at once a little song
Crept softly through the air.

A song so exquisitely tender,
In accents so low and sweet,
No voice could its cadences render,
No pen its notes complete.

It rose to the heights of the flowers
Then faltered, and wavered o'er all
Until like a spirit descending
It seemed to absorb all in its fall.

Only a tribute to beauty
Straight from the heart of a child—
But we who had listened were tear-dimmed,
Oh—for the art of the mild.

Art and Dramatic

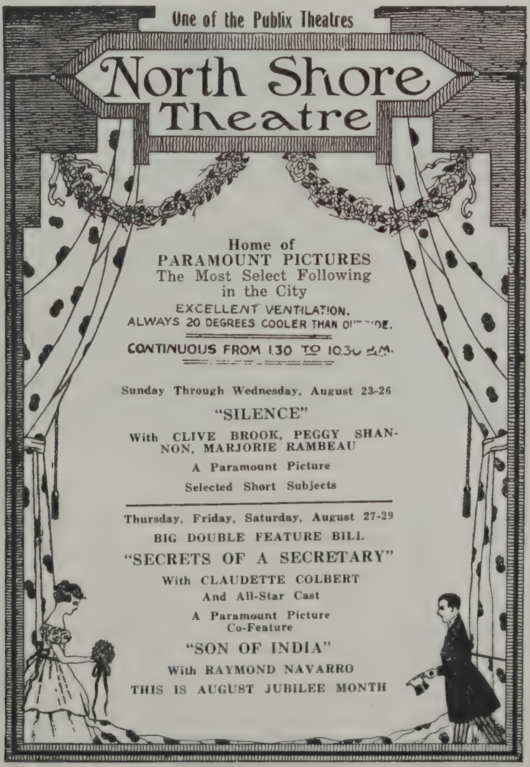
THE LITTLE THEATRE

"Meloney Holtspur" or "The Pangs of Love," by John Masefield, the play produced by the Gloucester School of the Little Theatre this past week, was an unusual and difficult undertaking. Typically Masefield in its context, the story was difficult not only to interpret successfully on the stage, but required every skill of players, lighting, and scenic effects to put across the dramatic intensity intended by the author. The players of the Little Theatre were up to the occasion and succeeded in presenting perhaps the most difficult play they have attempted this season.

The effect of the past upon the present, involving the walking of the restless ghosts who once lived in Holtspur Hall, their willful effect upon their present day descendants, and a masterly weaving in of tender, intense, romance of past and present, compose the main theme of the story.

Miss Barbara Percival, who will be remembered for her recent playing of Anna Christie, again took the lead as Meloney Holtspur and creates as the wounded, restless, vengeance seeking ghost of a girl who died of a broken heart inflicted by her lover, a

(Continued on page 25)



One of the Publix Theatres
North Shore Theatre
Home of
PARAMOUNT PICTURES
The Most Select Following
in the City
EXCELLENT VENTILATION.
ALWAYS 20 DEGREES COOLER THAN OUTSIDE.
CONTINUOUS FROM 1.30 TO 10.30 P.M.

Sunday Through Wednesday, August 23-26
"SILENCE"
With CLIVE BROOK, PEGGY SHANNON, MARJORIE RAMBEAU
A Paramount Picture
Selected Short Subjects

Thursday, Friday, Saturday, August 27-29
BIG DOUBLE FEATURE BILL
"SECRETS OF A SECRETARY" With CLAUDETTE COLBERT
And All-Star Cast
A Paramount Picture
Co-Feature
"SON OF INDIA"
With RAYMOND NAVARRO
THIS IS AUGUST JUBILEE MONTH

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the North Shore Theatre, Paramount presents another of their August Jubilee outstanding hits, "Secrets of a Secretary," with Claudette Colbert and an all star cast. It is the story of a girl of wealth and social position—a mad marriage to a worthless fortune hunter—financial disaster—a livelihood as the social secretary to a wealthy family—an intrigue between the daughter of this family and the secretary's worthless gigolo husband—forbidden romance between the secretary and the titled fiance of the daughter of the family—a murder—circumstantial evidence linking the secretary to the crime. And then a tremendously dramatic denouement.

All the world reads daily of the public activities of smart society. But what about the tragedies and the scandals, the heartaches and the tears that are not told about on the society page or in the tabloids? One outsider alone sees all of this fascinating side of society—the secretary. Intimately associated with the socially great and near-great, the social secretary not only see all and hears all; occasionally she is swept into the actual drama. That's what happens in "Secrets of a Secretary."

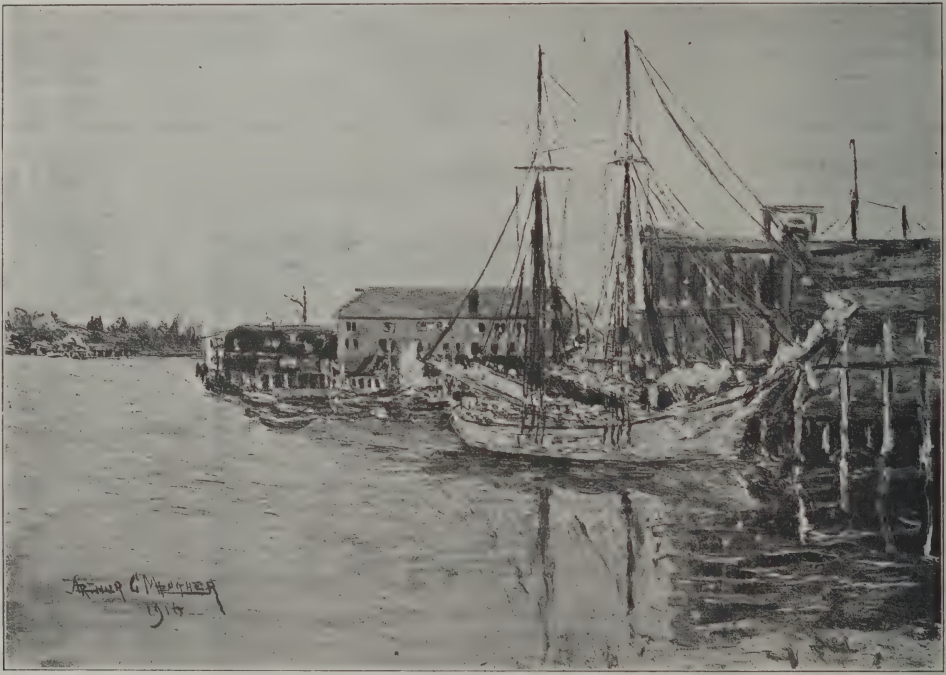
With Raymond Navarro in the

(Continued on page 24)

DR. FREDERICK W. COOK

The Man Who Lost His Nerve and Immortality—Departed on Eventful North Pole Discovery Voyage in a Fishing Craft from this Port—His Party on the Steamer Miranda Previously Rescued by Captain Dixon and Crew of the Schooner Rigel

Introducing Dr. Frederick W. Cook, Arctic explorer, navigator, the man who missed glorious immortality when he lost his nerve. For Dr. Cook was in our midst and set forth from this port on a voyage which might have given the place an added prestige, as ranking with the point of departure as of the San Palos of Columbus. Attendez?



"HARBOR COVE," GLOUCESTER

One day in July, 1896, the stanch fishing schooner Rigel, Capt. George W. Dixon, of this port was sailing up the coast of Labrador bound for the outer edge of the Arctic circle on a flitched halibut voyage, when an argus eyed member of the crew detected a group of people on the barren cliffs gesticulating and running madly about.

Quoth he, "Skipper, I think I see men running about waving signals." Capt. Dixon brought his spyglass to bear on the indicated spot. "You're right," observed the captain tersely, and then turning to the helmsman ordered him "to keep her inshore."

As they neared the land they observed an old iron steamer piled up on a reef. Coming to anchor and casting a dory overside, Capt. Dixon and several of the men rowed ashore and landed. A group of some 35 rushed down to welcome him. Their story was quickly told. They were scientists from leading colleges and other institutions who had chartered the steamer Miranda for exploration along the Labrador and had come to grief during a storm, barely escaping with their lives. Shipping passed very infrequently in that far away locality and what little food they had salvaged was fast reaching the vanishing point. Starvation was imminent until salvation came in the passing Gloucester fishing schooner.

Here was a problem for Capt. Dixon and crew. But decision was soon made. It was humanity first. The group implored him to land them at some point where they could get transportation to their homes. They promised full reimbursement for loss of time and proceeds of the voyage.

Capt. Dixon was full grubbed for a long voyage. Jettisoning a large cargo of salt, he constructed rough sleeping berths and turned about for home. Some landed at Sydney, others at Halifax, but the most of the party continued to Gloucester, bidding captain and crew good-bye and their blessings. That was about all they got as the group were comparatively poor men and had nothing more to give. Eventually they chipped in and purchased a hall clock for the captain. The loss to owners and crew for their season's work was about $15,000, which was crossed off the books.

Among this group was Dr. Frederick W. Cook, ambitious for Arctic exploration, about the only one whom the disaster to the Minerva did not phase. Unbounded in his admiration of the intrepid Gloucester fishermen, he calculated that the fishing schooner was just the thing for a dash for the North Pole, a project which had been in the back of his bean for some time.

That winter found him down in Florida where he got in contact with John R. Bradley, world-known conductor of a resort which had made him a millionaire. Bradley was a man of imagination, and Cook's eager word painting of the possibilities of reaching the pole, via a Gloucester fishing schooner, intrigued him mightily. As luck would have it, among the visitors to his casino at the time was David B. Smith, then one of the leading fishing craft owners of this city. The trinity got their heads together, the upshot being that Bradley acquired one of Smith's fleet, which in honor of his patron, Dr. Cook had renamed the John R. Bradley.

Came summer and found Dr. Cook in Gloucester getting his crew of Arctic argonauts shipped. The Bradley was fitted in the stanchest manner known to Gloucester shipwrights and stocked with everything necessary to Arctic exploration including a supply of pemmican, a necessary Arctic food, gumdrops not being forgotten. All preparations being completed, the craft sailed early in June for her voyage of exploration and discovery—a momentous voyage in any event, as it proved.

I recall Dr. Cook well at this time as he sat in the front of the First National banking rooms. He was full bearded, the color of rusty ropeyarn. His eyes were blue and his bearing was amiable to all. He was far from aggressive or assertive. He was popular with all who contacted with him, soft spoken, as mild mannered a man as ever trod a deck.

In due time the Bradley arrived at Etah where Cook landed his provisions and assembled his huskies and dog sleds for the dash to the top of the earth, some 300 miles away. Among them was Etookashoe, destined to bulk large in the fate of the doctor. One day they set off with the small group of villagers of Etah gathered about and were soon lost in the murk of the dusk and the ice fields, headed for the great open mystic wastes of the polar region that had lured many a brave sailor to his doom.

It happened that at about the same time another such expedition under Commander Robert Peary had set forth with the same object in view and had disappeared in the great open maw of the Arctic circle. In many ways the two expeditions paralleled each other in the similarity of outfit and technic.

A public fed up for generations by these failures took but little stock in the favorable outcome of the two adventures. Beyond a very small minority they had been half forgotten by the public at large a few weeks after their departure.

Finally a few months later, like a bolt from the blue, came a dispatch from Etah that Dr. Cook had arrived and reported that he had discovered the pole. This news was confirmed by later advices from the doctor himself. Then the whole world sat up and took notice. The impossible had been accomplished.

The doctor came down to his native Denmark where he was received like a prince of the blood. Nothing was too good for him. His journey was a triumphal progress. The scientific bodies of the world showered its highest decorations upon him. They scanned his log and his data and pronounced them correct.

Several weeks after came another thunderbolt from out the North. Peary had got down to the outskirts of civilization and heard of Cook's claims. He furiously denied their authenticity, stormed in the most unmeasured terms, denouncing Cook as an unmitigated liar and a fraud. He looked up Etookashoe, Cook's Eskimo, who declared that Cook had not been within a hundred miles of the pole. That was enough for Peary to have obtained such a statement.

On the strength of such a witness, an uneducated Eskimo with no knowledge of methematics or of nautical instruments, Peary came down to Europe in a rage and poured forth the vials of his wrath on Cook.

The latter, pacific and non-combative, replied but faintly to Peary's unqualified assertions and the world, taking this apparent weakness as a confession, quickly reversed its attitude, taking Peary's assumptions at their face valuation. It was right here that Cook lost his battle and a golden chance to put Peary forever on the defensive as will appear.

Had Cook had a strong counsellor behind him who took the whole controversial side of the matter in hand, he might well have replied to Peary, "Who are you, a disappointed and disgruntled aspirant for the pole discovery, to denounce Dr. Cook, you a prejudiced opponent, on the sole strength of an uneducated Eskimo's perverted statement." Then the burden of proof would have been up to Peary to disprove Cook's claims. He would have had the laboring oar.

Since that time scientists have scrutinized both men's accounts in the light of recent explorations at the North Pole. These checkups have been compared in a book written by two English scientists recently issued (the review of this book has been misplaced just now) and they declare that Cook's data shapes up in accordance with the facts and that Peary's does not. They point out in particular that Peary makes note of a large body of land in a certain position to the pole which he calls Crocker land. Cook did not. It transpires that there is no such land. Peary was incorrect; Cook correct. "Falso in uno" they argued. These writers also point out that the only witnesses to the truthfulness of Peary's claim were a negro valet and an Eskimo, but that he carefully left behind Capt. Robert Bartlett to whom Peary undoubtedly owed his ability to make the voyage. That is, no other white man than Peary saw the locality of the pole. Is the evidence of the negro and the Huskie to be believed any more than Etookashoe?

Again these critics point out that Peary says he made a sledge to make the dash for the pole and that it took

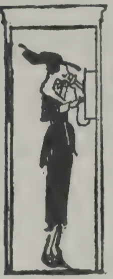
(Continued on page 19)

Del Monte's
ON THE NORTH SHORE
Magnolia,
Mass.

New Casino Opposite Norman's Woe, Commanding the Finest View on the North Atlantic—Ample Parking Space.

DANCING EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
With DEL MONTE'S FAMOUS ORCHESTRA

For Reservations of Tables—Phone Magnolia 590
A la carte J. P. Del Monte, Proprietor and Manager



TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE DISTINCTIVE

MAGNOLIA

MAGNOLIA

EVERY NOW and then some one raises a cry of secession. The city is charged with sins of omission some of which may be true. Such talk doesn't seem to be greeted with three cheers at Manchester. The most of the citizens there appear to think they have territory enough. They don't want to take on more trouble. And many people in Magnolia appear to be satisfied with present conditions.

Barring highway construction—and Magnolia has had its own representatives at City Hall—Magnolia has received fair consideration. Two years ago citizens of Gloucester in response to an appeal from Magnolia interests chipped in $100,000 to build a new golf links to further develop that section. The money is sunk but surely the action proved the good spirit of Gloucester toward the place. Some twenty years ago the water board at a cost of $30,000 ran a capacity water main through Hesperus Avenue from Gloucester giving Magnolia the only double water supply system until recently on the cape. Two houses only have since been built along this line. Now the city is constructing a $30,000 fire station at Magnolia. Thus the municipality has not been niggardly toward providing the prime essentials of water and fire protection, incidentally cutting down fire insurance rates. Now the city by the addition of Alewife Brook Water Basin has water aplenty for all occasions. Again, there is $3,000 in the city treasury to buy the jib piece to add to and beautify the park in Magnolia Square. This being in response to an offer of the Magnolia summer people to subscribe a like amount.

When you examine the situation there appears little with which to manufacture a grievance to go before the legislature. Again the Municipal Council has established the dead line for business at Hesperus Avenue north.

If those concerned will organize their little boat club and hold their races off the cove they will in all probability find that landing accommodations will be forthcoming. And don't forget that more flies are caught with molasses than vinegar. And that goes for City Hall.

Del Monte's

The season is drawing to a close and perhaps this accounts for the increasing numbers of North Shore society that throng Del Monte's every afternoon for tea dancing and every night for dinner. People may be hurrying to make use of the opportunities offered by this most excellent and beautiful place of entertainment, but again it may be that more and more are summer residents all over the North Shore learning about the delightfulness of this casino. Whichever it is, the impressive and attractive place is filled consistently. With the exceptional music furnished by Ruby Newman in person and his band, it is small wonder that it gains in popularity. Exclusive without being monotonous, and aristocratic without lacking fun and excitement, Del Monte's is well deserving of such popularity.

Among those recently entertaining at the Casino are: Mr. McGuinnis of Magnolia, party of five; James Phelan, Jr., of Manchester, party of five; Mr. and Mrs. Buling, party of ten; Charles G. Cooper of Bass Rocks, party of twenty; E. B. Kitfield of Magnolia, party of nine; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rowe of Magnolia, party of ten; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pope of Manchester, party of ten; T. Barney Plimpton of Manchester, party of eight; Mrs. Standish Backus of Beverly, party of ten; Miss Helen Kimball of Ipswich, party of six; Mrs. A. G. Leonard, Jr., of Eastern Point, party of six; Miss Nancy Tucker of Eastern Point, party of five; Charles Jopp of Boston, party of eight; John B. Rice of Bass Rocks, party of nine; Burnham Lewis of the Oceanside, party of eight; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. O'Connell of Magnolia, party of sixteen; Fr Ellsworth of Manchester, party of six; M and Mrs. John Ripley Bigelow of Magnol Sydney Hutchinson of Beverly Farms, Mr. a Mrs. Snelling of Beverly Farms; John Mc rill of Manchester, Miss Nancy and Phil Tucker of Eastern Point; J. Hopple of Eas ern Point, party of twenty.

Recent arrivals at the Oceanside includ George A. Binney, Esther H. Binney, J. Lansent, Mrs. Dexter Mills, F. Cumming Boston; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Harding, E. F Harding, Watertown; Martha Eschman Master Edwin U. Curtis, Milton; Mrs. E. Clark, Gardner; Elizabeth Whitmore, Hin ham Center; Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Whiti Northbridge; Mrs. G. P. Ingersoll, Ridgefiel Mrs. Madeline Boyd, Albert Gorden, Mary Valentine, Allen Carlson, Pauline Winte Mattie Edwards Hewitt; May Grening, Geor D. Cawdeny, Mrs. Rowland Allen, Mrs. Jo A. Mitchell, Mrs. H. L. Picke, Gertrude Behr, Theodore S. Clark, Mrs. Anna Tapp James Ewing, Paul Kelly, Allan Burt, Mr Norman Todd, C. A. Watrous, H. Laswic Mrs. H. L. Ingersoll, Miss Ingersoll, J. Taylor, Samuel Turner, Jane Griffin, Mr. an Mrs. Cass Gilbert, Mrs. A. Moore Richar Mrs. M. Moore Cross, New York City; Mr Duncan A. MacIntyre, Mary R. MacKa Brooklyn; H. A. Waite, Squantum; Jero Kern, Bronxville; Mrs. Frederick H. Steven Thomas Brown, Cazenovia; Mr. and Mr Thomas B. Lewis; Freehold; Otto Harbec Mamaroneck; Oliver Porter, R. O. Menr Philadelphia; Louis K. Hyde, Plainfiel Dorothea Wood, Wawa; Robert Somervill Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. George S. Miller, Mr Francis Lang, Ida Russell Mack, Chicag Mrs. A. Macauley, Mrs. A. J. Fuller, Detroi Mrs. Ralph King, Mentor; Mr. and Mrs. San uel Eels, Cleveland; Mrs. J. M. Richardso Toronto; Monseiur J. Bellecour, Paris; Prin cess Carrucolo, Florence, Italy.

Recent arrivals at the North Shore Inn in clude: The Misses Jordan, Dorothy Mar Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D'Amou Agnes Wheeler, Wilmington; George Kell Jane O'Connoll, Mrs. L. E. Linch, Mrs. Ella Anthony, New York City; James Irvin Brooklyn; Mrs. Francis J. Dewis, Chicago.

Guests during the past week-end include Mrs. Annette Hennessey, Boston; Mrs. E. Dodd, Mrs. Howard G. Chapin, New Yor City; Mrs. A. D. MacAllister and son, Orange; Rev. and Mrs. Campbell, Toronto.

At the Magnolia Beach Club, activities con

Notice to Water Takers

THE EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS imposed on the use of water last season on account of scarcity are removed. The usual rules are now in force.

The Water Board is pleased to announce that the Alewife Brook Water Basin, begun last summer, was completed in January and was filled to capacity within two months. While there is ample supply in storage in the four water basins, the Board wishes to caution against needless waste.

The Board takes this opportunity to express its thanks to the summer residents and citizens for their very general response to their request for economy in the use of water. This co-operation materially helped a very serious situation.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS OF CITY OF GLOUCESTER.

inue to attract large numbers of seekers of he enjoyment of bathing, lunches, teas, tennis and general excitement and fun always o be found by children and adults alike at his popular place of entertainment.

On Friday, Mrs. T. H. Hussey of St. Louis entertained ten of her friends at a luncheon at the Club. Mrs. Hussey is a guest at the Oceanside.

On Tuesday a new feature was inaugurated for the ladies of the Club. William Lynch supervised exercises for women on the beach, beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Rowe of Cleveland are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Rowe of Boston at their summer home in Magnolia.

Recent guests at the Club include: Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bigelow of New York City, guests of Mrs. Henry Farnum; Ann Sortwell of Beverly Farms, guest of Samuel Culbertson; Mrs. G. B. Poole of Chestnut Hill, guest of Mrs. A. M. Jones; G. B. Poole, Jr., of Chestnut Hill, guest of L. W. Jones; Kathleen L. Smith of Pennsylvania, guest of Samuel Stevens.

At Hesperus Villa recent arrivals include: Mrs. E. H. Haskell, E. L. Haskell, Newton Centre; James W. Walker, G. H. Walker, Kennebunkport; Mrs. J. J. McCloy, Hastings-on-Hudson.

GOOD HARBOR BEACH INN

Late arrivals include: Loretta Morris, Catherine Sweeney, Mrs. P. F. Shea, Josephine Shea, Fitchburg; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Flagg, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Quinn, Blanche Raymond, Inez L. Eldridge, C. B. Wiggin, Florence G. Tarvel, Israel L. Tarvel, Jennie Jackson, Worcester; Mrs. Mattie Friederick, Mrs. A. H. Plumstead, Marjorie Hutchinson, New Lenox; Mr. and Mrs. Donald T. Eastman, Wellesley; Charles M. Rowdener, Charles M. Rowdener, Jr., Nashua; Mrs. Ernest V. Baudh, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bisselle, Elizabeth Bisselle, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Crane, Washington; Claire E. Coughlin, M. I. Hatters, M. C. Irwin, Toronto; Mrs. K. McCloskey, Ottawa; Hazel D. Young, Boylston; Bernice L. Hyde, Dorothy B. Johnson, Marlboro; Rachael D. Light, Hudson; William F. Conant, E. Harry Crockett, Kenneth A. Gibson, Henry E. Allen, Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Kelly, Quincy; D. Haywood, Hollywood, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Blank, St. Louis; George L. Ely, Mrs. R. E. Best, Jeannette, Penn.; Mrs. A. Burton, Salem; Mary E. Cosgrove, Mr. and Mrs. V. Huiot, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Denney, Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. William M. Fisher, Helen Dentsch, Woodstock; Mabel E. Powell, Malden; Ruth H. Aborn, West Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jay Haight, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Anderson, Millbrook, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Lon R. Call, Loretta I. Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jefferies, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vonhausen, N. Y. City; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mabis, Des Moines, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Smith, Donald M. Smith, Jr., Greensburg, Pa.; Maud E. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Jeffrey, John J. Partridge, Martha Partridge, K. E. Kelly, Cambridge; Christine Hayes, Edward A. Hayes, Natick; Mr. and Mrs. Max K. Seifert, Ruth Seifert, Pittsburg, Pa.; Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Stone, Lillian Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson, Brookline; Mrs. W. A. Cunningham, John Arthur Cunningham, Maud Ham (nurse), Brooklyn, N. Y.; J. Frances Eisner, Shrewsbury; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Johns, Helen Johns, Evelyn Johns, Arthur L. Johns, Medford.

EAST GLOUCESTER

WHAT WITH THE RECENT golf tournament and the present tennis tournament at the Delphine and the activities at the Moorland and Hawthorne Inn Casinos, East Gloucester seems to be fast reaching its great climax of summer excitement. As always, this month has led in activities.

At the Rockaway recent arrivals include: H. W. Young, J. G. Love, Boston; William L. Mowll, Mildred Mowll, Flora Inglis, Mary L. Inglis, Cambridge; J. N. Diver, E. Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilson, Watertown; H. G. Anderson, West Somerville; Nancy C. Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Keyes, Newtonville; Mrs. F. C. Tobey, Mrs. E. G. Severance, Plymouth, N. H.; S. B. Barry, Portland; John L. Holsopple, Henry T. Holsopple, F. B. Holsopple, Hudson; M. E. Waterbury, Utica; Robert E. Wilder, Albany; Frank T. Wychoff, Longmeadow; Agnes E. Lyall, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Gaddis, Summit; Donald Robb Cochran, Mrs. Florence L. Denney, Cynwyd; Martha Pelly and sister, Mrs. George C. Gibson, C. P. Gibson, Philadelphia; Costa Johnson, Hamburg; Mrs. W. M. Netherland. Frank B. Netherland, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Seymour, Myrah Jane Seymour, Baltimore; M. W. Johnson, Savannah; Mrs. Louis Ditch, Montreal; Mrs. E. J. Ryan, St. Johnsbury; Harriet Brazier, Ruth McKinley, Mrs. C. R. McKinley, Mabel Butterfield, Ada Speidel, Ruth Schneider, Nancy Schneider, Mrs. Mary Speidel, Stuart R. Mitter, Mrs. Francis S. Biggs, Alice Laws, Dr. Ella G. Hunt, Cincinnati.

Recent arrivals at Hawthorne Inn include: William Ellis Weston, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Ehenfried, Brookline; Mrs. John McLaughlin, Miss Katherine McLaughlin, Brookline; Harry Aldrich, Dorchester; Dr. and Mrs. Edward M. Murphy, Francis J. O'Donnell, Lowell; R. B. Waterman, Bangor; Mrs. Robert W. Smith and grandson, R. S. Smith, Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morison and daughter Priscilla, Burlington; Mrs. L. C. Warthen, Greenwich; Mr. and Mrs. William C. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Caughlin, Hartford; Katherine and Mary McGrath, Mary T. May, Mrs. J. C. Grote, George C. Grote, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Taylor, New York City; Henri V. Geriyon, Westhampton; Dr. Frederick Paulding, Rutherford; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Burke, Towson; Mrs. Hamilton Webb, Mary Webb, Larchmont; A. M. Stennken, Saugerties; Katherine McGattigan, Mrs. Francis X. Dercum, Philadelphia; Mrs. E. N. Ohl, Pittsburgh; Mary and Elizabeth Rice, Germantown; Mrs. John A. Hull, Mrs. William A. Hill, Washington; Mrs. Menefie Wirgman, Louisville; Spencer Graves, St. Louis; Dr. and Mrs. R. S. James, Toronto.

On Monday night a large and appreciative audience consisting of many of the guests at the Inn as well as many outsiders enjoyed a delightful evening in the manse parlor. Miss Elsie Windsor Bird, dramatic soprano of Boston and Edward Hale, baritone from the Showboat Company, were accompanied by Frederick Delzell, the accompanist of Miss May Peterson of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Miss Bird is a guest at the Inn.

On Friday night the long awaited Fakirs' Ball will be given by the Gloucester Society of Artists at the Hawthorne Inn Casino.

Every Thursday, Mrs. Beatrice Montague, who is a guest at Hawthorne Inn, is giving a series of Culbertson lectures at the North Shore Inn at Magnolia for the benefit of the Beverly Hospital.

On the night after the Fakirs' Ball on July 22, the dining-room help at the Inn are giving a masked ball at the Casino.

At the Delphine recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. George F. Bosworth, Boston; Donald G. Webster, Springfield; Mrs. C. W. Ridder, Jamaica Plain; Mrs. P. Breuner, Nancy Breuner, Josephine Eliashaw, New York City; H. T. Glasure, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Glasure, Lynn.

On Thursday night the weekly bridge was held at the Delphine and at which ten tables of contract, auction, five hundred and Mah Jong were in play.

At the golf tournament held recently at the Delphine, Miss Louise Maseline came in first.

The tennis tournament, including competitors from all around the Cape, is at present going on at the Delphine, starting on Saturday and continuing through for several days. Henry Minot was ahead at the time the Shore went to press.

At Merrill Hall recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell J. Pearson, Brockton; Morton McMichael, Dr. and Mrs. Minstry and family, Devon; Catherine A. Rankin, Florence S. Jenkins, Worcester; William Schanze, East Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Howard, S. Elizabeth Geipin, Providence; Ida Blum, Mrs. John J. Wolfe, Mrs. H. L. Cooper, Eleanor G. Cooper, Mary E. Wonson, Ethel H. Thomkins, New Haven; Lucy Lee Call, Rochester; Mrs. D. O. Meeker, Rochester; John E. Rourke, Charlotte F. Rourke, Mrs. W. J. Fletcher, Mrs. Alfred Fay, Mrs. Edward Fay, W. J. Fletcher, Albany; Henrietta M. Caster, Mrs. Charles H. Brown, May Lester Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Suther, New York City; Mrs. Mabel Benson, Mrs. E. J. Ryan, Utica; Mrs. Edward B. Getze, E. B. Getze, Jr., Katherine R. Nell, Mrs. N. O. Bowers, Mrs. George P. Gibson, Miss C. Gibson, Philadelphia; Fannie Wells, Washington; E. J. Magneden, Mrs. Christopher Johnston, Baltimore; Mrs. W. D. Peck, Ashville; Mrs. Douglass Smith, Sue J. Smith, Chicago; Alice V. Burdge, Mary Bennett, Minna Gromme, Cincinnati.

At the Pilgrim recent arrivals include: Charlotte Albertine and Josephine Jones of Hartford, Conn.

The Misses Julia and Leonie Stoehr of Cincinnati spent several days in Gloucester with Mrs. Lida J. Bacon at her summer home at Rocky Neck en route to Cape Cod from East Jaffrey, N. H., revisiting old scenes and noting many changes, in spite of which they find the old resort the loveliest along the coast.

RIVERVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Carroll of Gloucester with their children, Anna B., Helen, Mary S., Thomas J., Jr., Agnes Betty and Martha, are again enjoying the delights of Riverview for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman G. Harriman and children, Sherman J., Jr., and

(Continued on page 11)

EASTERN POINT

A MEETING of the trustees of the Eastern Point Yacht Club was held Tuesday night at "Blighty," the home of Col. John W. Prentiss, and the state of affairs in connection with recent developments was touched upon.

The proposed bill dealing with Eastern Point land taking has evidently been revised by its proponents. The new draft as published, eliminates all reference to the taking of Niles Beach and restricts its scope to taking Lighthouse Cove, so-called, the lighthouse, state, city and county to share the expense equally.

Inasmuch as the citizens of Gloucester and its hotel guests are guaranteed access to the road at all times, why the unnecessary altruism for outsiders? Why add to the tax rate with so many pressing projects claiming attention? Does any other community act similarly for the entertainment of Gloucester motorists?

Mrs. William Jay Little entertained a large number in the summer colony at her Eastern Point summer home Monday afternoon.

Charles Allen Winter and Alice Beach Winter gave their annual studio tea at their studio in Mt. Pleasant place Sunday, some 150 of the well known people of the colony being present. Misses Hazel M. Foulke and Idis Lazar, assisted by Misses Carolyn Atwater and Dorothy Spanks, presided at the tea table.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Hall of Boston and Eastern Point gave a

(Continued on page 23)

BASS ROCKS

Tuesday there was launched at Wheeler's boat yard a new speed boat built for George H. Fuller of Bass Rocks and Worcester. She is 27 feet, 6 over all, eight feet beam and 30 inches draft and is equipped with a 100 horsepower engine and is cedar planked. She has been named "Krossanes," the name of Mr. Fuller's summer home.

Bass Rocks Golf Club

The Bass Rocks Golf Club continues through August its round of social activities with bridges, luncheons and teas scheduled far ahead through the season.

The Misses Marjorie and Margaret Pettet gave on Wednesday a charming bridge and tea at the club for a party of friends.

On Friday Mrs. Raimund T. Guernsey and Mrs. R. W. Wigton gave together a bridge and tea for a large party of mutual friends.

Mrs. H. D. Mason gave recently at the club a delightful luncheon bridge for a group of friends.

Mrs. DeCamp gave on Saturday another bridge and tea.

On Monday the weekly bridge was given by the club and enjoyed by the usual large group of players.

Mrs. Louise A. Kinney of Land's End, Rockport, recently gave a charming luncheon bridge at the club for a party of friends.

Recent arrivals at the Moorland include: Horace A. Moses, Harriet Higgins, Springfield; Mrs. Josephine Johnson, Mrs. Anna E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Farrow, Mr. and

(Continued on page 23)

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

THE GOLDENROD now blooming profusely by the roadside is the usher of the yellowrod which precedes the entrance of Fall in the pageant of the months. Likewise the merry little cricket each night has commenced his roundelay, piping the prelude to the entrance of autumn. Three more weeks to a later-than-usual Labor Day and then "Good-bye summer, good-bye" not forever, but until next year.

August, beginning with its extra large inflow of guests, continues consistently to bring more and more new as well as familiar guests to the Rockport Shore. Always a popular month. this year August seems to be more so than ever as the constantly increasing lists on the hotel registers indicate.

Recent arrivals at Turk's Head Inn include: Katherine R. Cawley, Mrs. James M. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Shea, Boston; Mrs. Andrew D. Lindsey, Belmont; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Doty, Waltham; Joseph J. Fay, Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Taylor, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Fartham, Maplewood; Helen L. Pelton, Hazel Dutall, Middletown; K. A. Kent, Norwich; Mr. and Mrs. Viggo Brandt Erickson, Jaffrey, N. H.; Ethel Fisher, Bath, N. Y.; Winifred Fisher, Sada Makler, Nita Lang, Rose Makler, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Morgan, Donald E. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. C. Elmer, Mrs. J. R. Taylor, Mrs. A. E. Taylor, John V. Dorr, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Dorr, Frederick Warlock, Mrs. Donald T. Adams, Mrs. Clifford Harrington, Mrs. William Kingman, Mrs. A. M. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Frost, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ross, Jr., Betsy Ross, Summit, N. J.; Mrs. Edward S. Dunn, Philadelphia; Mrs. James G. Heller, Cincinnati; Mrs. Anita Cleveland, Helen Wallace, Mrs. Elizabeth Earl, Cleveland; N. Buckley, Quebec.

Recent arrivals at Straitsmouth Inn: Mrs. A. R. Burton, Mary F. Crane, H. L. Harding, Boston; Nathaniel E. Griffin, Cambridge; Ethel P. Ober, Arlington; G. B. Roberts, Newton Highlands; Helen Wood, Rebekah Wood, Newton Highlands; Lena M. Crane, Newtonville; Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Cogswell, Wenham; Julia W. Strong, Springfield; C. R. Craig, J. P. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Emerson, Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stock,

(Continued on page 22)

ANNOUNCEMENT ! !

Mr. William B. Tetamore, formerly with Richard Briggs, Inc., and Ovington's, announces his return to Magnolia for the month of September. He will display as usual with Walpole Brothers, on Lexington Avenue, and will have a most attractive and interesting line of China, Glass and Novelties.

Mr. Tetamore is to be congratulated upon his new connection as Vice-President of Cooley's, Inc., who are the oldest China and Glass decorators in New England. Here you will find both Old and New Patterns, as well as interesting Novelties for Christmas and Wedding Gifts.

The House of MANAHAN

MAGNOLIA
BRANCH SHOP

FALL FASHIONS

Featuring Women's and Misses'

Charming Day Frocks

Afternoon and Evening
Dresses

Beautiful Wraps—Coats

Fine Furs Exquisite Hats

FASCINATING APPAREL

For the School and College Miss

280 BOYLSTON STREET
BOSTON

CARILLON RECITAL

Wednesday Evening, August 26, 1931
8.30 P.M.

1.	Duet from "La Traviata"	Verdi
2.	Bonnie Mary of Argyle	Scotch Folksong
3.	Hymn to the Holy Cross	Cardinal O'Connell
4.	Kashmiri Song	A. Woodford-Finden
5.	Christmas Songs:
	a. Hark, What Mean Those Holy Voices	C. H. Purday
	b. It Came Upon a Midnight Clear	Traditional
6.	Drink to me only	Traditional
7.	Chanson Triste	Tchaikovsky
8.	Just a Song at Twilight	Molloy
9.	Traumerei	Schumann

RIVERVIEW

(Continued from page 9)

Bruce, of Gloucester, are occupying the Blatchford cottage.

Mrs. Edwin M. Chamberlain of Cambridge, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Chamberlain, Jr., and Miss Florence M. Chamberlain of Cambridge are established in their Riverview cottage, the home of the family for two generations.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Cobb and Frederick C., Jr., of Boston have returned to their Riverview cottage for a stay into September.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Gorton of Gloucester have come again to "Rosemere" cottage, their summer riverside home, and with them are William Welles Sellew and family from Woodmere. Mrs. Virginia Sellew King is also their guest for the season.

Prof. and Mrs. Frank B. Speck of Swarthmore, Penn., who for a period of years have come to Riverview, are once more enrolled in the cottage colony of this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stratton of Cambridge have taken a cottage here for the season.

Mrs. Irving F. Whittemore of Cambridge opened her Riverview cottage early in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Wiggin of Melrose have come to their cottage for a stay into September.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Copeland of Cambridge are enjoying the heated term at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Beardsley, Jr. of New Brunswick, N. J., have leased a cottage in this section for the season.

It is with regret that the many friends of Mrs. Joseph Everett Garland, widow of Gloucester's most prominent physician, received news of her death which occurred in Brookline several weeks ago. A member of a well known New England family, she came to Gloucester in early womanhood, endearing herself to all with whom she came in contact. After her removal from the city for which she cherished affection, she returned annually in summer to her Riverside cottage.

Miss Alice Reid with a party of school teachers from Chicago, are occupying Green Gables cottage until the call of the school bell next month.

Mrs. Alice Garland Walen has returned to the Garland cottage for the season.

WINGAERSHEEK OR COFFIN'S BEACH

Prof. and Mrs. Hudson Hoagland of Harvard, who have been abroad this summer, are expected home in a short time and plan to finish out the season at the cottage which they have made their summer home for several seasons past.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Estabrook of Winchester are former cottagers returning for the heated term.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Mather and family of Allston are enrolled in the cottage colony this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Taylor of Cambridge are enjoying another summer of cottage life at the beach.

Former cottagers who continue to make this locality their home are Mr. and Mrs. H. Vernon Critchley and daughters Rosamond and Lorna of Worcester.

Another season finds Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacLathlan of Melrose included in the neighborhood group of cottagers.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Hathaway and family of Melrose are again enjoying the delights of this locality.

Miss Grace Keyes of Concord is also among those cottagers who continue to make this beach their summer headquarters. Coffin's Beach is two miles long and 600 feet deep at low tide.

A Winchester family passing the summer in one of the cottages are Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Smith.

George A. Smith and daughter Elizabeth of Arlington, are this season's cottage enrollment.

Manchester, N. H., is represented this season by Mrs. Emdon Fritz and two daughters, Mildred and Constance.

Mr. and Mrs. James Russell Hawks of Gloucester are at the Hawks homestead for the season.

WEST PARISH, MT. ANNE

Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Smith of Gloucester, who for several seasons have occupied a cottage in Stanwood's Grove, have purchased a residence in Concord Street on the Coffin's Beach Road.

Daniel T. McPhee of Beverly have returned to their cottage in New Way Lane for the season.

Miss Elmore Fillmore Lillie, a Boston artist, is making a cottage in this section her home for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Darcy of Quincy have come to the Mt. Anne cottage for the heated term.

George L. Darcy and family of Gloucester, who annually make their summer home at their cottage in New

(Continued on page 14)

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

"But I tell you for the third time," said Anne patiently, "that I didn't know there was a brother who lived with the aunts all that time, myself. Therefore how could I have known that it was Bob and not Jack that was the cause of all the trouble and embarrassment. That it was Bob, Bud was in love with, when I didn't even know there was a Bob? When Jack left for the mountains I thought just as you all did that he was going up there to marry Bud. I had no idea that he was taking any brother along."

"Well, what I think is," remarked Peggy very archly, "that you like Jack yourself."

"Why, Peggy," reproached Anne with mock astonishment, raising eloquent eyebrows, "wherever did you get such an idea!"

The two girls were seated in Peggy's attractive, newly-decorated living-room the night after the arrival of Marcia, Phil, Bud, Bob and Jack from the mountains.

"Anyhow, Peggy," supplemented Anne after an appraising glance around the room, "you do know how to decorate."

Peggy, always enthusiastic about her new acquisitions, was charmingly oblivious of Anne's changing the subject. "Of course. But I want to show you all around."

"And I want to see," enthused Anne. "Let's start with the little spinet desk. Wherever did you pick that up?"

"It's a reproduction," furnished Peggy. "I painted it myself, I bought at at the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company. They have every kind of unpainted furniture there, you know. Perfect reproductions of antiques."

"Why, I'd never know it from an original! You certainly did a wonderful paint job."

"Thank L. E. Andrews for that. It's no work to paint with Devoe Paint and they have every kind for every purpose. All you have to do is tell them what you want to paint and they tell you what you need."

"Speaking of furniture," said Anne, "have you noticed the values they're offering at the North Shore Furniture Company in their August sale? Why, they're stupendous. I'm going in the first thing in the morning."

"And speaking of sales," cried Peggy, "have you noticed what Armstrong is selling his shoes for? The cutest, smartest models in the world for awfully low prices. Let's both go in tomorrow."

"Let's get all the Clan to go in tomorrow. Let's have a shopping expedition. The season's almost over. I want to get something for my young sister before I go home, and I want to get it before everything's gone."

They were interrupted by a knock at the door.

"That's probably the Clan now," suggested Anne. "They all went to the North Shore, didn't they?"

"Yes," remarked Peggy. "I wish we'd gone. It's so nice and cool there and this month they're putting on such a rare gala week."

Peggy opened the door. A black silence greeted her.

"Funny," said Peggy, nervously. "I thought some one knocked."

"They did," Anne announced, joining her. And stepping onto the porch she looked around in the darkness. No sound, no sign of life was to be heard or seen.

"Funny," Anne shrugged, and returned to the cozy living room. "Oh well, it's nice in here, Peg. Those little lights, so soft, and the lovely curtains."

"Yes," Peggy was still doubtful about dismissing the matter of the knock.

"Did the Gloucester Electric Company fix them? And where are the curtains from? Peggy, wake up!"

"Oh, what? Oh yes, yes," stammered Peggy, then, "Why of course the Gloucester Electric Co. And you know I bought the curtains at Pattillo's. They're glazed chintz. Why you were with me yourself, Anne. What a foolish question! You're nervous about that knock, too, and you're pretending that you're not."

"Silly—" Anne began and was interrupted by another knock. This from the back of the house.

"It's that crazy Clan, feeling like being coy," announced Anne, impatiently. "What a sense of humor."

FOR BRIGHTER BREAKFASTS!

Englishware set for two in "Garden Walk" pattern. 23 pieces, $17.50. Tray $3.

OVINGTON'S is abloom with lovely breakfast sets. In colors gay as country gardens —in china that enhances the fame of the finest potters—these delightful sets brighten the matutinal repast while their prices never, never disturb the serenity of country days. Complete services from $6.50 to $75.

OVINGTON'S

LEXINGTON AVENUE, MAGNOLIA, MASS.
437 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

"Where's Jack tonight?" Peggy wanted to know.

"He's been in town all day. He may be home now, though. He had a lot of shopping to do at Earle O. Phillips'. They have some of the snappiest men's clothes in this week and he wanted to get at them early."

Peggy looked at Anne quizzically as she rose and left the room.

"Where are you going?" she asked.

"To answer the door, naturally," Anne replied.

"You're not! Anne!" Peggy caught her friend's arm. "Did you ever hear of some one getting themselves hit over the head when they stepped outside the door to see who was knocking?" Peggy demanded darkly.

"But did you ever hear of Barnacle Bill the Sailor?" Anne wanted to know and pulled away.

"Anne, don't!" Peggy was really frightened as Anne sang loudly into the dark, "Who's that knoawking at my dooah?" and pulled her back into the kitchen.

"Honestly, Anne. Call up Jack, will you? See if he's there and ask him to come over."

As Anne hung up the receiver and Peggy, white-faced, was thanking heaven that Jack would soon be there, the attractive little lights suddenly surprised them by going out.

Anne's voice in the dark, "Any candles? Quick, Peggy."

"Y-y-yes, in the hall closet," Peggy was whispering.

Anne pushed by the trembling Peggy and soon half a dozen flickering candles lighted the room with a shadowy eeriness.

A cheery "Hello! It's Jack," followed the momentary silence, and the two girls rushed to the door.

After an excursion to the cellar, Jack found that the switch had been turned off. "The door was unlocked," he announced, "and some creature with a weird sense of humor saw you two through the windows and decided to have some fun, that's all. If he knocks again, he'll get an answer." Jack laughed and lit a cigarette. "By the way, this room looks almost as well by candle-light, Peggy. Those are nice looking candles. Where did you pick them up?"

"Rockport," furnished Peggy. "They are from the Beach Plum and Bayberry Candle Shop down there on Dock Square."

"Oh, where you got that Beach Plum jelly we had last night?" asked Jack of Anne.

"Same place," said Anne. "It's an awfully cute place. Well, what have you been doing all day?" she added.

"Well," Jack stretched and yawned. "I've done quite a bit. I went to the Gorton Sea Foods place first and stocked up on a good big supply for the winter, and also ordered a lot sent to my friends out West that I told you about. Then I went to Earle O. Phillips'; then I had some business at the Cape Ann National. I ordered some ice at the Cape Pond Ice Company and went into Trowbridge's to get a prescription filled and met Chubby."

"Getting a sundae, I'll bet," suggested Peggy. "Boy, I'd like one now."

"Wrong," contradicted Jack. "I met him in front of the Gloucester National Bank, and we went to Towle's for lunch."

"Oh," sighed Peggy. "What did you have? I love their luncheons."

"About everything. Good lunch. Soup, salad, rolls, coffee, ice-cream,

"Let's have something to eat now," suggested Peggy, enviously.

"Wait a minute, I haven't finished yet," laughed Jack. "Then I went to Hagstrom & Company to arrange about my new driveway that I'm having put in and to see if they'd plan to do over my entire yard for next year."

The look that passed between Jack and Anne was not lost on Peggy.

"And they will do it all of course?" she inquired innocently and sweetly, looking at Anne. "Your cottage will be all fixed over, won't it?"

"Why not?" laughed Anne. "They

(Continued on page 19)

"THE TROUSSEAU HOUSE OF AMERICA"

Grande Maison de Blanc

538-540 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

MAGNOLIA, MASS.

Table Damask
Fancy Table Linen
Lace Dinner Cloths
Bed Linen and Spreads
Blankets and Comforters
Bath Towels and Rugs
Towelings

Handkerchiefs and Neckwear
Lingerie and Negligees
Infants' and Children's Wear
Blouse and Top Dresses
Sport Coats and Sweaters
Purses and Bags
Motor Rugs

It is understood by our patrons that our Magnolia Prices are identical with those in our New York Shop

Patrons will receive the personal attention of

Mr. RAYMOND BROWN
Resident Manager
Telephone 459 Magnolia

WEST PARISH, MT. ANNE

(Continued from page 11)

Way Lane, have returned for another season.

Caleb Story and family of Essex are new comers to the cottage colony in this section.

Walter Joseph and family of Gloucester are again passing the summer at their cottage.

Louis De Lotto and family, who have been numbered among the cottagers for the past five years, are here until late in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McDermott, who are here for the season, are planning to make their permanent home in New Way Lane.

CONOMO POINT

An evening bridge party is scheduled by the Conomo Point Community Association of Cottage Colonists at the boat house for next Tuesday evening. An attractive feature of community life this season are the suppers served on alternating Saturday nights by a committee of women on the point the greater part of whom are members of the association. The officers include Mrs. W. H. Shurtleff, president; Mrs. Edward Porter, vice-president; Mrs. Annie Hall, secretary; Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth, treasurer. These suppers are followed by entertainments by colony talent or movies. The boat house has been enlarged to a capacity of 150 persons.

Judge and Mrs. Robert A. Hill of Salem, who have passed the midsummer term on the Lanesville shore for several seasons, have transferred their affections to this section, having purchased a cottage here last spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drayton of Winchester are with their mother, Mrs. E. P. Carr of Somerville, who is spending the season at her cottage.

Another Somerville family enjoying cottage life here are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rivers.

East Boston representatives in the cottage group include Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Crocker.

The Farnsworth family have for more than forty years been represented at Conomo, in fact were among the pioneer settlers. The family representation continues in Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth of Winchester.

Mrs. Joseph Norton of Beverly has come down from that city to the cooling breezes of the point.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shurtleff of Revere make their cottage home here in the season.

Mrs. Annie Hall, also from Revere, is enjoying cottage life on the Point.

Another Essex family down to the Point to pass the heated term is Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Cogswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Spencer of Winchester are here for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ringer of New York City are again enjoying the beauties of Conomo.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sargent of Wellesley Hills has come to the Point for the season's stay.

Mrs. Charles Young of Winchester is another of the season's guests on the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris C. Chaplin of West Hartford are included in the census of this season's campers.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Poor of Danvers are occupying their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Fiske of Auburndale will be at their summer home over Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester P. Jones of Arlington are enjoying another lengthy term of seasons here.

Conomo numbers among its summer inhabitants Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Whitcomb of Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gilling of Wellesley Hills are passing the season pleasantly at their summer place.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn J. Lane of Winchester are among those present this season.

Newlyweds passing their first weeks of married life in a cottage on the Point are Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Hulme, who will make their home in Providence.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shurtleff of Lexington, residents in summer of some years' standing, opened their cottage early in the season.

Mrs. Frank Hersom of Chelsea and her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hersom of Winchester, are enjoying cottage life here this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Pride of Somerville have come again for another midsummer stay.

One of the pillars of the colony here for some years is Hon. John L. Ingraham of Peabody, who with Mrs. Ingraham are at home to their friends at Ingraham cottage.

Mrs. Edward H. Potter, also of Peabody, is included in this year's cottage registration.

Former cottagers returning are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Poor of Danvers. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Poor of the same town are also here.

(Continued next week)

WOLF HILL

Mrs. Willard Gay of Arlington Heights, Miss F. A. Wilt of Easthampton, and Miss Florence Gilbert of St. John, N. B., are the guests of Mrs. W. B. Hammond of Somerville at her Wolf Hill cottage.

LEONARD CRASKE'S EXHIBITION

Thursday evening at the Gallery of the Gloucester Society of Artists, Leonard A. Craske, sculptor of the "Gloucester Fisherman," lectured on picturesque Gloucester, illustrated with 163 agfa color slides of his own creation, and kept his audience of 218

OCEANSIDE THEATRE MAGNOLIA MASSACHUSETTS

MR. W. ROSING

By arrangement with ROSS THOMPSON

PRESENTS

August 19-20-21

ANNA DUNCAN in a

DANCE PROGRAM

and CHARLES HEDLEY in

"PAGLIACCI"

Opera by Leoncavallo (sung in English)

August 24-25-26-27-28-29

"The Perfect Alibi"

BY

A. A. MILNE

Tickets may be secured from MISS EDITH ATWATER, Oceanside Hotel

Single Seats, $2.50 -:- Three Performances, $7.00

MRS. EVANS R. DICK, JR., Managing Director

people from all parts of the country enthralled.

Artists and laymen alike burst into applause as Mr. Craske flashed his "Poppies" upon the screen. Then followed the Roses of Eastern Point in morning, afternoon and evening lights. His rendering and interpretation of these famous roses — those flowers which are among the first to welcome the summer tourist to Gloucester and make him feel that Gloucester has much in store for him, aroused a happy enthusiasm which prevailed throughout the entire evening.

Presented by Mildred Turner Copperman, who explained he needed no further introduction, Mr. Craske explained briefly the process of the color plate, which he said was a piece of glass coated with particles of starch grains which are pigmented with the three primary colors, and that the vibrations of the colors in nature registered their quality and intensity upon this sensitive emulsion so as to record what actually exists in nature without the aid of any human hand whatsoever. He emphasized, however, that the man behind the lens had to select his composition with great care and the necessity of knowledge and artistic judgment in the development of the slide.

The ocean in all its moods, the mysterious pools that draw in among the colorful rocks at low tide, the marshes, the dunes, the woods, the dawn, not to mention the admirable portraits, and the glorious sunsets of Cape Ann, came as overwhelming surprises during the evening. Mr. Craske spoke with great reverence as he projected the rare slides of the fast disappearing schooner, with its romance of the seafaring history which will soon be no more.

Mr. Craske appropriately closed his lecture with a series of slides, each one artistically depicting the stages of one of Gloucester's most memorable sunsets. Beginning with symphonies of blue, green and pale yellow, gradually growing to a fiery red and purple crescendo until the fading sun dropped behind the towers and reflected its lights upon an incoming cloud bank which set the heavens ablaze with indescribable beauty. Then came the night—Gloucester silhouetted against the sky with the lights of the city dancing limpidly in the sleepy harbor.

On the evening of August 27, at the Gallery, Mr. Craske and John McCombs Ross will project their moving picture portraying the Gloucester fisherman on the high seas—at work—the fishermen's races, as well as a great many other fascinating things about Gloucester, its people and its natural aspects.

Hornblower & Weeks

ESTABLISHED 1888

Members New York, Boston and Chicago Stock Exchanges

Investment Securities

60 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

42 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Chicago Detroit Cleveland Providence Portland Pittsburgh

You are cordially invited to an

Exhibition and Sale

Needlework, Lingerie, Embroideries from Foreign Lands (Florentine a Specialty), Commenced and finished pieces also Embroidery Materials, Canvas, etc. Some fine old Silver. Among the Brass Pieces are several Old Church Candlesticks with Bells, Medals, Curios, Antiques, Jewel Cases, One Confederation Medal. Priceless Old Real Laces. Shawls, Scotch, Turkish, Paisley, Tissue and White Crepe. Counterpanes. Hand Woven Rugs. One Fine Old Prayer Rug for Wall Hanging. South Sea Island and Mexican Drawn Work. Tea and Bridge Sets and Doilies. Sofa Pillows, Jewelry and Bric-a-Brac, Bed Quilts and Quilt Patterns, Linen Sheets, Pillow Cases, Table Cloths, Towels, etc.

at the

Public Library Art Gallery

Magnolia, Mass.

M. E. W. PAIGE

NEW YORK, 8 East 48th St.
WASHINGTON, 1211 Conn. Ave.
NEWPORT, R. I.

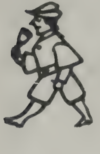
BOSTON, 587 Boylston St.
LOS ANGELES, CAL.
PASADENA, CAL.

A. Schmidt & Son, Inc. IMPORTERS OF

Silver and Sheffield Plate & Fine Porcelains

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA Telephone Magnolia 408

Fine Wedding Presents a Specialty Christmas Gifts held for December Delivery

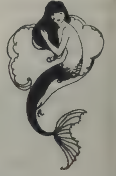


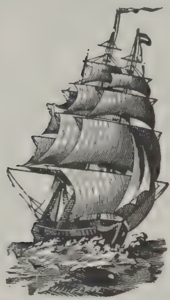
TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE PRACTICAL

RIGHT VALUES AND COMPLETE VARIETY ARE TO BE FOUND IN THE SHOPS OF

GLOUCESTER

ENJOY THE PASSING HOUR AND
THE CAPE ANN BREEZE





MARYLAND WINS RACE AT EASTERN POINT Y. C.

Gloucester, August 15 — A combination of rainstorm and a sulky wind which finally died out altogether, prevented most of the classes at Eastern Point from finishing within the time limit this afternoon, although the Taja in the R class and the Skeezix in the Sonders, were within 50 yards of the finish line when the flag fell.

A leeward-windward race was scheduled, but owing to the erratic wind conditions all points of sailing was the order of the day. Skeezix in the Sonder class got to the southern mark in the lead with Hevella a close second and maintained her place until the race was called off.

In the R's the Bonnie Prince made the leeward buoy 3½ minutes ahead of Taja, but was overhauled and passed by the latter on the home stretch.

The Cape Cod knockabouts were enabled to finish by sailing a shortened inside course. Touareg had the race well in hand up to the first half, but on the heat in the middle of the harbor was left handcuffed in a calm spot, while the rest of the class under the western shore were wafted along by a breath of wind, Maryland, Fred Boyce, getting the gun. The summary:

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS

Maryland, Fred Boyce	2 00 01
Old Ironsides, Jock Raymond	[illegible] 01 05
Sylph, Cunningham Brothers	2 04 01
Bemo, Charles Bratenahl	2 08 00
Mary Bess, Tim Russell	2 32 40
Touareg, L. A. Brown, Jr.	2 57 35
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	3 02 32
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	3 03 10
Swan, Torrence Baker	3 04 55
Arethusa, Leonard Ellis	3 05 30
Fontana, Millicent Raymond	3 14 00

TWO SETS OF RACES OFF EASTERN POINT

Gloucester, August 16 — The morning race, a sailoff, at Eastern Point this morning, was in a light northerly wind, leeward, windward course. Taja won without difficulty in the R's, never being seriously challenged.

In the Sonders Skeezix was first to the outer turn, with Tern seconds behind, and Tid IV third.

On rounding, Tid split to starboard, going off close inshore and making short hitches up the land, finding a stronger breeze which set her up front, scoring the win by more than a minute to the good. Quail and Maryland were never pressed hard in the triangle and knockabout classes. The summary of the morning races, a sailoff of August 12:

R CLASS

Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 10 30
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	1 13 55

SONDER CLASS

Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 14 15
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 15 45
Skeezix, Mrs. Frances M. Carter	1 16 31
Demon, Isaac Patch, Jr.	1 18 04
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 20 28
Tid III, Mrs. Carleton Swift	1 21 28
Bandit, John Meade	1 24 27

TRIANGLE CLASS

Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 23 23
Cursor, William G. Brown, Jr.	1 25 44
Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 26 59
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	1 27 19
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 27 46
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	1 30 26
Wheenaw, F. A. Brewer, Jr.	1 35 55
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	1 36 33
Flirt, William D. Elwell	1 40 15

CAPE COD CLASS

Maryland, Meredith Boyce	1 00 55
Swan, Torrence Baker	1 02 41
Touareg, L. A. Brown, Jr.	1 02 26
Fontana, Millicent Raymond	1 03 50
Sylph, Cunningham Brothers	1 05 12
Mary Bess, Tim Russell	1 05 32
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	1 05 58
Old Ironsides, Jock Raymond	1 06 14
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	1 06 15
Arethusa, Gordon Ellis	1 06 30

A fair northwest breeze prevailed for the afternoon race, a triangular course being indicated, the wind gradually backing northerly during the race, giving start sheet on all three legs.

In the Rs the Taja again had no difficulty in landing the victory. In the Sonders Tid IV led to the Magnolia mark. On the reach across to the southward Skeezix pulled up into first place from fifth. Tern was 55 seconds astern of Skeezix, who stretched out her lead on the last leg to more than a minute.

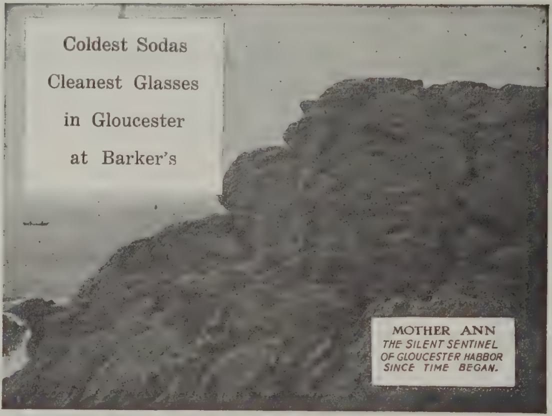
Black Bess led at the first corner by a few seconds, but on the run to the southward was overhauled by Kitmer II. Coming home, Quail moved into the second place, Mavourneen third. The summary:

R CLASS

Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 48 11
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	1 51 02

SONDER CLASS

Skeezix, Harry Wheeler	1 48 36
Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 49 46
Lady II, Wm. V. MacDonald	1 50 51
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	1 50 55
Hevella, Jonathan S. Raymond	1 51 15



Coldest Sodas
Cleanest Glasses
in Gloucester
at Barker's

MOTHER ANN
THE SILENT SENTINEL
OF GLOUCESTER HARBOR
SINCE TIME BEGAN.

Barker's Soda Fountain has such a wide reputation for the richness and quality of its Ice-Cream Sodas, Frozen Whipped Cream, College Ices and Specialities, that people come for miles around to get sodas at this fountain.

BARKER'S DRUG STORE, 134 Main Street

Summer Residents of Cape Ann

We Carry the Finest and Best Selected of Summer Footwear in This Locality

SPORT, GOLF, TENNIS and BEACH SHOES

Exclusive Agent for Arch Preserver—Queen Quality Shoes—Imported Deauville Sandals for women and children—Florsheim Shoes for Men—Buster Brown Shoes for boys and girls (Prices reasonable and to your liking). Warner's "Society Maid" Silk Hose 99c to $1.69.

DR. SHOLL FOOT APPLIANCES

Armstrong's Busy Corner

106 Main, Corner Center Street
ESTABLISHED 33 YEARS. TEL. CONN.

CHECKING ACCOUNTS
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS

We Act as Trustee, Executor or Administrator.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

Cape Ann National Bank

"THE SERVICE BANK"

154 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER, MASS.

Tid III, Mrs. Carleton Swift	1 53 00
Demon, Isaac Patch, Jr.	1 53 29
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	1 53 37
Vim, J. G. Lewis	1 55 35
Bandit, John Meade	1 58 20

TRIANGLE CLASS

Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot	1 57 32
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	1 58 12
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	1 58 36
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	1 59 15
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	1 59 25
Injun, Hastings Gamage	1 59 57
Cursor, William G. Brown, Jr.	2 00 35
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	2 01 46
Triton, Charles Tolman	2 04 30

GOLDFISH LEADS YACHTS IN RACE AT GLOUCESTER

GLOUCESTER, August 13 — The first in a series of three special Thursday races on the Annisquam fish class was sailed this afternoon. The wind was light, dying down to a long continued calm and veering from southwest to northeast. The course was to Plum Cove and return.

Just after the start the wind died down completely and it was a long drift to Plum Cove. Those that rounded first went off into the bay for the beat back. The Goldfish was the hindmost boat apparently hopelessly beaten, when a shift of wind caught her first and bowled her over the course almost before it hit the heretofore leaders. The summary:

Goldfish, J. H. Bloombergh	2 26 50
Flying Fish, Albert G. Hale	2 31 42
Sea Horse, Bob Mechem	2 32 16
Perch, Paul Woodbury	2 34 10
Starfish, H. E. Worcester, Jr.	2 35 07
Malolo, Mary Bradley	2 36 54
Black Fish, Roscoe Philbrick	2 42 05
Barracuda, J. D. Worcester	2 42 47
Pollywog, J. H. Mechem	2 49 33
Quinnat, B. A. Smith	2 50 30

BLUE BILL WINS CLOSE RACE AT ANNISQUAM

GLOUCESTER, August 16 — Two races were scheduled at Annisquam today, morning and afternoon, but the matinee session proved a fizzle. The boats were sent over the line but had barely crossed when the wind went dead and failed to come to for more than an hour, and the race was called off.

In the afternoon there was better luck, a steady northwest breeze, moderate in force, prevailed. A coincidence was that the skippers in the leading boats in all classes when coming into the home stretch chose the Squam side as the best chance for wind, and lost.

The Triangles had an exciting race, four boats being potential winners to the very end. Blue Bill finally defeated Teaser IV by two seconds. The summary:

TRIANGLE CLASS

Blue Bill, Horace Bent	2 04 45
Teaser IV, R. Russell Smith	2 04 47
Idol, Charles B. Gleason	2 06 08
Scalene, H. E. Worcester, Jr.	2 06 16
Sayhia, Brooks Stevens	2 20 57

BIRD CLASS

Avis, Norman R. Olson	1 42 03
Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury	1 42 40
Flamingo, Paul Woodbury	1 48 41

CAT CLASS

Kittiwake, J. F. White	2 06 24
Caterpillar, Ben Smith	2 07 11
Catling, Andrew Marshall	2 16 02
Katchup, R. Friedman	2 20 32
Puss in Boots, W. Bangs	2 33 05

SERVE THE BEST
at no additional cost

YOU cannot afford to compromise with the quality of the food you serve in your summer menus. Near your home you will find a First National Store, specializing in quality foods. Come in and give us the opportunity of assisting you in the selection of the best for your table.

COMBINATION MARKETS AT
147 Main St., Gloucester
37 Main St., Rockport

First National Stores, Inc.
Where New England Buys Its Food.

A. P. STODDART & CO.
Established 1876
ENGINEERS AND MACHINISTS
Engine Repairing and Installing
FULLY EQUIPPED MACHINE SHOP
236 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER, MASS.

INSURANCE
ALL KINDS
STRONGEST COMPANIES
JOHN A. JOHNSON
Gloucester National Bank Bldg.
Telephones 16 and 17
Just off Custom House Square

Pringle's History of Gloucester, 1892
The Gloucester Tercentenary Book
ALSO FOUR LOG BOOKS OF DEEP SEA VOYAGES
FOR SALE AT
BLANCHARD'S
125 MAIN STREET -:- GLOUCESTER

FISH CLASS

Gold Fish, J. H. Bloombergh	1 54 14
Sailfish, C. Hill	1 55 05
Perch, H. Griffin	1 57 01
Flying Fish, Albert S. Hale	2 00 00
Sea Horse, R. Mechem	2 01 07
Dab, David Dennison	2 00 09
Blackfish, R. Philbrick	2 01 18
Malolo, Mary Bradley	2 09 06
Barracuda Jr., J. D. Webster	2 15 00

ONWARD WINS SAILOFF

ROCKPORT, August 14 — Laura Cooney's Onward won a sailoff of Sunday's tie at the Sandy Bay Yacht Club tonight. In the Twilight series for the Fish Class, Herbert Gott's Minnow scored another victory. The summary:

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	0 40 47
Shirlidee, Johnson Bros.	0 42 51

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 31 30
Skipjack, C. H. David	1 34 30
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	1 36 25
China, G. S. Grace	1 43 00
Judy, R. H. Lane	1 48 45

ONWARD AND MINNOW VICTORIOUS AT ROCKPORT

ROCKPORT, August 15—It was the same story this afternon as at the northern and southern extremities of the Cape where yachtsmen foregather. Rain and a fluky wind which died down leaving the larger boats marooned, gummed up the works. Two of the smaller classes. the Pilot and the Fish, by a shortening the route were enabled to finish.

In the Pilots Commodore Marion Cooney's daughter, Miss Laura was the leader as was the Minnow in the little Fishes. Both led from the start. The summary:

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	2 43 34
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	3 04 17
Shirlidee, Johnson Bros.	withdrew

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	2 40 08

SAN SOUCI AND BOBENO VICTORS AT ROCKPORT

ROCKPORT, August 16—A seven-knot fluky northwesterly wind prevailed for the races this afternoon. The course was the usual triangle repeated. On the run to Straitsmouth, Maidee led in the Sandy Bay class, but at the buoy the wind petered out and the stern boats came up on even terms with the leaders.

On the second leg, a beat, Bobeno, the only one to stand inshore, profited greatly, winning the race eventually by 20 minutes, picking up a stiff puff of wind under the land.

In the Star class the San Souci won without much effort, Eclipse and Star of India having a battle for second place. Star of India nosed out the lead on the home stretch. The summary:

SANDY BAY CLASS

Bobeno, Benton C. Story	2 24 31
Myrtice A, Lindley I. Dean	2 44 02
Maidee, Gifford Beal	2 52 59

INTERNATIONAL STAR CLASS

San Souci, Homer Clark	2 16 18
Star of India, Ralph Hale	2 20 56

(Continued on page 25)

TAVERN SWIMMING POOL

Among the attractions at The Tavern this season is the swimming pool constructed on the top of a big ledge on the grounds of the hotel. The pool measures 70 by 25 feet and ranges from 3 to 8½ feet in depth. The water pumped from the outer bay off Pavilion Beach by an electric pump, is constantly changed, insuring its purity at all stages. The arrangement secures privacy to the patrons of the house, coupled with absolute safety, and is proving very popular.

CHAMPION FISH CATCH BY ROCKAWAY GUEST

The annual summer sports at the Hotel Rockaway are going on as usual at this very pleasant hostelry. The hotel has been crowded to an overflow for several weeks, and every day the sporting interest grows.

Mel's Float is one of the great attractions, yachting, motoring, are very popular, trips around the Cape and Squam River make a very interesting ocean and inland cruise, where old Mother Ann, the woman in stone, can be seen from the ocean, also the sand dunes from Annisquam River.

All water sports, canoeing, springboard diving, are the hourly pleasures at the Rockaway.

Captain Mel has charge of this end, fishing parties are constantly being made up, and thrilling are the many stories that are told.

Charles Riter of Philadelphia and Master Bud Phillips of Cincinnati are the enthusiasts of the Breakwater fishing at Eastern Point, bringing many large perch, and seemed satisfied until last Friday they joined a deep sea fishing party, which proved most exciting. After catching several pounds of smaller species, they landed the granddaddy of all, a tuna fish weighing six hundred and five pounds. Mr. Riter has fished in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific coast, but the Atlantic at Gloucester delivered the real goods that he has travelled the country over to find, and there was a thrilling moment of the striking and capturing of the 605 pound tuna, as he was a novice as well as Master Bud, when it came to landing a fish of that weight and strength. Capt. Morton Mayo was in charge of the boat that was hitched to Mel's float at Rockaway pier.

MISS MARGARET PEARSON

In the smaller exhibition room of the Rockport Art Gallery Miss Margaret Pearson is in charge, and even those who are only slightly interested in displays of paintings should not miss the opportunity to meet this charming young woman, talented painter of interiors, flowers and portraits.

Miss Pearson attended the Art Museum School in Boston where she studied under William James and Frederick Bosley. Ever since she was a child of five she has been interested in drawing and painting and after graduating from the Art School she attended both the New York and the Pennsylvania Academies. While she was still in school she exhibited in various places, including the Allied Arts in New York, the Guild of Boston Artists, the Connecticut Academy, and many other places worthy of note. She recently won the still life prize at the North Shore Art Gallery.

Miss Pearson has been coming to Rockport for seven years and attributes much of her success to the instruction she received at the hands of Mr. Hibbard and Harry Leith Ross. Her appreciation and comprehension of color in particular she feels is due to Mr. Hibbard. Her home in Rockport is on Bearskin Neck on North road, and in Boston she lives at the Fenway Studios at 30 Ipswich street.

Her ideas on art are interesting to note. Right now she is particularly interested in dynamic symmetry, but she laughingly maintains that she is after all a pragmatist and that next year it will probably be something else which interests her. "I believe," she said, "in the thing that works while it does work and after that there should be no sentiment about casting it out." She asserts that any one can paint. The difficult part, requiring talent and skill, is the creating of a well-knit organization and structure. The arrangement is the important thing. She enjoys organizing big masses of color, keeping large flat masses and relating them to other masses of color.

Her paintings are exquisite. In their consistency with her theories, the coloring is unusually beautiful, and the flowers she paints are almost human in their distinctness of character. Her portraits she seldom exhibits, feeling that a portrait interests only those directly concerned with the subject, an idea quite unique and interesting. But her interiors and still lifes and flowers make up for the lack of portraits in her exhibits at the Rockport Gallery. Words are inadequate to describe the rarity and uniqueness of expression that Miss Margaret Pearson has achieved, and to fully appreciate her as an individual, one must have a look at her work.

THE ZONING ORDINANCES!!

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Gloucester have been printed in their entirety and are now ready for distribution at the office of the City Clerk, Allen F. Grant, City Hall. Copies will be mailed on application.

In a general way, all the summer resort areas have been made residential sections only. Six types of districts have been designated, namely: 1, single residence districts; 2, general residence districts; 3, apartment house districts; 4, business districts; 5, light industrial districts; 6, heavy industrial districts.

The ordinances specify in detail the requirements, restrictions, area, regulations, yards and courts, nonconforming uses, district boundaries, accessory uses, automobile services, methods of procedure to obtain building permits, changes, variations, appeals, etc. They are of especial interest to summer resident realty owners.

ALLEN F. GRANT, City Clerk.

Gloucester, July 1, 1931.

DR. FREDERICK W. COOK

(Continued from page 7)

him six days to make the dash, but that to make the same distance on the return took only two days. They think this statement open to examination.

It happened that last fall while on a trip into Maine, a stop of several hours was made at Brunswick. As a boy the writer was delighted with the stories of Rev. Elijah Kellogg about college life at Bowdoin in the fifties. College had not yet opened so I strolled through the museum. In a cage of stout wire netting was a sledge labelled as the one in which Peary had made his dash for the pole. Being a trifle familiar with ice conditions, it appeared that the sledge was exceedingly slight and showed no usage at all for the rough work it had undergone and this was before the criticism of the Englishmen had come to hand.

So it has appeared to me, as it has to others, that if Cook had had his nerve with him, stood his ground and repaid Peary in kind, stoutly challenged his veracity as Peary challenged his, that in the light of the recent checkups of pole observations, the admitted superior accuracy of Cook's report and observations against Peary might have turned the balance of opinion in his favor. But he lost his nerve and immortality in the hall of fame as a discoverer. For Peary was never regarded as a popular hero.

How much different the outcome than the race between the gallant Englishman, Sir Ernest Shackleton and Amundsen, when the former accepted without question Amundsen's claim to priority of discovery of the South Pole. Shackleton's fame shines as brightly as the Norwegian's as one of the intrepid explorers of all time.

Fate hasn't been exactly kind to the doctor since he retired from the Arctic exploring field. Seeking to recoup his fortunes in the oil fields, he ran afoul of the government in advertising his properties, although thousands have sold blue sky ad lib in the meantime without let or hindrance. The doctor might have turned his attention to other fields of financial adventure apparently immune from the scope of action of the minions of the law. So let us leave him here, trusting that his luck may have a turn for the better.

P.

Mortons'
BOOKS, STATIONERY, OFFICE SUPPLIES, GREETING CARDS, GIFTS
and
LENDING LIBRARY
6 PLEASANT ST.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

(Continued from page 13)

can do anything, that company, and do a tremendously good job, too."

"Go on," said Peggy. "Then where did you go?"

"Then I came home," said Jack. "And I—"

He was interrupted by a shout from outside.

"The Clan in person," announced Anne, and let them in.

"How do you do, Mrs. Bride and Groom," greeted Jack, as Bud and Bob entered first. "And how were the movies?"

"Oh, good!" said Marcia as she flopped into a chair. "But wait until you hear the big news from Chubby and Phil."

(Next to Main Street Waiting Room)
Service With a Smile
"The Tea-room with an atmosphere"
Tempting Salads, Sandwiches and Luncheon Specials
AT OUR FOUNTAIN
REFRESHING DRINKS AND ICES
Home-made Candies and Fresh Salted Nut Meats prepared on the premises every day
Ice-Cream Packed with DRY ICE will keep four to five hours without ice or salt.
A Delightful Place to Eat.
RANSELLEAR TOWLE
118 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER

WE OFFER SPECIAL LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING SERVICE FOR SUMMER VISITORS
Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co.
PHONE 524 NOW
Offices and Plants:
8 PARKER ST., - GLOUCESTER

L. E. ANDREWS & CO.
Plumbing and Heating
Kitchen Furnishings, Garden Tools, Prepared Paints, Hardware of all descriptions. Vessel work, Yachting Hardware, Garden Hose, etc.
'Phones 645 and 646
121 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER
(Opposite Waiting Station)
Silent Automatic Oil Furnaces.

EARL O. PHILLIPS
Smart Shop for Men
Smart Clothes for Summer Comfort
A. G. SPALDING BROS.' BATHING SUITS
GOLF BALLS
TENNIS HOSE
HICKOK BELTS
DELPERK PAJAMAS
SUMMER NECKWEAR
ARROW SHIRTS
SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES
ROBER REIS UNDERWEAR
BATHING SUITS
SWEATERS
GOLF HOSE
EARL O. PHILLIPS, Inc. Smart Shop for Men
PERSONAL SERVICE
131 Main Street, Cor. Hancock, Gloucester, Opposite Barker's Drug Store

For Sixty Years

THIS PHARMACY has been dispensing Reliable

Drugs and Medicines

to the people of Cape Ann. Have you ever given us an opportunity to prove to you our capabilities along the lines of EFFICIENCY and REAL SERVICE? We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage this present season.

The Wetherell Pharmacy

P. O. SQUARE

Memories of Gloucester

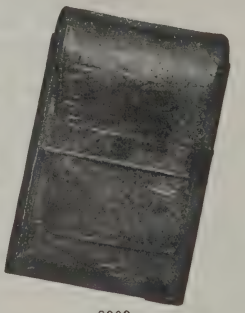
TRUE SOUVENIRS of the sea—Bill Folds, Cigarette Cases, and all manner of articles fashioned of tough

TANNED CODFISH SKINS

Unlike any other Souvenir, they serve as a constant reminder of this famous fishing town.

$1.00 to $10.00

W. E. BLANCHARD,
Jeweler
125 Main Street, Gloucester, Mass.



8909
Cigarette Case
$3.75

Chubby and Phil meanwhile were both talking at once and trying to convey the information that they had caught a fellow peering in the window from outside and had scared him half to death and let him go.

"That explains your knockings and things," announced Jack, pleased with his successful analysis of the affair.

And of course, then everything had to be explained to every one and every one was duly impressed.

"And now," remarked Bud sweetly, "didn't Ah smell some chicken cookin' this mawnin' over heah, and didn' you tell me you bought it at that delightful market that is always so clean, Paiggy?"

"And I suppose that means that there has to be sandwiches made, etc?" Peggy departed kitchenward.

"I'll help," volunteered Chubby, "and I'll make the coffee, too, if you bought it at the First National and I know you did."

"My wife," laughed Bob, "my wife has certainly developed a tremendous appetite since she's been in these parts. We just finished ice-cream sodas at Wetherell's, and before we went to the movies she insisted that we couldn't live without a sundae first at Barker's."

"It's the sea air," furnished Jack.

"What I want to do is show your brother the shops at Magnolia," said Marcia to Jack. "Bob's heard nothing but Manahan's and the Grande Maison de Blanc, and Ovington's and Mrs. Paige's ever since he's been married."

"Let's go over tomorrow the first thing," suggested Gay.

"Fine. We can have lunch at Del Monte's and get back in time for a swim or something."

"Well, there are two more things I want to do," said Bob, "if nobody minds, and those are: First, see the beautiful piece of work that Swinson Brothers did over at some fort here. Bud says it's one of the most glorious things she has ever seen. And it must be. I can't see how it's humanly possible for the best landscape gardeners in the world to restore a place so completely."

"He means what Swinson Brothers did to the old Fort at Stage Fort Park," furnished Peggy from the kitchen.

"Is that so!" cried Anne. "And what's the second thing, Bob? You've certainly made a good first choice. You'll be just as enthusiastic as Bud when you see it."

"Well, then I want to see this stupendous East Gloucester Miniature Golf Course where Bud has been breaking all the records; and see why she has been going into raptures all over the place about its size and beauty."

"We can do that on the way home," said Bud, "can't we?" and then, "Oh, Peggy, you have your gorgeous rug back, haven't you? The Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleansin' did it, I'll bet!"

"They did," cried Peggy from the kitchen. "I don't know what I'd do without them. It seems as though there's always something spilling around here, and I depend on them entirely."

The delicious luncheon being finally consumed to the last crumb, the Clan departed with the exception of Phil and Marcia, who stayed to keep Peggy from being frightened.

The next morning saw the Clan on their way to Magnolia. The first stop was at the Grande Maison de Blanc where the sale they were having of junior misses' clothes was going on. Anne wanted to get something for a young sister and was delighted with the wide variety and beautiful array of wearing apparel for children and infants up to fourteen years of age.

She finally selected from the wool dresses, coats and hats, an adorable

East Gloucester
Miniature Golf Course

116 EAST MAIN STREET
18 of the Largest Fairways in New England
NEWEST, MOST UP-TO-DATE

-:- OPENS -:-
Daily at 9 A.M. Sunday at 1 P.M.
FRANK POWLER, Inc.

THE L. E. SMITH COMPANY
Sole Cape Ann Agents for the
Frigidaire, Modern Sanitary Iceless Refrigerator

SILENT FLOW OIL BURNER FOR RANGES
Maytag Washing Machine
Chambers Fireless Gas Range
Plumbing, Heating, Hardware, Lawn Mowers, Garden Hose, Kitchen Furnishings, Etc.
221-223 Main St., 169 E. Main St.
GLOUCESTER

soft three-piece jersey in the smartest mode imaginable and enough to make any young lady's heart leap with joy. It was youthful without being babyish and sophisticated enough to make a young miss of fourteen think that she was beginning to look like a beautiful grown-up sister.

"There'll be no holding her when she gets that," laughed Jack.

"How does he know her? How should he know Anne's sister?" Peggy whispered to Chubby.

At Ovington's the interesting display of art pieces attracted them. One fascinating pair of blue Chinese porcelain ducks mounted on teakwood, which were excellent copies of very old ones, enchanted them all. Then there was every sort of semi-precious stone made into trick little ash trays and other articles that were very attractive. Agate, cornelian, jade, were carved intricately into lotus leaves with frogs and insects on them of a different kind of stone. All shapes and sizes, these ash trays. Then there were a pair of Temple Foo dogs that were carved in rose quartz to be used as book ends, cigarette boxes of jade with intricate carved cover design, and complete little sets of cigarette box, tray, and holder, all in semi-precious stone.

At Manahan's the new display of fall fashions had arrived and the girls were all completely enthralled by the smart new models. There was one in particular which Bud finally convinced Bob that there was not another like anywhere and how would he feel to see any one else but his wife walking down the street some day with it on? It was wine red wool whipcord, very smartly cut, and it had a short snugly fitted sleek black seal jacket. The sleeves of the jacket flared and were just short enough to allow the richly colored sleeves of the dress to show. Another was of brown with a silver rat jacket also fitted in the same way. Peggy was in esctasies over a fall coat of green pebbley tweed with a Russian fox collar.

At Mrs. Paige's they found her arranging fascinating patterns for patchwork quilts. She had several hundred colonial patterns and the girls were delighted as always with their variety and intricacy of design. She told them that she had just been stamping some patterns and was picking out some to stamp for the clergyman's wife to use for her Sunday-school class to work for their fair to be held in the fall.

On the way back from Magnolia they stopped at Poole's Antique Shop and if Bob had been impressed all along, he became enthusiastic all over again at the wonderful display of old English and American pieces. He was all for going right away to the work shop on Bond's Hill where Gay confided to him they made to order the most beautiful upholstered pieces or reproductions you could ever hope to buy.

But Bud insisted on showing her new husband just how well she could play miniature golf and so they set out for Del Monte's for lunch and then left for the East Gloucester Miniature Golf Course.

"Oh, my bag!" cried Anne to Jack as they were almost at the end of Hesperus avenue. "I left it at Del Monte's and it's a particularly nice one."

They signaled Chubby who was driving the other car, and they all turned back. Fortunately the bag had been discovered, and they trooped out to the cars again.

"I don't blame you, Anne, for wanting to get it back," remarked Peggy. "The bag is simply darling."

"Isn't it?" said Anne. "I bought it a few days ago at W. G. Brown's," and it was stunning. Florentine leather with a complicated design, it was individual in its smartness and beautiful coloring. "You know, I think they have the widest assortment of leather goods in that store. There are all kinds of travelling bags, week-end cases, fitted and plain, and the pocket books range from the most reasonable to the most expensive. They have some awfully cute little raphia bags there now of all colors to match any dress."

"I saw them," said Peggy, "and I'm going to get several to match different dresses. They add so much to any one's outfit."

Back to the cars again, they all started once more for Gloucester.

"Well," remarked Chubby. "Anne and Jack think they are putting something over on us, but I for one refuse to be surprised if they elope."

"Smart, aren't you?" said Peggy, scathingly. "I had that all figured out ages ago."

And, arguing as they were in the front seat, and talking and laughing in the rear, no one ever knew quite what happened except that there was a rush and a whir and a scream of brakes and Chubby was entangled with a great truck, and Jack close behind was entangled with Chubby, and Anne saw all this and felt a great sickening emptiness, followed by blackness and strange ringing silence.

C. ANNE SHORE.

PIGEON COVE NOTES

Miss Adelaide Dwyer, the young artist of Washington, who has spent a number of summers at Bass Rocks, East Gloucester, also with her aunt, Miss Margaret Adelaide Dwyer, at Pigeon Cove, but who in company of her sister and a lady friend, spent last summer in Europe, is now in Chicago, where she is studying art in the University of Chicago. In June last, Miss Dwyer received the degree of B.A. from the George Washington University and on the same evening, June 10, her brother, John Edward Dwyer, received the degree of LL.B. from the Columbia University.

HAGSTROM CO., Inc.
GENERAL CONTRACTORS
Loam, Dressing, and other materials
for
Garden and Landscape Work

Gravel and Crushed Stone for
Driveway Surfacing
TEL. GLOUCESTER 617

IN ROCKPORT
near the head of noted Bearskin Neck with its docks, fish houses, boat builders, and artist colony is
THE BEACH PLUM
AND
BAYBERRY CANDLE PLACE
Dock Square, Rockport, Mass.

Here you may find the Wild Beach Plum Jelly with the tang of the dunes and sea.

Here are dipped by hand in the real old-fashioned way Pure Bayberry Candles from the pure wax of the coast bayberries, the little gray berries which furnished lights for the earliest settlers of the New England coast.

It is an attractive place, and well worth a visit.

WHEN EAST MEETS WEST

(Continued from page 4)

The followers of Mahomet press forward to the western gates. Silently, yet as irresistibly as the tides.

When, as foretold by Macaulay, the New Zealander views the prospect from London bridge it will be the crescent that will be affixed to the dome of St. Paul that will transfix his gaze.

"All Quiet on the Western Front?"

A TRUCK THOROUGHFARE

(Continued from page 4)

cutting down expenses, eliminating four or five men to one train.

Supposing this to be done—and the railroads would then have an even break with private concerns—the state would pay them for their trackways, widen these rights of ways and convert them into truck and passenger roads over which this truck business could be routed—the most direct route. The railroad company thus reorganized, would start even with private competition. Would such a plan be feasible? It at least merits examination. For the railroad as conducted today is doomed. To live it must be brought up to date. The cumbersome, expensive, and dirt scattering locomotive must go.

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

(Continued from page 10)

Concord; Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. James, New Ipswich; E. R. Hooker, Larchmont; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kaufman, Dr. Mary Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. George Banker, Rachel Freedman, New York City; Marguerite Sheart, Lila R. Empie, Troy; Mary Thomas, Utica; Alice Thorp, Canton; Mrs. Robert M. Yahn, Philadelphia; Clara Sonnberg, Philadelphia; Horace S. Peck, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Charles M. Horter, Bryn Mawr; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Marsden, Glen Ridge; Roger A. White, Washington; Catherine D. Adams, Richmond; Mrs. L. A. High, Baltimore; A. E. Ball, Mrs. Z. Z. Rine, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Austin C. Adams, Richmond; Lester Adams, Jr., Richmond; Mrs. Charles Wainright, Lillian M. Wainright, Lawrence; Edna G. Valpey, Detroit; Mrs. A. M. Moulton, Chicago; Mrs. Ethel B. Gansby, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Painter, Indianapolis; Pearl M. Pillsbury, Redlands.

At the Granite Shore Inn, H. F. Jakes of Syracuse was recently the guest of Mrs. Francis Flinn and her daughter, Miss Eleanor Flinn of Kansas City.

Recent arrivals at the Inn include: P. Vaughan, C. E. Davis, M. W. Eldridge, S. Hurwitz, Mrs. A. Ligneul, A. Okson, John S. Flaherty, Boston; A. E. Norbury, Z. Landen, Mrs. W. E. Norbury, Watertown; Dr. and Mrs. H. I. Magolis, Newton; C. M. Donovan, Jamaica Plain; Una R. Rogers, Hamilton; Minnie A. Benjamin, Sherborn; Rose K. Butler, Holyoke; Jane Butler, Natick; Mrs. Levenson, Waban; A. H. Finlay, Westfield; Edith P. Wheeler, Frank L. Wheeler, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. York, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Beehler, Allentown; R. H. Griffith, Austin; Mrs. Francis Flinn, Eleanor Flinn, Kansas City; H. F. Jakes, Syracuse.

At Glen Acre: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thompson, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Crowley, Maryland; Viola Wolfe, Ruth Wilson, Frieda Wilson, Detroit.

At Rockmere Manor recent arrivals include: Dr. and Mrs. Boynton, Springfield; Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Quinn, Hudson; J. Gleason, Worcester; Rev. T. B. A. Allison and daughter, Stockport.

At the Edward a delightful concert was recently given by the Chaplin Colored Quartet in the lounge, and was greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

Guests at the Edward include: Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Higgins, Newton; Francis L. Balch, Jr., Boston.

On Sunday Miss Todd of Newburyport entertained at the Edward for dinner Miss Osgood and Miss Cushing.

Mr. Van Winkle and Miss Jane Werner of Patterson, N. J., were the guests last weekend of Miss Jane Howard, manager of the Edward.

On Tuesday, Miss Helen Fitsimmons gave a dinner party for a party of four of her friends.

Recent arrivals at the Edward include: F. H. McNeil, Gertrude Lovet, William R. Coleman, John J. Fitzpatrick, John E. Chisholm, Rosanna Vance, Maiza Moore, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dodge, R. Marx, Isabel W. Ralyea, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Grapes, Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Balch and Francis, Jr., Boston; F. L. Ball, Cambridge; Chester Schultz, Medford; J. D. Hynan, D. E. Manson, Brookline; F. C. Sargent, Winchester; A. B. Tenney, Lexing-

UNUSUAL GIFTS
Hand Decorated China
Studio of MRS. FRED A. WALLACE
Master Craftsman of Society Arts & Crafts, Boston
BEARSKIN NECK -:- -:- ROCKPORT
(Last House on the Right)
AUGUST 18-22
Order Now for Birthdays, Weddings, Christmas

Quiouhamenec Farm
(Pronounced Ke-ham-e-nec)
SWINSON BROS.
LANDSCAPE GARDENERS
Road and Lawn Tennis Court Construction
Local Agents for Sheep Manure and Fertilizer
Blue Stone for Walks, Driveways and Lawn Tennis Purposes
Telephone 873 Estimates of Cost
EXPERT LAND DRAINING EXCAVATING, GRADING
114 Mt. Pleasant St. EAST GLOUCESTER

TASTE—
FLAVOR—
ENJOYMENT—
Served at our New Frigidaire Soda Fountain with Special Ice Cream and Cooling Drinks
Specials on Saturday and Sundays.
TROWBRIDGE, The Druggist
THE NEW DRUG STORE
159 MAIN STREET Tel. 2040 GLOUCESTER

PURE ICE
Frozen Naturally in the Purest Ponds in New England
Nothing to get out of order. The Perfect Refrigerant. To keep food juicy in a Refrigerator requires some moisture. No mechanical-chemical devices yet developed by man, regardless of how costly or intricate, equals ice as a safe, reliable, silent and economical cold maker.
CAPE POND ICE CO.
Telephone 180 GLOUCESTER

ton; Arthur E. Pope, W. C. Bell, Wellesley Hills; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Leonard, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Higgins, Newton; Mrs. J. D. Smith, Miss Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Reed, Grace Evans, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Curran, Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott, Yonkers; Mrs. R. M. Yahn, Mrs. Charles Horter, Bryn Mawr; Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Young, Larchmont; Mrs. L. A. Lennox and son Charles N., Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Fleisher, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. George A. Pillsbury, Linwood; Mrs. M. L. Lamb and daughters, Mrs. Raymond and Miss Marion, Passaic; Robert L. Graham and daughters, Mrs. J. George Kastner and Miss Florence Graham, Baltimore; F. S. Aiknan, Nacogdoches, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Harris, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Painter, Indianapolis; Mrs. Stewart Watt, St. Catherine's, Ontario.

Mrs. Stewart Watt entertained Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knudson of Winthrop over last week-end.

EASTERN POINT

(Continued from page 10)

neighborhood tea Friday afternoon to a number of their friends at Eastern Point. The Halls have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Young of New York and Hollywood.

Mrs. Norman McLeod, who has the cottage this season formerly occupied by the Siamnese legation, entertained a number of her friends at luncheon Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles Stewart gave a dinner of eight covers Wednesday.

Mrs. A. Wilder Pollard is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Winthrop Cowdin of Mt. Kisco, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Hunt of Brooklyn and Mrs. M. M. Read of Boston have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Allen at their summer home.

BASS ROCKS

(Continued from page 10)

Mrs. S. A. Bancroft, Worcester; Helen T. Meehan, Manchester; Mary E. Cunningham, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brockenay, Syracuse; Mrs. Henry E. Godley, Albany; F. J. Waelder, Josephine DeWender, Sophia DeWender, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Adamson, Richmond; Mrs. G. S. Rutherford, G. B. Rutherford, Plainsville, O.

Robert Taylor, who is a guest at the Moorland, recently gave a party at Del Monte's for a party of friends on Saturday night. Among those present were the Misses Dorothy and Leontine Briggs, and F. Scott Moiser.

On August 19 at 8.30, a delightful "Comedy Drama Night" was given at the Moorland Casino. The famous comedy, "Dicky Bird" was presented with a cast including Miss Grace Filkins, Mrs. Edward Parsons, Frank Ferguson, Miss Peggy Cox. Dances, monologues and pianologue were other features of the evening's entertainment and the Marion Chase Players furnished their usual excellent music for the occasion.

At Cove Villa recent arrivals include: Mrs. C. E. Bean, Miss P. Bean, Lawrence; Frank W. Forbes, Fannie C. Forbes, Westboro; Ralph Grandy, Thompsonville; Mrs. Belle H. Johnson, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Spaulding, Suffield; Tessie Sheehan, A. W. Saye, Coty; Mr. and Mrs. James Harting, New York City, Margaret Jackson, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lisso, Flushing; Helen Jackson, Englewood.

ANNISQUAM

Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Daland, daughter Judith and son Benjamin, of Boston are visiting Mrs. Daland's mother, Mrs. David Stephens of Arlington street, before going to North Haven, Me.

Mrs. Winslow L. Webber and mother, Mrs. Roger W. Babson, motored this week to Burlington, Vt., for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Willis Putney of that city.

THE ROCKAWAY
AND COTTAGES
At ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
Right on the Water
Commanding a Superb View of the Ocean
Accommodates 400.
W. A. PUBLICOVER, Proprietor

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS
-:- EXHIBITIONS -:-
August 22nd to September 14th
NINTH ANNUAL FAKIRS' BALL
"Twenty Thousand Legs Under the Sea'
HAWTHORNE INN CASINO, FRIDAY, AUG. 21st, 8 P.M.
Gallery, Eastern Point Rd. E. Gloucester
Hours Weekdays 10-6; Sundays 2-6
Oscar Anderson, President Alida C. Anderson, Secretary
GALLERY PHONE 3842-W

Tel. 452 Established Here 1890
North Shore Dyeing and Cleansing Shop
Cleansing, Dyeing, Pressing and Repairing
Work called for and delivered
245 Main St. Gloucester, Mass.

Samuel Bloomfield
SUMMER REAL ESTATE
specializing in
BASS ROCKS REALTY
Office:
53 Bass Ave., E. Gloucester
Tel. 1886

JOHN J. MacDONALD
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
15 Washington St.,
Gloucester : : Mass.
Phone 473-W Res. 473-R

The Moorland
BASS ROCKS
EDWARD D. PARSONS, Prop.
Right on the Ocean
Accommodates 500

J. A. NUNES : Art Store
Artist Materials and Picture Framing
Oil Paintings and Frames Restored
Hand Carved Frames in Stock and Made to Order
Painting and Decorating
6 Center Street, Gloucester, Mass.
Tel. 298-R Branch at Rocky Neck

Cape Ann Old Book Shop
35 High Street,
ROCKPORT, -:- MASS.
Rare, Interesting and Out of Print Books, Including First Editions.
For the Collector and Reader.

GOOD HARBOR BEACH INN
Briar Neck, Gloucester, Mass.
Ocean View and within one hundred feet of one of the best Bathing Beaches on the New England Coast.
Edwin C. McIntire,
Managing Proprietor

The Tavern
Directly on water at end of State Highway, Gloucester
Lobster, Fish and Steak Dinners
W. H. SMITH, Prop.
Telephone 1715-W

FISHING TACKLE
Motor Boat Supplies, Life Preservers, Oars, Fire Extinguishers, Lights, Hooks, Lines, Rowlocks
LOTHROP'S PATENT FOG HORN
L. D. LOTHROP & SON
70 Duncan St., Gloucester

Everett A. Flye, Opt. D.
Registered Optometrist
Established 1902
156 Main Street, Gloucester

MR. COMINS' EXHIBITION

Mr. Eben F. Comins held his annual exhibition of portraits and frescoes at his studio, Reed studios, East Gloucester, Monday and Tuesday.

The portrait of General Henry Allen, Commander in-Chief of the Allied Forces in Germany, also a portrait of Mrs. William Rives of Washington, a sister of Bishop Rhinelander of Washington and East Gloucester, were among the other portraits shown.

Mr. Comins showed for the first time to the North Shore a few of his recent frescoes. Fresco painting is one of the world's oldest methods of painting. The colors are painted into the plaster while it is wet.

A replica of his fresco for the spandrel in the President's Room of the National Capitol was on exhibition with some smaller studies of heads. Mr. Comins completed last winter in fresco a wall decoration "Pomona" in the dining-room of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Atherton of Washington and East Gloucester. The Corcoran Gallery of Arts in Washington put on a large and complete exhibition of Mr. Comins' frescoes last winter. The public of the North Shore has its first chance to see some of this old-new type of painting and Mr. Comins explained the methods of this work during his exhibition.

OCEANSIDE THEATRE

Anna Duncan needs no introduction and after the dance program she rendered on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week, she will never be forgotten by the throngs of North Shore society who attended her performances. Foremost of the original group of dancers schooled by the great Isadora Duncan, winning large individual success in Europe and America, she has become one of the favorites of the theatre as an actress as well as a dancer. The program she gave at the Oceanside was a symphony of interpretation. Particularly popular was the "Guardian Angel" number of Bach, at the close of which the audience was breathless and completely silent before breaking into a thunder of applause. "Polonaise Militaire" by Chopin was another outstanding selection in which she became a living flame of grace and strength and beauty. The closing number was the "Beautiful Blue Danube" by Strauss in which she captivated her audience completely by her delicacy and grace.

Her accompanist, Richard Malaby, who rendered between the groups of dances by Miss Duncan solo selections, was also pianist for the second part of the evening's entertainment. "Pagliacci," the opera by Leoncavello, was sung in English. Charles Hedley as Pagliacci sustained his vocal reputation with his excellent portrayal of this complicated part. George Houston as Tonio was at his best, and Nedda was played and sung by Louise Dodd with great understanding and ability. Raymond O'Brien as Harlequin was, as always, excellent, and Silvio was equally well done by Allan Burt who will be recognized for his splendid work as Valentin in Faust.

The scenic design and lighting for both the dance program and the opera were worthy of mention, as they have been since the opening night of the theatre, thanks to Stewart Chaney.

Next week there has been a change in the program, and in place of "Simoon," "The Perfect Alibi," A. A. Milne's smashing New York mystery comedy hit, will be given. This play recently produced by Charles Hopkins, ran throughout the entire season at the Hopkins Theatre. It is ingenuous, easy-going, intelligent and exciting. "The Perfect Alibi" dances rings around any of the crime thrillers produced for years past. It does not try hard to scare its audience and for that very reason perhaps succeeds in doing so. Here the problem is not who committed the crime but how the people involved are going to clear themselves and get the guilty party (whom the audience knows, for the crime is staged before its eyes in the first act). In a word, Mr. Milne deals with reactions instead of actions and by that token lifts his play into higher planes and makes it much more valuable and interesting. It is also thrilling enough, for there is a third act that will make the hair rise; and then there is a lot of comedy from a country constable. There is an actual murder. There is much comedy without detracting in the least from the excitement. Altogether the play promises to be tremendously interesting.

Those present on the evening of the opening performance were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., of Ipswich; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tucker of Topsfield; Mr. and Mrs. John L. Saltonstall of Topsfield; Edgar W. Anthony of Manchester; Dr. and Mrs. W. R. P. Emerson of Magnolia; Mrs. J. H. Lancashire of Manchester; Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Jacobus of Eastern Point; Mrs. Arthur E. Davis of Eastern Point; Col. and Mrs. Edward M. House of Manchester; Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Condit of Bass Rocks; Mrs. Prentiss Baldwin, Mrs. Jacob Loose of Bass Rocks; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jelloff of Annisquam; Mrs. F. D. Stranahan of Bass Rocks; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Usher of Annisquam; John F. Hill of Magnolia; C. D. Sias of Manchester; Mr. and Mrs. Pierpont L. Stackpole of Manchester; Mrs. J. Von L. Meyer of Hamilton; Mrs. C. I. Hood of Magnolia; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thaw of Manchester.

The cast of "The Perfect Alibi" by A. A. Milne, is as follows:

Jimmie Ludgrove	Ralph Geddes
Susan Cunningham	Harriet Eels
Edward Laverick	William Crane
Edward P. Carter	George Houston
Jane West	Anna Duncan
Mrs. Fulvertone	Mata Roudin
Arthur Ludgrove	Edison Rice
Adams	Helen Wathington
P. C. Mallet	Raymond O'Brien
"Sergeant" Mallet	Robert Henderson

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

lead, supported by Madge Evans, Conrad Nagel and Marjorie Rambeau, "Son of India" recounts the story of the son of a desert merchant, who escapes from raiding bandits on the desert, becomes a wealthy jewel merchant, and renounces his love for an American girl at the request of her brother, to whom the merchant owes a debt of gratitude. This is the co-feature at this theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday next week.

"Silence," will show at the

BELMONT SHOE REPAIRING
SHOE REBUILDING
Best Quality, Lowest Prices
Main St., Gloucester, Opp. Center St.

ROCKPORT DYE HOUSE
First Class Cleansers
Wearing Apparel Called For and
Delivered Any Place on Cape Ann
MAIN STREET, ROCKPORT. Tel. Conn.

Dry Cleaning and Pressing
STRAND DYE HOUSE
Louis Kramer, Prop.
Odorless Cleansing and Pressing
Dyeing, Altering and Relining
We call for and deliver
45 Main St., Gloucester, Mass.
Phone 2563 Open Evenings

HERSEY TRAVEL AGENCY
STEAMSHIP AGENTS
TOURS and CRUISES
148 Main Street. Up One Flight, -:- -:- Gloucester, Mass.
TEL. 10 CHEEVER L. HERSEY

SIGHT-SEEING SAILS DAILY
Volunteer Toreador Club Conductors Explain Points of Interest on Cape Ann
Make Reservations in Advance at Y. M. C. A. (470)

Beach, Piazza and Cottage Furnishings

The Most Complete assortment on the North Shore. New Stock of Heywood-Wakefield Reed and Fiber Furniture. Radios of Leading Makes.
NORTH SHORE
FURNITURE CO.
161-163 Main St.,
Cor. Parsons
Tel. 94

THE GLOUCESTER SCHOOL OF THE LITTLE THEATRE
ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
"THE THIRTEENTH CHAIR"
By BAYARD VEILLER
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, AUGUST 21 AND 22
Reserved Seats, on Sale at the School, $1.25. Tel. 3485
One-Act Play Friday Mornings at 11.30
Puppet Performances Saturday Mornings at 11.30. Admission 50c
Friday and Saturday, August 28 and 29 "TORCHBEARERS" By George Kelley

North Shore Theatre for four days beginning next Sunday.

The thrilling melodrama has been filmed with Clive Brook playing the role which H. B. Warner made famous on the stage. Marjorie Rambeau and Peggy Shannon have the chief feminine parts, and handsome Charles Starrett, who played opposite Miriam Hopkins in "Fast and Loose," carries the juvenile role.

"Silence" is the story of a likable and handsome crook whose crimes bring ruin and death to the woman he loves. His daughter, while a baby, is taken from him, and brought up in the home of a kind foster-father. Years later, the crook, still pursuing his lawless career, meets his daughter. When the girl is threatened with disgrace and ruin because of her real father's past, the crook, by a great sacrifice, attempts to shield her. Only the girl's great love and courage save him from death.

Flaming-haired Peggy Shannon, who made her screen debut in "The Secret Call," plays two roles in "Silence." She is seen as the wife and daughter of Clive Brook, but the two characters never meet in the story action. The plot covers a period of twenty years, the early sequences going to the pre-war days of hobble skirts, embryo automobiles and beer gardens for their action.

LITTLE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

personality that gripped the audience from the moment of her first appearance. Katherine Raht again showed another side of her versatility as Kezia Springfield, the old servant in the house of Holtspur. As Lonnie Copshrews, the mad, hot-headed genius of bygone days, whose love, coveted by many and possessed (unknown to her) by Melloney alone, the artist whose wildness and passion of feeling hurt all those with whom he came in contact, Martin Jurow was convincingly real. Honore Bruere as Lenda, daughter of Lonnie and his French wife, made much of her important part, and played it with exceptional dramatic poise and ability. Elizabeth Blake as Lady Mento and Norman Sturgis, Jr., as Bunny Blake, her son, both sustained their characters excellently throughout. A touch of humor and enlightenment was added by the excellently done Jones children. Hannah Taylor, Virginia Gray, Stanton Forbes and Natalia Watson were superb in their portrayal of the parts of adolescents and captivated the audience from the start by their antics and the English slang used in the conversation.

The supporting cast were equally talented in their interpretations and much credit is due to the scenic and lighting artists. The play was an exceptionally difficult one, different from anything the theatre has attempted thus far this season, and the entire School is to be congratulated.

This week the Little Theatre is playing on Friday and Saturday nights, August 21 and 22, "The Thirteenth Chair," a thrilling mystery play by Bayard Veiller, and on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, a repeat performance of "Anna Christie" is scheduled. The following week on Friday and Saturday nights, "Torchbearers," a rollicking satire by George Kelley will be given.

YACHTING

(Continued from page 17)

Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 21 48
Ibex, Max Kuehne	2 26 25
Altair, Pierce and Grover	2 30 08
Vega, Herbert Evans	2 31 16

BIRD CLASS

Ibis, Donald Frost	2 35 25
Peewee, Charles W. Pierce	2 35 28

PILOT CLASS

Onward, Laura Cooney	1 45 25
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 53 50
Shirlidee, Johnson Brothers	2 01 38

FISH CLASS

Snail, Donald Phillips	1 52 06
Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 54 46
Skipjack, C. H. Davis	1 55 11
Judy, R. H. Lane	2 04 44
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins	2 06 49
Darter, R. Kuehne	2 07 54
Shiner, G. S. Grace	2 25 28

MIXED CLASS

Saratoga, Ben Knudsen	2 05 24
Rover, Beal Brothers	2 14 14
Celeritas II, Reynolds Beal	2 29 21

ANNISQUAM TRIANGLES LEADING EASTERN POINT

GLOUCESTER, August 17— Annisquam was leading Eastern Point, 38 to 34, at the end of the first day of team racing in the Triangle class for the trophy given by Commodore John Greenough of Eastern Point. None of the Marblehead craft appeared for the races.

Two races were sailed. In the morning each team scored 18 points. In the afternoon Annisquam won first, second, fifth and eighth places to score 20 points to Eastern Point's 16.

Light and streaky airs prevailed until late afternoon, when it settled into the southwest to give the fleet a fairly fast reach from the weather mark. The course for the morning race was to leeward and return in a light northerly, the turn being the south mark off Eastern Point.

Teaser IV, farthest to leeward on the home stretch, caught a new slant of air from the north and was lifted along to win the first race by five seconds from Idol.

It was windward and leeward to the western mark off Kettle Island for the afternoon race, with the wind light from the southwest.

Henry Worcester in the Scalene decided to test out the starboard tack to the eastward. He was followed by Quail, which came out of the harbor a bad last. Later the pair were followed by Teaser. It was the profitable move. Scalene established a lead to windward well in advance of the fleet and won. The summary:

MORNING RACE

Leeward and Windward, 5 Miles

Teaser IV, R. Russell Smith (A)	1 57 50
Idol, Francis Gleason (A)	1 57 55
Quail, Epes W. Merchant (EP)	1 58 25
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper (EP)	1 58 26
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot (EP)	1 59 05
Injun, Hastings Gamage (EP)	1 59 30
Scalene, H. E. Worcester, Jr. (A)	1 59 42
Bluebill, Horace Bent (A)	2 00 04

Points—Eastern Point, 18; Annisquam, 18.

AFTERNOON RACE

Windward and Leeward, 5 Miles

Scalene, H. E. Worcester, Jr. (A)	2 01 14
Teaser IV, R. Russell Smith (A)	2 03 04
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper (EP)	2 03 49
Quail, Epes W. Merchant (EP)	2 04 29
Bluebill, Horace Bent (A)	2 04 46
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot (EP)	2 05 25
Injun, Hastings Gamage (EP)	2 05 30
Idol, Francis Gleason (A)	2 05 51

Points—Annisquam, 20; Eastern Point, 16.

Total—Annisquam, 38; Eastern Point, 34.

ANNISQUAM CREW WINS THE GREENOUGH TROPHY

GLOUCESTER, August 18—Annisquam and Eastern Point Yacht Club crews tied with 18 points again today in the final team race for the trophy given by Commodore John Greenough of Eastern Point. The quartet from Annisquam, however, won the trophy, with 56 points to Eastern Point's 52, gaining the margin in the afternoon race yesterday. The summary:

GREENOUGH CUP SERIES

Annisquam vs. Eastern Point Team Races, Triangle Class, Leeward and Windward
Five Miles

Injun, Hastings Gamage, (EP)	2 08 51
Black Bess, I. Patch, Jr. (EP)	2 09 05
Idol, Francis Gleason (A)	2 09 19
Teaser IV, R. Russell Smith (A)	2 14 21
Scalene, H. E. Worcester, Jr. (A)	2 14 35
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot (EP)	2 14 42
Quail, Epes W. Merchant (EP)	2 15 00

THOMPSON AND HILDA BOEHM WIN ON COURT

MAGNOLIA, August 16 — Tennis matches postponed from yesterday were played at the Oceanside today. The feature match was in the mixed doubles, when Miss Hilda Boehm and Steve Thompson defeated Miss Louise Packer and E. Seager, 8—6, 6—2. The summary:

MEN'S SINGLES

First Round—Dr. Blackler defeated P. Voorhis, 6—3, 6—4; George Fuller defeated R. Parker, 6—1, 8—6; Eddie Fuller defeated F. Gleason, 6—2, 6—0; Herbert Fuller defeated E. Seager, 6—0, 6—0; Jack Cahill defeated G. Houston, 6—1, 6—1.

MEN'S DOUBLES

First Round—Jack Loud and George Denison defeated Dr. Nelson and J. Wood, 7—5, 6—1; Dr. Emerson and Thad Smith defeated Dr. Culbertson and Sam Culbertson, 6—0, 9—7; E. Fuller and H. Fuller defeated Jack Cahill and P. Voorhis, 6—0, 6—2.

Second Round — Dan Harris and F. Smith defeated George Denison and Jack Loud, 6—1, 6—3.

Third Round—Dan Harris and T. Smith defeated S. Hearst and A. Sheldon, 6—1, 6—1.

MIXED DOUBLES

First Round—Steve Thompson and Hilda Boehm defeated E. Seager and Louise Packer, 8—6, 6—2; Hall Gamage and Helen Boehm defeated Thad Smith and Lucia Woodworth, 5—7, 6—4, 6—3.

RICHARDSONS DEFEATED IN MAGNOLIA DOUBLES

MAGNOLIA, August 18 — The Oceanside tennis tournament continued today with ideal playing conditions.

The biggest upset came in the men's doubles when the pair who have won the Oceanside title for several years were defeated. The Fuller brothers of Salem accomplished this when they defeated Richardson, Sr. and Richardson, Jr., 6—3, 7—5. The summary:

MEN'S SINGLES

Second Round—J. Richardson defeated S. Culbertson, 6—0, 6—1; J. Cahill defeated N. Nelson, 6—2, 6—3; S. Thompson defeated H. Rowbotham, 6—1, 6—3.

ALICE M. AMBLER, A. B.
(VASSAR)
PRIVATE TUTOR
French, German, Latin, English,
Spanish, Algebra, Etc.
16 Highland Street, E. Gloucester
Tel. 3125-W

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR
For Your Child, ages 10 to 16
Competent Young Instructor
Tutoring at Your Own Home
Write P. O. Box No. 316, Gloucester

Office Open Day and Night.
Tel. Con.
WILLARD S. PIKE
Funeral Director
and Embalmer
Shipping, Transfer and Crematory Work
75 Washington Street
Gloucester Mass.

AWNINGS
And Yacht Equipment
UNITED SAIL LOFT CO., Inc.
Foot of Pearce St.
71 Wharf St. Tel. Conn.

NORTH SHORE INN
Magnolia-by-the-Sea
Massachusetts
Charming Homelike Atmosphere
(Booklet on request)
Good Food--Reasonable Rates
Tune in Wednesday morning, 9-10
WHDH

SUPERIOR DYE HOUSE
Removed to 53 MAIN ST.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Work Called For and Delivered
Anywhere on Cape Ann
Cleaning, Pressing, and Alterations.
Telephone 2644
Satisfaction Guaranteed

MEN'S DOUBLES

Second Round—R. Terris and J. Brown defeated T. Jones and P. Richardson, 6 2, 6—8; G. Fuller and W. Fuller defeated S. Richardson and J. Richardson, 6—3, 7—5; Dr. Emerson and Thad Smith defeated E. Groetzinger and W. Brewer, 6—1, 6—1.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

Second Round—Louise Packer defeated Harriet Eells, 6—4, 6—0; Helen Boehm defeated Virginia Arnold, 6—2, 6—2; Hilda Boehm defeated Louisa Williams, 6—0, 6—1.

Third Round—Louise Parker defeated Mrs. Sturges, 6—4, 6—0.

MIXED DOUBLES

Steve Thompson and Hilda Boehm defeated John Hearst and Barbara Backus, 6—0, 6—2; E. Underwood and Virginia Arnold defeated George Houston and Harriet Eells, 6—3, 6—1.

MISS HENNESSEY DEFEATS MISS POPE AT MAGNOLIA

Magnolia, Mass., August 17—Nine matches were played today at the Oceanside courts. Today's feature match resulted in an upset when Miss Mildred Hennessey defeated Miss Betty Pope, 12—10, 8—6. The summary:

MEN'S SINGLES

First Round—Dan Harris defeated E. Groetzinger, 6—0, 6—0.

MEN'S DOUBLES

First Round—R. Sargent and H. Rowbotham defeated O. Goldsmith and W. Goldsmith, 6—0, 6—0.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

Second Round—Dorothy Jarvis defeated Priscilla Phelan, 6—4, 6—1; Mrs. E. Sturgis defeated Mrs. Cummings, 6—4, 6—2; Virginia Arnold defeated Lucia Woodworth, 6—1, 6—0; Elizabeth Packer won from Mrs. Leslie Buswell by default; Mildred Hennessey defeated Betty Pope, 12—10, 8—6.

MIXED DOUBLES

First Round—E. Underwood and Miss V. Arnold defeated R. Rowbotham and Miss P. Phelan, 6—2, 6—1; George Houston and Miss H. E. Eells defeated G. Denison and Laura Kimball, 6—4, 3—6, 6—3.

TILDEN TO PLAY AT ESSEX COUNTY CLUB

Bill Tilden, 2d, national professional tennis champion, and Albert Burke, the Frenchman, will play a special match at the Essex County Club today at 3 o'clock, and Bobby Sellers and Emmett Pare will meet in another singles match. A doubles match will also be played.

BLUES LEAD AT ROCKPORT

Rockport, August 15 — Blues took the lead this afternoon in the team match at the Rockport Club, 6 to 2. The summary:

BLUES
C. L. Allen	1
J. F. Lockett	1
I. J. Jansen	0
J. A. Lyons	1
J. T. Day, Jr.	1
L. A. Jacobs	1
J. Guinane	1
F. H. Tarr, Jr.	0
Totals	6

REDS
C. S. Patten	0
J. T. Day, Sr.	0
L. P. Kauffman	1
A. G. Fitzgerald	0
M. R. Nidinhouse	0
Ed. Goodick	0
C. Rice	0
E. E. Babb, Jr.	1
Totals	2

ROCKPORT GOLF

Rockport, August 16—Two-day Team Match.

BLUES
Yesterday	7
P. B. Oakley	0
J. B. Williams	0
L. H. York	1
Dr. L. C. Feener	1
Total	9

REDS
Yesterday	1
J. P. Glass	1
I. S. Hall	1
C. F. Sprague	0
G. P. Sargent	0
Total	3

PARKING REGULATIONS

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Attention is called to the following extracts from an ordinance governing automobile traffic passed June 6, 1930.

Section One. During the months of June, July, August and September the following traffic regulations shall be effective for vehicles:

Parking Prohibited at All Times

Pleasant street, between Main and Warren streets, Short street.

Easterly side of Centre street.

Pearce street, from Rogers to Main street.

Westerly side of Water street from Main to Rogers street.

Within 15 feet of any hydrant on any street.

Westerly side of Elm street from Main to Prospect street; easterly side from Main street to the southern end of the Recreation Alleys.

Easterly side of School street from Middle street to Mason street, and on School street from Proctor street to Middle street after 11 P.M.

Northerly side of Middle street from Pleasant street to Washington street.

Northerly side of Main street, from a point opposite the westerly side of Porter street to Washington street.

Easterly side of Chestnut street.

All protected crossings.

Easterly side of Hancock street from Middle to Rogers street or on such portions of westerly side as are designated by white traffic lines.

Restricted Parking

Main street, from Washington to Vincent street, 30 minutes between 6 A.M. and 6 P.M., except on Saturday when the restricted parking extends to 10 P.M.

Center street, westerly side but only within a distance of 30 feet from Main street and 30 feet from Middle street.

Middle street, southerly side, from Pleasant to Washington street, for a period not exceeding one hour.

Dale avenue, westerly side only, in a diagonal position with the left rear wheel or right front wheel against the curb.

One Way Streets

Southerly side of Western avenue, from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for east bound traffic.

Northerly side of Western avenue from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for west bound traffic.

Federal street, travel only in an easterly direction, from Pleasant street to Elm street, no parking on either side.

Short street, one way north from Main street.

Hancock street, from Middle street to Main street, one way south.

Nautilus road, one way south between Bass avenue and Bass Rocks road.

Duncan street, one way south from Main street to Rogers street, parking on westerly side only.

Arlington street, Annisquam, one way in a southeasterly direction.

Chestnut street, one way south, parking only on westerly side.

Middle street, from Dale avenue to Pleasant street, one way east.

Warren street, one way west, parking on both sides.

Protected Crossings

Across Prospect street at Union hill; across Spring street at the westerly side of Union hill; across Main street at the North Shore Theatre; across Main street at the Olympia Theatre; across Main street at the Postoffice and Trust Company; at the Gloucester National Bank; from the Masonic Block to W. G. Brown & Company's store; from the A. & P. store to Herricks' fruit store; across Pleasant street, at the Postoffice; across Duncan street on Main street; across Hancock street on both sides the street.

Porter street, one way south, parking only western side.

Traffic lights in operation Main street, foot of Commercial, P. O. Square; Prospect street, near M. E. Church.

DANIEL M. CASEY,
City Marshal.

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE

No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st except by written permission of the Chief of the Fire Department or the Fire Warden.

Persons wishing to burn rubbish, grass, etc., in the business or residential sections of the city, i. e. within the limits established by the Eastern avenue School on Eastern avenue and the cut bridge on Western avenue and the Green on Washington street, should apply to the Chief of the Fire Department. Those wishing to burn rubbish, brush, grass, etc., in the outlying portions of the city, that is outside of the limits as here set forth, whose fire would be on or near any wood, brush or grasslands, should apply to the Fire Warden.

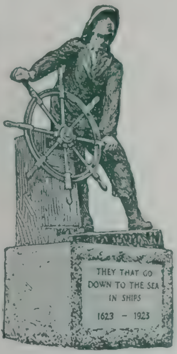
Readers of this notice are cautioned to be extremely careful of matches, cigars and cigarettes while in or near any wood or brushland to prevent forest fires.

HOMER R. MARCHANT,
Chief of the Fire Department.
ALBERT C. LA BELLE,
Fire Warden.

Magnolia Real Estate
SEA SHORE ESTATES
Cottages, Bungalows, Shops
JONATHAN MAY
Shore Road, Magnolia, Mass. Tel. Magnolia 426-R.

Gloucester Auto Bus Co.
Exclusive Street Passenger Transportation on Cape Ann, Gloucester and East Gloucester, Annisquam, Lanesville, Pigeon Cove, Rockport, West Gloucester, Essex, Magnolia, Manchester.
Starter's Office 114 Main Street
Information Telephone 2195 Telephone 1675

THE PATTILLO STORE
THE FINEST LINE OF SUMMER FURNITURE, SCREENS, MATTRESSES, RUGS, ETC., ON THE NORTH SHORE. UPHOLSTERING DONE BY SKILLED WORKMAN
A·MANTON PATTILLO
Fine Assortment of Vudor Shades for the Piazza
C. F. TOMPKINS CO.
67 MIDDLE STREET GLOUCESTER



Rooted Deep

> "As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
> Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm,
> Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
> Eternal sunshine settles on its head."
>
> —GOLDSMITH.

Commercial Banking
Savings Accounts
Club Accounts
Safe Deposit Boxes
Storage Vault
Foreign Exchange
Travellers Cheques
Bond Department
Travel Service

A Bank that started 132 years ago and is the oldest Bank in the State must be deep rooted. A Bank that has withstood all the hard times and financial and industrial changes down from Washington's time must have a certain inherent strength.

We offer you strength; a background of tradition, efficient service, and friendly co-operation.

The Oldest Bank in the State, the Seventh Oldest in the United States; a depository for City, County, State and U. S. Funds, and favored with an account from hundreds of firms and individuals on the Cape.

May We be Favored With Your Gloucester Business?

GLOUCESTER NATIONAL BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE CITY

OLDEST BANK IN MASSACHUSETTS

One of the steps in the preparation of codfish for the market. Drying and curing whole codfish at the Gorton-Pew Fisheries

You Are Cordially Invited—

OUR door is always open. And we are always glad to show visitors the fascinating processes employed in our plant. See how we take fish fresh from the ocean and prepare them for the tables of America's discriminating housewives. There is no more interesting sight in all of quaint old Gloucester.

If it were only possible to transport some of the charm of Gloucester back home—its romantic harbor, its curious old streets and homes, its atmosphere of the sea. Although this is impossible you may have a reminder of pleasant Gloucester days in sending to your home some of our delicious fish products. For this purpose we put up a special combination box. It is an attractive carton containing a popular assortment of Gorton's Sea Foods. Neatly packed ready for shipment. These tasty and popular sea foods will introduce you to new delights in fish eating.

The same offer is extended to all-year-round and summer-time residents. Visit us and see for yourselves how one of America's oldest and most interesting industries operates. You are cordially invited.

Gorton's
Sea Food Family

GORTON'S CODFISH
GORTON'S READY-TO-FRY COD FISH CAKES
GORTON'S FRESH MACKEREL IN CANS
GORTON' SALAD FISH
GORTON'S DEEP SEA ROE
GORTON'S CODFISH IN CANS
GORTON'S FINNAN HADDIE
GORTON'S FLAKED FISH
GORTON'S MANHATTAN CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S DOWN EAST CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S HADDOCK CHOWDER

Gorton-Pew Fisheries
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Founded in 1849

1885 - 1931

THE BOSTON STORE

WILLIAM G. BROWN COMPANY, Gloucester, Mass.

The Largest Store of the North Shore Covering a City Block from PLEASANT, MAIN and ELM STREETS
29 Departments. Largest Dry Goods Floor Space East of Boston. POST OFFICE SQUARE

The Department Store of Service where Summer Shopping is made pleasant.

In Gloucester on the North Shore you will find this store a well appointed, pleasant store in which to do your shopping on a warm summer's day.

It will be a pleasure and also afford you great satisfaction in knowing that you can come here and select quality merchandise at lowest possible prices.

Trade in Gloucester at the Big Store of the North Shore

One of the North Shore's Finest
BEAUTY SHOPS

4 Booths—2 Bobber Chairs
2 Manicure Tables

Marcel Waving
Shampooing
Manicuring
Facials
French Curling
Hair Dyeing
Hair Tinting
Permanent Waving
Hair Dressing
Hair Bobbing and Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting by Experts.

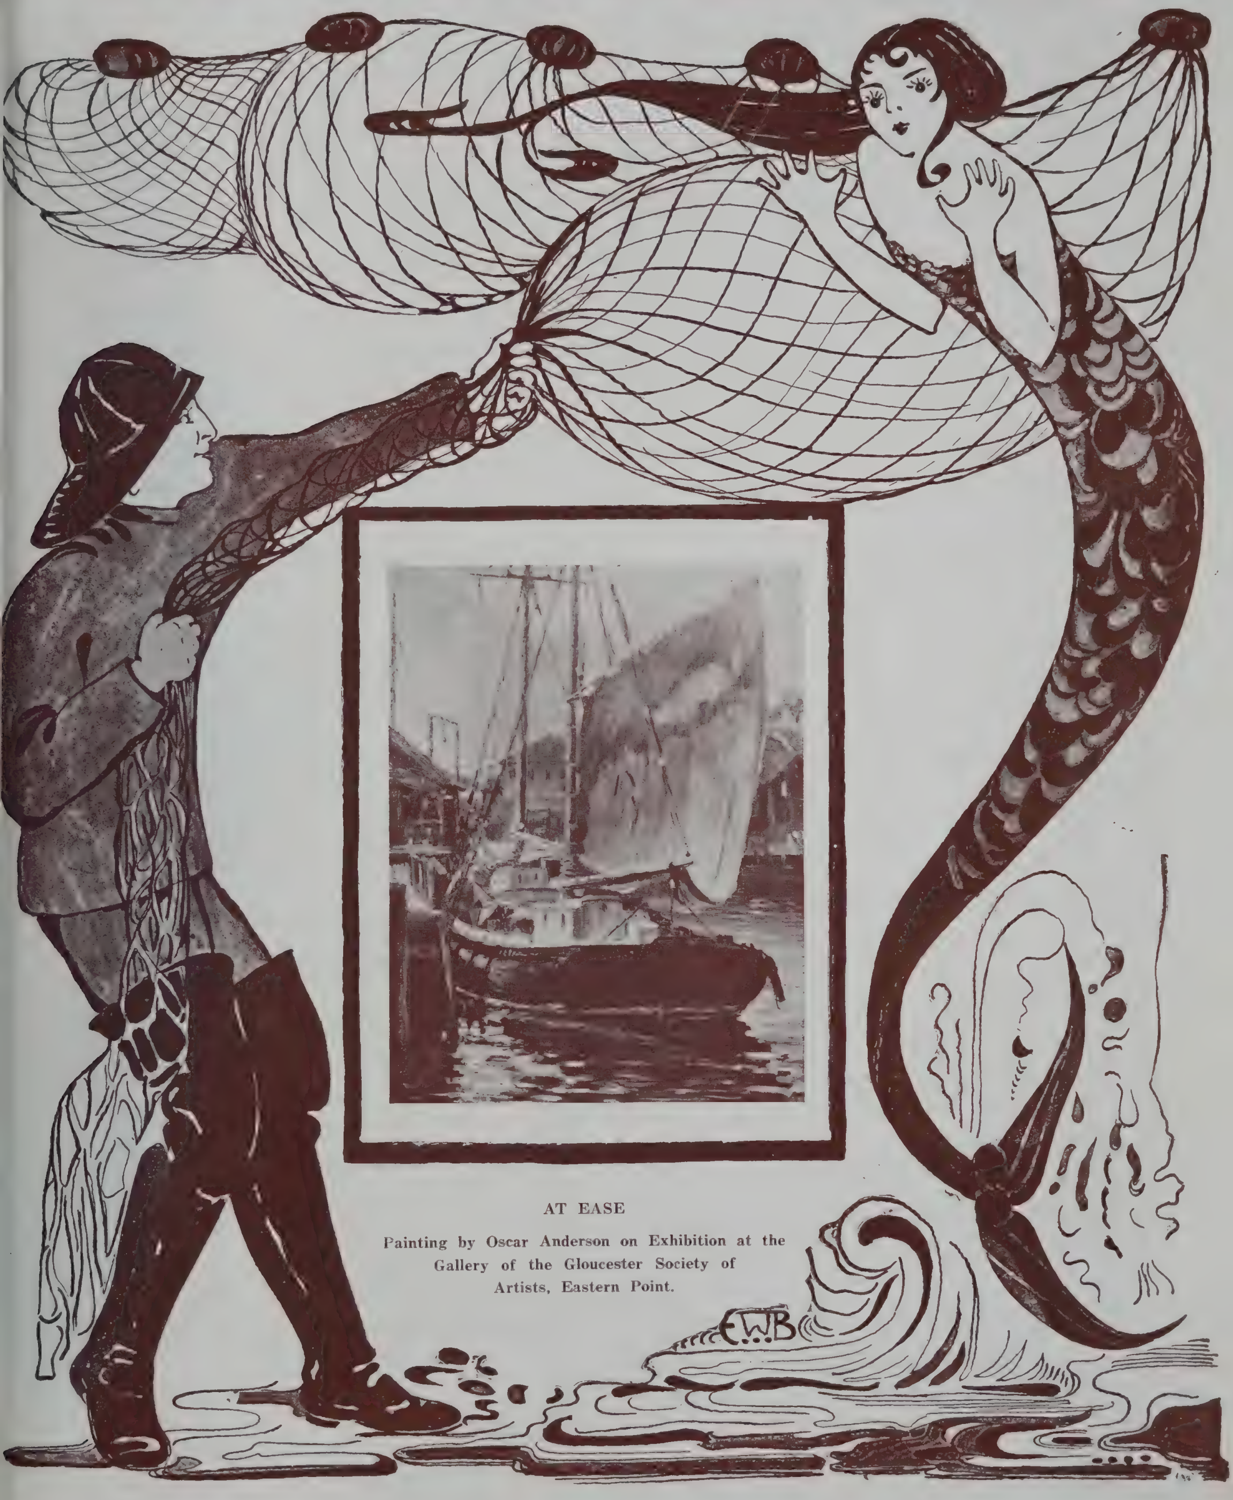
Atwater Kent, Majestic, Victor and Radiola Radios

Largest Line on Cape Ann
Expert Installation

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

New Soda Fountain and Luncheonette
(MAIN FLOOR)
Best Food and Service
Afternoon Tea

CAPE ANN SHORE



AT EASE

Painting by Oscar Anderson on Exhibition at the Gallery of the Gloucester Society of Artists, Eastern Point.

Vol. XXXVI
August 29, 1931

PUBLISHED BY
The Cape Ann Publishing Co.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

No. 8
Price 10 Cents

C. S. NAUSS (Established 1837) L. H. NAUSS

L. B. Nauss & Sons

"NAUSS LUMBER"

LUMBER
LIME
CEMENT
BUILDING SUPPLIES

"Everything to Build Anything"

Telephones 195-196-197
RAILROAD AVE.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

They add a subtle touch of distinction to hospitality

Resplendent, efficient electric appliances make entertaining so satisfying and convenient

Drop into our store and see these wonderful aids to entertaining — electric percolator, electric coffee urn, electric waffle iron, electric toaster. We're glad to show them—whether you buy or not.

GLOUCESTER ELECTRIC COMPANY

Telephone 1250 Telephone 1250

The F. C. POOLE SHOPS

Bond's Hill, Gloucester

BRANCH SHOPS

359 Western Ave. And House Opposite

ANTIQUES—We have a fine collection of Early American and English pieces at our show rooms on Western Avenue and on Bond's Hill.

REPRODUCTIONS—As fine as we can make them, true copies of the originals. Our craftsmen can create for you any piece that you may have in mind.

UPHOLSTERED PIECES—Made in our own work shop on Bond's Hill. We specialize in comfortable davenports, sofas, chairs, chaise longues—anything that you may wish made to order.

DRAPERIES—Our selection of chintzes, linens, drapery and upholstery materials is worthy of your consideration.

UPHOLSTERED SPRINGS AND MATTRESSES—Made to order of the best quality materials and very comfortable.

We know you will enjoy a visit to our shops.

EFFIE POOLE KEFFER, Proprietor

ENJOY YOUR SUMMER WITH A

New Glenwood Insulated Range

Insulated
Glenwood
GLENWOOD
ROBERTSHAW
OVEN HEAT
CONTROL

"You can do it better with Gas"

GLOUCESTER GAS LIGHT CO.

96 MAIN STREET Telephone 570

1896—OLDEST ESTABLISHED SUMMER RESORT PUBLICATION ON THE NORTH SHORE—1931

THE CAPE ANN SHORE

THIRTY-SIXTH SEASON

Gloucester, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks,
Long Beach, Briar Neck.

Land's End, Rockport, Pigeon Cove, Annisquam and River Territory, Fernwood, Magnolia, Manchester and Essex County.

Published Weekly, 8 times during July and August by the CAPE ANN PUBLISHING CO., James R. Pringle, Conductor, 95 Main Street, Gloucester. 75 cents the season on Cape Ann; elsewhere, $1.00. Tels. 412-W, 412-R.

"Entered as second-class matter July 16, 1920, at post office, Gloucester, Mass., under Act of March 3, 1879."

Special Contents, August 29, 1931

EDITORIALS:
"Back to Normalcy"
The Wickersham Report

POEMS:
A Painter in New England
The Autumn Guest

THE FISHERMAN'S REST

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING
By C. Anne Shore

ART AND DRAMATIC
Being a Review of Theatrical Topics and the Artist Colony

NEWS OF THE SUMMER COLONY
Manchester, Magnolia, Eastern Point, Bass Rocks, Briar Neck, Land's End, Rockport Center, Pigeon Cove, The Annisquam Region, The Cape Ann Countyside

THE WEEK'S YACHTING

A HOUSE OF SERVICE

GLOUCESTER COAL AND LUMBER COMPANY

For twenty-five years the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company have endeavored to give to the residents of Cape Ann all that there is in the way of service.

Starting as a coal yard in 1906 the company has steadily increased its services until now it is capable of merchandizing literally anything from thumb tacks to a home complete, from planning to financing.

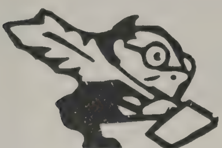
At the present time the company occupies two large wharves in Gloucester harbor, receiving the majority of its coal and lumber by water. The finished lumber and flooring is brought in by rail and stored in a heat regulated warehouse. The heating plant in this building is arranged to provide a constant temperature with a low rate of humidity thus assuring all lumber of being perfectly dry and free from shrinkage.

Included in the five acres of floor space are four large warehouses, a fully equipped mill, a garage and machine shop, a cement shed, and the coal pockets. In addition the company has this year added a new paint and hardware store carrying a full line of painters' supplies, carpenters' tools and hardware for the home and builder.

The Gloucester Coal and Lumber Company maintain offices in Gloucester, Rockport, Manchester, and Magnolia; free estimation service for any type of building as well as a planning and financing department. The company is also exclusive agent on the North Shore for the electric furnace man.

GLOUCESTER COAL & LUMBER CO., -:- 43 Duncan Street

Telephones 3060—3061—3062



"For this is the wise God's guiding—
When the winds have broken the rose
When gales from the north are gliding
And the gates of the summer close—
That the Lords of the Land go riding
And the horn on the upland blows."
—From "Scattered Scarlet" by Will H. Ogilvie.

"BACK TO NORMALCY"

Conditions All Against a Repetition of Hectic "Prosperity" (?) of Past Decade—A Review and Look Ahead on the Business Barometer

A physician in order to accurately diagnose the indisposition of an individual, seeks for causes of the past, accountable for present condition of the patient. So in the case of a nation. Economic depression similarly has its deep rooted causes of long standing.

After the experiment with continental paper money this country went on a specie basis which was continued until the Civil War, when the legal tender or greenback currency was brought into requisition. After the Rebellion, it was decided that the nation should resume specie payments in 1876. The prospect for this looked dubious up to the very last moment. The panic of 1873 had left the business of the country in a precarious condition and with the coming of 1875 many shook their heads. Where was the necessary gold to come from to fill a depleted treasury?

Good luck, Providence, or what have you, solved the problem. In 1876 a long continued drought burned Europe brown and destroyed the wheat and cereal crops. In the United States, bountiful rains interspersed with periods of sunshine, gave the conditions which produced a bumper yield. People must have bread, and the nations of the old world hurried to this country for their supply and dollar wheat became the thing. In consequence, foreign gold flowed in a stream to this country, filled the United States treasury and the problem of resumption was solved. Herein lies the whole secret of prosperity—just a variation of Mr. Micawber's problem.

As long as you produce a surplus that the other fellow wants and has the gold to pay for, either in manufactured or agricultural goods, comes employment and prosperity. But if you produce a surplus with no market, you are worse off than when you began. There's where we are now.

From that date onward up to a certain time, with occasional recessions of bad times, with the aid of a high tariff we have had the vantage position of producing articles which the other fellow must have—for instance England, our cotton and wheat—at the same time being able by means of a tariff to keep the manufactured articles from entering the country and supplying home demands with home made products. Under this jug handled economic condition, the United States went ahead by leaps and bounds, encouraging unrestricted immigration.

Shortly after 1900, this process began to slow down and by 1914, the time of the accession of President Wilson, an era of depression had set in. At intervals before, bread lines and soup houses had been brought into requisition. With the incoming of Wilson, largely brought about by stringent "times," the economic prospect was gloomy.

Then came another streak of seeming good luck—for the time being at least—the World War, and with it a demand from the embattled nations for our products, both agricultural, chemical and mineral. Unemployed labor was set at work, dictating its own wages for the first time in the history of the world, our manufacturing and shipping equipment was increased four-fold. To supply the demand for labor, intensive inventive processes were evolved. Machines were fabricated whereby one piece of apparatus did the work of eight or ten men. Night and day factories were pushed at full capacity. The treasured gold of the world flowed into the coffers of the banking institutions of the country. Finally we, ourselves, were pulled into the conflict and at length, a war-tired Europe ceased its carnival of blood letting from sheer exhaustion, mentally, physically and economically beggared.

With this cessation, the huge demand on the United States for goods of all kinds was cut sharply off. Nevertheless, for nearly ten years, with the exception of the panic of 1921, the tide of seeming prosperity kept on from its own momentum.

Finally that inertia ceased and the realization forced home on the financial men of the nation that the end of the road had been reached was registered in the stock market panic of nearly a year ago. We were left flat, our surplus ships, mills, equipment costing hundreds of millions, sold for a song, and millions of surplus immi-

(Continued on page 22)

THE WICKERSHAM REPORT

On Conditions Affecting the Judiciary Not a Pleasing One — Courageously Indicates Cancer That is Undermining Legal Tribunals

One of the most far-reaching and vital reports of a national commission in the history of this country is that of the Wickersham Commission, so-called, appointed to investigate the causes for the lawlessness which has overrun the country. We do not refer particularly to the initial report on Prohibition—with which we have no quarrel—but upon the conditions which it finds surrounds the judiciary, both high and low, of the country.

It is not a pleasing verdict that is submitted to the citizens for their consideration, although many of its facts have been common knowledge. In fact, its conclusions point to an almost complete breakdown of fair play and justice in many of the courts of the land. This has been apparent especially in the trial of rum running and liquor cases. By a sharp coincidence a few days after the report became public, counsel for Al Capone openly charged that the government had "double crossed" his client by entering into an agreement whereby if Capone would plead guilty, a nominal sentence would be imposed. The presiding justice, however, refused to stultify himself before the bar of history by being a part to any such arrangement and openly repudiated it. Those concerned were compelled to admit the truth of the statement of Capone's counsel. In any other country, the publication of such a compact would have resulted in the downfall of the government.

This report has had a perceptible effect in materially hastening the dilatory proceedings against outstanding offenders, for instance, Mr. Legs Diamond, heretofore immune, has been brought to book. Capone may follow.

The citizens are rightfully jealous of the integrity of their courts. Some years ago the Supreme Court of this country was generally accused of being appointed to favor the "interests" and there was a wide-spread movement for its abolition or reform. This reform has come. Today the Supreme Court of the land is looked upon with respect.

(Continued on page 18)

THE AUTUMN GUEST

By Alexander G. Tupper

Summer has a guest
    Who wears a coat of red;
And through the meadows
    And o'er the hill's green crest,
I see him wandering—
    Summer by his side.
And 'neath the oak's deep shadows,
    They pause to look o'er fields
That glow with mellow sunlight;
    The asters clothed with blue like sky,
The goldenrod with gold like sun
    And o'er them birds take flight!
On mossy beds where brooklets run
    And ferns are growing nigh,
A tint of brown is creeping;
    In shade, a spirit of unrest
Comes to creatures that are sleeping,
    And they come out in the sun.
The days are short'ning in the west,
    Earlier is the twilight's call
To nightingale and whip-poor-will—
    For dew to fall!
Summer in her glory,
    A princess walked o'er blossomed fields,
Till Autumn told his story
    And now her glad heart yields
To love—what unity is there!
    It creeps to every human heart
And gives us all a share!

A PAINTER IN NEW ENGLAND

Excerpt from a poem by Charles Wharton Stork

Have you ever watched the dreamy progress of a gray New England schooner
  Drifting seaward with the tide
Darkly down a line of radiance, dawn-bright gold or silvery lunar,
  Ribbon narrow or ocean wide?
Such a boat in such a background I will paint you ten times sooner
Than a lily-perfect yacht with drooping topsail and ballooner.
  No, for me the old-time vessel
  In a land-locked bay to nestle
Till the light breeze flaps her stay-sail and the light wave laps her side.

Have you shrunk before the grimness of the rugged 'longshore ledges
  Where the groundswell surf rolls in Round the battlemented coast-line with its walls and bastion wedges?
  Hark! the cave-resounded din
As a breaker smites the granite with the strength of giant sledges
And a swaying fringe of foam enfolds the dark cliffs' dripping edges.
  Readily will other nations
  Yield a sheaf of sharp sensations,
But the landscape of New England holds a rapture hard to win.

Art and Dramatic

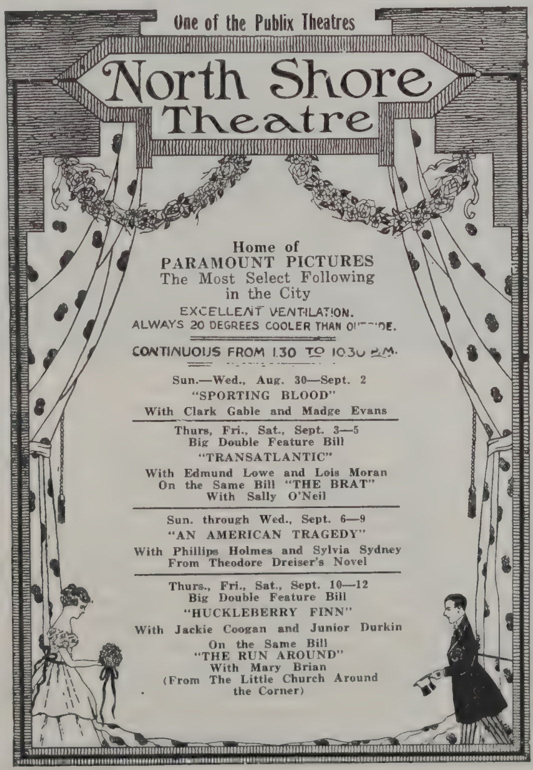
LITTLE THEATRE

On Friday and Saturday nights of last week the Gloucester School of the Little Theatre scored another tremendous success with its excellent presentation of the hair-raising "Thirteenth Chair," a mystery play by Bayard Veiller.

The story was one of those in which you never can guess the true murderer, and in which the wrong character seems to be the only possible suspect. When the evidence is as clear as light, the play is almost over, and the innocent Helen O'Neil is as good as convicted, the truth is at last revealed to every one's surprise and relief. The story sounds simple, but such a story takes ability and a convincing appearance on the part of the large cast to make it intriguing and not melodramatic and ridiculous.

Roswell Hawley comes to the fore again in her interpretation of the medium, Madame Rosalie La Grange, who is an important motivate of the plot. It is during her seance that the murder is effected, and through her ingenuity that the true murderer is discovered, and Miss Hawley plays her part with characteristic conviction and ability. Patricia Peticolas and

(Continued on page 24)



One of the Publix Theatres

North Shore Theatre

Home of
PARAMOUNT PICTURES
The Most Select Following
in the City
EXCELLENT VENTILATION.
ALWAYS 20 DEGREES COOLER THAN OUTSIDE.

CONTINUOUS FROM 1.30 TO 10.30 P.M.

Sun.—Wed., Aug. 30—Sept. 2
"SPORTING BLOOD"
With Clark Gable and Madge Evans

Thurs, Fri., Sat., Sept. 3—5
Big Double Feature Bill
"TRANSATLANTIC"
With Edmund Lowe and Lois Moran
On the Same Bill "THE BRAT"
With Sally O'Neil

Sun. through Wed., Sept. 6—9
"AN AMERICAN TRAGEDY"
With Phillips Holmes and Sylvia Sydney
From Theodore Dreiser's Novel

Thurs., Fri., Sat., Sept. 10—12
Big Double Feature Bill
"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"
With Jackie Coogan and Junior Durkin
On the Same Bill
"THE RUN AROUND"
With Mary Brian
(From The Little Church Around the Corner)

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

Thrills of the race track and the schemes and methods of crooked gamblers serve as a colorful background for a love story in "Sporting Blood," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's drama of racing life, which will come Sunday to the North Shore Theatre for four days.

Based on the Saturday Evening Post story, "Horseflesh," by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan, it was adapted to the screen by Charles Brabin, its director; Willard Mack, author of "Kick In," "Gang War," "Common Sin" and other plays, and Wanda Tuchock.

Thrills of the Kentucky Derby, intimate glimpses behind the scenes in paddocks and in gambling halls are incidental to the love story that runs through the play.

"Transatlantic" comes to this theatre next Thursday for three days, bringing with it Edmund Lowe in the leading role. He enacts a light-hearted, light-fingered gentleman of chance who moves in the best triangles. The lovely Lois Moran is cast in the feminine lead with such screen luminaries as Jean Hersholt, John Halliday, Greta Nissen and Myrna Loy in the other featured roles. William K. Howard directed.

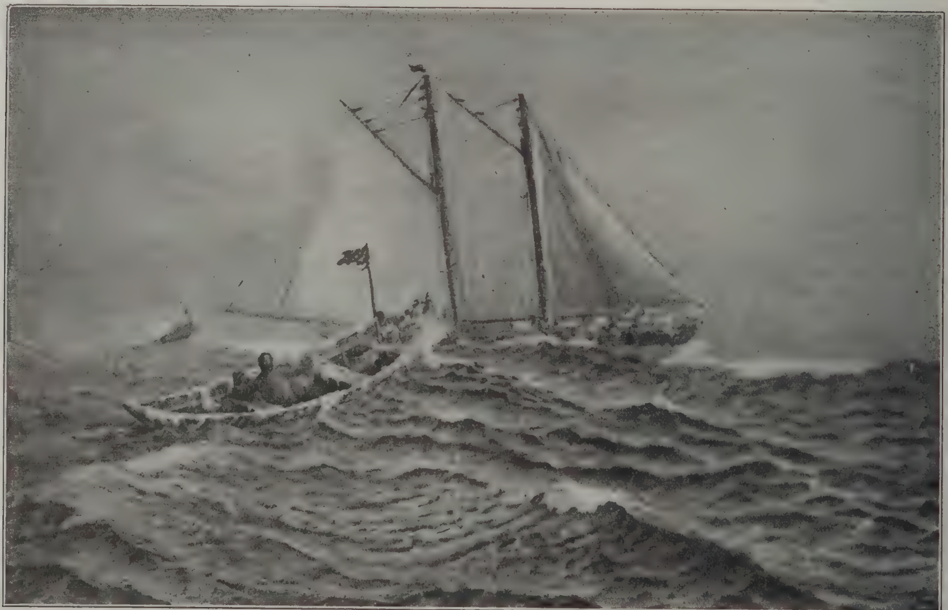
One of the most significant and tremendous novels of American

(Continued on page 24)

THE FISHERMAN'S REST

At Beachbrook Cemetery, West Gloucester—Nearly Three-fourths of an Acre Set Apart as Burial Places for Those Who Have Earned the Title, Gloucester Fisherman

IN THE MORE than three hundred years—308 to be exact—that the fisheries have been pursued from Gloucester upwards of 8,000 men have lost their lives in the pursuit of their perilous calling. Up to a comparatively recent period the greater part of these have literally died with their boots on. Engulfed in the gales which have lashed the Banks and taken toll of fishing craft in fleets and the men in battallions, or astray in their dories on the trackless deep perishing after days of agony and exhaustion, they have met their fate with a courage and devotion rarely equalled in any other line of endeavor. Men going into battle have brought home to them the fact that they may not survive the conflict. That realization has been constantly before the fishermen in the past even in larger measure.



"Saved," an Episode on the Grand Banks in Winter—Two Fishermen Astray from their Vessel Being Rescued by a Schooner Which Happened Along. From a Painting by Gilbert Tucker Margesson, Rockport.

Up to quite recently hardly a family in the community but some of whose male kin lay in unmarked graves in the ocean of whom it could be said:

> "Full fathom five thy father lies,
> Of his bones are coral made."

Happily in late years this fearful loss of life has been greatly minimized, indeed, almost eliminated. Two causes have contributed most to this, the introduction of the gas auxiliary engine and the beam trawler method of fishing. By the use of power a master is enabled to work his vessel direct to windward and pick up any of his imperilled crew in dories on the approach of foul weather, or to cruise closely among them in any direction while hauling their trawls right at hand in an emergency. As the men in a beam trawler are not called upon to leave their vessel this less dangerous form of fishing has eliminated much of these losses. In addition, and of major importance, marine architects have designed a more seaworthy type of hull and rigging. Again the old-time practise of the "two hooker," or handline, Georges fleet, closely huddled on the dangerous shoals of Georges where they have been swallowed in the great storms which have arisen, being virtually entrapped in these shallows, is a thing of the past. From being the most dangerous of occupations, not excepting coal mining, the Gloucester fisheries are now the most secure of occupations. Today a fisherman is far safer at sea than on the highway where speed-crazed maniacs constantly run amuck taking fearful toll of life and limb.

As stated, up to recent times, such were the perils of a fisherman's life that the chances were a thousand to one that he would be drowned in the Bank. If perchance he did survive these perils and passed away on land in the majority of instances without funds—for the fisherman's calling taken year in and out is precarious financially—he was consigned to a pauper's grave. In recent years with the introduction of the life-saving elements alluded to the life of the fisherman has been prolonged to that stage whereby he is retired by reason of infirmity from the sea, oftentimes without money or friends. Helpless, he was consigned to some poorhouse, or worse to a penal institution on a petty charge or misdemeanor. Happily that barbaric custom has gone into the discard, mainly through the efforts of the late Dr. John Dixwell of Boston. Now these men go to the Sailors' Snug Harbor at Staten Island where they spend their remaining days in peace and quiet dignity. Of Dr. Dixwell's efforts The Shore may elaborate in some future issue.

MONUMENT FISHERMAN'S REST

This practise of consigning fishermen to the Paupers' grave aroused the indignation of John Hays Hammond, who thought the community at least owed them a dignified burial. So looking the ground over he, with others in 1911, purchased a large plot in Beachbrook Cemetery at West Gloucester and made a resolve that while he lived no fisherman should be buried in the Potters' field. And this resolve has been lived up to. And this one unsolicited act, of his own initiative shows the real caliber of Mr. Hammond, who has roughed it himself in his day.

Since that time some 62 fishermen including many well known masters in the fleet, men who in their day and generation carried their heads high and brought many remunerative fares around Eastern Point to enrich and bring renown to the city, have found a resting place there. At the head of each grave is a plain, enduring granite stone inscribed with the name and age of the buried man. This place of sepulture is indeed a field of honor. There is no place in this land—no matter how hallowed as the resting place of the brave—where one enters and is imbued with a sense of reverence for men of heroism and fortitude who have not been found wanting, than in this enclosure. To be acclaimed a Gloucester fisherman carries with it no small honor.

In the center of this plot is a large granite boulder on one side of which, smoothed down, an anchor has been carved with the following inscription:

FISHERMAN'S REST
Here lie
Brave Toilers of the Sea
Sleep Undisturbed
God's Peace
Be With Thee

It is evident that as time goes on more and more there will be a demand for such use. Accordingly additional ground adjoining the lot, making it all one section, has been secured for the future, making altogether about two-thirds of an acre.

Now this enterprise is carried on without funds. Yet the pronouncement of its sponsors is "No fisherman shall be buried in a Pauper's grave." So when occasion arises a tarpaulin muster is made for the necessary expense and Mr. Hammond, Col. John W. Prentiss and others have cheerfully given that the objects of the founders of this enterprise may be fulfilled.

There have been drives and drives which have mulcted the people of this city—most of which have been open to question as to urgent necessity. But here is an enterprise to which all friends of the fishermen at home and abroad may well give consideration. An endowment fund purely for the purpose of providing for this object should be subscribed and placed in a safe institution the income of which shall be used for the purpose of this worthy work. In the future we urge all benevolently inclined to give this object preference above all others. Right here let it be said that no one connected with this enterprise draws a cent in salary or remuneration of any kind.

The government of this foundation

(Continued on page 21)

Del Monte's
On the North Shore
Magnolia,
Mass.

New Casino Opposite Norman's Woe. Commanding the Finest View on the North Atlantic—Ample Parking Space.

DANCING EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
With DEL MONTE'S FAMOUS ORCHESTRA

For Reservations of Tables—Phone Magnolia 590
A la carte J. P. Del Monte, Proprietor and Manager

TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE DISTINCTIVE MAGNOLIA

MAGNOLIA

AT THE MAGNOLIA BEACH Club, members find themselves busily engrossed in crowding all the activity possible and taking advantage of all the many offered opportunities as the season draws to a close.

Anne Stevens of Magnolia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stevens, held on Monday a charming luncheon for six of her young friends at the club.

Mrs. Borden Covel gave on Tuesday a delightful luncheon at the club for a group of five of her friends.

On Wednesday under the leadership of Miss Louise Fessenden and Mrs. Samuel Stevens, sports were enjoyed by the children on the beach.

Today the swimming races will consist of open diving for every one, and races by the various groups as follows: Senior girls—fifty-yard race, free style, fifty yard breast stroke; Senior boys, the same; Junior girls—Twenty-five yard free style and breast stroke, and form contest; Junior boys, the same. The Senior Midgets will hold a twenty-five-yard breast stroke race and a form contest. The first and second prizes will consist of loving cups, the third a medal.

Recent guests at the Club include: Rosemary Smith of Winchester, guest of Marianne Morrill; Peggy Anderson, Valley Forge, guest of Marianne Morrill; Mr. and Mrs. H. Livingston Rowe of Cleveland, guests of E. Prescott Rowe; Charles Read, Manchester, guest of James Todd; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Painter of Pittsburgh, guests of Mrs. F. K. Ballard; Laura Wood of Cambridge, guest of Harriet Boyd; Eleanor Sayre of Cambridge, guest of Harriet Boyd; Dorothy Scranton of West Newton, guest of J. E. Esson; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scranton of West Newton, guest of J. E. Esson; Catherine and Helen Cummings of Chicago, guests of J. E. O'Connell; Marjorie Smith of Worcester, guest of W. H. Coolidge; Howard L. Young and Richard A. Young of St. Louis, guests of W. H. Coolidge.

Recent arrivals at the Oceanside include: Anne Lawless, Mrs. Cartright, Mary E. Prim, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hornblower, Florence D. Emerson, Mrs. Ruth Batchelder, Mrs. C. Symmes, Boston; Mrs. William C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Baldwin, Brookline; Mrs. Charles A. Morse, Chestnut Hill; Marie Bourneff, Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Bray, Newton; Mrs. S. E. Bentley, Walpole; Virginia Hodder, Framingham; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wolfendon, Attleboro; Fred B. Williams, Chatham; Mrs. E. A. Shuman, Marblehead Neck; Frances Drake, Andover; Dr. Alfred A. Fenton, Dr. Edward E. Dennen, Norwood; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sheehan, Conn.; Irene Jonas Windblein, Philip J. W. Corn, Daniel B. W. Corn, Mrs. J. A. Smith, J. Gautinanovitch, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Berry, Charles O. Reis, Walter Roudin, George D. Cowdley, Mrs. R. B. Tweedy, F. A. Davis, H. Dunlay, E. W. Oeckler, L. Rouff and family, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Peck, New Rochelle; Ruth E. Nelson, Woodlawn; Mr. and Mrs. George Sylvester Viereck, Mrs. F. H. Figsby, James Hardiman, Ossining; William J. Settle, Kew Gardens; Muriel E. V. Davies, Flushing; Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Hornbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Erickson Perkins, Jr., Rochester; Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Mrs. A. K. Black, Jr., Andrew V. Landell, Alexander Laughlin, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Painter, Jr., Pittsburgh; Harry E. Blair, Mrs. Edward Starr, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Allán Snowden, Ambler; Miss E. H. Wesson, Orange; E. H. Lewis, Mt. Holly; M. Thiribance, Paterson; Col. and Mrs. Edward B. Clark, Washington; Mrs. Richard S. Culbreth, Mary R. Snowden, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Chamberlain, Virginia; Eugene M. Heimerdinger, Louisville; R. T. Kemp, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Clerikew, Minneapolis; Mrs. H. W. Osborn, Mrs. S. H. Moore, Cleveland; Mrs. Ernest Barott, Wertha Allan, Montreal; Mrs. George A. McCook, Pasadena.

At Hesperus Villa recent arrivals include: Mabelle E. Nervins, Boston; Eleanor Chopin, Springfield; Neddy Curtis, Martha Eschmann, Milton; Mrs. J. J. McCloy, Hastings-on-Hudson.

Recent arrivals at the North Shore Inn include: Mrs. L. R. Reibe, Brookline; Madelyn Duffy, Haverhill; Nellie Dickey, Manchester; Mrs. G. E. Barber, Bethlehem; Mr. and Mrs. H. Browner, Angie De Young, Phil Lyon, New York City; Mrs. Andrew W. Bray, Old Zionsville; W. Coyle Cochrane, Pittsburgh.

Week-end guests include: Agnes Patrick of Stoughton; Anne A. McBride, Newton; Mrs. Annette E. Hennessy of Boston.

Events at the Inn the past week include the readings given by Miss Godel, astronomical palmist of Boston. On the 20th the second of the series of lectures was given by Beatrice Gardner Montaigue on contract bridge. The 21st and 22nd saw the shows produced by the Little Theatre Players of Magnolia, which played to capacity audiences both nights.

Del Monte's

The season is destined to come to glorious close at Del Monte's, judgin from the throngs of North Shore society that filled the casino last week Parties for dinner, luncheon and tea have been giving Del Monte's a rus that would be unusual at any time, bu because of the conditions everywher this summer are particularly so. Depression may affect business everywhere but a place which caters so obviously to those epicurean in thei choice of entertainment continues to attract those whose standards in entertainment never change.

Among those recently entertaining at De Monte's were: Mrs. A. G. Leonard of Eastern Point with a party of twelve; William Harma of Bass Rocks, party of nine; Miss Ethel Donahue of the Ocean House, Swampscott, party of ten; Joseph J. O'Connell of Magnolia party of eighteen; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bigelow of Magnolia, party of ten; George Brown of Salem, party of eight; Calvin Favorite of Bass Rocks, party of six; C. A. Pointer, Jr. of Magnolia, party of ten; Robert Martin of Magnolia, party of ten; William Pihlircrant of Chestnut Hill, party of eighteen; Mrs. John Flint of Manchester, party of four; Mrs. J W. Busk and Miss Louise Fessenden of Coolidge Point, party of twenty-two; Mrs. Francis P. Sears of Hamilton, party of twenty-six E. P. Frost of Rockport, party of six; Mrs J. Harrington Walker, party of four; Emily Stewart of Bass Rocks, party of ten; E. B Kitfield of Magnolia, party of seven; H. V Smith of Magnolia, party of twelve.

OSCAR ANDERSON'S EXHIBIT

An exhibition of paintings by Oscar Anderson is now on display at the Horticultural Hall in Manchester. The display opens on Saturday, August 29, and will continue through until September 3, and the hours will be from 10 to 6 on week days and from 2 to 6 on Sundays.

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO THE OPENING OF AN EXHIBITION OF PAINTINGS
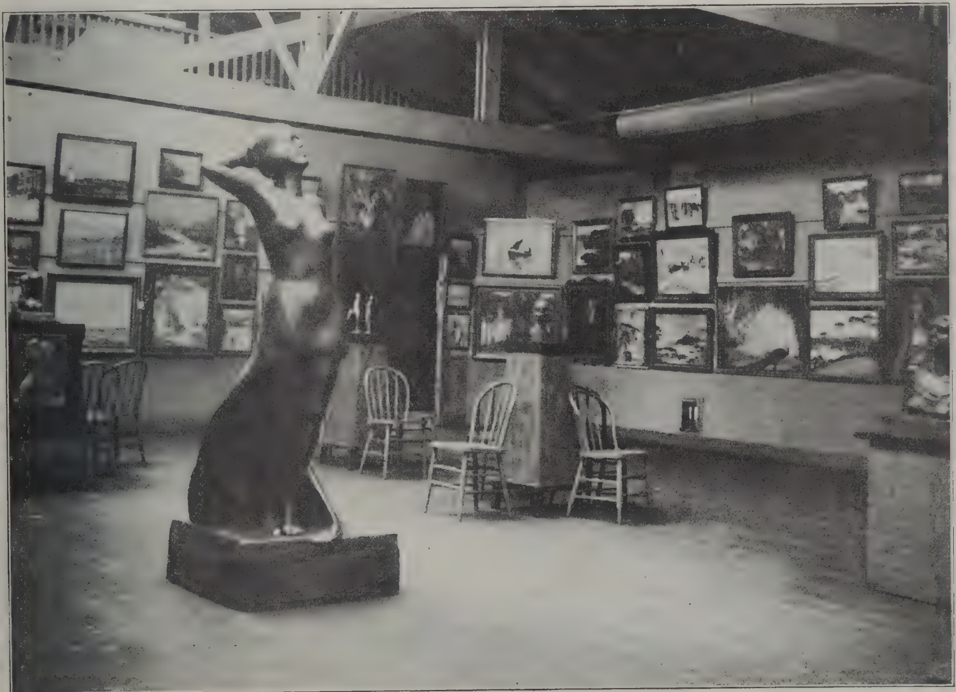
By OSCAR ANDERSON
Horticultural Hall, Manchester, Mass. SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1931
From 2 to 6 P. M.
Exhibition Open Until September 3 Inclusive Hours, Weekdays 10 to 6, Sundays 2 to 6

EAST GLOUCESTER

THE SEASON draws to a close with the hotels and cottages well filled at East Gloucester for the remaining weeks of the summer and early fall. With promises of pleasant weather for a long time head even yet, the summer guests are till planning activities, crowding much xcitement into the remaining days.

At the Rockaway recent guests include: G. . Sterm, J. Y. Lane, Beatrice F. Smith, Alice ustin, Boston; Alfred Cramer, 3rd, Cambridge; Samuel Boote, Revere; Mr. and Mrs. ohn W. Brown, Mary Early, Grace C. Coffey, Vorcester; E. W. Peacock, Nashua; Mr. and rs. Albert C. Rill, Wethersfield; Allan T. McKay, Danbury; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wright, Hartford; Barbara Kernish, Clark Mills; Elsie K. Luker, Ruth O'Hargan, Rose O'Hargan, Nora L. Crowly, Mrs. George W. Willard, Agnes Sheffield Porter, Dr. and Mrs. Drogin, Mrs. Schnall, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Reimer, Paul Desirens, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Dean, Shrewsbury; Beatrice K. Poulton, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hecht, Louise Hecht, Elizabeth and Marcella O'Toole, Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Albertson, Bronxville; Mrs. L. G. Leete, G. G. Leete, Athens; Carroll Frey, N. M. Wrightson, Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Carey, Philadelphia; Grace I. Freehafer, Germantown; Mr. and Mrs. George H. Denney, Cynwyd; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wycliff, Longmeadow; Mrs. E. M. Black, Marion Black, Pittsburg; Mrs. Marion A. Custis, Eleanor P. Custis, Washington; Helen H. Austin, St. Paul.

Recent arrivals at Hawthorne Inn include: Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Weston, Dr. A. Ehrenfried, Boston; Mrs. Albert Ehrenfried, Jean Ehrenfried, Lillian Morrill, Mrs. John J. McLaughlin, Katherine J. McLaughlin, V. Y. Mullowny and M. M. Mullowny, Brookline; Henry E. Aldrich, Dorchester; Katherine McGrath, Fitchburg; Henri H. Geriyon, Westhampton; Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Wakefield, Weston; Mr. and Mrs. G. Hardy Mitchell, Heaton R. Robertson, Newton Center; D. E. M. Murphy, Lowell; Mrs. C. L. Smith, Anna M. Smith, Salem; A. B. Waterman, Bangor; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morison, Priscilla Morison, Burlington; Mrs. E. N. Ohl, Providence; Mrs. L. C. Warthen, Greenwich; S. D. Revere, Westfield; J. King Goodrich, Carlisle; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Coughlin, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Knowlton, Rye; A. M. Steenken, Saugerties; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Crane, Utica; Mary J. McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Howland, Mrs. J. C. Grote, George C. Grote, E. M. Howell, William A. DeGord, Mrs. Chadwick, Dr. and Mrs. B. T. Tilton, Miss Tilton, Percy L. Atherton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Taylor, Mary T. May, New York City; Mary C. Rice, Edith F. Rice, Mrs. Francis X. Dercum, Katharine B. McGettigan, Philadelphia; Mrs. Hamilton Webb, Mary Webb, Larchmont; A. Jarrett, Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Randall, Haverford; Frank Paulding, Rutherford; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Cutler, East Orange; Mrs. Robert W. Smith, R. S. Smith, Wilmington; Mrs. William A. Hill, Captain and Mrs. F. O. Parker, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Dryden, Mollie Cromwell, Baltimore; Mrs. Menefee Wirgman, Louisville; Mrs. L. E. Brown, L. Everett Brown, Jr., Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Burke, Tonson; Spencer Graves, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Janes, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. C. Stainsby, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. James, Toronto.



EXHIBITION GALLERY OF THE GLOUCESTER ARTISTS SOCIETY, EAST GLOUCESTER

On Saturday night the long anticipated masqued ball given by the help at the inn occurred. About 250 guests and participants were present and prizes in gold were given for the best costumes, which went to Bernice LaPort, who was dressed as the Hawthorne Girl in a unique old-fashioned costume made entirely of menus; to the head waiter, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Crosby, who were dressed as an organ grinder and his lady; to L. Hardy, who went as an American Indian, and to Anne Novak as Eve.

Mrs. Minnie Musgrave, a guest at the inn, gave on Monday a dinner at Baldpate Inn, Georgetown, for a group of friends.

At the Delphine recent arrivals include: Mrs. Radcliffe Lockwood, Binghamton; Edwin V. Snyder, Clarence W. Snyder, Philadelphia.

On Monday the usual weekly bridge occurred and was attended by a large number of guests.

Recent arrivals at Merrill Hall include: Kate McKubin, Boston; Ora I. Maxim, New Bedford; Mrs. H. C. McKnight, Mrs. Rebecca McKnight, Overbrook; J. King Goodrich, Carlisle; Ruth L. Nancy, Jane Gifford, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Logan, Brooklyn; Lydia Rosee, Glosterburg; Margaret G.

(Continued on page 18)

EASTERN POINT

The season is rounding into the sere and yellow stage and now comes the loveliest season in the world, Autumn in seashore, Essex County.

Mrs. F. E. Williamson of Winnetka, Chicago, is a guest of Mrs. S. A. Raymond at the Ramparts.

The tennis tournament for the Rouse cup has been on during the latter part of the week at the courts of Col. John W. Prentiss at "Blighty." Among the players from up the county have been Rev. and Mrs. W. F. A. Stride of Hamilton, Mrs. Alvin Sortwell of Beverly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Murray Kay of Brookline are the guests of Mr. Kay's sister, Mrs. John W. Prentiss at Blighty.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Edward Raymond of Cleveland have been the guests of Mrs. S. A. Raymond at the "Ramparts." Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Raymond arrived Friday for a stay into September.

Guests of Mrs. Groverman Ellis at her Eastern Point summer house have been Mr. Holland Judkins of New York, Mr. Lewis Haight and Miss Florence Haight of Darien, Conn. Messrs. Judkins and Haight officiated as judges at the recently held horse show at Cohasset.

Arthur G. Leonard, Jr., who has been staying with his father at "Druimteac" on the tip of Eastern Point, returned to Chicago this week. His wife and daughter will remain to the end of the season.

Alexander C. Tener and son George of Sewickley and Eastern Point have

(Continued on page 11)

BASS ROCKS GOLF CLUB

On Saturday, Mrs. Frank Nash of Syracuse gave a luncheon and bridge at the Bass Rocks Golf Club.

Miss Prentice of Washington, who is summering at the Thorwald, gave on Friday at the club a delightful tea and bridge for a number of friends.

On Monday the customary weekly bridge was held under the auspices of the ladies' committee of the club and was attended by an unusually large number of guests.

Miss Kate Ellis of Boston held on Tuesday a charming bridge and tea for several friends at the club.

A large and delightful bridge and tea was held by Mrs. Helen Russell on Wednesday at the club.

On Friday Mrs. Case of Englewood, New Jersey, held another bridge and tea.

Miss Isabel Neff of Cincinnati is holding today at the club a tea and bridge for a number of friends.

At the Moorland recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Whitney, A. Borrul, Boston; Z. W. Coombs, Worcester; D. L. Munroe, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. A. Weaver, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gray, Garden City; Mrs. Peter Graham, Mary Graham, Chestnut Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Stanford K. Runyan, Elizabeth Bristol, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, East Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot G. Pierce, Philadelphia; Mrs. John H. Nickerson, Betty Nickerson, Pittsburg; W. G. Pierce, Jr., Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Minard, F. A. Ketcham, Hackensack; Mr. and Mrs. George L. Schaffer, Little Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Butcher, Toronto; J. W. Schumate, U. S. N.

Bathers should exercise especial care at this time, when the surf and undertow is running strong. Good Harbor and Long Beach after a storm have their dangers.

THE ROCKPORT SHORE

At Straitsmouth Inn recent arrivals include: K. M. Sullivan, A. G. Sullivan, M. F. Sullivan, Adeline C. Ratigan, Rosalind Kempton, Carrie L. Williams, Boston; A. Elizabeth Morse, Hazel Curtiss, Almira Newcomb, Brookline; Nathaniel E. Griffin, Cambridge; Mrs. G. E. Howe, Waltham; Mrs. John A. Blackwood, Concord; Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Thompson, Dorothy Thompson, Newton; Marjorie Miller, Pittsfield; W. B. Pratt, Wellesley Hills; Katharine H. Burell, Wellesley; Mrs. Alvon R. Ballard, Emma P. Fenner, Fall River; Mrs. L. B. Prior, New Haven; Harriet E. Alpaugh, Dover; Kenneth Robbie, Plainfield; Irma S. Finley, Providence; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fion, Scarsdale; Helen Bond Crane, Edna V. Hallard, Albany; Mrs. C. B. Allen, Brooklyn; Una Sawyer, Buffalo; Lenore Briant, M. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kaufman, New York City; Isabel Peck, Lynchburg; Ellen S. Wernes, Pottsville; Anna B. Pratt, Clara Sonberg, Philadelphia; Helen C. Woty, Lancaster; Francis C. Ferris, Haverford; Mrs. O. Gabel, Annandale; Katharine C. Burall, East Orange; James S. Carpenter, Charleston; Edna G. Valpey, Detroit; Bertha Inglis, A. B. Inglis, Denver; Mr. and Mrs. R. Moran, Cincinnati; Mrs. L. W. Trillcock, Bertha L. Tomblyn, Toronto.

At Glen Acre recent arrivals include the Misses Florence and Sarah Nightingale, Montreal; Lucy S. Taintor, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Spurgeon, St. Albans; Mr. and Mrs. John McAllister, Long Island.

At the Rockemere Manor recent arrivals include: Mabel E. Houghton, Boston; Ella J. Gleason, Worcester; Louise Arnold Kelly, Beverly; M. R. Tenson, Mrs. Oscar Read, Miss Chester, Miss Thompson, New York City; Marie E. Babcock, Mt. Vernon; Elva M. Benson, Patterson.

At the Manning House recent arrivals include: Edith M. Gledhill, Skowhegan; Marie D. Perozo, Brooklyn; Maud G. First, Providence; Frances L. Davidson, Mary E. S. Davidson, Charles Davidson, Bernard Glueck, Ruth Glueck, New York; Laura K. Pollock, Washington; Florence Haze Hine, St. Louis.

Recent arrivals at the Granite Shore Inn include: Miss Senny, Miss Gordon, Ann Hart and sister, J. Buckley, John A. Tansch, Martin Luther, T. Mainini, Boston; Catherine Coughlin, Haverhill; Lucy Gardener, Anne Lyons, Dover; M. W. Sweetser, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Schenck, Southbridge; M. Menahan, Brooklyn; Helen A. Sachnoff, Brooklyn; Florence M. Sloat, Eunice Raesles and aunt, Mrs. Mabel Ingalls, Alice Callam, New York City; Mrs. R. H. Cobb, Atlanta; C. Henry, Kansas City; Julian Lamar, St. Louis.

ANNOUNCEMENT ! !

Mr. William B. Tetamore, formerly with Richard Briggs, Inc., and Ovington's, announces his return to Magnolia for the month of September. He will display as usual with Walpole Brothers, on Lexington Avenue, and will have a most attractive and interesting line of China, Glass and Novelties.

Mr. Tetamore is to be congratulated upon his new connection as Vice-President of Cooley's, Inc., who are the oldest China and Glass decorators in New England. Here you will find both Old and New Patterns, as well as interesting Novelties for Christmas and Wedding Gifts.

The House of MANAHAN

MAGNOLIA
BRANCH SHOP

FALL FASHIONS

Featuring Women's and Misses'

Charming Day Frocks

Afternoon and Evening
Dresses

Beautiful Wraps—Coats

Fine Furs Exquisite Hats

FASCINATING APPAREL

For the School and College Miss

280 BOYLSTON STREET
BOSTON

EASTERN POINT

(Continued from page 10)

returned from a month's cruise in their yacht Tyrone down the coastline of Maine and the Maritime provinces.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinley J. Tener and three daughters, Mary, Elizabeth and Anne of Sewickley, have arrived at the summer home of their mother, Mrs. George Evans Tener for the remainder of the season. Mr. J. Thorpe Nesbitt has returned from a fishing trip in Canada and has rejoined his family at the Tener residence.

At a birthday tea given in honor of Miss Miriam Bass at the Old Mill, Rockport, Friday, among the guests present were Mrs. Richard Woodbury and Miss Wilhelmina Woodbury of Eastern Point.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Margaret Farrell of Eastern Point, the grounds surrounding the Church of St. Anthony are undergoing extensive improvements. Swinson Brothers have been given the contract to do the work which will include the grading and planting of the surrounding land. Much has already been done and in the fall attractive hedges will be placed about the grounds as natural and beautiful boundaries and decoration.

ANNISQUAM

Rev. Davis W. Clark gave a largely attended party of little ones Friday in honor of the birthday of his granddaughter, Alicia Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Redmon Clark at his summer home in Arlington street.

Mrs. J. D. Distler gave a small tea at the summer home of her mother, Mrs. Henry A. Wise-Wood at "Sheeprocks," Thursday.

Miss Alice Lawton of Boston was the week-end guest of Miss Margaret Fitzhugh Brown at her studio residence "Crow's Nest" in River road.

Miss Polly Marden and Mr. and Mrs. S. Leslie Tattersall of Princeton, N. J., and Arthur Dean of New York City have been house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Cook at the Mill on the Causeway. Week-end guests have been Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewitt also of Princeton.

LANESVILLE AND THE ROWLEY SHORE

General and Mrs. Adelbert Ames of Lowell are again at their Bay View summer home for the season. They are among the oldest of the summer colony in residence here, Mrs. Ames coming here with her father, Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, in the early seventies.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles T. Baylis of Brooklyn, N. Y., are expected in September at their summer cottage, "Rockledge Camp."

Mr. and Mrs. W. Blood of Winchester are at "Strangman Cottage," Rowley shore, for another season.

Mrs. R. Conovan of Philadelphia is again spending the summer months at Folly Point.

Dr. and Mrs. Albert K. Huckins of Winchester with their three children are at the "Strangman Cottage," Bay View, for another season.

Miss Ellen B. Laight of Salem is at Folly Point for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Marshall and family from Jamaica Plain have recently arrived from a vacation in New Hampshire and are planning to spend the remainder of the season at Bay View.

Miss Nellie Potter of Portland is again at the Cove for the summer months.

Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Pulsifer of Lowell are at their cottage, "Redgates," for an August stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ames Stevens of Lowell are at "Brothers Cottage" at Bay View again this summer.

Dr. and Mrs. William F. Strangman and family of Salem are again at Bay View, Rowley shore, for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. White of Montclair, N. J., are spending another season at their Lanesville summer home.

Mrs. J. Southgate Yeaton of Baltimore is spending the season with her son and daughter, Prof. and Mrs. William D. Hoyt, of Lexington, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle E. Sanborn of Detroit are enjoying the season at the Dennison cottage.

Miss Anne McDonough of Philadelphia is at the Carter House for the summer.

Benjamin H. Bicknell of Malden is spending the summer at Lanesville.

(Continued on page 14)

Notice to Water Takers

THE EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS imposed on the use of water last season on account of scarcity are removed. The usual rules are now in force.

The Water Board is pleased to announce that the Alewife Brook Water Basin, begun last summer, was completed in January and was filled to capacity within two months. While there is ample supply in storage in the four water basins, the Board wishes to caution against needless waste.

The Board takes this opportunity to express its thanks to the summer residents and citizens for their very general response to their request for economy in the use of water. This co-operation materially helped a very serious situation.

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS OF CITY OF GLOUCESTER.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

"It's the man from the Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning," called Phil.

"All right," called Marcia, "I'll be right down!" Then in a moment, "That's all right, Phil, I don't need to come down. Just give him that upholstered chair that Bud spilled the ice-cream on. They'll fix it all right."

"Which one?" Phil with male helplessness gazed vaguely around the living room.

"The lovely one that we bought at the North Shore Furniture Store, Phil, over by the window."

"Go ahead down, Marcia, I'm all right," said Anne. "You don't have to spend the rest of your life taking care of me."

"No, it's all right," announced Marcia firmly. "You're spending your last day in bed, and I'm going to see that you don't sneak out."

Anne laughed. "Were you surprised?" she asked curiously.

"At you and Jack getting married tomorrow, you mean? I should say not. While we were in the mountains Jack talked of nothing but you, and when were we going home, and yes, the mountains were lovely but he liked the shore much better, until we were all laughing at him."

Anne sighed and stretched. "Weren't we all lucky, though, not to be killed in that accident. That would have been so disconcerting. Not to have even had a chance to let the others know that we were planning to be married. Think, how tragic!"

Marcia glared at her. "Well, that should be a lesson to you to avoid secrets in the future," she remarked. "And now, it's time for your medicine. You're not exactly the one to be joking about getting killed, Anne," she added. "I never was so frightened in my life as when I saw you." She shuddered at the memory of it.

"Well, I hope tomorrow hurries, if you're possessed not to let me up today," said Anne. "I wanted to go to Magnolia and get some things for my trousseau. I feel perfect, Marcia. Let me go this afternoon!"

"No!" shouted Marcia and poured out the medicine.

They were interrupted by the unceremonious arrival and stage whispers of the Clan downstairs. "Oh, come on, Phil, let us go up and see her anyhow," from Peggy. "I want to show her some things I bought in Gloucester this morning."

"Sure! Come on up!" cried Anne before Marcia could stop her, and Peggy, Bud, Bob, and Chubby rushed by Phil and up the stairs.

"Look, Anne!" cried Peggy, before any one else had a chance to speak. "Look at the darling souvenirs I bought today at W. G. Brown's!"

She dropped an armful of articles on the bed. They were well worthy of her excitement. A little mending kit of tooled leather, an autograph book with the same leather covers, both having designs of harbor scenes with boats and trees and water, a tiny purse with an Indian design, and one with a pine cone design, a small hat brush in a leather container, a cigarette lighter with a band of designed leather for decoration, a unique Triton's horn, a manicure set of mother-of-pearl, a small compass in a leather container, a key ring and holder of leather, an attractive wood print of a full-masted boat, a barometer and thermometer mounted on a square of leather—all marked with Gloucester, and all equally attractive—called forth much comment and praise from the enthusiastic group.

"And that isn't representative of half of what they have at Brown's," enthused Peggy. "There are ever so many more things. I'd like to have bought them all."

"They're darling," sighed Anne. "Oh, I wish I could get in town to get some before they're all gone," she glanced at Marcia who was serenely and exaggeratedly oblivious of the remark.

"Did you get that prescription filled at Wetherell's?" she asked Peggy.

"Chubby did," furnished Chubby. "Here you are."

"And what else did Chubby get a Wetherell's?" asked Anne, cruelly.

"Nothing, fair maid," retorted Chubby. "Although if it would make you very happy, I'd inform you that I had

KEEP COOL with CRYSTAL

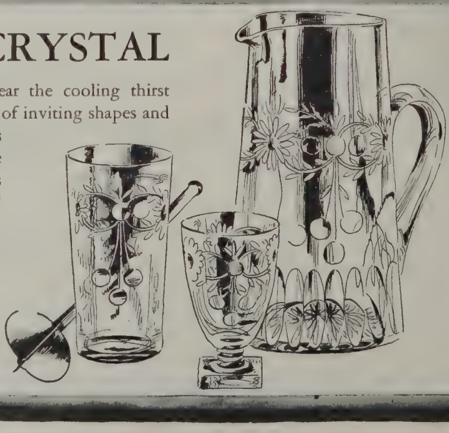
CRYSTAL clear and cut crystal, crystal to bear the cooling thirst quenchers of summer, crystal in a new array of inviting shapes and sizes and prices—is gathered at Ovington's summer shop. Representatives are pictured. The engraved crystal pitcher holds 2 quarts and costs $6. (The silver plated swizzler is $3.) Highball glasses, $11 a dozen. Cocktail glasses, $10.



OVINGTON'S

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA, MASS.
FIFTH AVE. at 39th STREET, NEW YORK recently finished a peach ice-cream soda at Barker's and perhaps that accounts for it."

"And how many sundaes at Trowbridge's? Come on, Chubby, come clean with the rest," persisted Anne.

"Well, both Peggy and I did manage to do away with one apiece, feeling a little eleven o'clockish," Chubby admitted.

"Well, you're lucky to have a chance," said Anne. "What else did you buy today?"

"Oh, Chubby, you forgot to bring up the ice-cream we bought for Anne," cried Peggy. "Hurry down and get it before it melts!"

"No danger," said Chubby. "I bought it at Towle's and they pack it in dry ice. It stays cold and hard for hours."

"Gay and Jimmie are still in town," remarked Peggy, after Chubby had returned with the ice-cream. "They're buying out the place. Gay made Jimmie spend a fortune in Earle O. Phillips', telling him that he looked like a tramp to her and that she was usually lenient. Oh, it was awfully funny. You should have been there. Jimmie said he didn't need any more clothes and Gay said, haughtily, that there were very few people who didn't need Earle O. Phillips' clothes and the sooner men realized it, the better dressed the men of the world would become."

"Oh, I wish I'd been there," laughed Anne. "Oh, Peggy, did you get your coffee percolator?"

"Oh yes, in the Gloucester Electric Co. A lovely one, and I stocked up with Kybo coffee at the First National right away."

"I don't see but what you look fine, Anne," remarked Chubby. "Come on and get up and we'll all go over to Magnolia this afternoon."

Anne groaned. "Oh Chubby, if you'll rescue me from this guardian angel, I'll come gladly," she cried. "Try to persuade her, Chub, I can't."

"Well, I wish Jack would come over, that's all I wish," said Marcia. "He'd see that I was doing the right thing." And as if in answer to her prayer, Jack was suddenly bounding up the stairs.

"And how's the invalid?" he demanded of Marcia. "She certainly doesn't look much like one." And in spite of Marcia's protests he insisted that if she felt like it, Anne should be allowed to get up that afternoon. And that's how it happened that early in the afternoon they were all on their way to Magnolia.

As they drew up at Lexington avenue, Peggy surprised them all by announcing that William Tetamore who was formerly with Richard Briggs and Ovington was returning to Magnolia for the month of September. He was going to display with Walpole Brothers and had a most interesting and attractive line of China, glass, and novelties.

The first stop on the Avenue was at Mrs. Paige's gallery up over the library building. Here they found Mrs. Paige arranging new pieces for the Florentine work of which she makes a specialty. She explained that she had sold a great deal of this for bags and English crickets. Anne was enraptured by a beautiful China crepe shawl and immediately suspecting some romantic background, implored Mrs. Paige to tell them where it had come from. Anne was right. The shawl was one of the six two thousand dollar shawls that had been so widely discussed in the papers after the Civil War. The shawl had belonged to Mary Lincoln herself, given her by Abraham Lincoln, and was on sale at Chicago when Mr. and Mrs. Paige were taking their wedding trip through the Western States. Mrs. Paige, a young girl of nineteen, was captivated by it, and her husband, although this was quite an expensive present for any young bride, bought it for her.

From Mrs. Paige's they went to Ovington's and here the new collection of carved semi-precious stones enchanted them all. There were Chinese figures carved very delicately in the finest of jade and mounted on teakwood and rose quartz. A bottle of amethyst quartz on a teakwood stand was a lovely thing,

(Continued on page 19)

"THE TROUSSEAU HOUSE OF AMERICA"

Grande Maison de Blanc

538-540 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

MAGNOLIA, MASS.

Table Damask
Fancy Table Linen
Lace Dinner Cloths
Bed Linen and Spreads
Blankets and Comforters
Bath Towels and Rugs
Towelings

Handkerchiefs and Neckwear
Lingerie and Negligees
Infants' and Children's Wear
Blouse and Top Dresses
Sport Coats and Sweaters
Purses and Bags
Motor Rugs

It is understood by our patrons that our Magnolia Prices are identical with those in our New York Shop

Patrons will receive the personal attention of

Mr. RAYMOND BROWN

Resident Manager

Telephone 459 Magnolia

LANESVILLE

(Continued from page 11)

Miss Mary E. and Mrs. Rebecca V. B. Conway of Philadelphia are enjoying a summer at Bay View.

Mrs. C. F. Carpenter of Boonton, N. J., is at Folly Cove for the season with her three children.

Miss K. Holmquist of Newhope, Penn., is enjoying the season at the "Wharf House."

Walker Hancock, well-known New York sculptor, is spending the summer months in Lanesville.

William McLean of Montclair, N. J., is enjoying a summer at the Griffin cottage.

Miss Lillian Newman of Detroit is at Folly Cove for the summer.

Walter O'Hara of Jamaica Plain is spending the season at Plum Cove.

J. Harry Walker of Waban is again at the Rowley Shore this summer.

Mrs. Whitman J. Ware of Boston is enjoying the summer at her cottage in Hutchins court.

VINE STREET—RIGGS POINT

Mrs. William M. McQuesten and family of Lawrence have made the old Thomas Riggs house, one of the oldest on the Cape, their summer home. Mrs. McQuesten is a lineal descendant of the first Riggs, first schoolmaster and writer of shorthand and fifth town clerk. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Swett and small child of West Hartford are with them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler and son of Lawrence are spending the season at the Music Hall Cottage, Vine Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wheeler of Sherborn, N. Y., are enjoying the summer at Vine Street again this season.

Miss Grace Baker of Cambridge and several of her friends are again enjoying the season at the "Buzz Cottage."

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Doyle of Baltimore with their small son Peter are at Vine Street again this season. With them is their sister, Miss Patricia Greenleaf of Gloucester.

Jerry Houghton and family of Swampscott, who for a term of years have made this locality their summer home, have again passed the heated season at their camp.

John Rogers and family of East Boston have been the occupants of Riverside Camp this season.

James Dempsey and family of Boston were this season's lessees of the Curzon cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Lewis of Providence again made Kosey cottage their summer headquarters.

Daniel Frazier and family of Gloucester, old, long established cottagers in this locality, are here for the summer and into the fall.

Capt. Antone Sears and Capt. Matthew Sears and family of Gloucester have been occupying their respective camps.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Landry came to their camp early in the summer and will make a late stay.

Hollis Lufkin and family of Gloucester have passed another summer at their camp.

Camp Nethema continues to be the home during the season of Newton S. Lane and family of Gloucester.

Capt. Carl C. Young, among the oldest of the cottagers in residence here, and family are established in their camp for a long season's stay.

Mrs. George E. Bailey opened Sunset cottage, her summer home for the past twenty years, the first of July.

MERCHANT'S ISLAND

Old cottagers returning include Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cannell, with Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cannell, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Cannell, and daughter Bertha of Everett.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Knox and daughter Nancy of Medford are again included in the island cottage colony.

Again spending the midsummer season on the island are Mr. and Mrs. William McKie and son William of Malden. With them are Mrs. Thomas Rice of Hartford, and Marion McKie.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Turner and Mr. and Mrs. J. Ennis of Greenwood are among the campers of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rust and Masters Billy and Howard of Malden have enjoyed the delights of the summer at their camp.

Leon Searles, one of the long time cottagers, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Searles and son Harold of Chelsea have spent another summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rounds and daughters Lois and Barbara of Malden were among the cottage contingent welcomed back for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hathaway and son Thomas of Malden have been numbered among the islanders of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William Babson of Malden and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Roberts of North Reading are spending their initial season on the island.

Former cottagers returning to spend the summer here are Harry MacDougall and family of Dedham.

Making a camping stay on the island this season have been Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rogers with daughters Marjorie and Alma, and son Herbert of West Somerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Burns and son Walter of Chelsea have again been numbered among the camp colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Burns with daughters Lois and Barbara of West Medford have made their summer headquarters here.

Thomas Heinze of Dorchester, Parker Spaulding and Archie Mackie of Charlestown have been a trio of campers that have enjoyed life here this summer.

The R. W. Oliver cottage has been occupied this season by William Oliver and family of Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Merchant and daughters Barbara, Louise and Eleanor of Gloucester have passed the summer at the Merchant cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones of West Cheshire, Conn., have been their guests.

Another of the Merchant cottages has been occupied this season by Miss Emma and Howard Merchant of Gloucester, accompanied by Manton E. Merchant of Brooklyn.

Charles Kimball has spent another season on the island.

A Philadelphia family enrolled among this season's cottagers are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henry and daughters Blanche and Phyllis.

THE WILLOWS

William G. Brown and family of Gloucester are as usual passing the season at their cottage fronting the Annisquam and expect to make a late stay.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Brown, Jr., are also occupying their summer home on the river.

Mrs. Ada A. Cobb of Cambridge opened Sea Foam cottage early in the season. With her is Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson, also of the University city.

Mrs. George Mason and family also passed the heated term at Knoll cottage.

M. Francis Buckley, clerk of the Eastern

OCEANSIDE THEATRE MAGNOLIA MASSACHUSETTS

MR. W. ROSING

By arrangement with ROSS THOMPSON

PRESENTS

August 24-25-26-27-28-29

"The Perfect Alibi"

By A. A. MILNE

Tickets may be secured from MISS EDITH ATWATER, Oceanside Hotel

Single Seats, $2.50 -:- Three Performances, $7.00

MRS. EVANS R. DICK, JR., Managing Director

District Court, and Joseph McPhee of Gloucester will make a late fall stay at their cottage.

William Reblin and family of Lynn, who for the past ten years have made their summer home here, were again the season's occupants of their cottage.

Another Cambridge family in this cluster of cottagers who make their midsummer home here comprise Walter Gowey and family.

Among the cottage settlement are Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Dewing of Auburndale, who will make the season's stay.

Austin Reblin and family of Everett are as for several years past occupying one of the smaller Brown cottages.

Dr. John Nash and family of Wrentham have been the occupants of the Willows cottage during the summer.

Star cottage has been occupied by Miss May Watson and a group of young women from Lynn.

GOOD HARBOR BEACH

Late arrivals at Good Harbor Beach Inn: Mrs. Marion K. de Collarte, Lucia Collarte, J. C. Hochman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merrits, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crane, Misses Bobette and Airlien Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Gunn, N. Y. City; Lillian Lambert, Amsterdam, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Eliasson, Fairmont, W. Va.; Mrs. A. W. Joslin, Mary Galligan, Mrs. J. Franklin Waters, Boston; Mrs. Lillian M. Summers, Queenie and Pearl Summers, Arlington, N. J.; John M. Rafuse, Lillian C. Robinson, Anna S. Genchon, Mrs. Blema, Robert J. and Sonya Alpert, Douglas M. Sands, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Colburn, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Hall, Marion W. Hall, Brookline; Edith Watson, Marion F. Lane, Mary E. Tully, John R. Watson, Leominster; Bernice L. Stockwell, North Grafton; Florence O. Lundberg, Lowell; Carl Seagrer, Woburn; Mrs. O. M. Canady, Billy Canady, Mrs. Harry Reifenstein, Lillian Reifenstein, Watertown; Mr. and Mrs. Tabor, McIntosh Hite, Dials Hite, Baltimore; Mrs. G. S. Harrison, Mary Harrison, Oakmont, Penn.; Charles W. Coxe, Uniontown, Penn.; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crawford, Concord, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Crowley, Cleveland; Mrs. A. H. Hovey, Springfield; Walter Reed Hovey, Pittsburg; Helen M. Clifford, Allston; Dorothy E. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Woods, Anne and Mary O'Brien, Margaret C. O'Brien, Edith Rainville, Mrs. Blanche Revand, Fitchburg; Mary Alexander, Minerva Baden, Washington; Edith Clement, Garaldine Clement, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Oppenheim and daughter, Detroit; Mary E. Hooper, Danvers; Gretchen E. Stone, Winchester.

THE FAKIRS' BALL—GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS

A unique and unforeseen surprise awaited every one at the annual Fakirs' Ball when at a little after ten o'clock, the grand march having just started, the Hawthorne Inn Casino was plunged in darkness. Flashlights appeared from everywhere, however, and ranging around the room gave a weird and fantastic atmosphere to the entire place that could never have been achieved by all the artists in the world. At eleven they went on again, to be sure, but not before a true impression of being "Twenty Thousand Leagues

(Continued on page 23)

Hornblower & Weeks

ESTABLISHED 1888

Members New York, Boston and Chicago Stock Exchanges

Investment Securities

60 CONGRESS STREET,
BOSTON

42 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK

Chicago Detroit Cleveland Providence Portland Pittsburgh

You are cordially invited
to an
Exhibition and Sale
September Mark Down
Including

Stamped Goods Half Price

Table Linens
Bed Spreads
Bath Towels
Infants' Wear
Ladies' Lingerie
Imported Linens
Bridge Sets
Sofa Pillows
Baby Pillows
Handkerchiefs
Laces
Bags
Towels
Pincushions
Purses
Art Materials
Quilts
Doilies
Etc., Etc.

at the
Public Library Art Gallery
Magnolia, Mass.

M. E. W. PAIGE

NEW YORK, 8 East 48th St.
WASHINGTON, 1211 Conn. Ave.
NEWPORT, R. I.

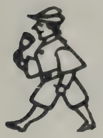
BOSTON, 587 Boylston St.
LOS ANGELES, CAL.
PASADENA, CAL.

A. Schmidt & Son, Inc. IMPORTERS OF

Silver and Sheffield Plate & Fine Porcelains

LEXINGTON AVE., MAGNOLIA
Fine Wedding Presents a Specialty

Telephone Magnolia 408
Christmas Gifts held for December Delivery



TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE PRACTICAL

RIGHT VALUES AND COMPLETE VARIETY ARE TO BE FOUND IN THE SHOPS OF
GLOUCESTER
ENJOY THE PASSING HOUR AND
THE CAPE ANN BREEZE

MIXUP OVER COURSE MARS GLOUCESTER YACHT RACE

GLOUCESTER, August 20—The second in the special series of Thursday afternoon races in the Annisquam Fish Class resulted in a mix-up, owing to a misunderstanding of the course to be sailed, the result being that only two boats sailed the right course, the others being disqualified. The wind was light and baffling, ranging from northeast to southeast.

Blackfish, Roscoe Philbrick	1 43 23
Quinnat, Ben Smith	1 53 00

Disqualified—Sharkie, Hamilton; Sailfish, Charles Hill; Goldfish, J. H. Bloombergh; Navarra, Lyndon Crawford; Flying Fish, A. G. Hale; Pollywog, J. H. Mecham; Perch, Horace Bent; Sea Horse, R. Mechem; Malola, Mary Bradley; Barracuda, Jr., J. D. Worcester; David, David Dennison.

SANDY BAY DAY WINNERS

ROCKPORT, August 21—Seventy-seven entrants participated in the Sandy Bay open race. The wind was light and fluky and unsatisfactory, giving but little windward work. The summary:

CLASS R, 20-RATING, 8¼ MILES

Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	2 14 51
Tabasco V, H. H. Wiggin	2 18 47
Bonnie Prince, J. L. Stuart, Jr.	2 22 25

CLASS I, 18-FOOTERS, 8¼ MILES

Tee Dee, W. V. MacDonald	2 22 47
X, F. Bickford	2 30 32

TRIANGLE CLASS, 8¼ MILES
(Annisquam and Eastern Point)

Bluebill, Horace Bent, A.	2 23 40
Teaser IV, R. R. Smith, A.	2 26 40
Idol, Francis Gleason, A.	2 28 29
Quail, E. W. Merchant, E. P.	2 29 48
Black Bess, J. H. Sleeper, E. P.	2 29 52
Athlon, H. H. Walker, E. P.	2 32 07
Scalene, H. E. Worcester, Jr., A.	2 32 11
Injun, W. T. Gamage, E. P.	2 32 15
Sprite, Margaret Farrell, E. P.	2 32 22
Kitmer II, M. L. Talbot, E. P.	2 32 33
Cursor, W. G. Brown, 3d, E. P.	2 33 12
Flirt, W. D. Elwell, E. P.	2 39 46
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr., E. P.	2 41 39
Mavourneen, G. P. O'Brien, E. P.	withdrew
Triton, Charles Tolman, E. P.	withdrew

CLASS K SONDERS, 8¼ MILES

Skeezix, Harry Wheeler	2 10 04
Lady II, W. V. MacDonald	2 16 00
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	2 19 10
Demon, Charles Liffler, Jr.	2 21 01
Tid III, Mrs. Carlton Swift	2 21 12
Buccaneer, Edward M. Williams	2 22 50
Hevella, Jock Raymond	T. N. T.

STAR CLASS, 8¼ MILES

Sans Souci, John Clark	2 27 33
Ibex, Max Kuehne	2 30 24
Eclipse, Guy Hale	2 32 52
Altair, Pierce and Grover	2 34 24
Star of India, Ralph Hale	2 36 07
Vega, H. S. Evans	2 36 46

BIRD CLASS, 8¼ MILES
(Annisquam and Sandy Bay)

Avis, Walter Olson, A.	2 34 27
Pewee, C. W. Pierce, S. B.	2 44 13
Oriole, Arthur Wendell, S. B.	2 48 21
Ibis, Donald Frost, S. B.	T. N. T.
Flamingo, Paul Woodbury	Dis
Oloof, Evelyn Woodbury, A.	Dis

SANDY BAY 15-FOOTERS, 8¼ MILES

Bobeno, B. C. Story	2 58 54
Maidie, G. Beal	3 02 26
Myrtice A., L. I. Dean	3 03 49

Mamie, John Ciancola, disabled.

PILOT CLASS, 5 MILES

Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	2 06 57
Shirlidee, Johnson Brothers	2 07 50
Onward, Laura C. Cooney	2 10 23

ANNISQUAM CATBOATS, 5 MILES

Kittiwake, J. White	2 08 58
Caterpillar, Benjamin Smith	2 15 33
Scat, Frances Jeffrey	2 32 59
Pussy Cat	2 37 43
Puss-in-Boots, R. Bangs	2 40 36
Katchup, P. Friedman	2 52 22

FISH CATBOATS, 5 MILES
(Annisquam and Sandy Bay)

Flying Fish, Albert Hale, A.	2 05 37
Goldfish, J. Bloombergh, A.	2 08 08
Sailfish, C. E. Hill, A.	2 00 15
Judy, R. H. Lane, S. B.	2 15 25
Minnow, H. C. Gott, S. B.	2 15 14
Snail, Donald Phillips, S. B.	2 18 07
Blackfish, R. Philbrick, A.	2 22 30
Navarra, L. Crawford, A.	2 23 10
Skipjack, C. W. Davis, S. B.	2 24 14
Dab, D. Dennison, A.	2 28 18
Darter, Richard Kuehne, S. B.	2 28 52
Pollywog, J. S. Mecham, A.	2 33 33
Flounder, Thibeault and Perkins, S. B.	withdrew

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS, 5 MILES

Maryland, Meredith Boyce	1 57 38
Mary Bess, Henry Russell	2 02 53
Touareg, L. A. Brown, Jr.	2 05 40
Bemo, C. and E. Bratenahl	2 09 40
Swan, Torrence Baker	2 09 59
Fontana, Emma Raymond	2 10 11
Arethusa, Ellis Brothers	2 21 14
Sylph, Cunningham Bros.	2 24 40
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	2 27 38

HANDICAP CLASS, 5 MILES

Saratog, Benjamin Knudsen	2 36 38
Celeritas II, Reynolds Beal	Withdrew

MORNING AND AFTERNOON RACING OFF ANNISQUAM

GLOUCESTER, August 22—Two races were sailed at Annisquam today, one in the morning and afternoon.

Morning Race
ANNISQUAM TRIANGLES

Idol, Don Gleason	1 11 19
Sayhai, Brooks Stevens	1 11 24
Scalene, Paul Woodbury	1 11 45
Bluebill, Horace Bent	1 12 43

Afternoon Race
ANNISQUAM TRIANGLES

Teaser IV, R. R. Smith	1 33 06
Bluebill, Horace Bent	1 33 30
Idol, C. B. Gleason	1 34 48
Scalene, Paul Woodbury	1 35 03
Sayhai, Brooks Stevens	1 38 20

15-FOOT CLASS

Tabasco, Jr., S. H. Wiggin	1 38 06
Nisan, D. H. Woodbury	1 40 15
Hoorah, H. Sherburne Wiggin	1 43 05

BIRD BOATS

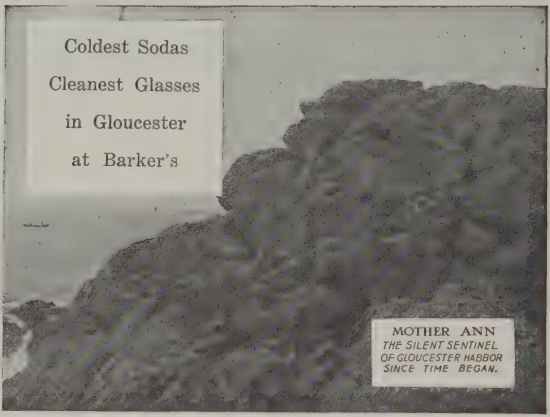
Avis, Norman Olsen	1 06 40

CAT BOATS

Caterpillar, Ben Smith	1 11 13
Catling, Andrew Marshall	1 12 08
Kittiwake, John W. White	1 14 00
Puss-in-Boots, B. Mecham	1 19 30
Scat, Frances Jeffery	1 21 18
Katchup, B. Friedman	1 23 40

FISH CLASS

Flying Fish, A. G. Hale	1 10 16
Goldfish, J. Bloombergh	1 10 28



Coldest Sodas
Cleanest Glasses
in Gloucester
at Barker's

MOTHER ANN
THE SILENT SENTINEL
OF GLOUCESTER HARBOR
SINCE TIME BEGAN.

Barker's Soda Fountain has such a wide reputation for the richness and quality of its Ice-Cream Sodas, Frozen Whipped Cream, College Ices and Specialities, that people come for miles around to get sodas at this fountain.

BARKER'S DRUG STORE, 134 Main Street

Summer Residents of Cape Ann

We Carry the Finest and Best Selected of Summer Footwear in This Locality

SPORT, GOLF, TENNIS and BEACH SHOES

Exclusive Agent for Arch Preserver—Queen Quality Shoes—Imported Deauville Sandals for women and children—Florsheim Shoes for Men—Buster Brown Shoes for boys and girls (Prices reasonable and to your liking). Warner's "Society Maid" Silk Hose 99c to $1.69.

DR. SHOLL FOOT APPLIANCES

Armstrong's Busy Corner

106 Main, Corner Center Street
ESTABLISHED 33 YEARS. TEL. CONN.

CHECKING ACCOUNTS
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS

We Act as Trustee, Executor or Administrator.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

Cape Ann National Bank

"THE SERVICE BANK"

154 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER, MASS.

Blackfish, Roscoe Philbrick	1 12 12
Darb, David Dennison	1 13 20
Sailfish, Charles Hill	1 13 40
Perch, Harry Griffin	1 14 06
Malola, Mary Bradley	1 17 39
Pollywog, B. Mecham	1 17 39
Navarra, L. Crawford	1 18 40

MYRTICE A. TAKES WETTING, BUT WINS SANDY BAY RACE

ROCKPORT, August 22—A northeast breeze of 15 knots, kicking up a saw-toothed sea, gave the Sandy Bay clubs one of the best wet-deck races of the season. The course on the two big classes was a close haul to Andrews Point, all fetching on one hitch; a reach to Straitsmouth and a spinnaker run. Myrtice A. was always out in front, but was hard pressed by Maidie and Mamie. The summary:

SANDY BAY 15-FOOTERS

Myrtice A., Lindley I. Dean	1 38 18
Mamie, John Ciancola	1 34 10
Maidie, Gifford Beal	1 34 28
Bobeno, Benton C. Story	1 35 08

INTERNATIONAL STAR CLASS

Ibex, Max Kuehne	1 28 24
Eclipse, Guy Hale	1 30 25
Vega, Herbert Evans	1 30 27
Sans Souci, Homer Clark	1 30 45
Altair, Pierce and Grover	1 32 15
Star of India, Ralph Hale	1 33 10

PILOT CLASS

Shirlidee, Johnson Brothers	1 03 13
Onward, Laura Cooney	1 04 03
Greenhorn, H. C. Tufts	1 04 38

BIRD CLASS

Pewee, C. W. Pierce	1 02 04
Ibis, Donald Frost	1 06 33

FISH CLASS

Minnow, Herbert Gott	1 07 56
Snail, Donald Phillips	1 08 00
Shiner, G. S. Grace	1 08 05

MIXED CLASS

Saratog, Ben Knudson	0 45 55
Celeritas II, Reynolds Beal	0 59 41

TAJA AND TERN CAPTURE EASTERN POINT EVENTS

GLOUCESTER, August 22 — A moderate northeast wind, holding true throughout, sent the Eastern Point fleet away this afternoon. Four classes jockeyed for the mark. The course for the Sonders, Triangles, and R's, was the regular club outside triangle, a beach reach to the southern mark.

CLASS R

Taja, Charles Liffler, Jr.	1 51 15
Bonnie Prince, Ralph Whelan	1 56 15

SONDER CLASS

Tern, Jacob D. Cox, Jr.	1 54 00
Skeezix, Mrs. Frances M. Carter	1 59 45
Tid III, Mrs. Carlton Swift	2 00 00
Tid IV, Mrs. Groverman Ellis	2 00 34
Buccaneer, E. M. Williams	2 00 48
Demon, Isaac Patch, Jr.	2 01 10
Lady II, Wm. V. MacDonald	2 01 40
Hevella, Jonathan S. Raymond	2 02 03
Vim, J. G. Lewis	2 03 23

TRIANGLE CLASS

Injun, Hastings Gamage	2 08 00
Black Bess, Henry Sleeper	2 08 47
Quail, Epes W. Merchant	2 10 23
Cursor, Wm. G. Brown, 3d	2 13 08
Trident, P. M. Tucker, Jr.	2 13 15
Mavourneen, Gerald O'Brien	2 13 56
Sprite, Margaret Farrell	2 17 20
Kitmer II, Kitty Talbot	2 19 11
Wheenaw, Francis A. Brewer, Jr.	2 24 05

CAPE COD KNOCKABOUTS

Old Ironsides, Jack Raymond	1 13 00
Swan, Torrence Baker	1 16 00
Maryland, Kate Boyce	1 17 00
Bemo, Bratenahl Brothers	1 18 00
Guerriere, Pauline Raymond	1 19 00
Fontana, Millicent Raymond	1 22 00
Sylph, Cunningham Brothers	1 25 30
Arethusa, Ellis Brothers	1 26 00
Touareg, L. A. Brown, Jr.	1 26 10
Skippy, Nancy Tucker	1 26 30
Mary Bess, Henry Russell	Withdrew

SERVE THE BEST
at no additional cost

YOU cannot afford to compromise with the quality of the food you serve in your summer menus. Near your home you will find a First National Store, specializing in quality foods. Come in and give us the opportunity of assisting you in the selection of the best for your table.

COMBINATION MARKETS AT
147 Main St., Gloucester
37 Main St., Rockport

First National Stores, Inc.
Where New England Buys Its Food.

A. P. STODDART & CO.
Established 1876
ENGINEERS AND MACHINISTS
Engine Repairing and Installing
FULLY EQUIPPED MACHINE SHOP
236 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER, MASS.

INSURANCE
ALL KINDS
STRONGEST COMPANIES
JOHN A. JOHNSON
Gloucester National Bank Bldg.
Telephones 16 and 17
Just off Custom House Square

Pringle's History of Gloucester, 1892
The Gloucester Tercentenary Book
ALSO FOUR LOG BOOKS OF DEEP SEA VOYAGES
FOR SALE AT
BLANCHARD'S
125 MAIN STREET -:- GLOUCESTER

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS' THIRD EXHIBIT

On Saturday, August 22, the Gloucester Society inaugurated their third, last, and most extensive exhibition of paintings at their galleries on Eastern Point road. According to custom, a delightful tea was served to the large gathering of enthusiastic artists and laymen who attended. Those who poured included: Mrs. W. J. Little, Mrs. F. L. Stoddard, Mrs. Helen A. Seymour, Mrs. Helen S. Davis.

The exhibition is the largest and most varied that has yet been given by the Society, having some twenty more pieces than the last.

Mrs. Juliett Burdoin with her two contributions, "Dogtown Common," and "Zinnias," has achieved a combination of color and light that is exquisite. Two entirely different subjects, they are done equally well. Louis F. Berneker shows a decorative figure of a girl looking into a swirling ocean that is excellent in treatment. A "Flower Study," broadly painted, by A. V. Persons, is exceedingly well done, showing character and beautiful coloring, while a scene, "Dredging the Harbor," by William Presnal, is a well organized and natural piece. Another sea scene that is well worthy of note is that by Alice Judson who achieves a rare freshness of effect in her sea and atmosphere with a crisp treatment that is high in key, while George W. Bardwell secures a similarly fresh effect in his interesting landscape. W. H. S. Pearce offers a freely painted, realistic landscape, and S. E. S. Brownell has contributed an exquisite still life. Another delightful subject picture, "Butterflies," of a child's head surrounded by butterflies, is contributed by Alice Beach Winter. An excellently done portrait is one by N. Van Hook of "John Embrie," grandson of Arthur Train. Charles Gruppe again contributes one of his magnificent sea pictures in which he has secured a delightfully breezy and forceful effect with his water and moving clouds. Omer Lassonde displays a piece that will interest those of the newer schools in an impressionistic treatment of foreign landscape. A rural bit by A. Moll is very good in its light and shade and color effect. Margaret Fitzhugh Brown, with her "Daughter of Ceres," has added another excellent portrait to the collection for which she has become noted. The portrait is beautifully done of a girl with red-gold hair carrying fruits of the harvest. A freshly colored little "Cottage for Two," by John E. Enneking is interesting, while "In the Harbor," by Courtland Butler is also well worthy of note. Anthony Thieme maintains his repu-

(Continued on page 25)

EAST GLOUCESTER

(Continued from page 9)

Farrell, Cohoes; Harriet I. Kay, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Ely, Mrs. B. G. Feris, Utica; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Cutler, East Orange; Capt. and Mrs. F. O. Parker, Mary P. McKeehan, Washington; Virginia Cutler, M. T. Henderson, Barbara Howe, Nashville.

At the Pilgrim recent arrivals include: Mrs. C. R. Murphy, Brighton; Florence D. Conlon, Mrs. Catherine Conlon, Leominster; Mrs. A. W. Bates, Gladys Bergh Bates, Brooklyn; Grace P. Salisbury, Randall Salisbury, Orange; Helen T. Ekegren, Esther J. Ekegren, Woodcliff; Mrs. H. K. Carey, Dr. H. K. Carey, Philadelphia.

At Cove Villa recent arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Lindwall, Ruth C. Lindwall, Harry G. Lindwall, Beatrice F. Smith, Watertown; M. L. Scheff, Louise E. Larsen, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Michaelson, New York City; Marion Black, Mrs. Edna M. Black, Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Kalsiner, Philadelphia; Mrs. F. J. C. Stark, Peggy Stark, Cynwyd; W. D. Bennett, Washington; Frank Barr, Washington.

CONOMO POINT

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Corey of Auburndale are spending an enjoyable season here.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Burnham of Essex are passing the midseason term at their cottage on the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dickson of West Somerville are established here for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford of Arlington are also numbered among the cottagers on the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Fitzherbert of Wellesley Hills are among the cottage lessees this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Godbold of Arlington are included in this season's roster of cottagers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth of Winchester, who have annually made this locality their summer home for some years, came to their cottage at the first of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ringer of Fall River are former cottagers returned for another season.

Another Winchester family who make the Point their summer home is that of Mr. and Mrs. Kingman P. Cass.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Learoyd from New York are at Conomo Point for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. John Proctor are again enjoying the season at their home on the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison from Somerville are spending the summer at the Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Spencer of Winchester are at the Point this summer.

THE ZONING ORDINANCES!!

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Gloucester have been printed in their entirety and are now ready for distribution at the office of the City Clerk, Allen F. Grant, City Hall. Copies will be mailed on application.

In a general way, all the summer resort areas have been made residential sections only. Six types of districts have been designated, namely: 1, single residence districts; 2, general residence districts; 3, apartment house districts; 4, business districts; 5, light industrial districts; 6, heavy industrial districts.

The ordinances specify in detail the requirements, restrictions, area, regulations, yards and courts, nonconforming uses, district boundaries, accessory uses, automobile services, methods of procedure to obtain building permits, changes, variations, appeals, etc. They are of especial interest to summer resident realty owners.

ALLEN F. GRANT, City Clerk.

Gloucester, July 1, 1931.

THE WICKERSHAM REPORT

(Continued from page 4)

Its decisions coming down monthly are read with interest and serve to heighten the regard in which that august tribunal is held. Not often unanimous, but the opinions on both sides indicate a careful weighing of basic principles rather than quibbling on inconsequential law points. The average citizen now feels that in this body the country is safe. It is to be hoped that its composition may be continued along similar lines—not too radical nor too conservative, but in a wise middle course.

This satisfactory state of affairs in the supreme body has been brought about by judicious criticism which the Wickersham Commission now applies to lesser judicial bodies. Time, not so far away, was when these bodies were considered sacrosant and above criticism and those who dared risked durance vile instanter from outraged judicial dignity. But that thing has passed to the dark ages. Now constructive criticism of the courts is a recognized right.

Here in Massachusetts we have a judiciary appointed for life, the appointees mainly on political grounds and in recent years on race expediency. Whether this works for the best results as compared with an elective system is a question which is being debated more and more. The theory of a permanent appointment is that the judge is in a position to give impartial decisions regardless of popular clamor or the knowledge that at certain intervals he will come up for re-election at the polls.

Nevertheless, it is acknowledged that the permanent appointment plan has its defects. To a man of arrogant and dictatorial temperament such a power may work to the public disadvantage, as it has. In the recent session of the legislature one of these judges was criticized for exercising such power of passing on the merits of a case without according a hearing after a perfunctory statement of counsel. This in effect depriving a citizen of a jury trial contravenes the spirit of English law on which our whole judicial fabric is founded. If the life appointive system of judges is to be continued in this state, then some method must be found to prevent such practices, and, to eliminate by popular election if need be, such men as arrogate to themselves such conceptions of their powers and positions. For the courts belong to the people and judges are their servants, pledged to give a square deal to all.

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

(Continued from page 11)

while two particularly fine pieces were, one Chinese figure, intricately carved in Carnelian, and a jar in the same stone, both teakwood mounted. There were a number of very beautiful covered jars of emerald quartz, and a pair of very pale rose quartz Chinese pheasants mounted on emerald quartz and teakwood bases. Reading glasses, ash trays, cigarette boxes, push-buttons, and many other both useful and ornamental articles were included in the display of malachite, quartz, jade and other semi-precious stones.

The next stop was the Grande Maison de Blanc, and here Anne stopped in ecstasy before the gorgeous display of negligees. "Oh, I must have one of these," she cried, gazing at the beautiful display. There were moire lined with plush that were exquisite in coloring and luxuriously warm, and there were satins with intricate and smart applied embroidery with delicate lace trimming. Then there was every style of underwear and mules in matching colors. In short, Anne felt that she had but to choose and buy and she could be completely equipped by this one store.

Meanwhile, Peggy was giving Gay great jabs in the ribs and making frantic gestures to Phil and Bud behind Anne's back. The main cause seemed to be that the Clan had already purchased a negligee for a gift to Anne. But Anne, although she swore later that she did not see Peggy, decided to come back later for the negligee.

At Manahan's, they found that all the new fall styles in fur coats and chic hats had arrived. A white galapin long evening coat was luxuriously gorgeous. The black caraculs were very smart, and the sportier types of grey and bronze kid caracul with tweed linings were equally so. There were beautiful sables and minks, and there were evening coats of velvet extensively trimmed with mink or sable. One wrap in particular of black velvet with a wide white ermine collar was especially striking and lovely. The hats were for the most part of fine French felt in the prevailing Empress Eugenie and Bowler modes. They came in every color, with olive green and black predominating, and they all were decorated with smart and saucy little quirks of feathers always placed exactly right, always adding just the right amount of chic to the hat.

As they left Lexington avenue, Anne remarked that she would like to stop at the C. F. Poole Shop at Magnolia, and Gay enthusiastically took up the cry. "Oh, there's an exhibition going on there of Margarett Sargent's paintings," she cried. "I've been so anxious to see them."

"And buy them, in spite of what I seriously explained to you about our account at the Gloucester National Bank," laughed Jimmie. Jimmie looked very bronze and handsome in his new white flannels and tan sport sweater, shod in tan and white sport shoes from Armstrong's, and Gay looked from Jimmie to Anne and Jack, remembering two summers before, when she and Jimmie had been in their place. She

Mortons'

BOOKS, STATIONERY, OFFICE SUPPLIES, GREETING CARDS, GIFTS
and
LENDING LIBRARY
6 PLEASANT ST.,
GLOUCESTER, MASS.

(Next to Main Street Waiting Room)

Service With a Smile

"The Tea-room with an atmosphere"
Tempting Salads, Sandwiches and Luncheon Specials
AT OUR FOUNTAIN
REFRESHING DRINKS AND ICES
Home-made Candies and Fresh Salted Nut
Meats prepared on the premises every day
Ice-Cream Packed with DRY ICE will keep four to five hours without ice or salt.
A Delightful Place to Eat.

RANSELLEAR TOWLE
118 MAIN STREET GLOUCESTER

WE OFFER SPECIAL LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING SERVICE FOR SUMMER VISITORS

Cape Ann Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co.

PHONE 524 NOW

Offices and Plants:
8 PARKER ST., - GLOUCESTER

L. E. ANDREWS & CO.

Plumbing and Heating

Kitchen Furnishings, Garden Tools, Prepared Paints, Hardware of all descriptions. Vessel work, Yachting Hardware, Garden Hose, etc.

'Phones 645 and 646

121 MAIN STREET, GLOUCESTER
(Opposite Waiting Station)

Silent Automatic Oil Furnaces.

EARL O. PHILLIPS
Smart Shop for Men
Smart Clothes for Summer Comfort

A. G. SPALDING BROS.'
BATHING SUITS
GOLF BALLS
TENNIS HOSE

HICKOK BELTS
DELPERK PAJAMAS
SUMMER NECKWEAR

ARROW SHIRTS

SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES

ROBER REIS
UNDERWEAR
BATHING SUITS
SWEATERS
GOLF HOSE

EARL O. PHILLIPS, Inc. Smart Shop for Men
PERSONAL SERVICE
131 Main Street, Cor. Hancock, Gloucester, Opposite Barker's Drug Store

For Sixty Years

THIS PHARMACY has been dispensing Reliable

Drugs and Medicines

to the people of Cape Ann. Have you ever given us an opportunity to prove to you our capabilities along the lines of EFFICIENCY and REAL SERVICE? We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage this present season.

The Wetherell Pharmacy

P. O. SQUARE

8909
Cigarette Case
$3.75

Memories
of
Gloucester

TRUE SOUVENIRS of the sea—Bill Folds, Cigarette Cases, and all manner of articles fashioned of tough

TANNED CODFISH SKINS

Unlike any other Souvenir, they serve as a constant reminder of this famous fishing town.

$1.00 to $10.00

W. E. BLANCHARD,
Jeweler
125 Main Street, Gloucester, Mass.

suddenly felt a surge of love for Gloucester and the Clan who would be dispersed so soon, and who had enjoyed so many wonderful summers together.

They finally tore themselves away from the fascinating display of paintings at Poole's.

"I have to stop in Gloucester for a few things," said Jack. "If the rest of you need anything, I'd be glad to get it for you."

"Would you mind stopping at L. E. Andrews' to get me some paint?" asked Gay. "We bought some of that unpainted furniture at the Gloucester Coal and Lumber Co. and I'd like to get it painted before we leave."

"And I'd appreciate it if you'd cash a check for me at the Cape Ann National Bank," said Peggy. "They know you, don't they?"

"Sure," answered Jack, "anything else?"

"Why don't you all come, too?" asked Anne. "We could all go to the movies or something afterwards."

The rest of the Clan looked a little disconcerted, and offered various vague excuses, and Bud finally came to the front with the remark that, "We all know how much nicer it would be for you two to shop togethah. Now go right ahead, and there is a wonderful show at the North Shoah you could go to afterward if you want."

"There's nothing original about that," laughed Anne. "There's always a good show at the North Shore, but we'd love to have you come, too."

But the Clan were not to be dissuaded, and at Morton's Stationery Shop Jack and Anne finally bid goodbye to them and went to Pattillo's to look at curtains.

After leaving Pattillo's, they completed the other errands, ordering ice at the Cape Pond Ice Company, calling for Anne's watch at Blanchard's, and completing some arrangements at L. E. Smith's for a new Silent Flow Oil Burner, and started for home.

"I wonder if Hagstrom came today," said Jack to Anne. "I'm having that driveway fixed, and I forgot they were coming. I knew there was something I should have done today."

"Oh, don't worry," remarked Anne. "They don't need any supervision in the wonderful work that they do. Oh, Jack, let's stop at the Miniature Golf Course at East Gloucester and just play one last round."

Jack thought that they'd better not, was afraid Anne would be too tired, but as they passed the course and it did look so inviting and attractive he could not resist her entreaties, so they stopped for a short time.

When they finished, Anne was happy but really tired, and the North Shore had to be passed up.

Meanwhile at home, Marcia, Phil, Peggy, Chubby, Bud and Bob were busily getting in each other's way as Jack's parlor found itself being transformed into a dream room. Presents, some wrapped and some placed around the room, filled the place, and printed signs of welcome and nonsense covered the walls.

"Oh, she'll love that chinah," sighed Bud before an exquisite display from Mrs. Fred Wallace's shop in Rockport.

"Isn't it lovely?" enthused Peggy. "Now what on earth is this in this big box. Chubby! Come here and help me."

"Don't open it!" cried the giver, rushing over as fast as he could. "That's a box of Gorton's Sea Foods! Leave it the way it is so that they can take it away with them."

"Lovely!" cried Bud. "Oh, Bob, look what Chubby has given them!" And the originality of Chubby's gift was applauded by all.

"That reminds me," remarked Marcia, "Phil, what did you do with that box I gave you?"

East Gloucester
Miniature Golf Course

116 EAST MAIN STREET
18 of the Largest Fairways in New England
NEWEST, MOST UP-TO-DATE

-:- OPENS -:-
Daily at 9 A.M. Sunday at 1 P.M.

FRANK POWLER, Inc.

THE L. E. SMITH COMPANY
Sole Cape Ann Agents for the
Frigidaire, Modern Sanitary Iceless Refrigerator

SILENT FLOW OIL BURNER FOR RANGES
Maytag Washing Machine
Chambers Fireless Gas Range
Plumbing, Heating, Hardware, Lawn Mowers, Garden Hose, Kitchen Furnishings, Etc.

221-223 Main St., 169 E. Main St.
GLOUCESTER

"Right here, I've been trying to open it. What on earth is in it?" Phil emerged from under a pile of wrapping paper.

"Oh, you mustn't open it!" cried Gay. "It's Beach Plum Jelly—jars of it—from the Beach Plum and Bayberry Candle Shop."

"Gay," called Jimmie from a precarious position above the door where he was hanging a sign bearing an adequate inscription. "How about the bayberry candles we were going to have lighted when they came in?"

"Oh, I left them in the yard. Bud, run out to the car and get that box of candles, will you?"

Bud returned, eyes shining. "Oh, that yard!" she exclaimed. "I just feel that Swinson Brothers have been at work out there. The perennials and the evergreens, Oh, they're simply marvelous!" She stood dreamily gazing out of the window.

"Yes, Swinson Brothers were here this afternoon," furnished Marcia. "Where are the candles, Bud?"

"Oh, I forgot!" unperturbed by the shaking heads about her, Bud tripped out to the car again, and in a second was breathlessly standing in the room clutching the candles and trying to talk fast (a well nigh impossible task for Bud). The Clan finally gathered that her meaning was that Jack and Anne were coming.

In an unbelievably short time, the stray paper and string were whisked out of sight, and the candles were burning softly in the darkened, shadowy, attractive room. As planned, Bud was on the porch with Bob to call Anne and Jack over.

Beautifully unsuspecting, Anne and Jack led the way into the house. For a moment surprised silence at the darkness and candle-light. Then realization, a burst of greeting, a flashing up of the lights and excitement and laughter and shouts.

Later, after all the presents had been opened, and the delicious luncheon prepared by the girls had been finished, they were all assembled in the living room again. Jimmie suggested a speech from the bride-to-be. "It's appropriate," he said, "some one ought to make one. Jack and Anne are leaving tomorrow, Gay, you and I are leaving tomorrow, Bud and Bob and Marcia and Phil are going the next day and Chubby and Peggy are leaving tomorrow night. I should say that it was high time some one made a speech."

Anne smiled, and suddenly the entire group was quiet, thinking of the lovely summer, the many past lovely summers, the friendships they had made, and how tomorrow it would all end.

"It's just so sweet of you all," Anne began. "I can't tell you how much it meant. Everything—I didn't even suspect it. The fact that you did it is what makes me so proud." And as Anne stood there facing them, so sincere, so striking, so starry-eyed in her earnestness, the entire group felt a little thrill of exquisite mingled joy and sadness. The season was over, but another was on its way.

And so we leave them, Marcia and Phil, ideal in their year of married happiness; Peggy—plump, affectionate, self-sacrificing; Gay and Jimmie, record holders with two years of married life behind them; Chubby, with his heart of gold and perfect disposition; Bud and Bob, still starry-eyed over the wonder of finding each other again, and Anne and Jack, hand in hand, standing on the brink—filled with hope and love and happiness.

C. ANNE SHORE.

THE FISHERMEN'S REST

(Continued from page 7)

if such it may be termed rests in the hands of the judge of the District Court, Judge Sumner D. York, Frederick A. Shackleford, Richard L. Morey, City Clerk Allen F. Grant, Patrick M. Longan and Newman D. Shea.

In Mr. Morey, the secretary, the project is exceptionally fortunate in securing the services of an individual whose dominating motive is in securing justice to the fisherman. He makes it his business to search out deserving cases. Recently unbeknown to very few, a well known master, penniless after years of hard work at sea, was taken to the almshouse where he passed away. He was about to be buried in an unmarked enclosure when Mr. Morey reading the death notices recognized the name. He immediately made investigation, secured and took charge of the body and saw to it that it was placed in the place of honor, if there is one in this city, where it belongs.

The records of Mr. Morey make mighty interesting reading. Meticulously typewritten and bound they trace from the first inception and progress of this enterprise. The record of every man, day and date, is set down so as to be available at any moment and all in all makes very interesting reading, showing that the fountain of human sympathy has not been dried entirely in the hearts of men.

In past years the town has shown a callousness in this respect which reflects no credit on those in authority in their day and generation. The Fisherman's Home, the Fisherman's Institute, and this Beachbrook "Rest," came into existence as the result of an aroused outside public sentiment. A tough thing to say, but it is so.

The trustees of this enterprise hope to have an annual memorial exercise for these brave men on the spot to supplement the annual memorial exercises at the Cut Bridge. Meanwhile summer residents interested may find this plot easily. The cemetery is on the right hand side of the highway to Essex just beyond the entrance to Mt. Anne Reservation in upper West Gloucester—right near the heart of the settlement.

HAGSTROM CO., Inc.
GENERAL CONTRACTORS
Loam, Dressing, and other materials
for
Garden and Landscape Work
Gravel and Crushed Stone for
Driveway Surfacing
TEL. GLOUCESTER 617

IN ROCKPORT
near the head of noted Bearskin Neck with its docks, fish houses, boat builders, and artist colony is
THE BEACH PLUM
AND
BAYBERRY CANDLE PLACE
Dock Square, Rockport, Mass.

Here you may find the Wild Beach Plum Jelly with the tang of the dunes and sea.

Here are dipped by hand in the real old-fashioned way Pure Bayberry Candles from the pure wax of the coast bayberries, the little gray berries which furnished lights for the earliest settlers of the New England coast.

It is an attractive place, and well worth a visit.

"BACK TO NORMALCY"

(Continued from page 4)

grants in over stimulated industries thrown out of employment. Hastily the bars were raised against any more of these hordes eager to enter the country.

Machines continue to displace labor, Frankensteins devised by man for his own undoing. It bore hard upon the laboring man who had been jacked up to a position of luxurious living and wages beyond his fondest dreams, who expected to have this condition continue indefinitely; indeed had been so assured by the highest authorities and most reliable newspapers of the land.

For instance, the ditch digger, hod carrier and kindred workers saw the pick and shovel man ousted by huge machines which did ten and a hundred men's work while they stood idly by. The super-heated building boom in the big cities came to a standstill and many of these big enterprises went into the hands of receivers, hardly worth ten cents on the dollar, and the end is not yet. Hence a collapse of building, unemployment.

Enraged, the laborer who was tooled to his eight-hour leisurely work day in his $1,000 or more automobile, sullenly refused to give ground. He demanded of the government of which he had been a member but a few years after naturalization, that he be furnished funds to continue the style of living to which he had suddenly become accustomed.

The result is, with an over stimulated immigration, coupled with invention of labor-saving devices, we find an unemployment army of approximately eight million people. What's the remedy? Optimists who can give no reason, say, "Cheer up, good times are just around the corner." Desperate efforts are made to jack up falling valuations on the stock exchange, but all doomed to failure. Prices must inevitably seek the level of their actual value.

To bring about a resumption of prosperity, what is needed? The answer is obvious. Go back to the opening paragraphs and the story of how specie payment was resumed and you have it.

But whom have we got to sell to? Nowhere in Europe. They already owe us billions which we will never collect. Bled white and on the verge of bankruptcy, except France which is self-contained! President Hoover saw this two years ago as was noted in The Shore editorially at the time when he went on a trade-getting visit to the South American countries which appear to be our only available outlet. Since that time, by our own stupidity, the Prince of Wales going over the same route has taken this ground from under our feet.

Then there is Russia, possessing all we have in native resources and more, agricultural and mineral, at Europe's back door. During the past ten years, while our wise medicine men have been preaching, "Spend all you earn," to the laboring class, Lenin, Stalin, and others have organized their nation-wide five-year thrift campaign and have succeeded. They can and do undersell us. Czechoslovakia undersells us on shoes despite our tariff. England buys wheat from Canada and cotton from Egypt under the preferential tariff and shortly will adopt a tariff barring our products in favor of Empire products. We are barred.

Not only is Russia teaching thrift, but she is also insisting that the coming generation shall be liberally educated and a liberally educated Russia will be a far different proposition with which to deal than a mass of ox-driven mouziks of the past. Summed up, our day of easy trade picking is past. We have a fight for our commercial life on our hands. We are top-heavy with over stimulated immigration labor now demanding its "rights"—a big problem that will cause trouble.

Briefly, that is the situation and we shall not emerge from it rapidly in this generation. We shall get gradually, protestingly on the part of labor, back to an ordered existence as before the Great War. But that process will not be accomplished without leaving its scars. We shall moderately prosper, but never will the decade of 1920-'30 be duplicated. To talk otherwise is sheer nonsense.

The local prospect, perhaps, concerns us most of all. We here in Gloucester are very happily situated. People must

Quiouhamenec Farm
(Pronounced Ke-ham-e-nec)
SWINSON BROS.
LANDSCAPE GARDENERS
Road and Lawn Tennis Court Construction
Local Agents for Sheep Manure and Fertilizer
Blue Stone for Walks, Driveways and Lawn Tennis Purposes
Telephone 873 Estimates of Cost
EXPERT LAND DRAINING EXCAVATING, GRADING
114 Mt. Pleasant St. EAST GLOUCESTER

TASTE—
FLAVOR—
ENJOYMENT—
Served at our New Frigidaire Soda Fountain with Special Ice Cream and Cooling Drinks
Specials on Saturday and Sundays.
TROWBRIDGE, The Druggist
THE NEW DRUG STORE
159 MAIN STREET Tel. 2040 GLOUCESTER

PURE ICE
Frozen Naturally in the Purest Ponds in New England
Nothing to get out of order. The Perfect Refrigerant. To keep food juicy in a Refrigerator requires some moisture. No mechanical-chemical devices yet developed by man, regardless of how costly or intricate, equals ice as a safe, reliable, silent and economical cold maker.
CAPE POND ICE CO.
Telephone 180 GLOUCESTER

eat, that is the first primal instinct, and they must have fish. You may move the cotton factories South and the shoe factories West to the door of the base of supplies, but the old Grand Banks remain immovable. As long as nature remains as she is, Gloucester will always catch fish. She has the natural base. And its business men are fish-wise, born of the lore of three centuries. The Boston end is taking and is going to take a big licking in its costly beam trawlers, but Gloucester has steered clear of these incubuses. We are here on a firm foundation. However, we are building too costly fishing craft, one-half the cost would be sufficient.

One of our three principal sources of revenue, the granite industry, is gone apparently, for this generation at least. The men of the past two decades in charge have not carried on as General Butler and Colonel French built. Perhaps some one else will come forward to fill the gap. But for the next generation at least, granite is crossed off the slate as a major proposition.

The third is our growing summer resident interest. Figures tell this tale impressively. In 1892, it furnished one-seventh the entire valuation. Today the proportion is a good one-third. It will grow more if treated decently. Gloucester would be minus many of the fine improvements which are its pride without this revenue. It will be wise to cultivate and protect this "velvet" source of revenue which asks only to be protected in its rights and from demagogic legislation. Already building operations have practically ceased in these sections and will not be resumed until and when the city definitely gives assurance of a sane and reasoned policy in dealing with this element.

Little question for today:

Is prosperity going to come tomorrow as a result of the burning up and plowing under of our wheat and cotton crops?

"KNOW CAPE ANN"

Is the title of another book featuring interestingly and sketchily the "points of interest" on and about the Cape with such historical information as the average reader may desire. The book is written by Edward V. Ambler and carries several very attractive photographic plates which add much to its value. It is to be obtained at the principal local bookstalls.

THE FAKIRS' BALL

(Continued from page 15)

Under the Sea" had been fully imprinted on every one's mind. Occasionally a stray light would bring into startling evidence some evil looking horned pout swimming in mid air, or a terrifying octopus, a devil fish or innumerable crabs. Then suddenly against the wall a mermaid or merman, fantastic, weird and strange would stand out in appalling nearness. The walls were lined with creatures that were awe-inspiring in their vivid coloring and strangeness of form, and from the further end of the hall jutted a coral cave, excellently done and surrounded by more of the terrifying sea-creatures. In the mouth of the cave each costume was framed as the grand march progressed around the hall after the lights had been turned on again. "Bill" Harmar of Philadelphia, who has presided for fifteen years, was marshal again this year of the march and was assisted by Mr. J. Palmer Lloyd of Philadelphia. After Mr. Harmar came Mrs. Grace Filkins Marix, who, dressed in green maline and carrying a sea-shell, was awarded first prize for the most appropriate and beautiful woman's costume. Mr. John Neary of Manchester received the men's first prize for the most artistic costume in his deep-sea diving outfit. The most humorous costumes were won by Mrs. Elsa Anschutz Zeig of St. Petersburg and Pittsburg, who represented a "Bell-Buoy," and Mr. Dwight Allen of Brookline as a cleverly done Deep-Sea Whiskey Bottle.

THE ROCKAWAY
AND COTTAGES
At ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
Right on the Water
Commanding a Superb View of the Ocean
Accommodates 400.
W. A. PUBLICOVER, Proprietor

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS
THIRD ANNUAL
-:- EXHIBITION -:-
August 22nd to September 14th
Gallery, Eastern Point Rd. E. Gloucester
Hours Weekdays 10-6; Sundays 2-6
Oscar Anderson, President Alida C. Anderson, Secretary
GALLERY PHONE 3842-W

Tel. 452 Established Here 1890
North Shore Dyeing and Cleansing Shop
Cleansing, Dyeing, Pressing and Repairing
Work called for and delivered
245 Main St. Gloucester, Mass.

Samuel Bloomfield
SUMMER REAL ESTATE
specializing in
BASS ROCKS REALTY
Office:
53 Bass Ave., E. Gloucester
Tel. 1886

JOHN J. MacDONALD
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
15 Washington St.,
Gloucester : : Mass.
Phone 473-W Res. 473-R

The Moorland
BASS ROCKS
EDWARD D. PARSONS, Prop.
Right on the Ocean
Accommodates 500

J. A. NUNES : Art Store
Artist Materials and Picture Framing
Oil Paintings and Frames Restored
Hand Carved Frames in Stock and Made to Order
Painting and Decorating
6 Center Street, Gloucester, Mass.
Tel. 298-R Branch at Rocky Neck

Cape Ann Old Book Shop
35 High Street,
ROCKPORT, -:- MASS.
Rare, Interesting and Out of Print Books, Including First Editions.
For the Collector and Reader.

GOOD HARBOR BEACH INN
Briar Neck, Gloucester, Mass.
Ocean View and within one hundred feet of one of the best Bathing Beaches on the New England Coast.
Edwin C. McIntire,
Managing Proprietor

The Tavern
Directly on water at end of State Highway, Gloucester
Lobster, Fish and Steak Dinners
W. H. SMITH, Prop.
Telephone 1715-W

FISHING TACKLE
Motor Boat Supplies, Life Preservers, Oars, Fire Extinguishers, Lights, Hooks, Lines, Rowlocks
LOTHROP'S PATENT FOG HORN
L. D. LOTHROP & SON
70 Duncan St., Gloucester

Everett A. Flye, Opt. D.
Registered Optometrist
Established 1902
156 Main Street, Gloucester

Others wearing costumes of interest included Mrs. Francis H. Storrs of Hartford, who wore an effective Turkish costume decorated lavishly with pearls; Mrs. Harriet M. Landon of Hartford, unrecognizably disguised in a Pirate costume of orange and black, carrying an impressive dagger that doubled up convincingly when she attacked and having a ferocious-looking false red nose; little Miss Peggy Morgan of Baltimore in a quaint and delightful Dutch costume; young Henry Minot of Santa Barbara, who regretted introducing himself as Henrietta Minot because no one would believe afterwards that he was a boy; Mrs. Juliette Burdoin of Dayton as Night; Mrs. Antoinette Inglis as a dragoman; Marion T. McIntosh of Princeton completely disguised as a stupendous Rainbow Fish; little Miss Nina Mitchell of Baltimore as Miss Neptune; Fifi Harmar of Philadelphia as a little Japanese girl; Miss Virginia Mason and Miss Virginia Gruppe as two sea fiends; Violet James of Boston as a deep-sea pearl; Miss Margaret Fairbanks of Boston as a pirate, and Mr. Geary Johnson of East Gloucester as a midshipman; Joel P. Glass as Sandy McPherson, who created quite a sensation with his lavender makeup and matching ostrich feather used effectively as a fringe of whiskers; Mrs. Emile Gruppe, who wore an original costume of streamers representing sea-weed; Leonard Craske as an artist in black velvet; Mary Dupres of Bass Rocks in a romper suit; Miss Cecilia Forsythe as a Geisha girl; Misses Dorothy and Alice Erntz as Russian Fisher Maidens; Mrs. William J. Little in a Spanish Costume; George Hendon of Beverly as Romeo; Mrs. Joel P. Glass as a Spanish Senora; Miss Marion Black as a Hula-hula dancer; Mrs. Edna Black as a Chinese mandarin; Herman Magnuson of Salem as a convincing-looking convict; Miss Nannie Mitchell as a Dutch girl; H. George Martin of Rockport as an Irish Sailor.

The entertainment for the evening was divided into three parts, the first being under the direction of Miss Mary Elizabeth Delaney, whose pupils gave a delightful "Anchors Aweigh" number followed by a "Top-Sailors' Hornpipe," both enthusastically received by the audience. Miss Delaney herself gave an artistic performance as "Miss U. S. A." in which she wore a smart and striking blue costume the skirt of which was lined with red and white stripes. The second and third parts of the entertainment were given by the well-known and popular partners, Virginia Butler and Marsh (Sunny) Irwin, who gave a beautiful "Dance of the Seas," and later a number in formal dress, both of which were received with great applause.

LITTLE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

Norman Sturgis play the parts of the two newly engaged lovers, Helen O'Neil and Will Crosby, and Mr. and Mrs. Crosby are excellently done by John Glass and Elizabeth Blake. Felice Eastwood again shows her ability in the part of the ultra-sophisticated Mary Eastwood, and Harriette Weiler is splendid as Helen Trent. Robert Bardwell as Philip Mason gives an excellent interpretation particularly in the difficult last scene, in which he is convincing. John Mann as Inspector Tim Donahue shows great talent in a difficult part, while Martin Jurow lends an invaluable touch of comedy in a rather small part as Sergeant Dunn. The important characters were equalled by an excellent supporting cast and the play was a genuine success.

In contrast to "The Thirteenth Chair" the school is putting on this week as their final performance, on Friday and Saturday nights, August 28 and 29, "Torchbearers," a rollicking, riotous satire by George Kelley.

The Gloucester School of the Little Theatre has this season outdone all previous seasons in its presentations and is deserving of the highest congratulations. Each summer it has grown in size and in reputation and we wish the school continued success next year.

NORTH SHORE THEATRE

(Continued from page 5)

life created within the last decade forms the basis of the gripping motion picture drama, "An American Tragedy," which will show at the North Shore Theatre, starting Sunday, September 6, for four days.

Acted by a cast of youthful stars, the dramatic episodes of Dreiser's great story live on the screen. Phillips Holmes, playing the greatest role of his brilliant career, in the character of Clyde Griffiths, has made a name for himself that will live because of this one picture alone. Sylvia Sidney rises to new heights, far and away beyond her surprising success in "City Streets." Frances Dee, as Sondra Finchley, is beautifully and wonderfully capable in this exacting part.

"An American Tragedy" is a powerful story, powerfully told. It is, without doubt, one of the most significant pictures of the year.

While William J. Craft was shooting the all-color comedy-drama "The Runaround," at the North Shore Theatre September 10, 11 and 12, he felt that it would be novel for the screen if one of the featured actresses blushed. In black-and-white photography, it would not have been noticed. Technicolor, however, brings to the fore the absolutely natural facial tints of the players.

Mary Brian, who plays the feminine lead, was asked to redden perceptibly when Geoffrey Kerr, her millionaire suitor, said pretty nothings to her. This was not a difficult assignment for Miss Brian, for she is said to have one of the most beautiful blushes the camera has ever seen.

Marie Prevost, however, as Miss Brian's wise-cracking "side-kick," when asked if she also could register a blush for the Technicolor cameras, refused on the grounds that "I never did blush, and it's too late to learn now."

Geoffrey Kerr, Mary Brian, Joseph Cawthorn, Johnny Hines and

BELMONT SHOE REPAIRING
SHOE REBUILDING
Best Quality, Lowest Prices
Main St., Gloucester, Opp. Center St.

ROCKPORT DYE HOUSE
First Class Cleansers
Wearing Apparel Called For and Delivered Any Place on Cape Ann
MAIN STREET, ROCKPORT. Tel. Conn.

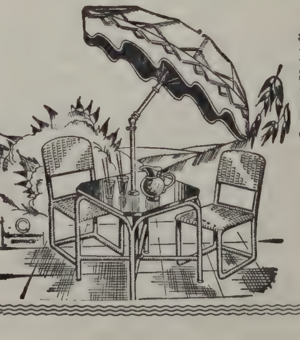
Dry Cleaning and Pressing
STRAND DYE HOUSE
Louis Kramer, Prop.
Odorless Cleansing and Pressing
Dyeing, Altering and Relining
We call for and deliver
45 Main St., Gloucester, Mass.
Phone 2563 Open Evenings

HERSEY TRAVEL AGENCY
STEAMSHIP AGENTS
TOURS and CRUISES
148 Main Street. Up One Flight, -:- -:- Gloucester, Mass.
TEL. 10 CHEEVER L. HERSEY

SIGHT-SEEING SAILS DAILY
Volunteer Toreador Club Conductors Explain Points of Interest on Cape Ann
Make Reservations in Advance at Y. M. C. A. (470)

THE GLOUCESTER SCHOOL OF THE LITTLE THEATRE
ROCKY NECK, EAST GLOUCESTER
Friday and Saturday Nights, August 28 and 29
"TORCHBEARERS" By GEORGE KELLEY
Reserved Seats, on Sale at the School, $1.25. Tel. 3485
One-Act Play Friday Mornings at 11.30
Puppet Performances Saturday Mornings at 11.30. Admission 50c

Beach, Piazza and Cottage Furnishings



The Most Complete assortment on the North Shore. New Stock of Heywood-Wakefield Reed and Fiber Furniture. Radios of Leading Makes.
NORTH SHORE FURNITURE CO.
161-163 Main St.,
Cor. Parsons
Tel. 94

Marie Prevost head the smart cast of featured players.

Another rollicking, heart-warming, juvenile comedy-drama, the third from the Paramount studio this year, will make its appearance at the North Shore Theatre for three days, starting Thursday, September 10. It is the famous Mark Twain story, "Huckleberry Finn," with Jackie Coogan, Mitzi Green, Junior Durkin and Jackie Searl in the featured cast.

"Huckleberry Finn" is the further adventures of the lovable youngsters who won favor from screen fans of all ages in "Tom Sawyer." Junior Durkin, as Huck, runs away from home, in fear of his angry father. His father follows him, takes him to a deserted cabin, but Huck is rescued by Tom, and, together the boys decide to embark on a life of adventure.

More than two hundred children were used in the production, a larger number than found employment in either "Tom Sawyer" or "Skippy."

OCEANSIDE THEATRE

The Oceanside Theatre Company in their last production of the season finish in a consistently excellent production their successful season. "The Perfect Alibi," by A. A. Milne, is an original and intriguing mystery comedy. Differing from most murder stories, this plot had its murder occur, a perfect crime, in the first act. The entire cast played their difficult parts well and convincingly.

George Houston as the apparent friend but actual murderer of the victim gave his usual highly creditable performance, and "Edward Carter" had even the audience disarmed until the climax of the first scene. Edward Laverick, his partner in crime, was excellently done by Harmon McGregor, and the unsuspecting murdered man was ably portrayed by Edison Rice. Harriet Eels, in a straight part completely fascinated the audience who have seen her talented performances in character throughout the season. As Susan Cunningham, who eventually straightens out the entire murder with the help of Jimmy Ludgrove, played with natural charm and ability by John Geddis, she was so convincing that the audience found itself forgetting the author and applauding her for the clever detective work. Robert Henderson maintained his reputation for versatility as the son from Scotland Yard of the Country Constable. Raymond O'Brien as the well meaning country constable, proud of his son, and interfering consistently with his work, provides a touch of genuine humor, making of the part all that A. A. Milne intended, which is saying a great deal in his favor.

Among those present on the opening night of the "Perfect Alibi" were: Mrs. F. D. Stranaham of Bass Rocks; Mrs. F. J. Bradley, Manchester; Mrs. John F. Hill, Magnolia; Mrs. Edward Thaw, East Gloucester; Mrs. Percy B. Hill, Magnolia; Mrs. Durward Grinstead, Manchester; Mrs. John L. Saltonstall, Topsfield; Mrs. Samuel L. Tucker, Topsfield; Edgar Anthony, Manchester; Mrs. John C. Howe, Manchester; Mrs. H. H. Barton, Magnolia; Richard Crane, Jr., Ipswich; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Buswell, Gloucester; Mrs. E. M. Binney, Magnolia; Mrs. George Von L. Meyer, Jr., Hamilton; Mrs. Pierpont Stackpole, Manchester; Mrs. Percy Chase, Manchester; Mrs. G. M. Wayne, Manchester; Dr. Maynard Ladd, Beverly Farms; Mrs. A. H. Morse, Manchester; Mrs. William H. Moore, Prides Crossing; Mrs. Neil Rantoul, Beverly Farms; Mrs. J. Harrington Walker, Magnolia; Mrs. Arthur E. Davis, Bass Rocks.

GLOUCESTER SOCIETY OF ARTISTS' THIRD EXHIBIT

(Continued from page 17)

tation as a painter of the sea with his "New England Harbor," and N. Van Hook contributes another portrait in "Jean of East Gloucester," which is exceedingly well done. With an unusual background of two unfinished landscapes, an iron dog, a bottle, and a shell are worked in an exquisite still life by Eleanor Curtis Ahl. R. Carter shows an interesting sea-scape and Carl Ringius in "Low Tide," shows a picture well worthy of mention. "Sweet Peas," by Anna W. McWilliams, is a flower study showing delicate detail and character, and a springtime landscape by A. Hawthorne Annan is lovely in its fresh daintiness of treatment in blossoming trees and new green grass. A piece slightly modernistic in treatment is a still life by Ernest Thurn. Gertrude M. Tonsberg displays a portrait study, "Archeleous," which is interestingly classic in treatment. Jean Nutting Oliver in her "A College Girl," does a refreshing and delicate portrait study. "Old Cuban Yacht at Rest," by Ora Inge Maxim, is particularly well done in the treatment of an interesting subject. An arresting study is "Professor at the Breakfast Table," by Margaret Hoyt, and Omer Lassonde in his "Colored Boy" presents another portrait that is noteworthy. Oscar Anderson again contributes one of his excellent paintings in "At Ease," a wharf scene that is characteristically superb. "The Great Doon—Moonlight," by Arthur J. Hammond is a commanding large oil, lovely in lighting and color. Eben F. Comins shows another delightful and true portrait in that of "Karen Lloyd." "Monterey Cypresses," by G. Binney Smith is subtle and smooth in treatment, and "Spring Plowing" by Emil Gruppe is excellently done. Helen Stein contributes two more of her modernistic works, and John M. Buckley in his "Winter—Essex," has secured a crisp cold and snappy effect with his excellently done snow and contrasting trees and houses. Mildred Turner Copperman, whose sea-scape occupies the center of the wall at the back of the gallery has created an achievement. In the sky as well as in the sea she has realized a sense of force and movement, and from anywhere in the gallery, one's casual glance is attracted to this piece. A portrait by Elizabeth V. Taylor Watson is splendidly done, and a flower study, "Roses," by Elizabeth Spaulding is a delightfully alive and delicate thing. "Near the Sea," by Henry Ahl, Jr., showing sand dunes and grass in delicate and beautiful coloring, and a sea-scape by J. Randolph Brown are both well worthy of mention. L. R. Cram presents an interesting modernistic landscape and C. A. Murphy, noted for his winning of the children's vote, contributes at this exhibit an ocean scene in contrast to the landscapes he has done previously, in which he uses his romantic treatment to advantage, achieving in particular a splendid sky.

Two interesting European studies are "Point Du Cheval — Bruges," by Hildegarde Miller, and "Peasant Cottage," by W. T. Weyard. Richly colored and showing great character in treatment is "Phlox," by Mrs. Maud A. Berneker. "Independence," by Donald Hings is rightly named, with its young lad sitting with the sea and boats as a background, his eyes full of hope and the courage of the young.

In the center of the right wall is "Good Harbor Beach," by Marion T. MacIntosh, which is an excellently done picture of the interesting and familiar subject. It should attract and interest many visitors, what with its subject and trueness of tone and treatment and composition. "Against the Light," by Edith B. Stevens, is well done, and "Peonies," by Maud N. Monnier, is a lovely thing in treatment. An interesting and detailed, beautifully shaded piece is that of "The Church, the Cross, and Calvary," by F. H. Storrs. Carl Nordstrom contributes a brilliant "Fete Day" that is delightfully bright and at the same time exquisitely restrained. "Pastoral Fantasy," by Charles Allan Winter is another of his compelling allegorical pieces in which nymphs, centaurs, and trees are beautifully harmonized in sportive form and feeling. "Activity," by Hortense Ferne is an interesting piece of New York harbor.

Among the smaller paintings, Charles Allan Winter's skillful portrayal of "Enus-El-Jelees" and "Noor-Ed-Dun," the heroine and hero of the "Fair Persian" from the Arabian Nights, are two exceedingly interesting studies done in oil after the old Italian method, exquisitely delicate in outline and yet forceful in expression and feeling. Margaret Fitzhugh Brown contributes an interesting and beautiful head, in which she has copied all the beauty of life and youth, and sheer prettiness as well. The coloring is glorious. "Real Boy," by Alice Beach Winter, will be recognized as the already famous Dicky Hall, whose life size portrait hung in the pre-

ALICE M. AMBLER, A. B.
(VASSAR)
PRIVATE TUTOR
French. German. Latin, English,
Spanish, Algebra, Etc.
16 Highland Street, E. Gloucester
Tel. 3125-W

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR
For Your Child, ages 10 to 16
Competent Young Instructor
Tutoring at Your Own Home
Write P. O. Box No. 316, Gloucester

Office Open Day and Night.
Tel. Con.
WILLARD S. PIKE
Funeral Director
and Embalmer
Shipping, Transfer and Crematory Work
75 Washington Street
Gloucester Mass.

AWNINGS
And Yacht Equipment
UNITED SAIL LOFT CO., Inc.
Foot of Pearce St.
71 Wharf St. Tel. Conn.

NORTH SHORE INN
Magnolia-by-the-Sea
Massachusetts
Charming Homelike Atmosphere
(Booklet on request)
Good Food--Reasonable Rates
Tune in Wednesday morning, 9-10
WHDH

SUPERIOR DYE HOUSE
Removed to 53 MAIN ST.
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Work Called For and Delivered
Anywhere on Cape Ann
Cleaning, Pressing, and Alterations.
Telephone 2644
Satisfaction Guaranteed

ceding exhibition. In this as in the larger one, Mrs. Winter has again captured the fleeting expression of a child and retained it on the canvas. Two other charming small portrait studies of children are contributed by Antoinette Inglis, treated in her usual delightful manner and fascinating groupings with sand, rocks and sky worked into a harmonious background.

Among the water colors, one very interesting "Portrait of a Friend," by Margaret Turnbull, will undoubtedly attract much comment. An excellent tribute to the modern school, it is fascinating in its unusual and attractive treatment. John A. Cook presents two more of his ever-popular and praiseworthy sea paintings. A decorative and interesting still life is contributed by P. M. M. Jones, and "Roses," by W. B. Hoffman, shows talent at character portrayal of flowers. Eliot O'Hara shows a well-handled foreign subject in "Watermelon Market — Erivan." An extremely modernistic and very skillfully done piece of work is "Farmlands," by A. B. McCutcheon.

Among the black and whites there are many that are exceptionally well done. They range from crayon and charcoal to lithographs and block-prints and an entire afternoon could be profitably spent in this room alone.

Bettinger has contributed some delicate lithographs, one in particular of a Boston scene is especially interesting. Prescott M. M. Jones contributes again a delightful black and white of a "Cape Cod Windmill," with sea gulls and boats lending a Cape Cod atmosphere. Mildred Turner Copperman again presents some delightful crayons, and Caroline Bean shows a fascinating crayon portrait of a boy. John J. Barry has a few, one of which, "Old Building—Rouen," is particuarly excellent. "Boston Public Gardens" and "Brittany," by W. B. Hazleton are two excellently done block prints.

The sculpture is, as always, varied and lovely. Some metalized penguins by Mrs. Helen S. Davis are delightfully perfect little things, consisting of two penguins covered with bronze and silver. Clara L. Strong shows a lovely thing in her "Fountain of Destiny," which is the beautiful symmetrical figure of a girl before a fountain. N. Van Hook shows some new and fascinating bas reliefs; Mrs. Gertrude Fosdick in "Reflection" has created in marble a beautiful bas relief, and Mrs. Davis is also exhibiting some interesting and excellently done bas relief portraits and more of her charmingly life-like small dog studies. Lelia Usher in her "Ideal Head," has done a lovely thing in bronze, and she is also showing a collection of six bas reliefs, portraits in bronze of famous men.

Altogether the exhibit starting on Saturday, August 22, and extending to September 14, is the best yet shown. Each painting holds some interest, each would appeal to a different group, and since there is no restriction on those wishing to exhibit, that appeal is naturally interestingly varied. The galleries are open from 10 to 6 on week days and from 2 to 6 on Sundays.

PARKING REGULATIONS

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Attention is called to the following extracts from an ordinance governing automobile traffic passed June 6, 1930.

Section One. During the months of June, July, August and September the following traffic regulations shall be effective for vehicles:

Parking Prohibited at All Times

Pleasant street, between Main and Warren streets, Short street.

Easterly side of Centre street.

Pearce street, from Rogers to Main street.

Westerly side of Water street from Main to Rogers street.

Within 15 feet of any hydrant on any street.

Westerly side of Elm street from Main to Prospect street; easterly side from Main street to the southern end of the Recreation Alleys.

Easterly side of School street from Middle street to Mason street, and on School street from Proctor street to Middle street after 11 P.M.

Northerly side of Middle street from Pleasant street to Washington street.

Northerly side of Main street, from a point opposite the westerly side of Porter street to Washington street.

Easterly side of Chestnut street.

All protected crossings.

Easterly side of Hancock street from Middle to Rogers street or on such portions of westerly side as are designated by white traffic lines.

Restricted Parking

Main street, from Washington to Vincent street, 30 minutes between 6 A.M. and 6 P.M., except on Saturday when the restricted parking extends to 10 P.M.

Center street, westerly side but only within a distance of 30 feet from Main street and 30 feet from Middle street.

Middle street, southerly side, from Pleasant to Washington street, for a period not exceeding one hour.

Dale avenue, westerly side only, in a diagonal position with the left rear wheel or right front wheel against the curb.

One Way Streets

Southerly side of Western avenue, from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for east bound traffic.

Northerly side of Western avenue from Blynman Bridge to The Tavern, one way for west bound traffic.

Federal street, travel only in an easterly direction, from Pleasant street to Elm street, no parking on either side.

Short street, one way north from Main street.

Hancock street, from Middle street to Main street, one way south.

Nautilus road, one way south between Bass avenue and Bass Rocks road.

Duncan street, one way south from Main street to Rogers street, parking on westerly side only.

Arlington street, Annisquam, one way in a southeasterly direction.

Chestnut street, one way south, parking only on westerly side.

Middle street, from Dale avenue to Pleasant street, one way east.

Warren street, one way west, parking on both sides.

Protected Crossings

Across Prospect street at Union hill; across Spring street at the westerly side of Union hill; across Main street at the North Shore Theatre; across Main street at the Olympia Theatre; across Main street at the Postoffice and Trust Company; at the Gloucester National Bank; from the Masonic Block to W. G. Brown & Company's store; from the A. & P. store to Herricks' fruit store; across Pleasant street, at the Postoffice; across Duncan street on Main street; across Hancock street on both sides the street.

Porter street, one way south, parking only western side.

Traffic lights in operation Main street, foot of Commercial, P. O. Square; Prospect street, near M. E. Church.

DANIEL M. CASEY,
City Marshal.

CITY OF GLOUCESTER

NOTICE

No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st except by written permission of the Chief of the Fire Department or the Fire Warden.

Persons wishing to burn rubbish, grass, etc., in the business or residential sections of the city, i. e. within the limits established by the Eastern avenue School on Eastern avenue and the cut bridge on Western avenue and the Green on Washington street, should apply to the Chief of the Fire Department. Those wishing to burn rubbish, brush, grass, etc., in the outlying portions of the city, that is outside of the limits as here set forth, whose fire would be on or near any wood, brush or grasslands, should apply to the Fire Warden.

Readers of this notice are cautioned to be extremely careful of matches, cigars and cigarettes while in or near any wood or brushland to prevent forest fires.

HOMER R. MARCHANT,
Chief of the Fire Department.
ALBERT C. LA BELLE,
Fire Warden.

Magnolia Real Estate
SEA SHORE ESTATES
Cottages, Bungalows, Shops
JONATHAN MAY
Shore Road, Magnolia, Mass. Tel. Magnolia 426-R.

Gloucester Auto Bus Co.
Exclusive Street Passenger Transportation on Cape Ann, Gloucester and East Gloucester, Annisquam, Lanesville, Pigeon Cove, Rockport, West Gloucester, Essex, Magnolia, Manchester.
Starter's Office 114 Main Street
Information Telephone 2195 Telephone 1675

THE PATTILLO STORE
THE FINEST LINE OF SUMMER FURNITURE, SCREENS, MATTRESSES, RUGS, ETC., ON THE NORTH SHORE. UPHOLSTERING DONE BY SKILLED WORKMAN
A·MANTON PATTILLO
Fine Assortment of Vudor Shades for the Piazza
C. F. TOMPKINS CO.
67 MIDDLE STREET GLOUCESTER

THEY THAT GO DOWN TO THE SEA
IN SHIPS
1623 - 1923

Rooted Deep

"As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm,
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."

—GOLDSMITH.

Commercial Banking
Savings Accounts
Club Accounts
Safe Deposit Boxes
Storage Vault
Foreign Exchange
Travellers Cheques
Bond Department
Travel Service

A Bank that started 132 years ago and is the oldest Bank in the State must be deep rooted. A Bank that has withstood all the hard times and financial and industrial changes down from Washington's time must have a certain inherent strength.

We offer you strength; a background of tradition, efficient service, and friendly co-operation.

The Oldest Bank in the State, the Seventh Oldest in the United States; a depository for City, County, State and U. S. Funds, and favored with an account from hundreds of firms and individuals on the Cape.

May We be Favored With Your Gloucester Business?

GLOUCESTER NATIONAL BANK

OLDEST BANK IN THE CITY

OLDEST BANK IN MASSACHUSETTS

One of the steps in the preparation of codfish for the market. Drying and curing whole codfish at the Gorton-Pew Fisheries

You Are Cordially Invited—

OUR door is always open. And we are always glad to show visitors the fascinating processes employed in our plant. See how we take fish fresh from the ocean and prepare them for the tables of America's discriminating housewives. There is no more interesting sight in all of quaint old Gloucester.

If it were only possible to transport some of the charm of Gloucester back home—its romantic harbor, its curious old streets and homes, its atmosphere of the sea. Although this is impossible you may have a reminder of pleasant Gloucester days in sending to your home some of our delicious fish products. For this purpose we put up a special combination box. It is an attractive carton containing a popular assortment of Gorton's Sea Foods. Neatly packed ready for shipment. These tasty and popular sea foods will introduce you to new delights in fish eating.

The same offer is extended to all-year-round and summer-time residents. Visit us and see for yourselves how one of America's oldest and most interesting industries operates. You are cordially invited.

Gorton's
Sea Food Family

GORTON'S CODFISH
GORTON'S READY-TO-FRY COD FISH CAKES
GORTON'S FRESH MACKEREL IN CANS
GORTON' SALAD FISH
GORTON'S DEEP SEA ROE
GORTON'S CODFISH IN CANS
GORTON'S FINNAN HADDIE
GORTON'S FLAKED FISH
GORTON'S MANHATTAN CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S DOWN EAST CLAM CHOWDER
GORTON'S HADDOCK CHOWDER

Gorton-Pew Fisheries
GLOUCESTER, MASS.
Founded in 1849

1885 - 1931

THE BOSTON STORE

WILLIAM G. BROWN COMPANY, Gloucester, Mass.

The Largest Store of the North Shore Covering a City Block from PLEASANT, MAIN and ELM STREETS
29 Departments. Largest Dry Goods Floor Space East of Boston. POST OFFICE SQUARE

The Department Store of Service where Summer Shopping is made pleasant.

In Gloucester on the North Shore you will find this store a well appointed, pleasant store in which to do your shopping on a warm summer's day.

It will be a pleasure and also afford you great satisfaction in knowing that you can come here and select quality merchandise at lowest possible prices.

Trade in Gloucester at the Big Store of the North Shore

One of the North Shore's Finest
BEAUTY SHOPS

4 Booths—2 Bobber Chairs
2 Manicure Tables

Marcel Waving
Shampooing
Manicuring
Facials
French Curling
Hair Dyeing
Hair Tinting
Permanent Waving
Hair Dressing
Hair Bobbing and Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting by Experts.

Atwater Kent, Majestic,
Victor and Radiola
Radios

Largest Line on Cape Ann
Expert Installation

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

New Soda Fountain
and Luncheonette
(MAIN FLOOR)
Best Food and Service
Afternoon Tea